

the product to be misbranded, and it was ordered that the product be released to said claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the deposit of a certified check in the sum of $3,120 to secure compliance with the law, in lieu of the bond provided for by section 10 of the act, and it was further ordered by the court that the product be relabeled under the supervision of this department.

C. W. PUGSLEY, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

11349. Misbranding of flour. U. S. v. 840 Sacks of Flour. Consent decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released under bond. (F. & D. No. 17309. I. S. Nos. 1465-v, 1466-v. S. No. E-4317.)

On February 28, 1923, the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, holding a district court, a libel for the seizure and condemnation of 840 sacks of flour at Washington, D. C., consigned from Salina, Kans., alleging that the article had been shipped by the Robinson Milling Co., in part on or about December 25 and in part on or about December 27, 1922, and transported from the State of Missouri [Kansas] into the District of Columbia, and charging misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act, as amended. The article was labeled in part: "140 Lbs. When packed Robin's Best Flour The Robinson Milling Co. Salina, Kansas U. S. A. Bleached."

Misbranding of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that the statement, to wit, "140 Lbs.," borne on each of the sacks containing the article, was false and misleading in that the said statement represented that each of the said sacks contained 140 pounds of flour, and for the further reason that it was labeled as aforesaid so as to deceive and mislead the purchaser into the belief that each of the said sacks contained 140 pounds of flour, whereas, in truth and in fact, each of said sacks did not contain 140 pounds of flour. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was food in package form, and the quantity of the contents was not plainly and conspicuously marked on the outside of the package since the quantity stated was not correct.

On March 2, 1923, R. G. Henkelman, manager of the Rice-Schmidt Baking Co., Washington, D. C., claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libel and consented to the entry of a decree, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be released to the said claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of a bond in the sum of $3,000, in conformity with section 10 of the act.

C. W. PUGSLEY, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

11350. Adulteration and misbranding of red kidney beans. U. S. v. 43 Cases of Red Kidney Beans, So-Called. Default decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product ordered delivered to charitable institution. (F. & D. No. 12215. I. S. No. 15978-r. S. No. E-1995.)

On March 12, 1920, the United States attorney for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel praying the seizure and condemnation of 43 cases of red kidney beans, remaining unsold in the original unbroken packages at Harrisburg, Pa., alleging that the article had been shipped by George Van Camp & Sons Co., Westfield, Ind., on or about December 30, 1919, and transported from the State of Indiana into the State of Pennsylvania, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "Geo. Van Camps Red Kidney Beans Contents 1 Lb. 4 Oz. Packed By Geo. Van Camp & Sons Co. Westfield, Ind."

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that long cranberry beans had been mixed and packed with and substituted wholly or in part for red kidney beans.

Misbranding was alleged for the reason that the said label bore the statement, "Red Kidney Beans," which statement was false and misleading and deceived and misled the purchaser since the said product consisted in whole or in part of long cranberry beans. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was an imitation of and was offered for sale and sold under the distinctive name of another article.

On December 14, 1922, no claimant having appeared for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that it be delivered to a public or charitable institution for food purposes.

C. W. PUGSLEY, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.