What Viavi Is

How Viavi Cures

WHAT VIAVI IS.

Viavi is the first treatment successfully employed to feed weakened nerves and tissues. Its preparation is conducted under the most antiseptic conditions and absolute regularity, purity, and efficiency are secured. Minerals, opiates, and anodynes are wholly avoided. It is made of the essential ingredients of certain vegetable substances having the strongest affinity for the absorptive powers of the skin and mucous membrane, and by a process of manufacture it is given a predigested form, making it a nerve and tissue food which is readily absorbed and assimilated. It goes directly to the seat of the disorder and also through the system generally, combining thus a local and constitutional treatment.

Viavi possesses the property of making the circulation free and strong. Thus it promotes healthy functional activity, cures congestion and its resultant condition, inflammation, enriches the blood in all parts of the body, and causes waste, the retention of which produces disease, to be removed. It is an assistant to Nature, the only curative power in the world, and Nature using Viavi receives help enough to build up weakened parts and eliminate diseased conditions. Viavi therefore produces natural cures which are permanent.

The treatment is especially valuable for derangements of the female generative organs, reflex nervous symptoms arising from these disorders, tumors, piles, catarrhal affections of the head, throat, stomach, intestines, and other complications arising from the lack of a full, free circulation. Its use has extended over a period of more than twelve years, during which time people from all parts of the world have testified to its wonderful curative power, and the blessing of being restored to physical perfection in a natural way.

HOW VIAVI CURES.

The blood carries to every part of the body the food which is necessary to build each part and keep it strong. It also gathers up the waste materials which are to be thrown out of the system. The circulation in some parts of the body is more complex than in others. This is notably true of the uterine organs where there is a dense net work of arteries and veins. This intricate system of circulation makes these organs delicate and sensitive and very susceptible to congestion, which may arise from outside causes, such as colds, a strain from lifting, over work, worry, anxiety, etc. This congestion cuts off the proper nutriment and causes an accumulation of waste materials. Stagnant blood in the tissues undergoes a chemical change. Poisonous materials are thus formed which find their way into the circulation and are carried to the lungs. The capacity of the lungs to purify the blood is soon overtaxed and the blood then carries these impurities to every part of the body, so that the tissues including the nerves and nerve centers become very much weakened.

The uterine organs, as one of the centers of the system, are supplied with a great net work of nerves. When congestion and its resultant condition, inflammation, exist, a certain irritation is set up which is constantly sapping the vitality of the nerves and produces reflex conditions, such as backache, stomach difficulties, irregular heart action, headaches and mental disturbances. As this irritation continues, all the nerves of the body become involved and the general system loses its tone. The absorbent powers of the system are impaired, the blood is greatly impoverished, the circulation becomes sluggish and all reserve vitality is exhausted.

Viavi cures such difficulties by assisting Nature to overcome diseased conditions. It is prepared in different forms that it may be effectively applied at the nerve centers which need to be fed. In the form of cerate it is applied along the spine and over the abdominal and pelvic regions. In capsules it is placed at the uterus, the seat of the disorders, and in liquid or tablette form is taken into the stomach. Thus every absorptive power of the body is utilized and nutriment is given to the weakened organs which need help. As a result, the nerves are fed, the proper circulation is restored, waste materials are carried away, new blood containing nourishing food is brought to the tissues and they are strengthened and every organ is made to perform its function in a normal manner. This is a natural process and the cure is complete for the reflex conditions, no matter where found, disappear when the cause is removed.
