*Plain and easy Instructions for ROASTING Butcher's
 Meat, &c.*

For Roasting in General.

 H E N you want any thing very small or thin, make a little brisk Fire, that it may be done quick and nice,
 but if it is a large Joint, let a good Fire be prepar'd, rake it clear out at the bottom, and when your Meat is half done, stir up a good brisk Fire.

For Roasting Beef.

When you roast Beef, make up a strong lasting Fire, that it may penetrate into the heart of the Meat, else the inside will be raw when the outside

is over done. When you think it is near enough, make your Fire burn brisker, in order to brown it. While it is roasting, baste it often with its own Dripping, and flour it well. The time for roasting is the same with that of boiling, a quarter of an Hour to every Pound of Meat.

If a Surloin or Rump, you must not salt it, but lay it a good Way from the Fire, baste it once or twice with Water and Salt, then with Butter; flour it, and keep basting with its own dripping. When the Smoak of it draws to the Fire it is near enough done.

If the Ribs, sprinkle them with a little Salt half an Hour before you lay it down; dry and flour it, then butter a piece of Paper very thick and fasten it on the Beef, put the buttered side next the Meat.

⚡ Never salt your roast Beef before you lay it down to the Fire (except the Ribs) for that will draw out the Gravy.

When you keep it a few Days before you dress it, dry it well with a clean Cloth, and flour it all over, then hang it up where the Air may come to it.

For Roasting Mutton.

All Joints of Mutton, except a Leg, requires a brisker Fire than Beef. Baste it with Butter, and flour it often, but if it be very large, and you suspect it to be Ram Mutton, baste it well on first laying it down with Water and Salt, and that will take off the rankness. You must abate somewhat of a quarter of an Hour of each Pound, especially when you roast a Shoulder or Neck.
of

↳ Always take off the Skin of a Breast of Mutton before you lay it down to the Fire.

To roast a Shoulder of Mutton with Thyme.

Draw your Shoulder of Mutton, and when it is half roasted save the Gravy, and cut a good deal of the inside off it, and mince it gross, and boil it in a Dish with the Gravy and Thyme, Claret Wine and sliced Nutmeg, and when your Shoulder is roasted, lay it in the Dish with sliced Lemon, but remember to scotch your Mutton in roasting, as you do in boiling.

For roasting a Leg of Mutton with Cockles.

Stuff it all over with Cockles, then roast it; garnish it with Horse-raddish.

To roast a Leg or Shoulder of Mutton with Oysters.

When you open the Oysters, save the liquor, then season them with Pepper, and a little Cloves and Mace, and Herbs finely chopped, and the yolks of 2 or 3 Eggs chopped small and some Currants parboiled a little, then stuff your Shoulder of Mutton thick with your Oysters, then season it and lay it to the Fire and roast it, then take the rest of your Oysters, and boil them with a little White-wine, and some Butter, this is sauce for your Shoulder of Mutton, when your Oysters are opened you may parboil them in their own liquor, then take them out and season them—Or take a Leg that has been two or three Days butchered, stuff it all over with Oysters, then roast it, and garnish with Horse-raddish.

To roll a Breast of Mutton.

First bone the Mutton, then make a savory forced meat for it, and wash it with the batter of Eggs then spread the forced meat on it; roll it in a collar and bind it with Pack-thread, then roast it, put under it a Regalia of Cucumbers.

To roast a Chine of Mutton.

First raise up the skin from the Chine-bone, a little downwards; then take some slices of lean Bacon seasoned with Pepper, and roll'd Gives and shred Parsley, and spread them over the Chine, and lay lards of Bacon over them, and turn the skin over it; tie the Chine with Tape and put white Paper over to prevent discolouring it, roast it at a clear Fire; in roasting throw Crumbs of white Bread over it: when enough, serve it with a Regalia of Cucumbers.

For roasting Mutton, Venison Fashion.

Get a fat Hind-quarter of Mutton and cut the Leg like a Haunch of Venison, then rub it well with Salt-petre, and hang it in a moist place for two Days, wiping it two or three times a Day with a clean Cloth, then put it into a pan, and having boiled a quarter of an Ounce All-spice in a quart of red Wine, pour it boiling hot over your Mutton, and cover it close for two Hours. then take it out, spit it, lay it to the Fire and constantly baste it with the same liquor and Butter. If you have a good quick Fire, and your Mutton not very large, it will be ready in a Hour and a half, then take it up and send it to Table with some Gravy in one Cup, and sweet sauce in another.

For roasting Veal.

If the Fillet, stuff it with Parsley, Marjoram and Thyme, a sprig of Savory, a small Onion, a bit of Lemon-peel, cut very small, Pepper, Salt, Mace Nutmeg, Crumbs of Bread, four Eggs and a quarter of a Pound of Butter or Marrow mixed with a little Flour to make it stiff, put half of it into the Udder, and the other half into the holes made in the fleshy Part.

If a Shoulder, make the same sort of Stuffing and baste it with Milk till half done, then flour it and baste it with Butter.

If a Breast, roast it with the Caul on 'till it is enough, and Skewer the Sweet-bread on the back-side the Breast; and when it is near done, take off the Caul; baste it and dredge it with a little Flour. All these are to be sent to Table with melted Butter, and garnish with sliced Lemon.

If a Fillet or Loin not stuffed, take care to paper the Fat, that as little as possible may be lost. All Joints are to be laid at a distance from the Fire, till soaked, then nearer the Fire. When you lay it down baste it with good Butter (except it be the Shoulder, and that may be done the same, if you like it better) and when it is near enough, baste it again, and dredge it with a little Flour.

An admirable way to roast a Calves Head.

Take a Calves Head and boil it an Hour and a half; when cold, lard it with Lemon-peel and then spit it: when enough, make good savoury Sauce, as you do for a hash'd Head, and put into it forc'd Meat-balls, fryed Sweet-breads, Eggs and Clary, Clary, a little Bacon, some Truffels and Morels, Mushrooms and Oysters, and a little Lemon-juice and mix it all well together with the sauce and pour it over the Head.

Lamb or Veal.

All young Meats ought to be thoroughly done, therefore do not take Lamb or Veal off the spit till you see they drop a white Gravy.

For roasting Calves Liver.

Lard it well with large slices of Bacon, fasten it on the spit, roast at a gentle Fire, and serve it up with good Veal Gravy or melted Butter.

For roasting a Pig.

Take Sage shred very small, grated Bread, Salt, a little Pepper, and the Yolks of four Eggs, mix them well with a little white Wine till they come to a Consistency; then put them into the belly of the Pig, sew it up, and after having rubbed the skin over with Butter, put it on the spit: Keeping it continually basting and wiping with a clean Cloth and turning very fast till it is enough. One Hour will roast a middling Pig, if large more time must be allowed. When enough take the Pudding out of the belly, mix it with Gravy and the brains of the Pig: Sweet sauce is to be made the same Way, on'y add a few Currants, some Sugar, Nutmeg, and a little white Wine.

Another Way.

Take and wipe it quite dry with a clean Cloth, then take some Crumbs of Bread, a piece of Butter, of each a quarter of a Pound, Palley, Thyme, Sage, Sweet-majoram, Salt, Pepper, and Nutmeg, with with the Yolks of two Eggs; mix them together, and sew it up in the belly, and then spit it; flour it very thick and lay it to the Fire, taking Care that your Fire burns well at both Ends, or hang a flat Iron in the middle of the Grate till it does; continue flouring it till you find the Crackling hard then wipe it clean with a Cloth wetted in salt and water, and baste it with Butter, When the Gravy begins to run put your basons in the dripping pan to receive it. When you find it is enough take about a quarter of a Pound of Butter, put it in a coarse clean Cloth, and having made a clear brisk Fire, rub the Pig all over with it till the Crackling is quite crisp and then take it from the Fire. Cut off the Head, and cut the Pig in two down the back, then take out the spit; having cut the Ears off, place one at each End, and also cut the Head in two and place one at each side, and serve it up with some good Beef Gravy, mix the Gravy from the Pig, and the Brains bruised, and a little dried Sage shred small; pour all these together into the Dish and serve it up.

For roasting Pork.

Pork should lie twelve Hours at least in Salt, before you put it down to roast, then flour it well but very little basting will serve, except you roast it without cutting the skin, and then you must keep it basting and turning very fast, as you would do a Pig, to preserve it from blistering, or parting from the flesh. This is a very luscious Meat, and requires the same time as Beef and a strong Fire, for it will be pernicious if eaten with Gravy in it that has

has the least Tincture of redness, is very apt to surfeit. The common as well as the most wholesome sauce is Apple-sauce and Mustard—The best way of roasting the Leg is to parboil, then take off the skin and lay it down, baste it with Butter, then take a little Pepper and Salt, a little Sage shred fine, a few Crumbs of Bread and a little Nutmeg; throw these all over it all the time it is roasting, then put a little drawn Gravy into the Dish with the Crumbs that drop from it.—Some like the Knuckle stuffed with Sage and Onion shred small with a little Pepper and Salt, Gravy and Apple sauce to it; this they call a mock Goose. The Spring or Hand of Pork if very young and roasted like Pig eats very well, otherwise it is best boiled. The best Way to dress Pork Griskins is to roast them, baste them with Butter and Crumbs of Bread, Sage, and a little Pepper and Salt: but some like them better broiled. The Spa-rib should be basted with a bit of Butter, a very little flour, and some Sage shred small, and served up with Apple-sauce.

When you roast a Loin, take a sharp Penknife and cut the skin across to make the Crackling eat the better, The Chine you need not cut at all.

Observe

vory, a bit of Lemon-peel, half a Nutmeg grated a little Mace, Salt, cut your Herbs very small, chop them as small as possible and mix all together with three Eggs, and as much grated Bread as will make it of a proper consistence; then fill the Crop of your Turkey with it, paper the Breaſt and lay it down at a good diſtance from the Fire, When the ſmoak begins to draw to the Fire, and it looks plump baſte it again, and dredge it again with a little flower, ſoon after take it up and ſend it to the Table with ſome ſtrong Beef Gravy; garniſh the Diſh with Lemon.

A Turkey muſt be well flower'd and baſted, and roasted with a ſtrong fire, eſpecially if the Belly be ſtuffed with Oyſters, which you muſt take out as ſoon as it comes off the Spit, and put them into melted Butter with Gravy, if no Oyſters, leſs Time will roaſt it, and put no Butter to your Gravy.—Or, you may make the following ſauce; take a little white Gravy, Catchup, a few Bread crumbs and a little whole Pepper, let them boil well together: put to them a little flower, and a lump of Butter, which pour upon the Turkey. You may lay round your Turkey, forced Meat Balls. garniſh your Diſh as before.

For roaſting a Goofe.

Chop Onion and Sage ſmall mixed with ſome Pepper and Salt, and a bit of Butter, and put them into the Goofe's belly, then ſpit it, ſinge it with white Paper, dredge it with a little Flower and baſte it with its own Dripping. When it is enough (which is known by the Legs being Tender) take

it

it up and pour into it some good Beef Gravy, the sauce in the Dish must also be the same, and serve it up in the same Dish, and set Mustard and Sugar for those who like it, and Apple-sauce in a Basin.

How to truss a Goose.

Let only the thick joints of the Legs and Wings be left to the Body, the Pinions and Feet should be cut off and go with the other Giblets, which consist of the Gizzard and Liver, and the Head and Neck. Cut a hole at the bottom of the Apron of the Goose and draw the Rump thro' it; then put a skewer through the small part of the Leg, and thro' the Body near the Back, and another through the thinner part of the Wing, and thro' the Body near the back and then you have done.

For roasting a Woodcock.

Truss your Woodcock, and draw it under the Leg, take out the bitter part, and put in the Guts again. Whilst the Woodcock is roasting, baste it with Butter, set under it an earthen Dish with a slice of toasted Bread in it, and let the Woodcock drop upon it: Your Woodcock will take about half an Hour in Roasting if you have a brisk Fire. When you dish it up, lay the Toast under it, and serve it up with sauce made of Gravy and Butter, a little Lemon and a spoonful or two of red Wine, and pour a little over the Toast.

Another way for roasting Larks.

Let them be trussed handsomely on the Back, but neither draw them nor cut off their Feet. Lard them with small Lardons, or else spit them on a wooden skewer with a small bit of Bacon between them; when they are near roasted enough, dredge them with fine Salt and fine crumbs of Bread. When they are ready, rub the Dish you intend to serve them in with a Shalot, and serve them with a sauce made of Claret, the Juice of two or three Oranges and a little shred Ginger, set it over the Fire a little while and beat them up with a piece of Butter.

You may use the same Sauce with broiled Larks, which you must open on the Breast when you lay them on the Gridiron.

To roast a Wild Duck.

Wild Duck or any other Wild Fowl should be roasted with the Spit made hot before you lay them on; otherwise the inside will be raw and the outside too much done: They must all in general be constantly basted with Butter, and their own dripping. The Sauce for a tame Duck serves for all kind of Wild Fowl; except a Partridge which should be basted with Butter, and strewed with grated Bread; and the Sauce made of grated bread Yolk of Eggs, white Wine and Gravy well spiced.

How to truss Easterlings, Ducks, Teals and Widgeons.

When you draw it lay aside the Gizzard and Liver, and take out the Neck, taking care to leave the Skin of the Neck full enough to cover that part where the Neck was cut off. Next cut off the Pinions, and raise up the whole Legs 'till they are in the middle, and press them between the Body of the Fowl and the stump of the Wings, then twill the Feet and set the bottom of them towards towards the Body of the Fowl, and put a skewer through the Fowl, between the lower joint next the Thigh and the Foot, taking hold of the ends of the stump of the Wings, then the Legs will stand upright.

A good Sauce for Teal, Mallard, Ducks, &c.

Take a quantity of Veal Gravy according to the bigness of the Dish or wild Fowl, seasoned with Pepper and Salt, squeeze in the Juice of two Oranges and a little Claret. This will serve all sorts of wild Fowl.

For roasting a Hare.

A Hare is best when Larded; but if this is not thought proper, you may make a Pudding of grated Bread, the Liver of the Hare minced small, Parsley, Thyme, Winter Savory, Sweet Marjoram, Salt, Pepper a few Cloves beaten, the Yolks of three Eggs wetted with Claret, and put into the Belly, which when sewed up put it on the Spit, baste it with Cream 'till half done, then with its own Dripping; but keep it always moist. Mix half a Pint of Claret with very strong and high-season'd Gravy sauce, an Hour will roast it.

For roasting a Hare another way.

Lard it, Spit it, and while it is roasting baste it with Milk or Cream, then serve it with thick Claret sauce.

Another Way.

Take the Liver of a Hare, grated Bread, some fat bacon, a Shalot, an Anchovy, a little Winter savoury and a little Nutmeg, beat all these into a Paste and put them into the Belly of the Hare, baste the Hare with stale Beer, put a little bit of Bacon in the Pan, when it is half roasted baste it with Butter. For sauce take melted butter and a bit of Winter Savory.

Another Way.

Make a Pudding of grated Bread and the Heart and Liver par boiled and chopped small, with beef suet and sweet Herbs mix'd with Marrow, Cream Spice and Egg., then sew the Belly and roast it. When it is roasted let your Herbs be served up with Cream Gravy, or Claret.

How to truss a Hare.

In casing a Hare, when you come to the Ears put a skewer just between the Head and the Skin, and raise it up by degrees 'till both the Ears are striped, and take of the rest as usual. Then twist the Head over the Back, and put two skewers in the Ears to make them stand almost upright, and to keep the Head in a proper position, then push up the joints of the Shoulder blade towards the Back, and put a skewer between the joint thro' the bottom jaw to keep it steady, and another skewer through the lower branch of the Leg and thro' the Ribs to keep the blade-bone up-right and another thro' the point of the same branch, then bend both Legs in between the Haunches so as to make their points meet under the scut, and take care to skewer them fast with two skewers.—It's common to send them to a Poulterer to be trussed.

☞ A Hare may also be trussed short, in the manner of a Rabbit for boiling.

For roasting Rabbits.

Put them down to a moderate Fire and baste them with butter, then dredge them with flour, and melt some good butter, and having boiled the Livers with a bunch of Parsley, chop them small, put half into the Butter and pour it into the dish, and garnish it with the other half.

French Sauce for Rabbits.

Onions minced small, fried and mingled with Mustard and Pepper.

Another Way.

Or baste your Rabbits well with butter, keep them forty Minutes at the Fire, which should be brisk but not too strong: For sauce mince the Liver small and put no butter to it.

How to truss a Rabbit for roasting.

Case the whole Rabbit except the lower joints of the fore Legs and those you should chop off; then put a skewer through the middle of the Haunches, after you have laid them flat, and the fore legs which are called the Wings, must be turned so that the small Joints may be pushed into the body through the ribs. This is a single Rabbit, and has the spit put thro' the head and body, but the skewer take hold of the spit to preserve the Haunches. But if you truss a couple of Rabbits there should be seven skewers, and then the spit passed through between the skewers without touching the Rabbits.

Note. You may truss it short in the same manner as for boiling and roast it.

For roasting a Haunch of Venison.

First spit it, then take a little Wheat flour and Water, knead and roll it very thin, tie it over the fat part of the Venison with Packthread; if it be a large Haunch it will take four Hours roasting, and a middle Haunch three Hours, keep basting all the Time you roast it, when you dish it up put a little Gravy in the dish, and sweet sauce in a bason. Half an Hour before you draw your Venison take of the Paste and baste it, and let it be a light brown.

Another Way.

After the Haunch is spitted, beat the Whites of three or four Eggs and sprinkle in some of the best flour, and rub it over your Meat with a Feather, baste it with sweet butter and dredge it with flour. For your sauce boil Claret, a little Pepper, Mace, Salt, Gravy and butter; thicken it with grate d bread.

To roast Tripe.

Take the best Roll of Tripe you can get, and put it into Water and Salt for twelve Hours, then take it out and dry it well, and cut it in half. For your seasoning take Suet, Thyme, Parsley, and bread crumbled fine, of each an equal quantity; a little Lemon-peel, Pepper, Salt and Nutmeg: Mix these well all together with the Yolk of an Egg then take half your Tripe and spread the above Ingredients upon it on the fat side, then put the other half upon it, and roll it as hard as you can, and bind it with a fillet, then put the spit thro' it and baste it with butter; it will take as much roasting roasting as a fillet of Veal. The sauce is only butter and Gravy: When it is done take off the fillet, and serve it up.

To roast a Tongue and Udder.

Boil the Tongue a little, blanch it, and lard it with Bacon, the length of an Inch, being first seasoned with Nutmeg, Pepper and Cinnamon, and stuff the Udder full of Cloves: Then spit and roast them, baste them with sweet Butter and serve them up with Claret sauce, garnish with sliced Lemon.

Another Way.

Parboil your Tongue or Udder, then stick ten or twelve Cloves in it, and when it is ready take it up and send it to Table with some Gravy and sweet sauce.

Roasting a Pickled Neat's Tongue.

First soak it, then boil it till the skin will peel off and then skin it, and stick it with Cloves, about two Inches asunder, then put it on a spit, and wrap a Veal Caul over it and roast it till enough; then take off the Caul and just froth it up and serve it in a Dish with Gravy, and some Vennison or Claret sauce in a Plate; garnish it with Raspings of Bread sifted and Lemon sliced.

To roast Lobsters.

Take a Lobster or as many as you will when alive and bind them to a spit with Pack-thread, with the Claws out strait, and the same time will be required for roasting as boiling, and baste them with Vinegar and Butter, and if you please you may tie a bunch of Herbs to a Stick and dip in Butter and Vinegar and baste with that, and mind in the roasting to salt them, serve them up as they come off the spit, with Butter in a China Cup.

To roast a Pike.

Spit your Pike at length with a splinter on each side, with a bunch of sweet herbs and an Onion stuck full of Cloves, and three Bay-leaves in the Belly, and wound about with thread to fasten it; then take a large bunch of sweet Herbs and put Butter on them, and baste with it instead of a basting Ladle, and so roast it: For the sauce have three Onions stuck with Cloves boiled in white Wine, Anchovies, Bay-leaves and Butter thicken'd with grated Bread.

*Plain and easy Instructions for Boiling
Meat, &c.*

YOU must put all fresh Meat into the Water boiling hot, and your salt Meat when the Water is quite cold, unless you apprehend it is not salted quite enough, for the putting into hot Water strikes in the Salt.

Lamb, Veal, and Chickens, boil much whiter in a Linen Cloth, with a little Milk in the Water.

Observe that the Time sufficient for dressing different Joints depends on their size. A Leg of Mutton of about seven or eight Pounds will take two Hours boiling. A young Fowl about half an Hour. A middle-sized Leg of Lam about an Hour

Hour and a quarter. A thick piece of Beef of twelve or fourteen Pounds, will take about two Hours and a half after the Water boils, if you put in the Beef when your Water is cold; and so in Proportion to the thickness and weight of the Piece; but all Kind of Victuals take some what more time in frosty Weather; upon the whole, the best Rule to be observed is to allow a quarter of an Hour to every Pound. when the Joint is put into boiling Water.

In boiling Beef.

Let your pot be large enough to contain a sufficient quantity of Water for it to have room to wabble about, and be sure before you put it on, to make a good strong Fire, so that it may never cease boiling from the minute it begins, till it is thoroughly done. As for the Time of boiling you may allow a quarter of an Hour to every Pound of Beef except Brisket, which requires more by reason of its being so very fibrous.

To boil Mutton.

Mutton takes not up altogether so much Time or Water as Beef, yet it must not be cramped in too small a Pot, for if it is it will be tough, and the colour spoiled. If you make Broth put in no more Water then will just cover it, and after you have taken the Scum off which must be raised by throwing in some Salt, and put in what thickening the Family likes, whether Rice, Barley or Oatmeal, let it be close stopped till enough.

To boil a Leg of Mutton with Stuffing.

Take a Leg of Mutton and stuff it, for the stuffing take some Beef-suet, and some sweet Herbs, chop them small, and stuff it, then boil it, and put in a handful of sweet Herbs, cut them small mingle a hard Egg amongst the Herbs, and strew it upon the Mutton, melt some Butter and Vinegar put it into a Dish and send it in.

To boil Veal.

A great inducement to eating heartily of boiled Veal is the whiteness of it: You should therefore not only be particular careful in taking off the Scum, but also tie the Meat in a Cloth, and the Skin will then look of a delicate clearness. — The same care ought to be taken of Lamb, especially House; for it being of a more delicate Texture than the Grass, is more liable to imbibe any disagreeable Tincture. Both ought to be well boiled, as indeed should all young Meat, or it is unwholesome,

For boiling a Leg of Lamb, with the Loin fried about it.

Boil the Lamb, then lay it in the Dish and pour a little Parsley and Butter over it; and lay your fried Lamb round it, cut some Asparagus the size of Pease, boil them green, and lay them round your your Lamb in Spoonfuls, and garnish the Dish with crisp'd Parsley.

A Leg of Lamb boiled with Chickens round it.

When your Lamb is boiled pour over it Parsley and Butter; lay your Chickens round your Lamb
and

and pour over your Chickens a little white fricaffee Sauce. Garnish your Dish with Sippets and Lemons.

To boil Pickled Pork.

First wash your Pork, then scrape it clean; and put it into the Pot when the Water is cold, and boil it till the Rind is tender.

Pork requires much boiling and should never be dressed without Salting, for there is a juice between the Rind and the Fat, which if not well purged out, breeds bad Humours.

For keeping Meat hot.

Set a Dish over a pan of boiling Water, cover the Dish with a deep cover so as not to touch the Meat, and lay a Cloth over all. This way will keep your Meat hot a long Time, and it is better then over roasting and spoiling the Meat. The Steam of the Water keeps the Meat hot, and does not draw the Gravy out, or dry it up; whereas if you set a Dish of Meat any Time over a chaffing Dish of Coals it will dry up all the Gravy and spoil the Meat.

To boil Greens.

When you boil Greens, first soak them two Hours in Water and Salt, or else boil them in Water and Salt in a Copper by themselves, with a great quantity of Water.

Use no iron Pans, &c. for they are not proper, but let them be Copper, Brass, or Silver.

For boiling Sprouts and Cabbage.

All sorts of Sprouts and Cabbage must be boiled in a great deal of Water. Always throw Salt in to your Water before you put your Greens in. When the stalks are tender, or fall to the bottom they are enough, then take them off, before they loose their Colour.

To dress Spinage.

Take care to pick and wash it very clean; put it in a sauce-pan that will just hold it, throw a little Salt over it and cover the Pan close. Don't put any Water in, but shake the Pan often: as soon as you find them covered with their own Liquor and are tender, they are done; then squeeze them well between two clean Plates, and serve them up with Butter in a Basin.

For boiling Carrots.

Scrape them very clean, and when they are enough rub them in a clean Cloth, and slice them into a Plate and pour some melted Butter over them. If they are young spring Carrots, half an Hour will boil them; if large an Hour, but old Sandwich Carrots will take two Hours.

For boiling Caulliflowers,

Take off all the green Part and cut the Flowers into four quarters, and lay them into Water for an Hour then put the Caulliflowers into some boiling Milk and Water, and be sure to skim the sauce-pan well. When the stalks are tender take them carefully up, and put them into a Cullinder to drain, then dish them and serve them with Butter in a Cup.

For boiling Brocolie.

Strip off all the little branches, till you come to the top one, then take a Knife and peel off all the hard hard outside skin, which is on the stalks and little branches, wash them put them in a Stew-pan of Water and some Salt, in it when it boils and the Stalks are tender it is enough, then send it to table with Butter in a Cup.

The French eat Oil and Vinegar with it.

For boiling French Beans.

String them, then cut them in two, and afterwards across. Lay them into Water and Salt and when the Pan boils put in some Salt and the Beans, when they are tender they are enough, they will be soon done. Take care they don't loose their fine green. Lay them in a Plate and serve them with Butter in a Cup.

For boiling Asparagufs.

Scrape all the Stalks very carefully till they look white, then cut them all even alike and tie them in little bundles, then throw them into a Stew-pan of boiling Water, put in some Salt, and let the Water keep boiling; and when they are tender take them up, then make a Toast and dip it in the Asparagufs Liquor and lay it in the Dish: Pour a little Butter over the Toast, then lay the Asparagufs on the Toast all round the Dish with the white bottoms outward. Put your Butter in a Bafon and send it to Table.

For boiling Artichokes.

Wring off the Stalks, and put them into the Water cold with the tops downwards, that all the Sand moy boil out. When the Water boils, an Hour and a quarter will do them.

To boil Pullets and Oysters.

BOIL them in Water and Salt with a piece of Bacon: For sauce melt a Pound of Butter, with a little white Wine and strong Broth, and a Quart of Oysters, then put your pullets in a Dish, cut the Bacon and lay about them, with a Pound or two of fry'd Saufages, and garnish it with sliced Lemon.

To boil Fowls.

Boil them as aforefaid: For the fauce tofs up Sweet-breads, Artichoke-bottoms, Lamb-ftones, Cocks-combs, and hard Eggs, all sliced in strong Broth and white Wine, with Asparagufs-tops and Spice; thicken it with a bit of Butter kneaded in Flour, garnish the Dish with sliced Lemon.

To dress Chickens and Asparagufs.

First force your Chickens with good Forc'd-meat, and boil them white, cut your Asparagufs-tops about an Inch in length, and parboil it in Water, a little Flour and Butter, and drain it well then put in your Sauce-pan a little Butter and Salt and difsolve it gently, add to the Asparagufs minc'd Parsley and sweet Cream, fome Fennel and Nutmeg grated, Pepper and Salt, then stew it over a gentle Charcoal Fire, squeezing in it some Lemon-juice, and fo ferve it on your Chickens.

For boiling Chickens.

Take four or five Chickens, as you would have your your Dish in bigness; if they be small ones scald them, then pluck them which will make them whiter, then draw them and take out the breast-bone; wash them, truss them, cut off the Heads and Necks, tie them up in a Napkin, and boil them in Milk and Water, and some Salt, about five and twenty Minutes will do them. They are best for being killed the over Night before you use them.

For making Sauce to the Chickens

Boil the Necks, Livers and Gizards in Water, and when they are enough, strain off the Gravy, and put a Spoonfull of Oyster-pickle to them, break the Livers small, mix some Gravy, and rub them through a Hair-sieve with the back of a Spoon; then put a Spoonful of Cream to it, some Lemon and Lemon-peel grated; thicken it with some Butter and Flour. Let your sauce be no thicker than Cream, pour it upon your Chickens. Garnish your Dish with Sipets and Mushrooms, and slices of Lemon.

To boil a Turkey with Oysters

Take half a Pint of Water, half an Anchovy, three Spoonfulls of Oyster Liquor, thicken it well with Flour over the Fire; then stew your Oysters with the rest of the Liquor, and two blades of Mace, some whole Pepper, then take out your Oysters and strain all the Liquor: when your Turkey is almost ready put all your Sauce together with a piece of Butter, and a Spoonful or two of Gravy, a Spoonful of white Wine, some Lemon-juice, juice, and shake it over the Fire, and pour it over the Turkey and serve it up.

For boiling a Turkey.

Draw and truss your Turkey, cut off the Feet, and cut down the Breast-bone with a Knife, then sew up the skin again, stuff the Breast with the following Stuffing.

For making Stuffing to a boiled Turkey.

Boil a Sweet-bread of Veal, chop it fine with some Lemon-peel, a Handful of Bread Crumbs, some Beef-suet, part of the Liver, a Spoonful or two of Cream, with Pepper, Salt, Nutmeg, and two Eggs, mix all together and stuff your Turkey with part of the Stuffing, the rest may be boiled or fried to lay round it, dredge it with some Flour tie it up in a Cloth, and boil it with Milk and Water; if the Turkey is young an Hour and a Quarter will do it.

For making Sauce to a boiled Turkey.

Take a pint of Oysters, two Spoonfuls of Cream Juice of a Lemon, a little small white Gravy, and Salt to your Taste, thicken it with Flour and Butter, then pour it over the Turkey and serve it up lay round the Turkey fried Oysters, and the forced meat. Garnish the Dish with Mushrooms, Oysters and slices of Lemon.

To boil Pigeons.

When you have well cleansed and trussed your Pigeons, stuff their bellies with Parsley, and be sure to take off the Scum as often as it rises. Something more than a quarter of an Hour boils them. Whatever you boil, either of Flesh or Fowl, should should be set over a brisk Fire, that it may be kept constantly in Motion; for if it ceases, though never so small a Time, the Gravy drains out into the Water.

To boil Pigeons.

Stuff your Pigeons with sweet Herbs, chop'd Bacon a little grated Bread, a little Butter, Spice, and the Yolk of an Egg, then boil them in strong Broth, white Wine Vinegar, Mace, Salt, Nutmeg and Parsley minc'd, and drawn Butter, garnish your Dish with sliced Lemon and Barberries.

To boil Ducks.

When they be half-boiled take a quart of the Liquor and strain it, and put a quart of white Wine and some whole Mace, Cloves and Nutmegs sliced Cinnamon, and a few Onions shred a bundle of sweet Herbs, a few Capers, and some Camphire, when it is boiled put some Sugar to season it to your palate.

For boiling a Goose.

Season your Goose, with Pepper and Salt for four or five Days, then boil it about an Hour; and serve it hot with Cabbage, Carrots, Turnips, or Cauliflowers; tossed up with Butter.

To boil Geese.

Let them be powdered, and then fill their bellies with Oatmeal, which should first be steep'd in Milk or a little small Broth, warm: You may season it as you please' with Herbs Spice and Onions; some will put in Beef-suet, but that is as you like. When you have filled the Belly, tie it at the Neck and Vent, boil it with Greens and Roots, and serve it up.

For boiling Rabbits.

Truss them for boiling, and lard them with Bacon; then boil them quick and white. For sauce take the boiled Liver and stir it with fat Bacon, toss these up together in some good Gravy, white Wine Vinegar, Nutmeg, Mace and Salt, set Parsley, minced Barberries, and drawn Butter. Lay your Rabbits in a Dish, and pour the sauce all over them. Garnish it with sliced Lemon and Barberries.

Boiling Rabbits with Sausages.

Take a couple of Rabbits, and when almost boiled, put in a pound of Sausages, and boil with them, when done enough, dish the Rabbits, placing the Sausages round the Dish, with some fried slices of Bacon. For sauce put Mustard and melted Butter beat up together in a Cup and serve them hot.

For boiling a Ham.

Lay one of about sixteen Pounds into cold Water two Hours, then wash it clean, and boil it very slow the first Hour, and very brisk an Hour and a-half more. Then take off the Rind, and sprinkle it over with some rasping of Bread, but some who are very curious will wrap it up in Hay, before they put it into the Copper, in order to make it look red.

To boil a Tongue.

Lay a dried Tongue in warm Water for six Hours, then lay it three Hours in cold Water. Then

Then take it out and boil it three Hours which will be sufficient. If your Tongue be just out of Pickle it must lay three Hours in cold Water, and then boil it till it will peel.

Another Way.

A Tongue if Salt, put in the Pot over Night and do not let it boil till about three Hours before Dinner, and then boil it all that three Hours; if fresh out of the Pickle two Hours, and put it in when the Water boils.

B O I L I N G F I S H.

To boil a Salmon.

WA S H it and let it bleed well in the Water, then let it drain, after which put it into boiling Water, take out the Liver when about three Parts done, and braid it with Ketchup, which mingled with the Butter will make exceeding rich sauce. This sort of Dish takes almost as much boiling as Mutton.

To boil Pike.

Wash your Pike clean, then truss it round with the Tail in its Mouth, and its Back scotched in three places; then throw it in the boiling Water with a good deal of Salt and Vinegar, three or four blades of Mace, and the peel of a whole Lemon: Let it boil fast at first, for that will make the Pike eat firm, but more slow afterwards. The Time must be proportioned to the bigness of the Fish, but

but half an Hour is enough for a very large one, The best sauce for this is plain Butter with a few Shrimps and a Seville Orange.

To boil fresh Cod.

Mix a great deal of the best white Wine Vinegar with the Water in which you boil fresh Cod, Lemon peel, Salt, Mace and Cloves, otherwise the Fish will taste waterish, be very flabby, and liable to break in the Kettle. The sauce for this cannot be too rich, and if you are allowed it, spare neither Ketchup, Body of a Lobster, or Crab, Oysters and Shrimps, but if you have not all these at hand, put in as many of them as you can. You may know when it is enough, as you may all Fish, by the drooping out of the Eyes.

To boil Barrel Cod, or any other Salt Fish.

All Kinds of Salt Fish must lie in the Water proportionable to its Saltness: Trust not therefore to those you buy it of, but taste a bit of one of the Flanks. The sauce for it is Butter, Eggs, Mustard and Parsnips, or Potatoes.

To boil a Cod's Head.

Set your Kettle on the Fire with Water, Vinegar and Salt, a Faggot of sweet Herbs, and a large Onion; when the liquor boils, put in the Head, on a Fish-plate; in the boiling put in cold Water and Vinegar, when it's boiled drain it well, and for sauce take Gravy and Claret, boiled up with a Faggot of sweet Herbs and an Onion, two or three Anchovies, half a Pint of Shrimps, and the Meat of a Lobster shred fine, then put the Head on a Dish, pour the sauce thereon, stick small Toasts on the

the Head, and lay about it the Spawn, Melt and Liver. Garnish it with Parsley, boiled Barberries, and Lemon.

To boil a Fowl of Salmon.

Take a faggot of sweet Herbs, a little Lemon-peel, some Mace, Pepper, Salt and Nutmeg. two Quarts of Water, a pint of Vinegar, an Onion stuck with Cloves, and set these over the Fire to boil a good while, then put in your Fish, half a quarter of an Hour boils it: take it up and drain it: For sauce take strong Broth and two Anchovies boiled and strained, half a pint of Claret, a little Lemon-juice, a Pound of Butter, a little Flour, with some shrimps toss'd up therein, pour this on the Fish. Garnish with Lemon peel.

To make an excellent Sauce for Salmon.

Put into the Liquor of the Salmon, when you boil it, Salt, Vinegar and Mace; take a quarter of a Pint of the Liquor and draw your Butter with it, mince into it, an Anchovy wash'd clean, some Lemon-juice and Nutmeg, half a pint of Shrimps, two Spoonfuls of white Wine; with Ketchup and Mushrooms.

To boil a Turburt or Poliburt.

Your Fish being made clean, make a Bouillion of half Wine and Water, and season it with Spice, Salt, Herbs and Lemon-peel; let it boil some time before you put in your Fish, and boil it half an Hour, scum it as it boils, then take it up and drain it, you may serve it on a clean Napkin with Fish-sauce upon sipets or plain Butter.

For BROILING.

WHEN you broil any thing, let it be over a Stove of Charcoal, rather than Seacoal; turn your Meat very often. Whatever you broil or roast, do not Salt till it is put to the Fire; if you do, the Gravy will entirely run out, and the Meat become hard.

To broil Chickens.

Take fat Chickens, and slit them down the back; season them with Pepper and Salt, and lay them on a clear Fire, not too fierce; lay the inside next the Fire, when half done, turn them very often and baste them well, and strew on the raspings of French Bread sifted fine. For sauce, take a handful of Sorrel, dip it in hot Water, then drain it; add half a pint of Gravy, a Shallot shred small, a little Parsley and Thyme, a bit of Butter to thicken it, lay the Sorrel in heaps, and pour on the sauce.

Another Way.

First slit them down the back, then season them with Pepper and Salt, and lay them on a clear fire at a good distance, let the inside lay next the fire till it is above half done, then turn them, and take care the fleshy side do not burn, and let them be of a fine brown, your sauce may be good Gravy with Mushrooms; and garnish with Lemon and the Livers broiled, the Gizzards cut, flashed, and broiled with Pepper and Salt.

To broil Sheep or Hog's Tongues.

First boil, then blanch and spit your Tongues, season them with a little Pepper and Salt, then dip them in Eggs, throw over them a few bread crumbs and broil them 'till they are brown; serve them up with a little Gravy and Butter.

For broiling Beef-Steaks.

Beat your Steaks with a Rolling-pin, put pepper and salt over them, lay them on a Gridiron over a clear fire, set your Dish over a Chafing-dish of Coals, with a little brown Gravy, chop an Onion or Shalot as small as possible, and put it amongst the Gravy, if your Steaks be not over much done, Gravy will come from them, put them in your Dish all together. Garnish the Dish with Shalots and Pickles.

To broil Fish.

First throw Salt over them, and having drained them, dash a little flour over them, lay them upon a Cloth, and another Cloth above them, and being pretty dry, rub the Gridiron with Chalk, and put it upon the fire, which though clear, must not be too brisk, and turn your Fish frequently whilst broiling, else they will all break when you take them off.

To broil Chubs.

When you have scalded the Chub, cut off his Tail and Fins, wash him clean, and slit him through the Middle: Then cut him three or four times on the Back, and broil it over Charcoal, while it is broiling baste it with Butter, mingled with Salt and some Thyme shred fine.

For broiling Whitings.

Wash them with Salt and Water and dry them well, then flour them; rub your Gridiron with Chalk for that will keep the Fish from sticking, and make it hot, then lay them on and when they are enough serve them with Oyster or Shrimp sauce. Garnish with Lemon sliced.

For broiling Cod-founds.

Let them lie a few Minutes in hot Water, take them out and wash them well with Salt, take off the black Dirt and skin: when they look white, put them in Water and give them a boil, take them out, flour, salt and Pepper them well, and broil them whole, when they are enough lay them in your Dish, and pour melted butter and Mustard over them.

To make Fish Sauce.

You must take half a pint of white Wine, be sure it is not sweet, put in it a few Cloves, Pepper, Mace, Ginger and Nutmeg, a little bunch of sweet Herbs, sweet Marjoram, Thyme, Winter Savory and one Onion, simmer it one quarter of an Hour then strain it off, put in half a pint of strong Gravy, but if you intend Lobster, Shrimp or Oyster sauce, you are to put a pint of either of them in, and stew them a quarter of an Hour; then thicken it with half a Pound of Butter and flour, made as if it were to be a Paste, and at last squeeze in it some Lemon.

Boil your Lobster a quarter of an Hour, whether it be for eating or for sauce.

Directions

Directions for HASHING.

For hashing a Calves Head.

SLIT your Calves Head, cleanse and half boil it, and when it is cold, cut it in thin slices, and fry it in a Pan of brown Butter; then put it in a Stew-pan over a Stove, with a Pint of Gravy, as much strong Broth, a quarter of a Pint of Claret. as much white Wine, and a Handful of savory Balls, two or three shrivelled Palates, a Pint of Oysters, Cocks-combs, Lamb-stones, and Sweet-breads, boiled, blanched and sliced with Mushrooms and Truffles; then put your Hash in the Dish, and the other Things, some round it, and some on it. Garnish your Dish with sliced Lemon.

Another Way.

Boil the Head till the Meat is near enough for eating, take it up and cut it into thin slices; then put to it half a pint of good Gravy: To this Liquor put two Anchovies, half a Nutmeg, a little Mace, and a small Onion stuck with Cloves. boil this up in the Liquor a quarter of an Hour; then strain it and let it boil gently again. then put in your Meat with a little Salt. and some Lemon-peel shred fine and let it stew a little: Mix the Brains with the Yolks of Eggs, and fry them for Garnish when the Head is ready, shake in a piece of Butter and serve it up.

For

For hashing Beef.

Cut some tender Beef into slices, and put them in a Stew-pan, well floured with a slice of Butter over a quick Fire, for three Minutes. and then add a little Water, a bunch of sweet Herbs, some Lemon-peel, an Onion, or a little Marjoram, with Pepper, Salt and grated Nutmeg; cover them close, and let them stew till they are tender, then put in a glass of Claret, or strong Beer, and then strain your sauce; serve it hot, and garnish with Lemon sliced and Beet-root. This is a very good Dish.

To hash Chickens.

Cut six Chickens into quarters, cover them almost with Water, and season them with Salt, Pepper, a handful of shred Parsley, half a Pint of white Wine; when they are boiled enough, add these to the Yolks of six Eggs, with a little Nutmeg, Vinegar and Ketchup, and a good piece of Butter; warm all these together, and pour them into a Slop-dish and serve them up.

For hashing a Leg of Mutton.

Half roast a Leg of Mutton, and when it is cold cut it in thin pieces as you would do any other Meat for hashing, then put it into a Stew-pan, with a little Water or small Gravy, two or three Spoonfuls of red Wine, two or three Shalots, or Onions, and two or three Spoonfuls of Oyster Pickle; thicken it with a little Flour, and so serve it up. Garnish the Dish with Horse Raddish and Pickles.

You may do a shoulder of Mutton the same Way, only boil the Blade-bone, and let it lie in the middle.

For hashing any Part of Mutton.

Cut the Mutton into very small pieces, and then take about half a Pint of Oysters, and after washing them in Water, put them in their own Liquor in a Sauce-pan, with some whole Pepper, Mace, and a little Salt; when they have stewed a little put in a Spoonful of Ketchup and an Anchovy, or pickled Walnut liquor, some Gravy, or Water; then put in your Mutton, and a piece of Butter rolled in Flour; then let it boil till the Mutton is warm through, then add a glass of Claret; lay it upon sipets. Garnish with sliced Lemon or Capers, and if you please some Mushrooms, then serve it up.

Another Way of hashing Mutton, or any such Meat.

Take a little whole Pepper, Salt, a few sprigs of sweet Herbs, a little Anchovy, one Shallot, two slices of Lemon, or a little Broth or Water; let it stew a little, and thicken it with burnt Butter. Serve it with Pickles and Sipets.

Directions for STEWING.

An exceeding good Way to stew Chickens.

TAKE Chickens, fleece them and cut them in pieces cross-way, then put them in a Pipkin kin or Skillet, and cover them almost with Pepper Mace, and Water, so let them stew softly with a whole Onion in it, till part of the liquor be consumed, then put in as much white Wine as will cover them again, take Parsley, sweet Marjoram winter Savory with some Thyme, and shred them very small and put them in, let them boil till they are almost enough, then put in a good piece of Butter.

For stewing Ducks whole.

Draw your Ducks, and wash them clean; then put them into a Stew-pan, with strong Broth, an Anchovy, Lemon-peel, whole Pepper, an Onion Mace and red Wine; when well stewed, put in a piece of Butter, and some grated Bread to thicken it; lay some Meat Balls and crisped Bacon round them. Garnish with Shalots.

To stew wild Fowls.

Roast them till half enough, and cut them in pieces; set them over a Chaffing-dish or Charcoal with half a Pint of Claret, and the same quantity of Beef-gravy, first boil'd and season'd with Spice and Shalot; stew it in this liquor till high colour'd and well mix'd, then serve it up.

To stew a Green Goose.

Cut your Goose in two and put it in a Stew-pan; and at the bottom put Lards of Bacon and Beef, with Onions, Savory, Thyme and Marjoram, with Carrots, slices of Lemon, Pepper, Cloves and Salt: Put it over a good Charcoal Fire till enough, often turning it; then make a Ragoo of Green Geese tols'd up with a little fresh Butter and Flour, a bunch of sweet Herbs, Salt and Pepper moisten

moisten it with Gravy; and when you serve it thicken it with the yolks of two Eggs, beat it in Cream. Dish up your Goose and pour the Ragoo upon it.

This Ragoo serves for a Breast of Veal, or Pigeons stewed

For stewing Pigeons.

Season and stuff your Pigeons, flat the Breast-bone and truss them up as you would do for baking, dredge them over with some Flour, and fry them in Butter, turning them round till all sides be brown; then put them into a Stew-pan, with as much Gravy as will cover them and let them stew till they are done; then take part of the Gravy, an Anchovy shred, a small Onion or a Shalot, a little juice of Lemon for sauce; pour it over your Pigeons, and lay round them Forced-meat Balls and crisp Bacon. Garnish your Dish with Lemon and crisp Parsley.

To stew Pigeons white.

Take twelve Pigeons with their GIBLETS and quarter them, put them in a Stew-pan, with just Water sufficient to stew them without burning; let your Fire be clear and not fierce; when they are tender thicken the liquor with the yolks of two Eggs, six or seven spoonfuls of sweet Cream, a little Butter a little shred Thyme and Parsley; shake them all together, and garnish it with sliced Lemon.

GIBLETS Stew'd.

Parboil them and toss them up in a Stew-pan as a Fricassee. and put into your Pan some strong Broth cover them close and let them stew gently, till the Broth is near wasted: In the mean Time take two French Rolls and let them simmer in strong Broth, and when ready to serve place them in the middle of your Dish, and lay your Giblets upon them, and round them; then pour in some Mutton Gravy made thus: Half roast your Meat, then pick it and squeeze it in a Press to force the Gravy out: Then take two Spoonfuls of strong Broth, and wet your Meat with it, then press it again; Salt it well and keep it in an earthen Pot, and use it as you want it.

For stewing Rabbits.

Cut them into quarters, then lard them with pretty large Lardoons of Bacon, fry them and put them in a Stew-pan, with strong Broth, white Wine, Pepper, Salt, a Faggot of sweet Herbs, fried Flour and Orange.

For stewing a Pig.

First roast the Pig till it is hot; then take off the Skin and cut it in pieces; then put it in a Stew-pan, with good Gravy and white Wine, some Pepper, Salt, Nutmeg, and an Onion, and a little sweet Marjoram, a little elder Vinegar, and some Butter, and when it is stewed enough then lay it upon sifts, and garnish the Dish with sliced Lemon.

For stewing Beef.

Brisket-beef, Thick-flank, or the Chuck-rib, are the best for stewing; cut it in Pieces of about four or five Ounces each; put it into an earthen Pipkin, with a few Turnips, one Carrot, one whole Onion, a little Thyme, Winter-savoury, sweet sweet Marjoram, Parsley, some Corns of Jamaica Pepper, Salt and black Pepper, three or four Bay-leaves; then put as much Water as will a little more than cover them; stop it very close to keep the steem as much as possible from going out, and set it over a slow Fire, so that it may just simmer: If it be a brisket, it will take full four Hours to do it right; if any other part, three Hours will be quite sufficient. When it is enough, take out the Bay-leaves, and serve up the rest altogether in a soup Dish.

For stewing a Rump of Beef.

Take a fat Rump of young Beef, lard the low part with fat Bacon, cut off the Fag-end, and stuff the other part with shred Parsley, put it into the Pan with a quart of red Wine, two or three Quarts of Water, two or three Anchovies, some whole Pepper, a bunch of sweet Herbs, an Onion, two or three blades of Mace: stew it over a slow Fire five or six Hours, turning it several Times in the stewing, and keep it close cover'd; when your Beef is stewed enough take the Gravy from it, thicken it with a lump of Butter and Flour, put it upon a Dish with the Beef. Garnish the Dish with Horse-radish and Beet-root; there must be no Salt upon the Beef, only salt the Gravy to your Taste.

You may stew part of a Brisket or an Ox-cheek, the same Way.

For stewing Beef Collops.

Take some raw Beef and cut it in the same manner as you do Veal for Scotch Collops; lay it in the pan

pan with a little Water, put to it some Pepper and Salt, some Marjoram powdered, a Gill of white Wine and a slice or two of fat Bacon, and some flour'd Butter, put it over a quick Fire for a little Time 'till cover'd with Gravy, you may put in a little Ketchup, serve it hot and garnish with sliced Lemon.

To stew Beef-Steaks.

Take the Steaks of a Rib. and half broil them, put them into your Stew-pan cover'd with Gravy; let them be well season'd with Pepper and Salt; roll up a bit of Butter and Flour and the yolk of an Egg and throw it in; serve it in with a few Capers thrown over it.

To stew a Neck, Breast, Knuckle, or any other Joint of Veal.

Whatever Joint of Veal is to stew, must be put whole into the Stew-pan, with Parsley, Winter-savory, sweet Marjoram, Thyme, Lemon-peel, Mace, Nutmeg, a little Salt and Pepper; mix some white Wine in the Water, and put no more than will just cover it; then stop it close and put it over a very slow Fire: When it is enough, beat up the Yolks of three or four Eggs, and incorporate them with the Gravy that comes from it and when you have put it in the Dish, strew a few Mushrooms, Capers, and a little Samphire over, and garnish with Lemon or Seville Orange. You may also add Truffles, Morelles, Coxcombs, and Artichoke-bottoms if you have them. This is a very

a very delicate and savoury Dish and pleases most palates.

For stewing Veal.

Take some lean Veal, either roasted or boiled; cut it into thick Slices, with Water just to cover them, then put a little Mace and Nutmeg, a little Pepper and Salt, a Shalot, a little Lemon-peel and sweet Marjoram; when they are stewed near enough put some Mushroom Gravy into the Liquor, a glass of white Wine, some Lemon-juice, and let it stew a little longer, then strain off the Liquor, and you may put some Mushrooms in the sauce, and thicken your sauce with Cream or Butter rolled in Flour. Garnish with sliced Lemon or Orange, and fried Oysters.

To stew a Neck or Breast of Mutton.

Some People like Mutton stewed with Potatoes; and if so, you must cut the Mutton into Chops and slice your Potatoes. put in a larger quantity of Salt and Pepper than you do either with Beef or Veal, and a very little Water, because what comes from the Potatoes when they have been a little Time on the Fire will stew the Mutton. Put in no Herbs except a bunch of Thyme, and covering it close, let it just simmer an Hour and a half, but let no steam evaporate. To stew Mutton without Potatoes, you must also cut the Chops or Collops, according as the part is, and put in two or three Turnips, Thyme, Parsley, Salt, Pepper a small Onion, and as much Water as will cover it, and when done stew it over with some Capers.

For

For stewing a Rump or Leg of Mutton.

After breaking the Bones, put them in a Pot with a little Mace, Salt and whole Pepper, an Anchovy, Nutmeg, a Turnip, two Onions, a little bunch of sweet Herbs, a pint of Ale, a Quart of Claret, a Quart or two of Water, and a hard Crust of Bread; stop it up and let it stew five Hours, and serve it with Toasts and the Gravy.— You may do an Ox-cheek in the same Manner.

For stewing Mutton Chops.

Cut them thin, take two earthen Pans and put one over the other, lay them between, and burn brown Paper under them.

To stew Sausages.

Boil them in fair Water and Salt a small Time, for sauce boil some Currants alone, when they be almost tender, then pour out the Water and put in some white Wine, Butter and Sugar.

For stewing a Carp.

Take half Claret and half Gravy, as much as will cover your Carp in the Pan, with Mace, whole Pepper, a few Cloves, two Anchovies, a little Horse-radish, a Shalot or Onion and some Salt; when the Carp is enough, take it out and boil the Liquor as fast as possible till it be just enough to make sauce; flour a bit of Butter, and throw it into it, squeeze the juice of one Lemon, and pour it over the Carp.

For stewing Trout,

Wash a large Trout, and put it in a Pan with white Wine and Gravy, then take two Eggs buttered, some Salt, Pepper, Nutmeg and Lemon-peel peel, some grated Bread, and a little Thyme, mix all together and put in the belly of the Trout, then let it stew a quarter of an Hour, and put a piece of butter into the sauce; serve it hot and garnish with Lemon sliced.

For stewing Cod.

Cut your Cod in thin slices, and lay it at the bottom of your Pan with half a pint of white Wine, a pint of gravy and some Oysters and some Liquor, pepper, salt and some Nutmeg, and let it stew till it is near enough, then thicken it with a piece of Butter rolled in flour, let it stew a little longer, then serve it hot, and garnish with Lemon sliced.

To stew Crabs.

Take out the Meat and cleanse it from the skins, put it into a Stew-pan, with a quarter of a Pint of white wine, some Crumbs of white Bread an Anchovy and a little Nutmeg, set them over a gentle Charcoal Fire, with the Yolk of an Egg beat into it, some pepper, and stir all together and serve them up.

The following curious Receipt for dressing a Turtle, having been much enquired after, was receiv'd from a Cook in the Indias, where they are dressed to the utmost Perfection.

How to clean and dress a Turtle.

YOU must first cut off the Head, and hang the Turtle up by one of the hindmost Fins, that the Blood may run from it to make the Fish white.

white. This done, cut off the Fins and wash them clean; then cut of the belly shell well with Meat, take out the Guts and wash them very clean, and observe you turn them the right way, or else you will meat with a great deal of Trouble. Stew the Guts with a Quart or three Pints of the best Madeira Wine, infuse half a Dram of Coyn butter. Then having boiled the four Fins, and took the Scales off, stew them with the Guts on the belly part called the Collop. Put all sorts of the best of sweet Herbs cut or shred very small, and strew them over the Collop. Put pieces of the best butter, one Bottle of the best Madeira Wine, and strew a Dram and a half of your Pepper, or Coyn butter over it. Take great care it is not over baked. You may cut off Collops and dress them as Veal Cutlets. Send your Guts up in the top shell and set it at the upper end of the Table, the Collops in the Middle, and at the lower End, which garnish with the four Fins.

This is the properest Way of dressing this Fish in any part of the Indias or England, approved by the best and most experienced Cooks who undertake to dress them.

To stew Snipes.

First slit and wash them, but take nothing out of their bellies, toss them up in a stew pan over a clear fire with some melted bacon, season them to your palate with Pepper and Salt; pour in some Ketchup, and when they are enough squeeze in the juice of a Quarter of a Lemon, garnish them with Lemon-peel sliced and serve them.

A Ragoo of Snipes.

Cut them in four and toss them up in melted bacon and butter, but let all their entrails remain with them, season them with Pepper, Salt and the Juice of Mushrooms, and stew it together till it is done, then squeeze in a Lemon or Orange, and serve them up.

Directions concerning Garden Things.To boil Greens.

MOST People spoil Garden Things by over boiling them, all things that are Green should have a little Crispness, for if they are over boil'd they neither have any sweetness or Beauty.

If you want to have your Greens boil very green put a Handful of Salt among the Water wherein you boil them.

You should boil your Potatoes always on a slow Fire, which will be a means to prevent their breaking.

Of Soups, Broths and Gravy.

THE best method of boiling Broths is over a Stove, and let it be uncovered, for the cover being on, causes it to boil black.

To

To make Broths for Soups or Gravy

Chop a Leg of Beef to pieces, set it on the Fire in about four Gallons of Water, scum it very clean season it with white Pepper, a few Cloves, and a bunch of sweet Herbs. Boil it till two thirds is wasted, then season it with Salt; let it boil a little while longer, then strain it off, and keep it for your use.

To make a fine white Soup.

Take a Leg of Beef and a Knuckle of Veal, and let them boil at least four Hours, then beat a Pound of sweet Almonds very fine; and mix them with some of the Broth, then strain off the rest from the Meat, and serve it with the Almonds in it, and sipets of fried Bread.

To make Solid, or Portable Soup.

Get a Leg of Veal, or any other young Meat, cut off all the fat, and make strong Broth after the common Way, put this into a wide Bason, or a Stew-pan well tinned, let it stew gently over a slow Fire till it is boiled away to one third of the Quantity, then take it from the Fire, and set it over Water that is kept constantly boiling, this being an even heat and not apt to burn to the Vessel, in this manner let it evaporate, stirring it often till it becomes (when cold) as hard a substance as Glue, then let it dry by gentle warmth and keep it from moisture.

When you use it, pour boiling Water upon it it makes excellent Broth, either strong or small according to the Quantity you put in. It will keep good at least twelve Months.

The best Rules to be observed in making
P U D D I N G S.

FOR boiling Puddings, always take care the Bag or Cloth be very clean, and dip'd in hot Water and then well Floured. If a batter Pudding tie it close, if a Bread Pudding tie it loose. and be sure the Water boils before you put the Puddings in, and you should move the Puddings in the Pot after, for fear they should stick. When you make a batter Pudding, first mix the Flour well with Milk, then put in the Ingredients by degrees, and it will be free from lumps, but for a plain Batter Pudding, the best way is to strain it through a coarse Hair Sive, that it may neither have lumps nor the treads of the Eggs, and in all other Puddings strain the Eggs when they are beat. If you boil them in Bowls or China Dishes, butter the inside before you put in the Batter, and for all baked Puddings, butter the Pan or Dish before the Pudding is put in.

First preserve them and then wipe them, and set them on Tin-plates over a Stove, or in a slack Oven, and turn them very often. Observe always that your Fruit have their Stalks on.

To preserve white ripe Grapes.

Take the Grapes and stone them, and to a Pound of Grapes put a Pound of double refined Sugar, dip the Sugar in Water, set it over the Fire and let it boil to a Candy height, and have a Skillet of boiling Water and then put your Grapes into it, then put them in the Sugar and boil them a little, dip them into the hot Water as fast as you can, so let them boil pretty fast till they look clear, then put them into your Glasses with the Jelly. If you dry any of them, lay them on Plates and dry them in the Sun.

To preserve Gooseberries!

Take what Quantity of Gooseberries you please, slit them on the sides, and pick the Stones out with a Needle, and put them into cold Water, set them on the Fire and scald them gently, then let them stand in the Water they are scalded in, till they are almost cold, then peel the Skin off and lay them in double refin'd Sugar, then take the Weight of them in Sugar, which wet in the Water your Gooseberries were scalded in, and boil them in Water till they are slippy, before you boil them fast, that they loose not their Colour,

To make Wafers.

Take a Pint of Flour, a little Cream, the Yolks of two Eggs, a little Rose-water, with some sear-ched Cinnamon and Sugar, work them together, and bake upon hot Irons.

To make Conserve for Tarts all the Year.

Take Damsons or other good ripe Plumbs, and peel off the Skins and so put them in a Pott to Pippins pared, and cut in Pieces, and so bake them, then strain them through a Piece of Canvas, and season them with Cinnamon, Sugar, Ginger and a little Rose-water, boil it upon a Chafing Dish of Coals, till it be as thick as a Conserve, and then put it into your Gally-pots, and you may keep it good all the Year.

To keep Quinces all the Year.

First you must core them, and take out the Kernels clean, keep the Cores and Kernels and set over some Water to boil them, then put them in the Water and let them boil till they be soft, then take them up and set them down till they be cold, then take the Kernels and stamp them, and put them into the same Water they were boiled in, and let them boil till they be thick, see you have as much Liquor as will cover the Quinces, and if you have not not enough, take of the smallest Quinces and stamp them, to make more Liquor, and when it is boiled good and thick, you must strain it thro' a coarse Cloth, and when the Quinces be cold, then put them into a Pot, and the Liquor also, and be sure the Liquor covers them, you must lay some Weight upon them to keep them under, so cover them close and let them stand 18 D-ys. and they will work of their own accord, and they will have a thick Rind upon them, and when they grow heavy or thick, then take it from the Liquor, for it will have a Skin on it within a Month or six Weeks.

PICKLING and PRESERVING.

Rules to be observed in Pickling.

NEVER Use any Thing but Stone Jars for all Sorts of Pickles that require hot Pickle to them, for Vinegar and Salt will penetrate thro' all Sorts of Earthen Vessels. Stone and Glass are the only Thing to keep Pickles in. Be sure never put your Hands to take Pickle out, it will soon spoil them. The best way is to every Pot tie a Wooden Spoon, full of small Holes, to take the Pickle out with. Let your Brass Pans for green Pickles, be exceeding bright and clean, otherwise your Pickles will have no Colour; use the very Best and Strongest white Wine Vinegar, likewise be very exact in watching when your Pickles begin to boil, and change change Colour, so that you may take them off the Fire immediately, otherwise they will loose their Colour, and grow soft in keeping. Cover your Pickling Jars with a wet Bladder and Leather.

To pickle Cucumbers.

Take the Cucumbers and wash them clean, dry them in a Cloth, then take some Water, Vinegar, Salt, Fennel-tops, and some Dill-tops, and some Mace, make it fast enough, and sharp enough to the Taste, then boil it a while, and then take it off, let it stand and be cold, then put in the Cucumbers, and lay a Board on the top to keep them down, and tie them close, and within a Week they will be fit to eat.

Another way.

Make a strong Pickle of Salt and Water, so as to bear an Egg, and boil it, pour it boiling hot upon the Cucumbers, and let them stand two Hours, then take Vinegar with some Pepper and Mace, then put your Cucumbers in it, set it on the Fire, hang your Pot pretty high, and let it simmer till they look Green, but do not let it boil, then take them off and cover them close, the next Day boil your Pickle and pour it over them again.

To pickle large Cucumbers in slices.

Get large Cucumbers before they be too ripe, slice them the thickness of Crown Pieces, in a Pewter Dish: To every Dozen of Cucumbers, slice two large Onions thin, and so on till you have filled your your Dish with a Handful of Salt between every Row, then cover them with another Pewter Dish, and let them stand 24 Hours, then put them in a Cullendar and let them drain very well, put them into a Jar, cover them with white Wine Vinegar, and let them stand four Hours, pour the Vinegar from 'em into a Copper Saucepan, and boil it with some Salt, put to the Cucumbers some Mace, whole Pepper, a large race of Ginger sliced, and then pour the boiling Vinegar on, cover them close, and when they are cold, tie them down. They will be fit to eat in two or three Days.

To pickle small Cucumbers.

Take them fresh gather'd, put them in a Pan, and pour on them as much hot boiling Brine as will cover them. Let them stand close cover'd 24 Hours, then take them out and dry them, and put them into the Pot you intend to keep them in, with Cloves, Mace, Pepper, some Dill and Fennel, a little Horse-raddish, some Lemon-peel, and a few Bay-leaves, pour on them as much boiling hot Vinegar as will cover them. Do thus three times in three Weeks, keep them close stop'd and hot six Hours a Time, and if they be not Green, make your Vinegar boil, and put in the Cucumbers, and let them boil up six Minutes.

To pickle Oysters.

Take your Oysters and pick them out of the Shells and save the Liquor that comes from them, then take your Oysters one by one, and wash them clean out

out of Grist, then strain the Liquor, and take a Quantity of white Wine, and a large Mace or two, and two or three slices of Nutmeg and Pepper, grossly beaten, and Salt them, boil it together, then put in your Oysters and boil them, then take the Yolk of an Egg and beat it well with Wine Vinegar, then take up your Oysters and let them cool, then put in your Egg and let it boil, then take it off, let it cool, and put it together.

Another way.

Take a Bushel of large Oysters, save the Liquor and if that is not enough, add to it some white Wine, half an Ounce of Mace, and as much whole Pepper, let them boil together till you think they are enough, then take out the Oysters, take a quarter of a Pint of Vinegar and white Wine, a Handful of Salt, put it to the Liquor and boil it a quarter of an Hour, put them into an Earthen Pan, and when cold put the Liquor to them.

To pickle Mellons, or large Cucumbers.

Take the largest and greenest Cucumbers, cut out a Piece the length of your Cucumbers, in one of the sides, cleanse the Seeds and dry them well, then pour into them some Cloves, Mace, whole Pepper and bruised Mustard-seed, peel two or three Cloves of Garlic, and the same Quantity of Shallot, some Ginger sliced thin, according to the Quantity you make, and put some Salt, lay the Piece in its Place, that you cut out of the Side, and tie it close with Packthread, and lay them in an Earthen earthen Pan, and then put to them as much white Wine Vinegar as will cover them, with half a Pint of made Mustard to three Pints of Vinegar, and a Bay-leaf, with Salt according as you like, let them lie in this pickle nine Days, then put them into a Brass Kettle and set them over the Fire to make them Green, stop them down very close, and let them have one or two boils at a Time, then take them off, let them still be close stop'd and let them stand to green, then set them on the Fire again, and so order them till they are very Green; then take them out of the Pickle, and put them into a Jar or Pot boil the Pickle and put it to them boiling hot, tie them with leather and use them when you please.

To Pickle French Beans.

Take French Beans before they have any strings and lay them in an earthen Pot, and betwixt every lay of Beans a Handful of Salt, then let them stand till they are shrunk, and the Salt pretty well dissolved, then cover them with Vinegar. Before you boil them for Use, you must steep them an Hour in Water, then hang them on the Fire, putting them in when the Water is cold, when they are boiled let them stand till they are cold, and cover them with white Wine Vinegar.

Another way.

Take them young before they have any strings, lay them in cold Brine six Days, one Day in fresh Water, then dry them, put them in a Pot with whole Spice, Pepper, some Ginger, Lemon-peel, and a few Bay-leaves, cover them with hot boiling Vinegar, and do them as you would small Cucumbers.
 T whole

To Pickle Mushrooms.

Take the fresh gather'd, (the bottoms are the best) cut the stalks half off, put them in Water and a little Salt; let them lay two Hours, then rub the tops with a piece of Flannel, and as you rub them, put them in clean Water with some Salt; let them lie two Hours, make your Water and Salt boil, then put in your Mushrooms; let them boil eight Minutes, then take them out from the boiling Liquor, and put them hot in cold Water and some Salt, let them lie twenty-four Hours; then dry them and put them into a Glass with some whole Mace, sliced Nutmeg, some Bay-leaves, then boil as much white Wine and Vinegar as will cover them, when it is cold fill up your Glasses and put some sweet Oil on the Top, and tie a Bladder over them.

Another way.

Scoope or peel them, throw them into Water and Salt, skin and strain them thro' a Sieve, put to them Salt and Water made strong, let them lie there three Hours, then put them into Beer Vinegar, let them stand two Days, and put them into white Wine Vinegar, with some Mace, Cloves, Nutmeg, white Pepper and Ginger, boil the Pickle but not the Spice, and let it be cold before you put it to the Mushrooms.

Catchup

Catchup of Mushrooms.

Take a Stew-pan full of large flat Mushrooms, and the tips of those you wipe from Pickling; set it on a slow Fire with a handful of Salt without Water, they will make a great deal of Liquor, which you must strain, and put to it a quarter of a Pound of Shallots, some Pepper, Ginger, Cloves, Mace, and a Bay-leaf, boil and skim it well; when 'tis quite cold, bottle and stop it close.

To Pickle Lettice.

Take Cabbage Lettice, cut off the loose Leaves and the bottom of the Stalks, then cut the Cabbage part and wash them well, boil them in clean Water till they are soft, then lay them on a Sieve to drain for twenty-four Hours, then crush them with your Hands to get the Water out, so lay them close in an earthen Pot, between every row strew some Salt, white Pepper, Ginger sliced, some whole Mace, a clove of Garlick on the Top, fill the Pot with white Wine Vinegar, and put a Paper close to them, and if they mould put a fresh one, as the Vinegar sinks, fill the Pot with fresh, tie them very close, and set them in a close Place.

To Pickle Walnuts.

Take Walnuts very young, not shell'd at all, pare them very thin, scald them well with Salt and Water, and put them into it, give them two or three warms on the Fire, then make ready some more strong Pickle of Vinegar and some Salt, Pepper and Ginger to your taste, then take them out of the Water they was first boiled, put them into the Pickle, keep them close cover'd, after a Month change the Pickle, and thus you may keep them all the Year.

To Pickle Walnuts white.

Pare them till they look white, and put them into Salt and Water as you pare them, then boil them in Salt and Water in a Cloth, but let your Salt and Water boil before you put them in, when they are cold put them in Pickle of raw Vinegar, Pepper, Mace and Nutmeg.

To Pickle small Onions.

Peel your Onions and throw them into Water, then put them into a well tin'd Sauce-pan with Salt and Water, just let them simmer and strain them off, let them stand till they are cold and well drained, then make a Pickle of white Wine Vinegar, the palest you can get, with Mace, sliced Ginger, white Pepper-Corns, and Salt to your taste, give it one boil up, and let it stand till it is quite cold, then add to it about two Spoonfuls of the best pale Flour of Mustard, and after you have put your Onions into Jars, pour your Pickle upon them.

Or lay your small hard Onions in Water and Salt and let the Pickle be Vinegar and Spice.

To Pickle a red Cabbage.

Take a red Cabbage and slice it round as thin as possible, boil your Vinegar with Pepper, Salt and Mace, pour it boiling hot on the Cabbage, and and stop it down close, let your Pot stand just within the warmth of the Fire for some Time. This is a Pickle of little Use, but for the garnishing of Dishes, Sallads and Pickles, tho' some People are fond of it.

Another way.

Cut off the Stalks and outside Leaves, shred it into thin slices, make a Pickle of Salt, Vinegar, Cloves, Mace, Ginger, and sliced Nutmeg, then boil it, and when it is cold, pour it over the Cabbage, and it will be fit for Use in twelve Hours.

You may do white Cabbage in the same Pickle, only it must be poured on boiling hot two or three Times.

To Pickle Cauli-Flowers.

Take the whitest and closest Cauli-Flowers before they are brown, cut them the length of your Finger from the Stalks, boil them a very little in a Cloth, in Milk and Water, not till they are tender, then take them out and let them stand till they be cold. For the Pickle, take the best white Wine Vinegar, Cloves, Mace, a Nutmeg Quartered, a Bay-leaf, and some Pepper, so let these boil; and when cold, then put in your Cauli-Flowers. In three or four Days they will be fit to Eat.

To Pickle Asparagus to keep the whole Year.

Break the Heads off and put them up in white Wine Vinegar, and Salt to your discretion, so that they they will be cover'd, then take them out, and boil the Pickle, and scum it very well; if there be Occasion, renew it with Vinegar and Salt, and when they are cold, put them in again, and they will keep a whole Year, use them when you think proper, only boil them tender, and eat them with Butter.

To Pickle Samphire.

Gather your Samphire in May, pick it and lay it for two Days in Salt and Water, then take it out and put it into a Pot, and soak it over a clear gentle Fire, cover it close till it is Green and Crisp, and put it into Pots or Glasse, tie it down close with Bladder or Leather.

To Pickle Beet-roots and Turnips.

Make your Pickle of Water and Salt, Vinegar and some Cochineal, and boil the Beet-roots in it, pare your Turnips, and boil them but half as long as the Roots, then keep them both in this Pickle.

To Pickle Barberries.

Take them ripe and fresh gather'd; put them into a Pot you intend to keep them in. Boil Water and Salt together, but not so strong as to bear an Egg, and when it is cold fill up your Pot.

To Pickle Grapes or Barberries.

Put your Grapes or Barberries in a Pot, then boil Verjuice with a good quantity of Salt, and let

it

it stand till it is cold, and then put in the Grapes or Barberries, and cover them.

For Pickling Currants.

Take Currants either red or white, before they are thorough ripe; you must not take them from the Stalk; make a Pickle of Salt and Water, some Vinegar, so keep them for Use.

For preserving Cherries, with the Leaves and Stalks green.

Take morel Cherries, dip the Stalks and Leaves in the best Vinegar boiling hot, stick the Sprig upright in a Sieve till they are dry, in the mean time boil some double refin'd Sugar to a Syrup, and dip the Cherries Leaves and Stalks in the Syrup, and just let them scald, lay them on a sieve, boil the Sugar to a candy height, then dip the Cherries, Stalks Leaves and all, then stick the Branches in Sieves, and dry them as you do other Sweetmeats. They look very pretty at Candle-light in a Desert.

For Pickling Gooseberries, or Grapes.

Take a quart of white Wine Vinegar, and half a Pint of Water, and as much Sugar as will make it sweet, boil it for some Time, then put them up and cover them close, they must not be ripe at all.

For Pickling Currants for present Use.

To Pickle Tongues.

First boil them in Water and Salt, then blanch them, and put them into a Pot: and make the Pickle of as much white Wine Vinegar as will fill it, and boil it up with a faggot of sweet Herbs; when cold put in the Tongues with sliced Lemon, cover it close. When you eat them beat up some of the Pickle with good Oil, and garnish with sliced Lemon.

To Pickle Pork.

Take the principal Pieces of the Pork and Salt them lightly with ordinary Salt, then lay them hollow that the Blood may drain from it, with the fleshy side downwards; let it lie two or three Days amongst the Salt; put some beaten white Pepper and a few Cloves, bruised, salt it well and pack it very close in the thing you keep it in with the Rind downward, cover it with Salt, and when it has stood three Weeks, put in as much salt Pickle as will cover it, then lay the false bottom on the top to keep it under Pickle, put the ordinary and bony pieces by themselves.

To pickle Herrings or Mackerel.

Take the Fish and cut off the Heads and Tails, gut them and wash them, dry them well, then take two Ounces and a half of Salt-petre, three Quarters of an Ounce of Jamaica Pepper, and a Quarter of an Ounce of sweet Marjoram and Thyme chop'd small, mix them together, and put them within and without the Fish, lay them in an Earthen Pan, the Roots at top, cover them with White Wine Vinegar, then set them in an Oven not too hot, for two Hours. This for Fifteen, and after this Rule do as many as you please.

To pickle Salmon.

Take two Quarts of good Vinegar, Half an Ounce of Jamaica Pepper, Cloves and Mace of each a Quarter of an Ounce, near a Pound of Salt, bruise the Spice grossly, and put all these to a small Quantity of Water, put just enough to cover your Fish, cut your Fish round in three or four Pieces, according to the size of the Salmon, and when the Liquor boils up in your Fish, boil it well, then take the Fish out of the Pickle, and let it cool, when it is cold, put your Fish into the Barrel or Stein you intend to keep it in, strewing some Spicie and Bay-leaves between every piece of Fish, let the Pickle cool, then scum off the Fat, and when the Pickle is quite cold, pour it on your Fish, and cover it very close To pickle Lobsters.

Boil your Lobsters in Salt and Water, till they will easily slip out of the Shell; take the Tails out whole, just crack the Claws and take 'em out as whole as possible, then make the Pickle half white Wine and half Water, put in whole Cloves, whole Pepper, whole Mace, two or three Bay-leaves, then put in the Lobsters, and let them have a boil or two in the Pickle, then take them out and set them by to be cold, boil the Pickle longer, when both are cold put them together and keep them for Use. Tie the Pot down close, eat them with Oil, Vinegar and Lemon.

To pickle Tench.

When your Tench is cleans'd, have a Pickle ready boil'd, half white Wine and half Vinegar; a few blades of Mace, some sliced Ginger, whole Pepper and Bay-leaf, with a Piece of Lemon-peel and some Salt, so boil your Tench in it, and when it is enough lay them out to cool, and when the Liquor is cold put them in; it will keep but a few Days.

To pickle Muscles, or Cockles.

Take your fresh Muscles, or Cockles; wash them very clean, and put them in a Pot over the Fire till they open. then take them out of their Shells and pick them clean, then lay them to cool, put their Liquor to some Vinegar, whole Pepper, Ginger sliced thin and Mace, set it over the Fire, when it is scalded hot, put in your Muscles, let them stew a little a little, then pour out the Pickle from them, when both are cold, put them in an earthen Jug, and cork it up close: In two or three Days they will be fit to eat.

To pickle Smelts to exceed Anchovies.

First wash and gut them clean, then lay them in Rows, and put between every layer of Fish, Pepper, Nutmeg, Mace, Cloves and Salt, well mix'd, and four Bay-leaves, powder'd Cochineal and Petre-salt, beat and mix'd with Spice, boil red Wine Vinegar enough to cover them, and put to them when quite cold.

To pickle Purflain.

Take the Purflain and pick it in small Pieces, put it into a Pot or Barrel, then take some Water, Vinegar and Salt to your Taste, it must be very strong of the Vinegar and Salt, put some Mace and boil all these together, and pour this Liqueur in seething hot into the Purflain, when it is cold, tie it close, but lay a Piece of Board on the Top to keep it down, and within a Week or two it is fit for Use.

To make Verjuice.

Get the clearest and best Crabs when they are near ripe, lay them in Heaps together, to sweat: Then throw away the rotten Ones, pick out the Stalks and beat them in a Mash, squeeze the Juice thro' a Hair Sievé, put it into Bottles and cork them close.

Of MADE WINES,

Cowslip Wine.

TO six Gallons of Water put thirty Pounds of Maligo Raisin; boil your Water full two Hours, and measure it out of your Copper upon the Raisins, which must be chop'd small and put in a Tub, let them work together ten Days, stirring it several Times a Day, at the End of that Time strain it off and press the Raisins hard to get out their Strength, then take two Spoonfuls of good Ale Yeast and beat with it six Ounces of Syrup of Lemons, then put in three Pecks of Couflips, by little and little, and let all your Ingredients work together three Days, stirring it three or four Times a Day, then tun it up, bottle it at four Month's End.

To make Mead.

To five Quarts of Honey, put sixty Quarts of Water, eighteen Races of sliced Ginger, and one handfull of Rosemary; let them boil three Hours, and be scummed perpetually, when it is cold put Yeast to it, and it will be fit to bottle in eight or ten Days.

Birch Wine, as made in Suffex.

Take the Sap of Birch fresh drawn, boil it as long as any Scum arifes; to every Gallon of Liquor quor put two Pounds of good Sugar, boil it Half an Hour and scum it very Clean, when it is almost cold, set it with some Yeast spread on a Toast, and let it stand five or six Days in an open Vessel, stirring it often; then take such a Cask as the Liquor will fill, and fire a large Match dipt in Brimstone, and put it into the Cask, and stop in the Smoke till the Match is extinguished, and as quick as possible pour in a Pint of Sack, or Rhenish, which Taste you like best, for the Liquor retains it; rince the Cask well with this and pour it out, then pour in your Wine and stop it close for six Months, then if it is perfectly fine you may bottle it.

Sage Wine.

To 24 Pounds of Maligo Raisins pick'd and shred, and six Gallons of Spring Water well boiled, let it be as cool as Milk from the Cow before you pour it on the Raisins, then put in half a Bushel of red Sage grossly shred, stir all together and let it stand six Days, stirring it well every Day, and cover it as close as you can possibly, then strain it off, and pour it into the Vessel, it will soon be fine but you may add two or three Quarts of Sack, or white Wine to fine it, Raisins of the Sun will do as well as Malaga Raisins if they cannot be had.

To make Elder Wine, very excellent.

Take Malago Raisins, cut them small, Stalks, Stones and all, put them into a Tub, pour over them Water that has boil'd an Hour, to every six Pounds of Raisins put one Gallon of Water, pour it on boiling hot and stir it well, and when it is cold cover it with a Cloth, and let it work together ten or twelve Days, stirring it five or six Times a Day, at the End of that Time strain the Liquor from the Raisins and squeeze them hard, put to every Gallon of Liquor one Pint of clear Juice of Elder, The best Way to get the Juice is to bake the Berries in earthen Pots, let the Liquor be cold when you put them together, and stir them well, then tun it, and when it has done working, clay it up and let it stand four or five Months before you bottle it; in six Weeks after it will be very ripe and fit for Use.
of

To make White Mead.

To every Gallon of Water put a Pint of Honey, and Half a Pound of Loaf Sugar, stir in the Whites of four Eggs beat to a Froth, and boil it as long as any Scum will arise, when it is cold work it with Yeast, and to every Gallon put the Juice and Peel of a large Lemon, stop it up when it has done working, and bottle it in ten Days.

Raisin Wine.

Put five Pounds of Malaga or Belvidere Raisins to a Gallon of clear River Water, steep them a Fortnight, stirring them every Day, then pour the Liquor off; squeeze the Juice out of the Raisins, and put both the Liquors together in a Vessel that is just large enough to contain it, for it should be quite full; let the Vessel stand till your Wine has

has done hissing, or making the usual Noise, you may add a Pint of French Brandy, to every two Gallons, then stop it close, and when you find it is Fine, which you may know by pegging it, bottle it off.

If you chuse to have it Red, put a Gallon of Alient Wine to every four Gallons of Raisin Wine.

Black Cherry Wine.

Take three Gallons of Water, boil it an Hour bruise twelve Pounds of Black Cherries, but do not break the Stones, pour the Water boiling hot on the Cherries, stir the Cherries very well in it, let it stand for 24 Hours, then strain it off, and to every Gallon put near two Pound of good Sugar, mix it well with the Liquor and let it stand 24 Hours longer, then put it in a clean sweet Cask, and stop it close, don't bottle it before you find it to be very fine.

To make Currant Wine.

Take your Currants full ripe, strip 'em and bruise them in a Mortar, and to every Gallon of Pulp put two Quarts of Water, first boiled and cold, you may put in some Rapes if you please, let it stand in a Tub to ferment, then let it run through a Hair Sieve: Let no Person touch it and let it take its Time to run, and to every Gallon of this Liquor put two Pounds and a Half of White Sugar, stir it well and put it in your Vessel, and to every six Gallons

Ions put in a quart of the best rectified Spirits of Wine, let it stand six Weeks and bottle it.

Damson Wine.

To every Gallon of Water put two Pounds and a half of Sugar, which you must boil and scum it three quarters of an Hour, and to every Gallon put five Pints of Damsons stoned, let them boil till it is of a fine Colour, then strain it through a fine sieve work it in an open Vessel three or four Days, then pour it off the Lees, and let it work in that Vessel as long as it will, then stop it up for six or eight Months, then if fine you may bottle it, and keep it a Year or two in Bottles.

Raspberry Wine.

Take ripe Raspberries, bruise them with the back of a Spoon, strain them and fill a Bottle with the Juice; stop it, but not very close, set it by four or five Days: Then pour it off from the dregs, and add thereto as much Rhenish or White-wine, as the Juice will well colour, that done sweeten your Wine with loaf Sugar, and then you may bottle it for Use.

Another Way.

To every Quart of Fruit you must put boiling hot a Quart of Water, cover it very close and let it stand 24 Hours, then strain it, and to three Quarts of Liquor put two Pounds of good Sugar, stir it together and spread a Toast with Yeast, set it to work, and pour it off the Lees, put it into your Vessel, and when it has quite done working stop it up: If it is fine in six or seven Months you may bottle it: and keep it a Year in the Bottles.

☞ You must at first watch all Wines, and if you find them fret, then you must continue to Fine them off the Lees every Day for some time, as fast as any fittles.

To fine Wine the Lisbon Way.

To every twenty Gallons of Wine, take the Whites of ten Eggs, a small handfull of Salt, beat it to a Froth, and mix it well with a Quart or more of the Wine, then pour it into the Vessel and in a few Days it will be fine.

To Clear Wine.

Take half a Pound of Hartshorn and dissolve it in Cyder, if it be for Cyder, Rhenish Wine, or for any other Liquor; this is enough for a Hoghead.

To recover Wine if turned sharp.

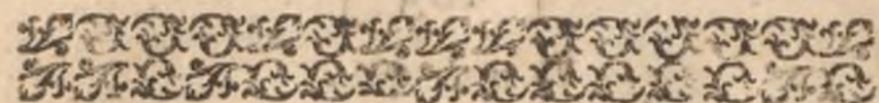

Rack off your Wine into another Vessel, and to ten Gallons put the following Powder, take Oyster Shells, scrape and wash off the brown dirty outside of the Shells, then dry them in an Oven till they will powder. A Pound of this Powder to every nine or ten Gallons of Wine, stir it well together, stop it up and let it stand to settle two or three Days, or till it is fine, then bottle it off and Cork it well.

To make Cyder.

Pull your Fruit before it is too ripe, and let it lie a Day or two to have a good sweat, your Apples must be Pippins, Pearmains, or Harvey (if you mix your Winter and Summer Fruit together it is never good) grind your Apples and press them and when your Fruit is all pressed, put it immediately into a Hoghead, where it may have room to work, but not vent, a little hole between the Hoops, and bung it close; put three or four Pounds of Raisons in the Hoghead and two Pounds of Sugar, it will make it work better; often racking it off is the Way to fine it and always rack it in small Vessels, keeping them close bunged, and only a small vent hole; if it should work after racking, put into the Vessel some Raisons for it to feed on and bottle it in March.

To keep Gooseberries, Damsons, Bullace, Plumbs, and Cherries in Bottles.

Take Gooseberries green, the other Sorts before they be too ripe, put them in wide mouth'd Bottles, set them in a gentle Oven till the skin change colour. When cold, cork them down tight, and melt some Rosin on the top.

RULES for going to MARKET, and chusing
F L E S H.

B E E F.

THE right Ox Beef is best, and that which is so has a fine open grain: If young a kind of an oily smoothness, and if dented with your Finger will immediately rise again; but if old will be rough and spongy, and the dent remain. Cow Beef is less boned than that of the Ox, the Flesh closer grained, the Lean of it somewhat paler, and the Fat whiter, but if young, the dent you make will rise again. Bull Beef is closer grained than either, much coarser, and if you pinch it, feels rough: The Fat is hard and skinny, and has a Rauhness in the scent.

For chusing Mutton.

To know when Mutton is young, the Flesh will pinch tender, and the Fat part easily from the Lean; but if old, the one will wrinkle, and remain so for some time, and the other not be pulled off easily, by reason of a number of small strings; Old Mutton may also be known when the Flesh shrinks from the Bones, and the Skin is loose: In Ewe Mutton the Flesh is of a paler Colour than the Weather, and of a closer grain. If there happens to be a rot among the Sheep, the Fat will be yellow, and the Flesh pale, loose from the one and if squeezed, a Dew like Sweat will rise upon it.
and

How to chuse Veal.

When the bloody Vein in the shoulder is blue, or a bright red, it is new, but if blackish, greenish or yellowish, then it is stale. The loin first taints under the kidney, and the Flesh when stale, is soft and slimy.

The Breast and Neck taint first at the upper end, and you may perceive a dusky yellow, or greenish appearance; the sweet bread on the Breast will be clammy, otherwise it will be fresh and good.

The Leg when new is known by the stiffness of the Joints; if limber the Flesh is clammy, and has green or yellowish spots, it is stale. The head is known as the Lambs. The Flesh of a Bull-Calf is redder and firmer than that of a Cow-Calf and the Fat harder.

You cannot be too careful in examining the scent, for even what looks beautiful to the Eye will prove musty.

To chuse Lamb

House-Lamb when good is very fat and white, and the Lean of a pale colour. Grass Lamb is somewhat of a higher colour, but the Fat is white in a fore Quarter of either you must observe the Neck-Vein, if it looks of a fine light blue, it is fresh killed, but if greenish or yellow, it is stale. Smell under the Kidney of a hind Quarter, and try try the Knuckle, if it be limber, and has a faint Scent, do not venture to buy it.

When you buy a Lamb's-Head, observe the Eyes, if they are sunk in and wrinkled it is stale, if lively and plump it is new and sweet.

To chuse Pork.

If it be young and fresh the Flesh will be of a fine bright colour, but not too red, the Skin will be thin, and if you nip it with your Nails the Impression will remain, but if the Lean be high coloured, the Fat flabby, and the Rind hard, it is old.

For knowing whether it be new killed, try the Legs, Hands, and Springs, by putting you fingers under the Bone that comes out, so if it be tainted you will there find it by smelling your fingers; besides the Skin will be sweaty and clammy when stale, but cool and smooth when new,

How to chuse Vennison.

Run a Knife under the bones that come out of the Haunches or Shoulders, and if the scent is sweet, it is new, but if the scent be rank, then it is stale, and the side in the most fleshy part when tainted will look in some places green, others very black. If the hoofs are wide and rough it is old, but if close and smooth it is young.

Westphalia or English Hams.

These are to be tried by putting a Knife under the Bone that flicks out, and if it comes out in a manner manner clean, and has a curious flavour, the Ham is sweet and good; if on the contrary, it is much smeared and sullied, and smells rank, the Ham was tainted before it was dried, or grown rusty afterwards.

To chuse Bacon.

When the Fat is white, oily in feeling, and does not break or crumble, and the Flesh sticks well to the Bones, and bears a good colour, it is good, but if the contrary, and the lean as some little streaks of yellow, it is rusty, or will soon be so.

Bacon may also be known if young by the thinness of the Rind. That Bacon which gives, and becomes flabby in wet Weather, is not well cured and will soon be rusty.

P O U L T R Y.

How to know a Capon.

If a Capon be young, his Spurs are short and his Legs smooth, if a true Capon, a fat Vein on the side of the Breast, the Comb pale, and a thick Belly and Rump, if new a close hard Vent, if stale a loose open one.

A Cock and Hen.

If young, his Spurs are short and dubbed; but take Notice whether they are not pared or scraped by the seller, in order to deceive you. You may know if he is new by the Vent, in the same manner, as you judge of the Capon. and so also of a
Hen

Hen, but if young her Legs and Combare smooth if old they are rough.

Cock or Hen Turkey, or Turkey Poults.

If the Cock be young, his Legs will be black and smooth. and his Spurs short, if old, the contrary: if stale, his Eyes will be sunk, and his Feet dark and dry; and if new, the Eyes will look lively, and the Feet pliable. The like observation with respect to the Hen, but if she be with Egg, she will have an open Vent; if not, a hard close vent. Turkey Poults are known the same way, as to bring new or stale.

A Goose.

If the Bill of a Goose be Yellow, and she have but few Hairs, she is young; but if there are many, and the Bill and Feet red, she is old; if new, limber, if stale the contrary. A Goose that is not very fleshy on the Breast, and fat in the Rump, is not worth buying.

A Duck.

A Duck is to be judged in the same manner as a Goose, Chickens.

Chuse the white-legged, for they are generally the best, and taste the sweetest.

A Wild Duck.

A right Wild Duck has a reddish Foot, and smaller than the Tame one, the marks of being young young or old, new or stale, are the same as with the others.

A Woodcock or Snipe.

Chuse those that are thick, Fat, and the Flesh firm; the Nose dry, and the Throat clear, otherwise they are bad. Snipe, if young and fat, has a full Vein under the Wing, and feels thick in the Vent. As for the rest like the Woodcock,

A Partridge.

When the Bill is white, and the Legs blueish, it shews Age. for if young the Bill is black, and the Legs yellowish. Smell at their Mouths to know if they are new or stale.

Pigeons.

Old Pigeons have generally red Legs, and in some parts are blackish: If young and fresh the Flesh looks all of one colour, and are fat in the Vent. And thus of grey or green Plover, Fell-fare, Black-birds, Thrush, Larks, and Wild Fowl in general.

A Hare.

A Hare is white and stiff when new and clean kill'd, if stale, the flesh will have a blackish Hue. If the Cleft in her Lip spread very much, and her Claws are wide and ragged, she is old, the contrary when young.

A Leverit.

To know a true Leverit, feel on the fore Leg near the Foot, and if there be a small Bone or knob it is right, if not, it is no Leverit but a Hare; and for the rest of the Marks, you may judge as of the Hare.

A Rabbit.

The Wild Rabbit is better than the Tame; and to distinguish the one from the other, you must observe the Head, which is more peaked in the Wild than the Tame. If it is old, there will be a great deal of yellowish Fat about the Kidneys, the Claws will be long, and the Wool rough and mottled with grey Hairs; if young the reverse. If stale, it will be limber and look bluish, having a kind of slime upon it, but if fresh it will be stiff and the flesh white and dry.

The best Instructions for chusing F I S H.

ALL Sorts of Fish may be judged by the redness of their Gills, if no deceit be used, but as there is often an Imposition by wetting them with Blood, you must observe whether they are stiff, if their Eyes stand out and full, and their Fins and Tails are not shrivelled, for if these Symptoms do not answer; they are stale, notwithstanding the redness of their Gills.

For

For chusing Plaife, Flounders, and Dabs.

When new they are stiff, their Eyes look full and lively: The thickest are always the best eating. As Plaife and Flounders will live a long time out of the Water, whoever buys them after they are dead, may find them sweet, but their substance will be so far spent that they will almost dissolve in the Water they are boiled in, and will neither give relish nor Nourishment to the Stomach. To distinguish Plaife from Flounders, the latter are somewhat thicker, of a darker brown, and have some small specks of Orange colour; the Plaife have spots too, but they are not so bright but longer. The best Sort are bluish on the Belly.

For chusing Pickled Salmon.

When it is new and good the Scales are stiff and shining: and the Flesh is oily to the Touch, and parts without crumbling.

Fresh Salmon.

You must examine the grain and colour as you do Butcher's Meat, if the one be fine and the other high florid, the Salmon is good, but if coarse and pale it is the contrary: When it is perfectly new a great quantity of Blood will issue from it when it is cut, and the Liver look very clear and almost transparent.

Whitings.

These are a Fish which if not extremely stiff when you buy them, will neither broil or boil.

For chusing Pickled Sturgeon.

When good and fine, the Veins and Gristle are of a blue colour, the skin limber, the Flesh white the Fat pleasant scented, and may be cut without crumbling.

For chusing Cod.

The best are those which are thick towards the Head, and their Flesh when cut is very white.

For chusing Soals.

The best are stiff and thick, and of a Cream colour on the Belly,

For chusing Red Herrings.

The best red Herrings. are those that smell well and of a good gloss and part well from the Bone.

For chusing dried Lyng.

Observe that the best is thick about the pole, and its Flesh of a bright yellow.

For chusing Prawns and Shrimps.

These if stale will cast a slimy smell, their colour fading, and they slimy, otherwise all of them are good.

For chusing Crabs.

If stale they will be limber in their Claws and Joints, their red colour turned blackish and dusty, and will have a very bad smell under their Throats:

For chusing Lobsters.

The weightiest are the best, but take care there be no Water in them, and when fresh the Tail will fly up like a spring, and will be full of firm Flesh.

How to chuse Eggs.

The best Eggs are those which have a clear thin Shell, are of the longest Oval, and most peaked at the ends. Hold them before the Light, and if the White is clear, and the Yolk flows regularly in the midst; they are good, and the contrary when the White looks cloudy and the Yolk sinks which way soever you hold it. Or, hold the great end to your Tongue, when it feels warm it is new, if cold it is bad, and so in proportion to the heat and cold, so is the goodness of the Egg. Another Way to know a good Egg is to put the Egg in a Pan of cold Water, the fresher it be the sooner it will fall to the bottom, if rotten it will not sink at all.

How to keep Eggs good.

Put them all with the small end downwards in fine Wood ashes, turning them once a Week endways, and they will keep some Months.

How to chuse Butter.

When you buy Butter, run a knife in the middle of it, and if your smell and taste be good, you cannot be deceived.

How

How to chuse Cheese.

Chuse it by its moist and smooth Coat, if old Cheese it will be rough-coated, rugged or dry at top, beware of small Worms or Mites. If it be all over full of holes, moist or spongy, it is subject to Maggots. If any soft or perished place appear on the out-side, try how deep it goes, for the greater part may be hid within.

Observe how they are to be set on the Table.

SOOP Broth, or Fish, should always be set at the head of the Table; if none of these, a boiled Dish goes to the head, where there are both boiled and roasted.

If there be but one principle Dish it goes to the head of the Table.

If four, the biggest to the head, and next biggest to the Foot, and the two small Dishes on the sides.

If three, the two small ones to stand opposite nigh the Foot.

If five you are to put the smallest in the middle, the other four opposite.

If six, you are to put the top and bottom as before, the four small ones opposite for side Dishes.

Observe, though I have called all these Dishes, they are many of them, especially side Dishes, only Sauce, Gravy, Pickles, Sallad, or Greens

The London and Country BREWER,

CARE must be taken to have the Malt clean; and let it stand a Week after being ground, before you use it.

Thirteen Bushels of Malt will make a Hoghead of exceeding strong Beer, Hops eight Pounds; it will afterwards make near a Hoghead of Small Beer, with one Pound and a Half of fresh Hops to it.

Eight Bushels of Malt will make a Hoghead of excellent Ale, and the like Quantity of small Beer, in making the Ale five Pound of Hops; for small Beer (after) add one Pound and a Half of Hops.

It may generally be observed, where Ale is designed for keeping, that a Pound of Hops should be allowed to every Bushel of Malt; if designed for present spending, little more than Half the Quantity will serve, tho' the Palate of the Person it is brew'd for should be consulted.

Take particular Care to have your Casks, &c. well clean'd and dry'd, and never use them on any Occasion but Wine-making or Brewing, it is a good Way to take out their Heads, and after being well cleaned with a Hand-brush, Sand, &c. put them in again, scald them well, throw into each Barrel, a Piece of unslac'd Lime and stop in the Bung close.

Having got your Casks, &c. in readiness, proceed as follows, &c. When you have a Copper of boiling Water ready, pour it into your Mash Tub, and let it be cool enough to see your Face in, then pour in your Malt, and let it be well mashed, have a Copper of Water boiling in the mean Time, and when your Malt is well mashed fill your Mashing Tub, stir it well again and cover it over with a Sack. Let it stand three Hours, then set a broad shallow Tub under the Cock, let it run very softly, and if it is thick throw it up again till it runs fine, then throw in a Handful of Hops under the Tub, and let the Mash run into it and fill your Tub till it is all run off.

Have Water boiling in the Copper, and lay as much more as you have Occasion for, allowing one Third for boiling and waste, let that stand an Hour, boiling more Water to fill the Mash Tub for Small Beer, let the Fire down a litle, and put into the Tubs enough to fill your Mash.

Let the second Mash be run off, and fill your Copper with the first Wort, put in Part of your Hops and make it boil quick.

About an Hour is long enough; and when it is half boiled throw in a Handful of Salt.

Have a clean Stick and dip it into the Copper, and if the Wort feels clammy it is boiled enough.

Have ready a large Tub, put two Sticks across, set your standing Basket over the Tub on the Sticks and strain your Wort thro' it.

Put your Wort on to boil with the rest of the Hops, Let your Mash be still cover'd with Water, and thin your Wort that is cooling in as many Things as you can, for the thinner it lies, and the quicker it cools the better.

When quite cold put it into the tunning Tub mind to throw a Handful of Salt into every Boil.

when

When the Mash has stood an Hour draw it off, then fill your Mash with cold Water, take off the Wort in the Copper and order it as before.

When cold, add to it the First in the Tub: So soon as you empty one Copper fill the other, so boil your Small Beer well.

Let the Mash run off, and when both are boiled with fresh Hops, order them as the two first Boilings; when cold empty the Mash Tub, and put the small Beer to work there.

When cool enough work it, set a wooden Bowl of Yeast in the Beer and it will work over, with some of the Beer in the Bowl

Stir your Tun up every twelve Hours, let it stand two Days, then tun it, taking of the Yeast.

Fill your Vessels full, and save some to fill your Barrels, let it stand till it has done working, then lay on your Bung lightly for a Fortnight, after that stop it as close as you can.

Mind you have a Vent-peg at the Top of the Vessel, in warm Weather open it, and if your Drink hisses, as it often will, loosen it till it has done, then stop it close again.

If you can boil your Ale in one boiling, it is best if your Copper will admit of it: if not, boil it as Conveniency serves.

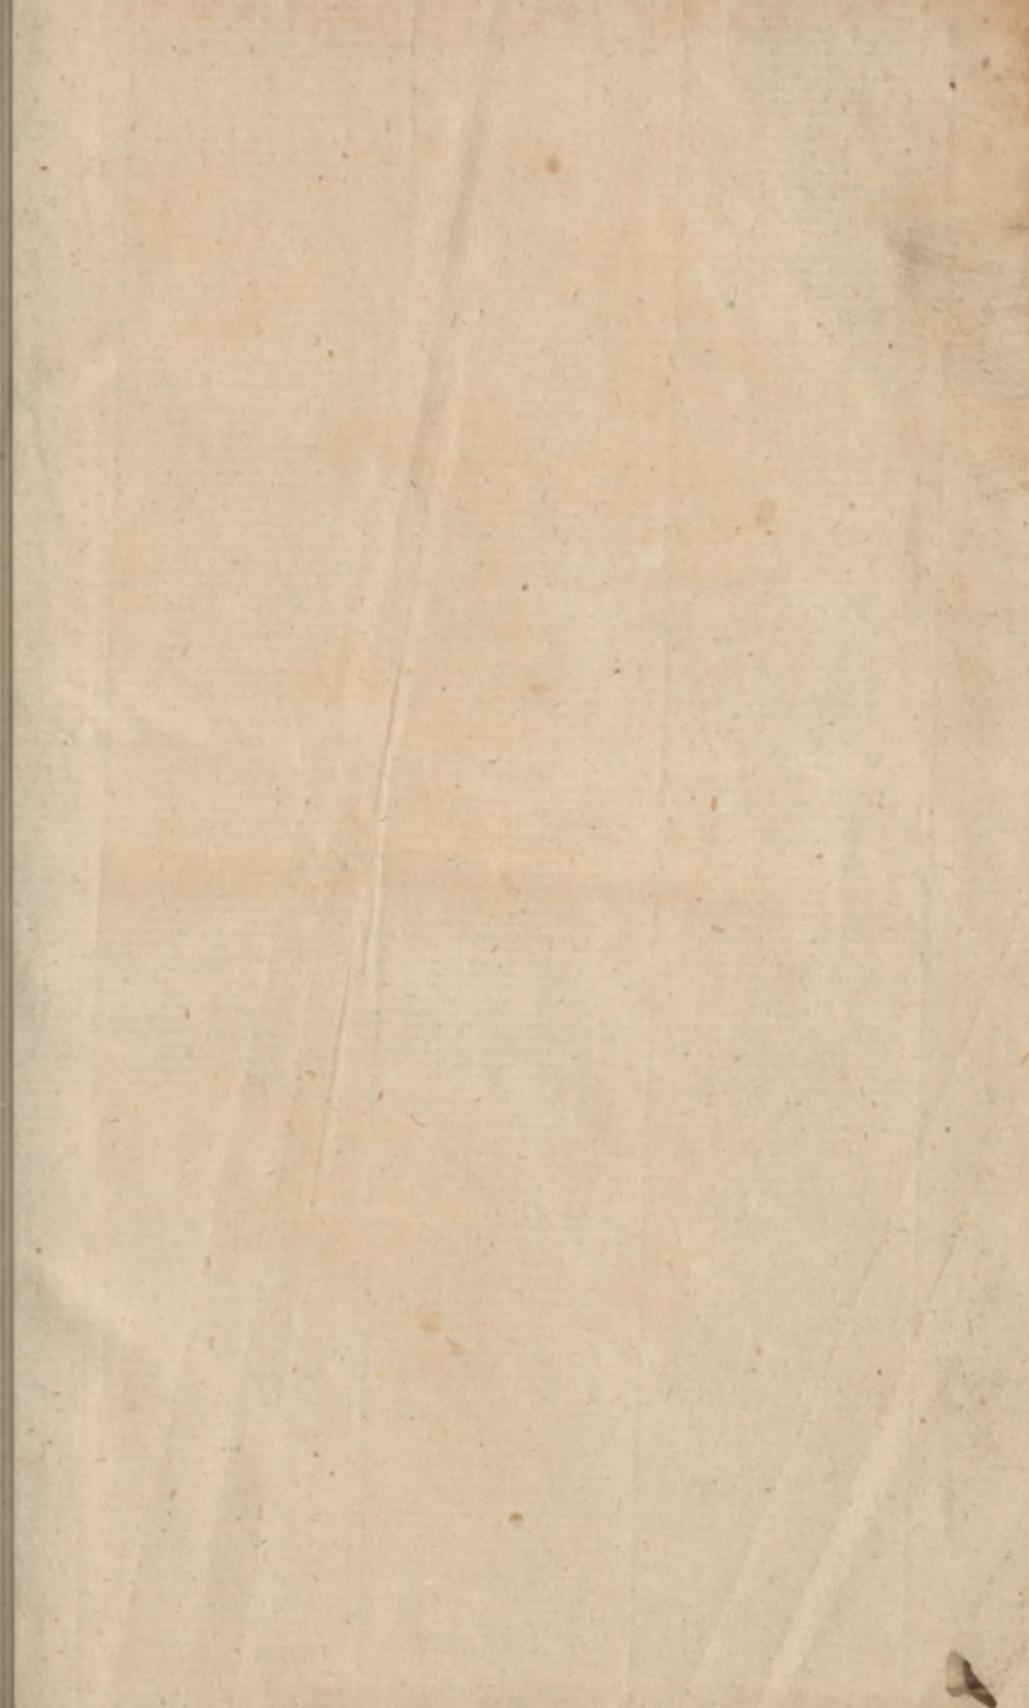

To sweeten very stinking or musty Casks.) Take and fill your Vessels with warm Water, and let it stand till the Yeast is well soak'd, then pour out your Water and put in more clean, and a few pebble Stones, then shake them about, which takes off the foul Yeast: But if any Scent remains, fill your Vessel set with boiling Water, near, but not quite full, and directly put in Pieces of unslack'd Stone-lime, which will presently set the Water a boiling, that must still be fed on with more Pieces, till the Ebulition has continued Half an Hour at least, but if very bad, longer: And after you have so done, bung it down, and let it remain till it is almost cold and no longer, lest the Lime at the Bottom harden too much, and be difficult to wash out.

To keep your Casks from stinking.) When you have drawn off your Beer, bung them up close with the Yeast in, and let them stand till the next Brewing, and that will keep them sweet.

To cure a Hogshhead of sour Ale or Beer.) Take four or five Pounds of lean Mutton cut in Pieces, four Ounces of Egg Shells dried, and Half an Ounce of Tartar, put these into the Cask, and your Liquor will soon be restored to its first Perfection.

N. B. The above Quantity of Ingredients are for Half a Hogshhead of either Ale or Beer, if the Liquor be more in Quantity, the Ingredients must be increased in proportion thereto.
