OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

OF PHILADELPHIA.

From the many editorial notices we have voluntarily received from the press of the city, we select the following :

THE ELECTROPATHIC INSTITUTION.—Among the many valued institutions that our good city contains, there is none that is more rapidly rising in public estimation than the above, which is now permanently situated at 1230 Walnut street, one door east of Thirteenth street. This institution, which has for its object the curing of all curable diseases, by the different modifications of electricity, galvanism and magnetism, is under the charge of Dr. M. J. Galloway, the well-known medical electrician, assisted by other physicians of marked ability. The doctor has labored with untiring energy for many years in this department of therapeutics, for the purpose of establishing this system of practice on a reliable, scientific basis. His highest hopes have been realized, judging from his success in controlling diseased conditions, which is so generally known in our city that comment here is unnecessary. The imponderable agent in his hands is mild and pleasant, even to the most delicate and sensitive persons, producing no painful or disagreeable feelings.

We visited this thriving institution a few days since, and the manner in which it is conducted, fitted up and arranged for the comfort and well-being of patients, united with the skill and experience of the physicians, cannot fail to be of vast benefit to the suffering of the community.—Phila. Press.

“We fully endorse all that our contemporary the “Press” says of the Electro-pathic Institution, and would advise the suffering to avail themselves of this new and reliable treatment.”—Phila. Evening Telegraph.

THE wonderful success of Drs. Galloway & Bolles in the curing of all Acute and Chronic complaints, by the different modifications of Galvanism, Magnetism and Electricity, has gained for them popularity throughout the world.—Philadelphia Daily Card.

This practice involves new principles in physiology, a new system of diagnosis or examinations of diseases, and new means of curing them. Drs. Galloway & Bolles, of 1230 Walnut street, are entitled to the credit of first bringing this wonderful discovery before the public, and the afflicted should not fail to examine their system of treatment.—Phila. Com. List and Price Current.

WE call the attention of our readers to the new practice of Drs. Galloway & Bolles, which is founded on sound philosophy, the correctness of which is demonstrated in the many wonderful cures they have made in our midst during the past ten years.—Phila. Evening Star.

TO THE READER.

In presenting this pamphlet to you, after twelve years' practice in this city—during which time we have successfully treated over TWENTY THOUSAND PERSONS suffering from every form of disease,—we can speak confidently of our superiority in the treatment of diseases, not from theory alone, but from the unparalleled success which has crowned our labors in this department of science.

The reader will pardon us for introducing here an extract from an essay written by a distinguished philanthropist, after he had experienced at our hands the good effects of our electrical treatment. He says:

“In no department of discovery has progress been more signally triumphant than in the art of healing. It is here where man finds relief from his afflictions of body and mind. After all other resources have failed, and hope seems but a delusive dream, the intelligent electrician takes the patient by the hand and once more inspires confidence. Through the vital touch of electricity his pains vanish, the obstructions are removed, and the vital current is again sent bounding through the entire frame, dispensing health, strength, and vigor.”

UNIVERSAL THERAPEUTIC.

Electricity is not restricted to any particular class of diseases, but is alike applicable to all. In acute attacks it gives instant relief. In chronic affections of long standing it is no less reliable in the final result, although time may be required for repairing long inflicted injuries. The functional action of the brain, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder, uterus, genitals, &c., can be changed at the will of the operator. In fact every connection and support is but a chord of the human organ, moved and regulated at the will of the intelligent electrician.

In support of our claims for the general adoption of electricity, the following truths must convince every unprejudiced mind: First, it is the vital force of the animal economy, and can instantly assimilate itself to the wants of the body, increasing or decreasing the vital functions at pleasure. Second, it can be so diffused as to bring the entire body under its exhilarating influence, or so localized as to act on any desired organ and part, without disturbing other functions. Third, it carries with it the extremes of positive and negative, so essential for the removal of inflammatory and paralytic affections. Fourth, it is the natural food of the body, from which every bone, muscle, nerve, gland, tendon and tissue drains its supply. It feeds every part, it animates every part, and equalizes the whole. It is, in fact, the connecting link between mind and matter, and executes the functions of both. Such being the facts, who can doubt its claims as a universal therapeutic.

We confidently assert from our experience, that there is scarcely any complaint but what can be speedily and permanently cured. Therefore we cordially invite the suffering and afflicted to call on us at the Philadelphia Electropathic Institution, 1230 Walnut Street, second door from the corner of Thirteenth Street.

EVIDENCE.

We select the following evidences to show the reader that electricity in our hands will cure the worst forms of disease.

N.B.—These expressions are from well known and highly respected citizens of Philadelphia.

ASTHMA.

Asthma is a paroxysmal affection of the respiratory organs, characterized by great difficulty of breathing, tightness and oppression of the chest, and a sense of impending suffocation. In some cases the laborious breathing is accompanied with a wheezing sound, and constriction in the throat, with cough and expectoration. The causes producing this state of the system are many, but we find the most prominent to be paralysis of the diaphragm. Our treatment in almost every case of this distressing malady gives instant relief, followed in a short time by a perfect cure. Catarrh is a disease of the air passages, producing headache, pains over the eyes, sore throat, bronchitis, &c. It also yields readily to our treatment.

ASTHMA OF TWENTY YEARS' STANDING CURED.

Philadelphia, March 8, 1867.

This certifies that I have been afflicted with Asthma and Catarrh for about twenty years, and during that time I have tried many remedies from eminent physicians, both here and elsewhere, but without being cured, or obtaining any permanent relief. I was so bad that for weeks at a time I was unable to lay down on my bed. My cough and expectoration were extremely troublesome, and it was with much difficulty that I could eat anything, my stomach being so much contracted. And altogether I felt that my disease would soon carry me off. In this condition, with little hopes of ever being a well man, again I was advised by a friend to consult Drs. GALLOWAY & BOLLES, of the Philadelphia Electropathic Institution, who, he said, were eminently successful in the treatment of disease by a new system of using electricity. I called on these gentlemen, while I was in the condition above described, and, after a diagnosis, they assured me that they could cure me perfectly in a short time. I placed myself under their treatment, and soon felt that in their hands I would again be a well man. I have been three weeks under their treatment, and, strange as it may appear, my highest hopes have been realized; my Catarrh and Asthma are gone; I have no cough or expectoration; my appetite is good, and my sleep is undisturbed. I feel altogether, in fact, like one made new. While at the Institution, I have been an eye-witness to other equally astonishing cures of other diseases. I would recommend the afflicted to consult these scientific gentlemen, as I know they can cure many who can find no relief from any other source. I will be pleased to answer any inquiries addressed to me.

ALONZO POTTER, Town Treasurer, Hammonton, N. J.

Cancer is sufficiently understood to obviate a description of it here. The pain and suffering caused by it are indescribable. It has long been considered incurable by all schools of medicine. In many instances we have radically cured persons suffering from this disease, when, to all appearance, they were rapidly sinking into the grave.

TUMORS, SWELLINGS, &C.

These monstrosities yield to electricity. By primary action of the battery they are speedily absorbed, neutralized and dispersed.

CURE OF LARGE TUMOR.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5, 1867.

DRS. GALLOWAY & BOLLES:

Gentlemen: I herewith give my testimony of the important cure your treatment has made in my case. About three years ago, I received an injury which resulted in a swelling, gradually producing a large tumor. I tried all the known remedies, but they failed and I was told by my physician that I could never be cured, except by a surgical operation. I afterwards applied to you, having no faith whatever in a cure, but strange to say, in three weeks' treatment my tumor is gone. I will always speak in the highest terms of your new treatment. While under your treatment at 1230 Walnut street, I have seen others cured of diseases that had baffled all other medical skill.

Yours truly,

CHARLES BRADLEY,
1239 South Fifth street.

CONSUMPTION.

Consumption, that insidious enemy of the human race, carries off its tens of thousands every year. Catarrh in the head, for which affection our treatment is a sure cure, is one of the chief causes of bronchial and lung diseases. The inflammation spreading to the throat, producing Bronchitis, which, if not arrested, speedily communicates its baneful influence to the lungs, then follows softening and suppuration, and discharge of tubercles or small tumors. Many cases of Consumption arise from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints, the nutrition and secretions of the system being so much impaired that the respiratory organs become diseased in consequence. Electricity, applied according to our discovery, purifies the blood, quickens the circulation, decomposes and throws off tuberculous deposits, and stimulates the nutritive functions to build up that part of the system which has undergone decay. We arrest the disease by removing the producing causes. We have had much experience in the treatment of Consumption during the last ten years, and we have made very many remarkable cures.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

Philadelphia, May 29, 1869.

This is to certify that about two years ago I was taken with a disease which physicians called Consumption. I had a cough, hoarseness, spit blood, and became very much reduced. I was suffering from Dyspepsia; my liver and kidneys were also diseased, and there was a constant palpitation of the heart. In fact, I was diseased all over, and so reduced that I could not attend to my regular business. I had consulted five physicians in Philadelphia, and had taken their remedies; but gradually grew worse, until I thought my case beyond the hope of cure. In this condition I learned of the discovery of Professors BOLLES & GALLOWAY, for the cure of diseases. I called at their Institution, 1230 Walnut street, and was examined. They said that all of my difficulties could be removed in a short time; and after a few operations, my troubles about the throat and lungs had ceased—breathing was easy, and appetite and sleep restored. I resumed my former business, with good health and spirits. Six months have since passed, and I have had no return of any of the old troubles, but am a well man. I would say to all diseased persons, no matter what the complaint may be—Go to their institution and be cured.

EDWARD McMAHON,
1227 Front street, below Wharton.

BAD CASE OF HEMORRHAGE OF THE LUNGS.

Philadelphia, August 30, 1870.

DRS. GALLOWAY & BOLLES:

It affords me much pleasure to give my testimony in favor of your wonderful treatment. I had suffered for a long time with frequent attacks of hemorrhage, and was reduced to a mere skeleton. I had taken medicine from several physicians of this city, but still I could not get rid of these severe attacks. My friends all thought that I was in the last stage of consumption. In this condition I put myself under your care, and after a few visits, I felt entirely changed. In three weeks your skillful treatment cured me perfectly, and I have spit no blood since I first consulted you. It is now over two years, and during the whole time my health has been good and I have gained in flesh. I will ever remember you with feelings of gratitude

M. A. DONAGHUE,

330 Union street.

CONSTIPATION,

which has been called the father of diseases, will in every case succumb to the healthful and alterative power of our treatment.

CONSTIPATION AND LIVER COMPLAINT CURED.

Philadelphia, April 10, 1870.

To DR. GALLOWAY, 1230 Walnut street.

Dear Sir: For several years I have suffered a great deal from a morbid, inactive state of my bowels, caused, as my physician oftentimes told me, by liver complaint. To rid myself of these difficulties, I have swallowed medicines almost daily for over two years, but with little or no benefit. I consulted you a little over a month ago, and in three electrical treatments I was perfectly cured. My health has been better since than for years before. I will always feel thankful to you for your kind and efficient services.

Gratefully yours,

JAMES BROWN, Pine street above Sixth.

REMARKABLE CURE OF PILES.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13, 1868.

I cheerfully make the following statement of facts, concerning my own astonishing case, which to me, will always seem wonderful. I have been a great sufferer, for fifteen years, from Piles and Hemorrhoidal Tumors, and almost constant Prolapsus of the Rectum. During the above period I have tried every possible means of relief, but without any benefit. Almost three months ago I was informed that Drs. GALLOWAY & BOLLES, of the Electropathic Institution, 1230 Walnut street, were performing remarkable cures by means of the different modifications of Electricity. I held a consultation with these gentlemen, and after a diagnosis, they told me they would guarantee a cure. I then made a contract with them, and I am most happy to say that, under their treatment, my difficulties have all disappeared, and I am now perfectly cured.

DIABETES.

In case of diabetes, incontinence and retention, or in painful an erratic urination, Electricity is most potent in regulating the secretions, changing the constituents of the fluids, and in restoring health and vigor to the debilitated functions.

STATEMENT OF A MAIL CARRIER.

Philadelphia, June, 1870.

When I commenced treatment with Dr. GALLOWAY I was a mere wreck, suffering from severe Diabetes and general prostration of the urinary organs. This condition had been gradually coming on for years, and I had exhausted the skill of at least a dozen of physicians in this city, but still I was getting worse. My difficulty was so bad when I went under Dr. GALLOWAY'S treatment, that I was compelled to pass water every fifteen minutes during the day, and more than twenty times during the night. I had lost much in flesh, and my whole system, both brain and body, was so completely shattered that life was a burden to me. I also had weak sinking spells, that would come on suddenly, rendering me entirely unconscious for an hour or so at a time. This was my state when I consulted Dr. Galloway, being advised to call on him by a gentleman who had been cured by him of inveterate Dyspepsia. After an examination he told me that he could cure me, and to the astonishment and joy of myself and friends, in a few applications of his electricity, my diabetes left me, and my other difficulties soon followed. In three weeks I was a well man and have remained so since, every trace of my troubles have long since disappeared, and although it is only four months since my cure was completed I have gained thirty pounds.

THOS. L. MILLS,

No. 219 South Thirty-seventh street.

For all diseases of the lungs, throat and chest, Electricity stands unrivalled.

PELVIC COMPLAINTS.

No organs of the human system are more liable to derangement than those situated in the pelvic basin.

Females are extremely liable to diseases of these organs. Such are their habits of dress that the natural circulation of the body is disturbed, keeping up in the region of the vital organs undue perspiration, relaxing the abdominal muscles, causing falling of the bowels, and, as a consequence, displacement of the bladder, uterus and other contiguous organs.

The ordinary method of treatment by pessaries, acids, caustic, and abdominal supporters is productive of great evil. The fact most of these difficulties arise from displacement or falling of the organs. In such cases the only rationale of cure consists in contracting the muscles and other appendages of support; and this can only be successfully accomplished by a process of direct electrical polarization, which not only produces speedy contraction, but at the same time adds vigor and tone to the parts involved.

Almost daily we are called upon to give relief to this class of sufferers, many of them have endured untold tortures from the medical treatment to which they have been subjected—leeching blistering, cauterizing, &c. Our electrical treatment is especially adapted to such—it soothes and strengthens the nervous system, enriches the blood, contracts the muscular fibre and imparts a healthy tone to the relaxed organism.

The worst cases are generally cured in from two to four weeks.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

This complaint is becoming so prevalent, and the cures resorted to so varied, that something more than a passing notice seems necessary. Infantile paralysis may arise from several causes. It may be partial or complete. It may fall upon one or both of the legs, the arms, or one entire side of the body. When it is but slight, nature, by proper attention to diet and exercise, will effect a cure. But when the loss of power is complete, electricity is the only known means of thorough restoration.

DYSPEPSIA.

The horrors of DYSPEPSIA in its many forms are conceded to be indescribable. We meet with persons daily who have tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of this disease, but without receiving any benefit. Indeed, we assert from our own observation and experience, that there is no medicine known that will give health and comfort to the confirmed dyspeptic. We have had much to do with the treatment of this disease, owing to its almost universal prevalence. More than one-fourth of all our patients suffer from it. Electricity, properly applied, in harmony with the polarity of the nervous system, will cure almost every case, no matter of how long standing. By its action, the stomach and liver are speedily restored to a healthy tone, and, in fact, in a short time the whole digestive system is in a normal condition. Such is our success in dyspepsia, that after an electrical diagnosis, we will guarantee a cure, charging nothing if we fail.

SEVERE DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Philadelphia, May 30th, 1866.

DR. GALLOWAY:

Dear Sir:—I had been afflicted with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for a long time, and in trying to get cured I had exhausted all the remedies of five physicians, but only continued to grow worse. Hearing of your success, I called on you, and after six applications I am now a well man.

In attempting a definition of my disease, I can only give some of the many symptoms which, taken altogether, were the most horrid. I had dyspepsia, bad marasmus, or wasting of the tissues of the whole body; at times, a difficulty of breathing, some palpitation of the heart, trembling of the limbs after exercise, aversion to business or company; at times gloomy. inability to collect my thoughts vigorously on any subject, a loss of memory, pain in various parts of the body; suffered much from lumbago, constant dragging pains in the lumbar region, and severe nervous dizziness.

I believe it is my duty, as a lover of humanity, to recommend this discovery to the afflicted of all classes. There seems to be no guess-work, no confusion, no matter of doubt in your treatment.

I say to dyspeptics everywhere, call on you at the Philadelphia Electropathic Institution, 1230 Walnut Street, and be cured.

WILLIAM FRETZ,

Twelfth Street and Montgomery Avenue.

It is more than four years since this gentleman was under our treatment and he still enjoys the best of health. We insert this to show that our cures are permanent and not temporary, as the non-progressive portion of the community seem to think.

M. J. GALLOWAY, M. D.

DYSPEPSIA AND DROPSY CURED.

McDonough, Chenango Co., N. Y., Oct. 4th, 1869.

MRS. PROFESSOR BOLLES:

Dear Madam:—I have never enjoyed as good health as since receiving your Electropathic treatment, which is now over three years. My Dyspepsia and Dropsy, from which I had suffered a long time, were entirely and permanently cured in about two weeks. Life to me is very different from what it was before consulting you. Instead of the gloom and seeming darkness which then enveloped me, I feel lively, happy and buoyant. I can be on my feet all day and attend to all my duties without the slightest pain or inconvenience. My extreme nervousness, which you told me was caused by a diseased state of my spleen, is all gone, and my whole system, as far as I am capable of judging, is in excellent condition. I will ever think of you and the other physicians of the Institution, with feelings of profound gratitude.

Yours truly,

MISS FRANCES BOSWORTH.

THE PHILADELPHIA ELECTROPATHIC COLLEGE.—At the annual commencement of this flourishing institution, held a day or two since, Professor M. J. Galloway delivered a highly-interesting address on the conservation and correlation of forces, which he handled with marked ability. He illustrated his subject with numerous electrical experiments, for the purpose of showing that all the forces of Nature have one common origin, and that Electricity. He was listened to throughout with the utmost attention. The Professor and his system of practice are steadily growing in public favor—Philadelphia Press.

DEVELOPEMENT BY ELECTRICITY.—A foreign physician has recently started the theory that children may be improved in mind as in body by the use of electricity. He gives the instance of a child, which was a phenomenon of deformity and stupidity, which, under the influence of electricity, grew three centimeters in a single month, and has since been always first, instead of last, in his class. Vegetation is much richer and more rapid in its growth when electrified than otherwise.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

PARALYSIS.

Palsy, Hemiplegia, Paraplegia and all diseases affecting the motion and sensation are under the control of Electricity. We have made many astonishing cures in such cases.

GENERAL PARALYSIS CURED.

DR. GALLOWAY:

Dear Sir:—To you I owe my health, and under a Divine Providence, I believe my life. In the early part of the winter of 1865, I was attacked with Paralysis all over my body, rendering me helpless for several days; every hour was supposed to be my last. From this attack I partially recovered, so that with the help of friends I could move about my room. I continued in this condition for several weeks, and although I had good medical attendance I got no better, and my physicians told me that I was incurable. My only hope now turned upon electricity and your skill in applying it. I was carried down to your office, and after an electrical diagnosis, you promised to cure me. At first I could not believe it, but the trial convinced me of my error. After a few applications I dispensed with my crutches, my cane soon followed them, and I could feel a healthy action all over my body. The constant giddiness and pain in the head which had troubled me from the first left me; the paralyzed limbs regained their natural strength, and at the end of two months I could say with inexpressible joy that I was a well man. An interval of four years and a half has elapsed since my cure, and I have been able to attend to business every day during that time. With the hope that some sufferer may see this, I pen it, and with the greatest pleasure I commend to the afflicted the use of electricity in the hands of DR. GALLOWAY.

ISAAC REICHELDEEFER,

MERCURY.

Persons suffering from the effects of mercury can be restored to health and vigor, as we extract all such poisons from the system.

SCIATICA.

No disease in the catalogue of suffering is more to be dreaded than sciatica. The dread does not alone arise from the acuteness of the pain, but no less from the persistency with which it haunts its victims. Once seated it claims a life tenancy. For the relief of this affliction various expedients have been resorted to, more murderous in some instances than the disease, and yet they never cure. On the contrary, our electrical treatment is not only safe and agreeable, but efficient and reliable. In acute attacks it gives instant relief, and even in chronic cases of long standing a cure is no less certain, although, in some cases, it may require a protracted treatment.

PRACTICAL RESULTS.

Philadelphia, July, 1870.

For more than two years I had been a martyr to this dreadful disease—Sciatica. It commenced with great weakness about the small of the back, which soon changed to the most acute pain on the slightest exertion. Oftentimes the pain was so intense that it was impossible for me to get about. I tried various remedies but all to no purpose. Hearing of the successful treatment of DR. GALLOWAY, I placed myself under his care last winter, and I am happy to say that the first application took away much of the pain and soreness. In three more visits the trouble all disappeared and the affected parts regained their natural power. I have not even had a twinge since.

EDWARD BRADLEY, No 1255 S. Seventeenth St.,

For all cases of paralysis, nervous prostration, and debility, electricity stands pre-eminent. No less potent is its effect in the restoration of lost virility.

KIDNEY AND LIVER DISEASE CURED.

Philadelphia, May 13th 1871.

This is to certify that for over three years I have been greatly afflicted with liver and kidney disease and general debility of the nervous system, with giddiness and palpitation of the heart. Having had the treatment of several doctors, who could do little for me, I had almost lost hope of ever regaining my former health. In this state I called upon Dr. Galloway, who assured me that he could cure me, and after nine or ten treatments, he has done so, and I am now enjoying the best of health. Although I am over sixty years of age, I am now as active and smart as when I was forty, and now believe what I could not before I came under his treatment, that he could do for me what he has done; but now I can speak in the highest terms of his ability as an Electrician. Indeed, words fail to express the comfort, pleasure and happiness that I now enjoy, and money is not to be compared to it. If I had the power, as I have the will, I would make his ability known world wide. I had almost lost my hearing in one ear: that he also restored, so that I now hear as well as ever I did. I shall be pleased in being referred to.

RHEUMATISM.

In all cases of Rheumatism, acute and chronic, our treatment acts like a charm. We frequently cure persons who have been rheumatic for upwards of forty years, deformed, distorted, and whose joints are drawn out of place from the effects of this severe disease. We can refer to hundreds that we have rid of this painful malady.

ACUTE RHEUMATISM CURED.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31, 1869.

For the benefit of sufferers like myself, I would say that I have been cured of a severe attack of Inflammatory Rheumatism in my knee by three applications of Electro-magnetism by Drs. GALLOWAY & BOLLES, at the Philadelphia Electropathic Institution, 1230 Walnut street. Before consulting them I took considerable medicines, but all to no purpose.

THOMAS DANCEY,

2030 Winter street.

NEURALGIA.

"I have suffered the torments of a thousand deaths! No rest. No sleep; racked with pains by day and by night. I have tried the most powerful opiates and narcotics. I have been cupped, blistered and gashed, but still there is no relief." Such was the salutation that greeted us on first entering our office one morning last week. The suffering gentleman's appearance comported well with his expression. After a careful diagnosis, we put him under the influence of the currents, and in less than ten minutes he left completely cured.

REMARK.

Although electricity in competent hands can do this almost invariably, yet Neuralgia arises from such a variety of causes, and assumes so many forms, that it calls forth for its successful treatment the highest skill of the experienced electrician.

ULCERS AND SORES.

For the relief of ulcers and sores electricity is most efficient. It arouses the dormant energies, quickens the absorbents, increases the vital action, and by its continuance the most refractory cases are healed. We can refer to cases of ten years' standing cured by this treatment.

ULCERATED LEG CURED.

Philadelphia, March 20, 1867.

DRS. GALLOWAY & BOLLES,

Dear Sirs: Your treatment has acted charmingly on my ulcerated leg. I almost despaired of its being cured, as I had tried all the common remedies without the slightest benefit. I can now say that after three weeks of your treatment, my limb is perfectly well, the ulcers have all disappeared, and it is now as strong as the other.

Yours Respectfully,

ABRAHAM FLUKE, Jr.,

No. 21 North Front street.

SPERMATORRHŒA OR SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

This is a disease which prevails to an alarming extent in the community. Medicines may be swallowed day after day for months and even for years, but still there is no cure. The manifestations common to this condition are nervous debility, exhaustion, constipation, dimness of sight, consumption of the tissues of the system, palpitation of the heart, loss of memory, aversion to society, Dyspepsia, pain in the back and limbs, melancholy and insanity. Many and almost daily are the benedictions we receive from this class of sufferers, who come to us in misery and gloom, and who, after receiving our treatment a few days, or at farthest in the worst cases, as many weeks, experience a permanent cure. If our discovery in the use of electricity was only applicable to the cure of this ONE DISEASE, that of itself would stamp it one of the greatest blessings of the age.

Consultation and treatment strictly private.

Insanity, fits, and all extreme cases of nervous irritability arise from a disturbed state of the electrical polarities of the nervous system. The cure consists in restoring an equilibrium of the lost balance. This is accomplished by the aid of electricity.

INSTRUCTION.

Dr. Galloway devotes a portion of his time to the instruction of those desiring information on the subject.

The course embraces Anatomy, Physiology, Electro-Physiology, Electro-Diagnosis, Pathology and Therapeutics.

The subject is so practicalized, that every one of ordinary talent and education will, at the completion of the course, be able to treat disease safely and efficiently.

Students will be fully qualified in its use for general practice, or sufficiently so to be able to treat their own families.

GALVANIC BATHS.

In connection with our numerous appliances for administering electricity, we have a superior Galvanic Bath, for the treatment of all appropriate cases. This general application of electricity in water is highly beneficial in certain instances. Patients under our care may therefore rest assured that these baths will be administered when advisable.

Lost manhood, either physical or mental, is restored by Electricity.

EXPRESSION FROM THE GREAT PHRENOLOGIST

Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, Feb. 10, 1868.

To Drs. BOLLES & GALLOWAY,

Gentlemen: It affords me much pleasure to recommend you as physicians, both in my public lectures and private examinations. Your treatment is the most rational, and in fact the only system of medical practice that has philosophy to commend it. A large portion of humanity are eking out a miserable existence, sickly, scrawny, dyspeptic and nervous, who, by a few visits to your Institution would become balanced, healthy, and happy. Every organ and function of the body, every faculty of the mind, can be regulated by electricity according to your discovery, so that man's life will be a period of enjoyment instead of pain and suffering as we too often find it. From a careful investigation of your discovery, I confidently believe that in the march of progress, the day is not far distant when drugging will be abandoned, and your scientific and health-giving system of practice will be universally adopted. God hasten the time.

Yours Truthfully,

Professor O. S. FOWLER, Phrenologist.

AT THEIR RESIDENCE.

Patients unable to visit the office will be waited on at their residence.

N.B.—We wish the suffering distinctly to bear in mind that our mode of treating diseases is entirely FREE FROM SHOCKS or any UNPLEASANT SENSATIONS; but, on the contrary, it is in every way pleasant and agreeable, even to the most sensitive and tender in years, infants not excepted.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS CONTINUED.

Electrical Medical College. The success of this celebrated institution, in the permanent cure of disease, whose name is legion, is proverbial with the people, especially in Philadelphia and the regions round about, and has become historical.

Drs. Galloway & Bolles are gentlemen of experience, of high medical attainments; they are skillful operators, and accomplished in every department of their profession.—Phila. United States Journal.

Medical Electricity.—Drs. Galloway & Bolles, of 1230 Walnut street, Philadelphia, make a specialty of Electricity for the cure of the worst forms of acute and chronic diseases. Their widespread popularity arises from the fact that they have effected cures in thousands of cases deemed incurable by all other treatment.—Phila. Business Guide.

Philadelphia Electropathic Institution.—It is gratifying to us to see this institution so well patronized by our citizens who need medical aid. Drs. Galloway & Bolles are personally known to us, and we can give our testimony of their high attainments as Medical Electricians. Their skill in the treatment of diseases generally, but especially those that have baffled the skill of other physicians, is really unsurpassed. We are acquainted with quite a number of persons who had been great sufferers for years, who are now enjoying perfect health, after being treated by these gentlemen. In female complaints, nothing can be compared to their method, in certainty, efficiency and rapidity of cure. The unpleasant sensation which has attended the application of Electricity, is now entirely obviated, and there are no shocks. The public should know these things.—Phila. Morning Post.

THE BEST FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

So magical is the effect of electricity in removing disease, and in again restoring the debilitated functions to their healthful vigor, that no family can be considered wise or safe without an electrical apparatus, and a thorough knowledge of its nature and use. Its preeminence does not consist only in its power to eradicate from the system obstinate chronic disease, but also in its ability to mitigate acute attacks. Many families are so delicately organized that they are liable to an attack of some kind, even from the slightest exposure. To such electricity is invaluable. If applied immediately after the attack, the contending forces of the body will be equalized, and the threatened danger warded off. In the worst form of hereditary disease, a thorough course of this treatment, if it will not constitutionally eradicate the malady, will at least remove all traces of it from the system. Even scrofulous and syphilitic affections can be completely subdued by electricity. Nor is this all; the system once brought into a healthy electrical state, the liability of any attack is much lessened, and if the attack is made it is easily subdued.

ELECTRICAL APPARATUS

Of various kinds furnished to those competent to use them.
