

and transported from the State of California into the State of Missouri, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in substance in the libel for the reason that it consisted in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed, and putrid vegetable substance.

On May 16, 1919, the C. F. Blanke Tea & Coffee Co., St. Louis, Mo., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and consented to a decree, it was found by the court that the product was adulterated as alleged in the libel, and the said claimant having filed a good and sufficient bond, in conformity with section 10 of the act, it was ordered by the court that the product might be delivered to said claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings.

On December 29, 1919, the United States attorney for the Southern District of New York, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel for the seizure and condemnation of 3 cans of a product purporting to be oil of birch, labeled in part, "From Z. B. Buchanan (incorporated)," remaining unsold in the original unbroken packages at New York, N. Y., alleging that the article had been shipped on December 16, 1919, by Z. B. Buchanan, Hickory, N. C., and transported from the State of North Carolina into the State of New York, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

Analysis of a sample of the article by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed that it contained synthetic methyl salicylate.

Adulteration of the article, considered as a drug, was alleged in the libel for the reason that it was sold under a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia and differed from the standard of strength, quality, and purity
