Dear Professor Lederberg:

Many hearty thanks for your kind letter and enclosures, which I read with deep interest.

Your warm words of encouragement will hearten me to continue the struggle for the use of some simple and effective method of controlling the world's soaring population.

I shall share your splendid letter with the editors of The Reader's Digest, and I am sure they would want to join me in this hearty word of gratitude.

Ever cordially,

John A. O'Brien
