Dear Josh:

Thank you for sending me the reprints of your articles in the Washington Post. Since I no longer subscribe to that eminent publication, I have missed your contributions. I hope that you will keep me on your mailing list. I enjoyed the two articles you sent me.

With this letter I send you copies of two recent speeches of mine. The talk to the ASME was reprinted in U.S. News and World Report and has received considerable attention. The other talk given at Albany the beginning of this month has received no attention whatsoever!

As I begin to master the intricacies of my new job I hope to find time to take part in public debates and campaigns revolving around the ecological-technological issues.

I will be visiting George Pake in Palo Alto and, of course, I will make it a point to see you.

Sincerely yours,

Myron Tribus
