twelfth April, one thousand eight hundred and eight, entitled "An act to raise, for a limited time, an additional military force;" and that the bounty to the recruit, and compensation to the recruiting officer, shall be the same as are allowed by the aforesaid act of twelfth of April, one thousand eight hundred and eight.*

[Approved, March 3, 1815.]

An act for organizing the general staff, and making further provision for the army of the United States.

[24th April, 1816.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in addition to the act providing for a military peace establishment, the provisions of the act of March the third, one thousand eight hundred and thirteen, for the better organization of the general staff,† be, and the same are hereby so far established, that the general staff shall in future consist of one adjutant and inspector general of the army, and one adjutant general, one inspector general, three topographical engineers, and one quartermaster general, with one deputy quartermaster general, to a division; and an assistant of each to every brigade, which shall supersede the brigade quartermasters.

Number and description of the general staff.

* Twelve dollars bounty, and two dollars premium. See page 39.

and inspectors now existing; and that the apothecary general, as heretofore authorized,* be allowed two assistant apothecaries.†

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the medical staff shall be so extended, that there shall be four hospital surgeons, and eight hospital surgeons' mates, to each division, with as many post surgeons as the service may require, not exceeding twelve to each division, who shall receive the same pay and emoluments as hospital surgeons' mates;‡ and that there be three judge advocates to each division, and one chaplain to each brigade of the army, who shall receive the pay and emoluments of major, as heretofore allowed. ||

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the pay department shall consist of one paymaster general of the army, with the annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars, and that in addition to regimental paymasters, there be appointed one paymaster to each battalion of the corps of artillery, who, as well as the regimental paymasters, in addition to the regular and punctual payment of their respective regiments or corps, shall discharge the duties of district paymasters, with-

Sec. 14. And be it further enacted, That if any officer, non-commissioned officer, musician, or private, in the corps composing the peace establishment, shall be disabled by wounds, or otherwise, while in the line of his duty, in public service, he shall be placed on the list of invalids of the United States, at such rate of pay, and under such regulations, as may be directed by the President of the United States, for the time being: Provided always, That the compensation to be allowed for such wounds or disabilities, to a commissioned officer, shall not exceed, for the highest rate of disability, half the monthly pay of such officer, at the time of his being disabled or wounded,* and that no officer shall receive more than the half pay of a lieutenant colonel; and that the rate of compensation to non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates, shall not exceed *five dollars per month: And provided also, That all inferior disabilities, shall entitle the person so disabled, to receive an allowance proportionate to the highest disability.

Rate of compensation to invalids.

Sec. 15. And be it further enacted, That if any commissioned officer in the military peace establishment of the United States, shall, while in the service of the United States, die, by reason of any wound received in actual service of the United States, and leave a widow, or if no widow, a child or children, under sixteen years of age, such widow, or if no widow, such child or children shall be entitled to and receive half the monthly pay to which the deceased was entitled at the time of his death, for and during the term of five years. But in case of the death or intermarriage of such widow, before the expiration of the said term of five years, the half pay, for the remainder of the time, shall go to the child or children of such deceased officer: Provided always, That such half pay shall cease, on the decease of such child or children.

Compensation to widows and orphans.

Sec 16. And be it further enacted, That the paymaster shall perform the duties of his office, agreeably to the direction of the President of the United States, for the time being; and before he enters on the duties of the same, shall give bonds, with good and sufficient sureties, in such sums as the President shall direct, for the faithful discharge of his said office; and shall serter.

Sec. 19. And be it further enacted, That every person who shall procure or entice a soldier in the service of the United States to desert; or who shall purchase from any soldier his arms, uniform clothing, or any part thereof; and every captain or commanding officer of any ship or vessel, who shall enter on board such ship or vessel, as one of his crew, knowing him to have deserted, or otherwise carry away any such soldier, or shall refuse to deliver him up to the orders of his commanding officer, shall, upon legal conviction, be fined at the discretion of any court having cognizance of the same, in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, or be imprisoned any term not exceeding one year.

Sec. 20. And be it further enacted, That every officer, non-commissioned officer, musician, and private, shall take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation, to wit: "I, A B, do solemnly swear, or affirm, (as the case may be) that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America, and that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against their enemies or opposers, whomsoever; and that I will observe and obey the orders of the President of the United States, and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to the rules and articles of war."

Oath of enlistment.

Sec. 21. And be it further enacted, That whenever a general court martial shall be ordered, the President of the United States may appoint some fit person to act as judge advocate, who shall be allowed, in addition to his other pay, one dollar and twenty-five cents, for every day he shall be necessarily employed in the duties of the said court; and in cases where the President shall not have made such appointment, the brigadier general or the president of the court, may make the same.

Duties and compensation of special judge advocates.

Sec. 22. And be it further enacted, That where any commissioned officer shall be obliged to incur any extra expense in travelling and sitting on general courts martial, he shall be allowed a reasonable compensation for such extra expense actually incurred, not exceeding one dollar and twenty-five cents per day, to officers who are not entitled to forage, and not exceeding one dollar per day to such as shall be entitled to forage.

Compensation for extra expense, in travelling and sitting on courts martial.

Sec. 23. And be it further enacted, That no non commissioned officer, musician, or private, shall be arrested, or subject to arrest, or to be taken in execution, for any debt under the sum of twenty dollars, contracted before enlistment, nor for any debt contracted after enlistment.

Soldiers not to be arrested for debt.

Officers and soldiers to be allowed pay and subsistence, from place of discharge to place of residence.

Sec. 24. And be it further enacted, That whenever any officer or soldier shall be discharged from the service, except by way of punishment for any offence, he shall be allowed his pay and rations, or an equivalent in money, for such term of time as shall be sufficient for him to travel from the place of discharge to the place of his residence, computing at the rate of twenty miles to a day.

Extra pay to officers deranged.

Sec. 25. And be it further enacted, That to each commissioned officer who shall be deranged by virtue of this act, there shall be allowed and paid, in addition to the pay and emoluments to which they will be entitled by law at the time of their discharge, to each officer whose term of service in any military corps of the United States shall not have exceeded three years, three months' pay; to all other officers, so deranged, one month's pay of their grades respectively, for each year of past service in the army of the United States, or in any regiment or corps now or formerly in the service thereof.

Section 26, section 27, and section 28, relate solely to the corps of engineers, and may be found on pages 14 and 15.

Repeal of former acts.

Sec. 29. And be it further enacted, That so much of any act or acts, now in force, as comes within the purview of this act, shall be, and the same is hereby repealed; saving, nevertheless, such parts thereof as relate to the enlistments or term of service of any of the troops, which, by this act, are continued on the present military establishment of the United States.

and for every like offence, shall suffer and pay in like manner; which money, so forfeited, shall be applied by the captain or senior officer of the troop or company, to the use of the sick soldiers of the company or troop to which the offender belongs.

Profane oaths.

Art. 3. Any non-commissioned officer or soldier who shall use any profane oath or execration, shall incur the penalties expressed in the foregoing article; and a commissioned officer shall forfeit and pay for each and every such offence, one dollar, to be applied as in the preceding article.

Chaplain absenting himself from his duties,

Art. 4. Every chaplain, commissioned in the army or armies of the United States, who shall absent himself from the duties assigned him, (excepting in cases of sickness or leave of absence,) shall, on conviction thereof before a court martial, be fined not exceeding one month's pay, besides the loss of his pay during his absence; or be discharged, as the said court martial shall judge proper.

Disrespectful words against the President, Congress, or state legislatures,

Art. 5. Any officer or soldier who shall use contemptuous or disrespectful words against the President of the United States, against the Vice President thereof, against the Congress of the United States, or against the chief magistrate or legislature of any of the United States, in which he may be quartered, if a commissioned officer, shall be cashiered, or otherwise punished, as a court martial shall direct; if a non-commissioned officer or soldier, he shall suffer such punishment as shall be inflicted on him by the sentence of a court martial.

Art. 6. Any officer or soldier who shall behave himself with contempt or disrespect towards his commanding officer, shall be punished according to the nature of his offence, by the judgment of a court martial. Disrespect of commanding officer.

Art. 7. Any officer or soldier who shall begin, excite, cause, or join, in any mutiny or sedition, in any troop or company in the service of the United States, or in any party, post, detachment, or guard, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as by a court martial shall be inflicted. Mutiny.

Art. 8. Any officer, non-commissioned officer, or soldier, who, being present at any mutiny or sedition, does not use his utmost endeavor to suppress the same, or coming to the knowledge of any intended mutiny, does not, without delay, give information thereof to his commanding officer, shall be punished by the sentence of a court martial with death, or otherwise, according to the nature of his offence. Knowledge of intended mutiny.

Art. 9. Any officer or soldier who shall strike his superior officer, or draw or lift up any weapon, or offer any violence against him, being in the execution of his office, on any pretence whatsoever, or shall disobey any lawful command of his superior officer, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall, according to the nature of his of- Striking or disobeying superior officer.

fence, be inflicted upon him by the sentence of a court martial.

These articles to be read to recruits.

Art. 10. Every non-commissioned officer or soldier, who shall enlist himself in the service of the United States, shall, at the time of his so enlisting, or within six days afterwards, have the articles for the government of the armies of the United States, read to him, and shall, by the officer who enlisted him, or by the commanding officer of the troop or company into which he was enlisted, be taken before the next justice of the peace, or chief magistrate of any city or town corporate, not being an officer of the army, or, where recourse cannot be had to the civil magistrate, before the judge advocate, and in his presence, shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear, or affirm, (as the case may be,) that I will bear true allegiance to the United States of America, and that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies or opposers whatsoever; and observe and obey the orders of the President of the United States, and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States." Which justice, magistrate, or judge advocate, is to give the officer a certificate, signifying that the man enlisted, did take the said oath or affirmation.

Discharge of non-commissioned officers
and soldiers.

Art. 11. After a non-commissioned officer or soldier, shall have been duly enlisted and sworn, he shall not be dismissed the service, without a discharge in writing; and no discharge granted to him shall be sufficient, which is not signed by a field officer of the regiment to which he belongs, or commanding officer, where no field officer of the regiment is present; and no discharge shall be given to a non-commissioned officer or soldier, before his term of service has expired, but by order of the President, the Secretary of War, the commanding officer of a department, or the sentence of a general court martial; nor shall a commissioned officer be discharged the service, but by order of the President of the United States, or by sentence of a general court martial.

Discharge of officers.

Art. 12. Every colonel, or other officer commanding a regiment, troop, or company, and actually quartered with it, may give furloughs to non-commissioned officers or soldiers, in such numbers, and for so long a time, as he shall judge to be most consistent with the good of the service; and a captain, or other inferior officer, commanding a troop or company, or in any garrison, fort, or barrack, of the United States, (his field officer being absent,) may give furloughs to non-commissioned officers or soldiers, for a time not exceeding twenty days in six months, but not to more than two persons to be absent at the same time, excepting some extraordinary occasion should require it.

Furloughs to non-commissioned officers and soldiers.

Certificate respecting those who are absent at time of muster.

Art. 13. At every muster, the commanding officer of each regiment, troop, or company, there present, shall give to the commissary of musters, or other officer who musters the said regiment, troop, or company, certificates, signed by himself, signifying how long such officers as shall not appear at the said muster, have been absent, and the reason of their absence. In like manner, the commanding officer of every troop, or company, shall give certificates, signifying the reasons of the absence of the non-commissioned officers and private soldiers; which reasons, and times of absence, shall be inserted in the muster rolls, opposite the name of the respective absent officers and soldiers. The certificates shall, together with the muster-rolls, be remitted by the commissary of musters, or other officer mustering, to the Department of War, as speedily as the distance of the place will admit.

False certificates respecting absentees.

Art. 14. Every officer who shall be convicted before a general court martial, of having signed a false certificate, relating to the absence of either officer or private soldier, or relative to his or their pay, shall be cashiered.

False musters,

Art. 15. Every officer who shall knowingly make a false muster of man or horse, and every officer or commissary of musters, who shall willingly sign, direct, or allow the signing of muster-rolls, wherein such false muster is contained, shall, upon proof made thereof, by two witnesses, before a general court martial, be cashiered, and shall be thereby utterly disabled to have or hold any office or employment in the service of the United States.

Art. 16. Any commissary of musters, or other officer, who shall be convicted of having taken money, or other thing, by way of gratification, on mustering any regiment, troop, or company, or on signing muster-rolls, shall be displaced from his office, and shall be thereby utterly disabled to have or hold any office or employment in the service of the United States.

Mustering officer accepting any thing
by way of gratification.

Art. 17. Any officer who shall presume to muster a person as a soldier, who is not a soldier, shall be deemed guilty of having made a false muster, and shall suffer accordingly.

Mustering any
soldier.

Art. 18. Every officer who shall knowingly make a false return to the Department of War, or to any of his superior officers, authorized to call for such returns, of the state of the regiment, troop, or company, or garrison, under his command, or of the arms, ammunition, clothing, or other stores thereunto belonging, shall, on conviction thereof before a court martial, be cashiered.

False returns.

Art. 19. The commanding officer of every regiment, troop, or independent company, or garrison, of the United States, shall, in the beginning of every month, remit, through the proper channels, to the Department of War, an exact return of the regiment, troop, independent company, or garrison, under his command, specifying the names of the officers then absent from their posts, with the reasons for, and the time of, their absence. And any officer who shall be convicted of having, through neglect or design, omitted sending such returns, shall be punished according to the nature of his crime, by the judgment of a general court martial.

Desertion.

Art. 20. All officers and soldiers who have received pay, or have been duly enlisted in the service of the United States, and shall be convicted of having deserted the same, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as by sentence of a court martial shall be inflicted.

Absence without leave.

Art. 21. Any non commissioned officer or soldier who shall, without leave from his commanding officer, absent himself from his troop, company, or detachment, shall, upon being convicted thereof, be punished according to the nature of his offence, at the discretion of a court martial.

No person shall enlist without first obtaining a regular discharge.

Art. 22. No non-commissioned officer or soldier shall enlist himself in any other regiment, troop, or company, without a regular discharge from the regiment, troop, or company, in which he last served, on the penalty of being reputed a deserter, and suffering accordingly. And in case any officer shall knowingly receive and entertain such non-commissioned officer or soldier, or shall not, after his being discovered to be a deserter, immediately confine him, and give notice thereof to the corps in which he last served, the said officer shall, by a court martial, be cashiered.

Art. 23. Any officer or soldier who shall be convicted of having advised or persuaded any other officer or soldier to desert the service of the United States, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be inflicted upon him by the sentence of a court martial.

Advising desertion.

Art. 24. No officer or soldier shall use any reproachful or provoking speeches or gestures to another, upon pain, if an officer, of being put in arrest; if a soldier, confined, and of asking pardon of the party offended, in the presence of his commanding officer.

Reproachful speeches.

Art. 25. No officer or soldier shall send a challenge to another officer or soldier, to fight a duel, or accept a challenge, if sent, upon pain, if a commissioned officer, of being cashiered; if a non-commissioned officer or soldier, of suffering corporeal punishment, at the discretion of a court martial.

Duelling.

Art. 26. If any commissioned or non-commissioned officer, commanding a guard, shall knowingly or willingly suffer any person whatsoever, to go forth to fight a duel, he shall be punished as a challenger; and all seconds, promoters, and carriers of challenges, in order to duels, shall be deemed principals, and punished accordingly. And it shall be the duty of every officer commanding an army, regiment, company, post, or detachment, who is knowing to a challenge being given or accepted, by any officer, non-commissioned officer or soldier, under his command, or has reason to believe the same to be the case, immediately to arrest and bring to trial such offenders.

All officers to part, and quell quarrels and disorders.

Art. 27. All officers, of what condition soever, have power to part and quell all quarrels, frays, and disorders, though the persons concerned should belong to another regiment, troop, or company; and either to order officers into arrest, or non-commissioned officers or soldiers into confinement, until their proper superior officers shall be acquainted therewith; and whosoever shall refuse to obey such officer, (though of an inferior rank,) or shall draw his sword upon him, shall be punished at the discretion of a general court martial.

Officer or soldier upbraid another for refusing to fight, to be punished as a challenger.

Art. 28. Any officer or soldier who shall upbraid another for refusing a challenge, shall himself be punished as a challenger; and all officers and soldiers are hereby discharged from any disgrace, or opinion of disadvantage which might arise, from their having refused to accept of challenges, as they will only have acted in obedience to the laws, and done their duty as good soldiers, who subject themselves to discipline.

Sutlers keeping open shops at improper times.

Art. 29. No sutler shall be permitted to sell any kind of liquors or victuals, or to keep their houses or shops open, for the entertainment of soldiers, after nine at night, or before the beating of the re-veilles, or upon Sundays, during divine service or sermon, on the penalty of being dismissed from all future sutling.

Art. 30. All officers, commanding in the field, forts, barracks, or garrisons, of the United States, are hereby required to see that the persons permitted to sutle, shall supply the soldiers with good and wholesome provisions, or other articles, at a reasonable price, as they shall be answerable for their neglect.

Sutlers to supply good articles, and at reasonable prices.

Art. 31. No officer, commanding in any of the garrisons, forts, or barracks, of the United States, shall exact exorbitant prices for houses or stalls, let out to sutlers, or connive at the like exactions in others; nor by his own authority, and for his private advantage, lay any duty or imposition upon, or be interested in, the sale of any victuals, liquors, or other necessaries of life, brought into the garrison, fort, or barracks, for the use of the soldiers, on the penalty of being discharged from the service.

Officers not to make, or suffer, any exactions on sutlers, nor to be interested in the sale of any articles for the use of the soldiers.

Art. 32. Every officer, commanding in quarters, garrisons, or on the march, shall keep good order, and, to the utmost of his power, redress all abuses or disorders, which may be committed by any officer or soldier under his command; if, upon complaint made to him, of officers or soldiers beating, or otherwise ill treating any person; of disturbing fairs or markets, or of committing any kinds of riots, to the disquieting of the citizens of the United States, he, the said commander, who shall refuse or omit to see justice done to the offender or offenders, and reparation made to the party or parties injured, as far as part of the offender's pay shall enable him or them, shall, upon proof thereof, be cashiered, or otherwise punished, as a general court martial shall direct.

Art. 33. When any commissioned officer or soldier shall be accused of a capital crime, or of having used violence, or committed any offence against the persons or property of any citizen of any of the United States, such as is punishable by the known laws of the land, the commanding officer, and officers of every regiment, troop, or company, to which the person or persons, so accused, shall belong, are hereby required, upon application duly made by, or in behalf of, the party or parties injured, to use their utmost endeavors to deliver over such accused person or persons, to the civil magistrate, and likewise to be aiding and assisting to the officers of justice in apprehending and securing the person or persons so accused, in order to bring him or them to trial. If any commanding officer or officers, shall wilfully neglect, or shall refuse, upon the application aforesaid, to deliver over such accused person or persons, to the civil magistrates, or to be aiding and assisting to the officers of justice, in apprehending such person or persons, the officer or officers, so offending, shall be cashiered.

Officers or soldiers accused of crimes or of offences against citizens of the United States, to be delivered over upon application to civil magistrate.

Art. 34. If any officer shall think himself wronged by his colonel, or the commanding officer of the regiment, and shall, upon due application being made to him, be refused redress, he may complain to the general commanding in the state or territory where such regiment shall be stationed, in order to obtain justice; who is hereby required to examine into the said complaint, and take proper measures for redressing the wrong complained of, and transmit, as soon as possible, to the Department of War, a true statement of such complaint, with the proceedings had thereon.

Complaints of officers thinking themselves wronged, to be examined into by commanding general.

Art. 35. If any inferior officer or soldier, shall think himself wronged by his captain, or other officer, he is to complain thereof to the commanding officer of the regiment, who is hereby required to summon a regimental court martial, for the doing justice to the complainant; from which regimental court martial, either party may, if he thinks himself still aggrieved, appeal to a general court martial. But if, upon a second hearing, the appeal shall appear vexatious and groundless, the person, so appealing, shall be punished at the discretion of the said court martial.

Complaints of soldiers, thinking themselves wronged, to be examined into by regimental courts martial.

Art. 36. Any commissioned officer, storekeeper, or commissary, who shall be convicted at a general court martial, of having sold, without a proper order for that purpose, embezzled, misapplied, or wilfully, or through neglect, suffered any of the provisions, forage, arms, clothing, ammunition, or other military stores, belonging to the United States, to be spoiled or damaged, shall, at his own expense, make good the loss or damage, and shall, moreover, forfeit all his pay, and be dismissed from the service.

Embezzlement, waste, or neglect of public property.

Neglect or waste of ammunition.

Art. 37. Any non-commissioned officer or soldier, who shall be convicted at a regimental court martial, of having sold, or designedly, or through neglect, wasted the ammunition delivered out to him, to be employed in the service of the United States, shall be punished at the discretion of such court.

Sale, loss, or damage of horse, arms, clothing, or accoutrements.

Art. 38. Every non-commissioned officer or soldier, who shall be convicted before a court martial of having sold, lost, or spoiled, through neglect, his horse, arms, clothes, or accoutrements, shall undergo such weekly stoppages (not exceeding the half of his pay) as such court martial shall judge sufficient, for repairing the loss or damage; and shall suffer confinement, or such other corporal punishment as his crime shall deserve.

Embezzlement or misapplication of public moneys.

Art. 39. Every officer who shall be convicted before a court martial, of having embezzled, or misapplied, any money with which he may have been entrusted, for the payment of the men under his command, or for enlisting men into the service, or for other purposes, if a commissioned officer, shall be cashiered, and compelled to refund the money; if a non-commissioned officer, shall be reduced to the ranks, be put under stoppages until the money be made good, and suffer such corporeal punishment as such court martial shall direct.

Art. 40. Every captain of a troop, or company, is charged with the arms, accoutrements, ammunition, clothing, or other warlike stores belonging to the troop or company under his command, which he is to be accountable for to his colonel, in case of their being lost, spoiled, or damaged, not by unavoidable accidents, or on actual service.

Captains of companies accountable for the arms, &c. of their companies.

Art. 41. All non-commissioned officers and soldiers who shall be found one mile from the camp, without leave in writing, from their commanding officer, shall suffer such punishment as shall be inflicted upon them by the sentence of a court martial.

Non-commissioned officers and soldiers found one mile from camp, without written permission.

Art. 42. No officer or soldier shall lie out of his quarters, garrison, or camp, without leave from his superior officer, upon penalty of being punished according to the nature of his offence, by the sentence of a court martial.

No officer or soldier to lie out of his quarters without leave.

Art. 43. Every non-commissioned officer and soldier shall retire to his quarters or tent, at the beating of the retreat; in default of which he shall be punished according to the nature of his offence.

Non-commissioned officers and soldiers to retire to quarters at retreat beating.

Art. 44. No officer, non-commissioned officer, or soldier, shall fail in repairing, at the time fixed, to the place of parade, of exercise, or other rendezvous, appointed by his commanding officer, if not prevented by sickness, or some other evident necessity; or shall go from the said place of rendezvous, without leave from his commanding officer, before he shall be regularly dismissed or relieved, on the penalty of being punished according to the nature of his offence by the sentence of a court martial.

Officers or soldiers neglecting to appear on parade or exercise, or quitting the same without leave.

Drunkenness
on duty.

Art. 45. Any commissioned officer who shall be found drunk on his guard, party, or other duty, shall be cashiered. Any non-commissioned officer or soldier so offending, shall suffer such corporeal punishment as shall be inflicted by the sentence of a court martial.

Sleeping on post.

Art. 46. Any centinel who shall be found sleeping upon his post, or shall leave it before he shall be regularly relieved, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be inflicted by the sentence of a court martial.

Soldier hiring
another to do his duty.

Art. 47. No soldier belonging to any regiment, troop, or company, shall hire another to do his duty for him, or be excused from duty, but in cases of sickness, disability, or leave of absence; and every such soldier found guilty of hiring his duty, as also the party so hired to do another's duty, shall be punished at the discretion of a regimental court martial.

Officers and non-commissioned officers,
conniving at,
or allowing,
hiring of duty.

Art. 48. And every non-commissioned officer, conniving at such hiring of duty aforesaid, shall be reduced; and every commissioned officer, knowing and allowing such ill practices in the service, shall be punished by the judgment of a general court martial.

Art. 49. Any officer belonging to the service of the United States, who, by discharging of fire arms, drawing of swords, beating of drums, or by any other means whatsoever, shall occasion false alarms, in camp, garrison, or quarters, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be ordered by the sentence of a general court martial.

Officers occasioning false alarms.

Art. 50. Any officer or soldier who shall, without urgent necessity, or without the leave of his superior officer, quit his guard, platoon, or division, shall be punished according to the nature of his offence, by the sentence of a court martial.

Officer or soldier quitting his ground or platoon, without leave.

Art. 51. No officer or soldier shall do violence to any person who brings provisions or other necessaries to the camp, garrison, or quarters, of the forces of the United States, employed in any parts out of the said states, upon pain of death, or such other punishment as a court martial shall direct.

Violence to persons bringing provisions or other necessaries into camp.

Art. 52. Any officer or soldier who shall misbehave himself before the enemy, runaway, or shamefully abandon any fort, post, or guard, which he or they may be commanded to defend, or speak words inducing others to do the like; or shall cast away his arms and ammunition, or who shall quit his post or colors to plunder and pillage; every such offender, being duly convicted thereof, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be ordered by the sentence of a general court martial.

Giving watch word to persons not entitled thereto, or giving parole or watch word, different from the one received.

Art. 53. Any person, belonging to the armies of the United States, who shall make known the watch word to any person who is not entitled to receive it, according to the rules and discipline of war, or shall presume to give a parole or watch word different from what he received, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be ordered by the sentence of a general court martial.

Officers and soldiers to behave orderly; not to commit waste in inclosures, or injure property of inhabitants of the United States.

Art. 54. All officers and soldiers are to behave themselves orderly in quarters, and on their march; and whosoever shall commit any waste, or spoil, either in walks of trees, parks, warrens, fish-ponds, houses, or gardens, cornfields, enclosures of meadows, or shall maliciously destroy any property whatsoever, belonging to the inhabitants of the United States, unless by order of the then commander in chief, of the armies of the said states, shall (besides such penalties as they are liable to by law) be punished according to the nature and degree of the offence, by the judgment of a regimental or general court martial.

Forcing safe guard.

Art. 55. Whosoever, belonging to the armies of the United States, employed in foreign parts, shall force a safe guard, shall suffer death.

Relieving or harboring an enemy.

Art. 56. Whosoever shall relieve the enemy with money, victuals, or ammunition, or shall knowingly harbor or protect an enemy, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be ordered by the sentence of a court martial.

Art. 57. Whosoever shall be convicted of holding correspondence with, or giving intelligence to, the enemy, either directly or indirectly, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be ordered by the sentence of a court martial.

Holding correspondence with, or giving intelligence to, the enemy.

Art. 58. All public stores, taken in the enemy's camp, towns, forts, or magazines, whether of artillery, ammunition, clothing, forage, or provisions, shall be secured for the service of the United States; for the neglect of which, the commanding officer is to be answerable.

Public stores taken from the enemy, to be secured for the United States.

Art. 59. If any commander of any garrison, fortress, or post, shall be compelled, by the officers and soldiers under his command, to give up to the enemy, or to abandon it, the commissioned officers, non-commissioned officers, or soldiers, who shall be convicted of having so offended, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as shall be inflicted upon them by the sentence of a court martial.

Compelling a commanding officer to give up to the enemy.

Art. 60. All sutlers and retainers to the camp, and all persons whatsoever, serving with the armies of the United States, in the field, though not enlisted soldiers, are to be subject to orders, according to the rules and discipline of war, tial and on detachments, when composed of different corps, according to the ranks given them in their brevets, or dates of their former commissions; but in the regiment, troop, or company, to which such officers belong, they shall do duty, and take rank, both in courts martial and on detachments, which shall be composed only of their own corps, according to the commissions by which they are mustered in the said corps.

Different
corps on duty
together, the officer highest in rank to command.

Art. 62. If upon marches, guards, or in quarters, different corps of the army shall happen to join, or do duty together, the officer highest in rank, of the line of the army, marine corps, or militia, by commission, there on duty, or in quarters, shall command the whole, and give orders for what is needful to the service, unless otherwise specially directed by the President of the United States, according to the nature of the case.

Engineers—
their privileges and duties.

Art. 63. The functions of the engineers being generally confined to the most elevated branch of military science, they are not to assume, nor are they subject to be ordered on any duty beyond the line of their immediate profession, except by the special order of the President of the United States; but they are to receive every mark of respect, to which their rank in the army may entitle them respectively, and are liable to be transferred, at the discretion of the President, from one corps to another, regard being paid to rank.

Art. 64. General courts martial may consist of any number of commissioned officers, from five to thirteen inclusively; but they shall not consist of less than thirteen, where that number can be convened without manifest injury to the service. General courts martial.

Art. 65. Any general officer commanding an army, or colonel commanding a separate department, may appoint general courts martial whenever necessary. General courts martial. But no sentence of a court martial shall be carried into execution, until after the whole proceedings shall have been laid before the officer ordering the same, or the officer commanding the troops for the time being, neither shall any sentence of a general court martial, in time of peace, extending to the loss of life, or the dismissal of a commissioned officer, or which shall, either in time of peace or war, respect a general officer, be carried into execution, until after the whole proceedings shall have been transmitted to the Secretary of War, to be laid before the President of the United States, for his confirmation or disapproval, and orders in the case. All other sentences may be confirmed and executed by the officer ordering the court to assemble, or the commanding officer for the time being, as the case may be.

Art. 66. Every officer commanding a regiment or corps, may appoint, for his own regiment or corps, courts martial, to consist of three commissioned officers, for the trial and punishment of of. Regimental courts martial.

fences, not capital, and decide upon their sentences. For the same purpose, all officers commanding any of the garrisons, forts, barracks, or other places, where the troops consist of different corps, may assemble courts martial, to consist of three commissioned officers, and decide upon their sentences.

Powers of regimental courts martial.

Art. 67. No garrison or regimental court martial shall have the power to try capital cases, or commissioned officers, neither shall they inflict a fine exceeding one month's pay, nor imprison, nor put to hard labor, any non-commissioned officer or soldier, for a longer time than one month.

Marine officers may be associated with the army on courts martial.

Art. 68. Whenever it may be found convenient and necessary to the public service, the officers of the marines shall be associated with the officers of the land forces, for the purpose of holding courts martial and trying offenders belonging to either; and in such cases, the orders of the senior officer, of either corps, who may be present, and duly authorized, shall be received and obeyed.

Duties of judge advocates.

Art. 69. The judge advocate, or some person deputed by him, or by the general, or officer commanding the army, detachment, or garrison, shall prosecute in the name of the United States, but shall so far consider himself as counsel for the prisoner, after the said prisoner shall have made his plea, as to object to any leading question to any of the witnesses, or any question to the prisoner, the answer to which might tend to criminate himself; and administer to each member of the court, before they proceed upon any trial, the following oath, which shall also be taken by all members of the regimental and garrison courts martial.

“You, A B, do swear, that you will well and truly try and determine, according to evidence, the matter now before you, between the United States of America and the prisoner to be tried, and that you will duly administer justice, according to the provisions of “An act establishing rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States,” without partiality, favor, or affection; and if any doubt shall arise, not explained by said articles, according to your conscience, the best of your understanding, and the custom of war in like cases; and you do further swear, that you will not divulge the sentence of the court until it shall be published by the proper authority; neither will you disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court martial, unless required to give evidence thereof, as a witness, by a court of justice, in a due course of law. So help you God.”

Oath of the members of a court martial.

And as soon as the said oath shall have been administered to the respective members, the president of the court shall administer to the judge advocate, or person officiating as such, an oath in the following words:

Oath of judge advocate.

“You, A B, do swear, that you will not disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court martial, unless required to give evidence thereof, as a witness, by a court of justice, in due course of law; nor divulge the sentence of the court to any but the proper authority, until it shall be duly disclosed by the same. So help you God.”

Prisoner refusing to plead.

Art. 70. When a prisoner, arraigned before a general court martial, shall, from obstinacy and deliberate design, stand mute, or answer foreign to the purpose, the court may proceed to trial and judgment, as if the prisoner had regularly pleaded not guilty.

Challenge to a member.

Art. 71. When a member shall be challenged by a prisoner, he must state his cause of challenge, of which the court shall, after due deliberation, determine the relevancy or validity, and decide accordingly; and no challenge to more than one member at a time, shall be received by the court.

Members to behave with decency, and in giving votes to begin with the youngest.

Art. 72. All the members of a court martial are to behave with decency and calmness; and in giving their votes, are to begin with the youngest in commission.

Art. 73. All persons who give evidence before a court martial, are to be examined on oath or affirmation, in the following form:

“You swear, or affirm, (as the case may be) the evidence you shall give in the cause now in hearing, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. So help you God."

Oath of a witness.

Art. 74. On the trials of cases not capital, before courts martial, the deposition of witnesses, not in the line or staff of the army, may be taken before some justice of the peace, and read in evidence; provided the prosecutor and person accused are present at the taking the same, or are duly notified thereof.

Deposition of witnesses.

Art. 75. No officer shall be tried, but by a general court martial, nor by officers of an inferior rank, if it can be avoided. Nor shall any proceedings or trials be carried on, excepting between the hours of eight in the morning, and three in the afternoon, excepting in cases which, in the opinion of the officer appointing the court martial, require immediate example.

Officers not to be tried, but by general court martial: proceedings not to be carried on, except between 8, A. M. and 3, P. M.

Art. 76. No person whatsoever shall use any menacing words, signs, or gestures, in presence of a court martial, or shall cause any disorder or riot, or disturb their proceedings, on the penalty of being punished, at the discretion of the said court martial.

No person shall use menacing words or gestures, or disturb a court martial.

Art. 77. Whenever any officer shall be charged with a crime, he shall be arrested and confined in his barracks, quarters, or tent, and deprived of his sword, by the commanding officer. And any officer who shall leave his confinement before he shall be set at liberty by his commanding officer, or by a superior officer, shall be cashiered.

Arrest or confinement of non-commissioned officers or soldiers.

Art. 78. Non-commissioned officers and soldiers, charged with crimes, shall be confined until tried by a court martial, or released by proper authority.

Persons in arrest, not to be kept in confinement more than 8 days.

Art. 79. No officer or soldier who shall be put in arrest, shall continue in confinement more than eight days, or until such time as a court martial can be assembled.

Officer of a guard or provost martial to receive and keep prisoners.

Art. 80. No officer commanding a guard, or provost martial, shall refuse to receive or keep any prisoner committed to his charge by an officer belonging to the forces of the United States; provided the officer committing shall, at the same time, deliver an account in writing, signed by himself, of the crime with which the said prisoner is charged.

Prisoners not to be released without proper authority.

Art. 81. No officer commanding a guard or provost martial, shall presume to release any person committed to his charge, without proper authority for so doing, nor shall he suffer any person to escape, on the penalty of being punished for it by the sentence of a court martial.

Names of prisoners to be reported to the commanding officer.

Art. 82. Every officer or provost martial, to whose charge prisoners shall be committed, shall, within twenty-four hours after such commitment, or as soon as he shall be relieved from his guard, make report in writing, to the commanding officer, of their names, their crimes, and the names of the officers who committed them, on the penalty of being punished for disobedience or neglect, at the discretion of a court martial.

Art. 83. Any commissioned officer, convicted before a general court martial of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, shall be dismissed the service.

Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Art. 84. In cases where a court martial may think it proper to sentence a commissioned officer to be suspended from command, they shall have power also to suspend his pay and emoluments for the same time, according to the nature and heinousness of the offence.

Suspension.

Art. 85. In all cases where a commissioned officer is cashiered for cowardice or fraud, it shall be added in the sentence, that the crime, name, and place of abode, and punishment of the delinquent, be published in the newspapers, in and about the camp, and of the particular state from which the offender came, or where he usually resides, after which it shall be deemed scandalous for an officer to associate with him.

The name and crime of officers, cashiered for cowardice or frauds, to be published in the newspapers.

Art. 86. The commanding officer of any post or detachment, in which there shall not be a number of officers adequate to form a general court martial, shall, in cases which require the cognizance of such a court, report to the commanding officer of the department, who shall order a court to be assembled at the nearest post or detachment, and the party accused, with necessary witnesses, to be transported to the place where the said court shall be assembled.

Sentences of death, to have the concurrence of two-thirds of the members.

Art. 87. No person shall be sentenced to suffer death, but by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of a general court martial, nor except in the cases herein expressly mentioned; *nor shall more than fifty lashes be inflicted on any offender, at the discretion of a court martial, and no officer, non-commissioned officer, or soldier, or follower of the army, shall be tried a second time for the same offence.

No person to be tried a second time for the same offence.

No person to be tried for offence committed more than two years.

Art. 88. No person shall be liable to be tried and punished by a general court martial for any offence which shall appear to have been committed more than two years before the issuing of the order for such trial, unless the person, by reason of having absented himself, or some other manifest impediment, shall not have been amenable to justice within that period.

Officers authorized to order a court martial, may pardon, mitigate, or suspend, its sentences.

Art. 89. Every officer authorized to order a general court martial, shall have power to pardon or mitigate any punishment ordered by such court, except the sentence of death, or of cashiering an officer; which, in the cases where he has authority

(by article 65) to carry them into execution, he may suspend, until the pleasure of the President of the United States can be known; which suspension, together with copies of the proceedings of the court martial, the said officer shall immediately transmit to the President for his determination. And the colonel or commanding officer of the regiment or garrison, where any regimental or garrison court martial shall be held, may pardon or mitigate any punishment ordered by such court to be inflicted.

Art. 90. Every judge advocate, or persons officiating as such, at any general court martial, shall transmit, with as much expedition as the opportunity of time and distance of place can admit, the original proceedings and sentence of such court martial, to the Secretary of War; which said original proceedings and sentence shall be carefully kept and preserved in the office of said Secretary, to the end that the persons entitled thereto may be enabled, upon application to the said office, to obtain copies thereof.

Judge advocates of general courts martial, to transmit proceedings and sentences to the Secretary of War.

The party tried by any general court martial, shall, upon demand thereof, made by himself, or by any person or persons in his behalf, be entitled to a copy of the sentence and proceedings of such court martial.

Party tried, entitled to a copy of the proceedings.

Art. 91. In cases where the general or commanding officer may order a court of inquiry to examine into the nature of any transaction, accusation, or imputation, against any officer or soldier, the said court shall consist of one or more officers, not exceeding three, and a judge advocate, or other suitable person, as a recorder, to reduce the proceedings and evidence to writing, all of whom shall be sworn to the faithful performance of their duty. This court shall have the same power to summon witnesses as a court martial, and to examine them on oath. But they shall not give their opinion on the merits of the case, excepting they shall be thereto specially required. The parties accused shall also be permitted to cross-examine and interrogate the witnesses, so as to investigate fully the circumstances in question.

Courts of inquiry.

Art. 92. The proceedings of a court of inquiry, must be authenticated by the signature of the recorder and the president, and delivered to the commanding officer, and the said proceedings may be admitted as evidence by a court martial, in cases not capital, or extending to the dismissal of an officer, provided that the circumstances are such, that oral testimony cannot be obtained.

Prohibited, unless directed by the President, or demanded by the accused.

But as courts of inquiry may be perverted to dishonorable purposes, and may be considered as engines of destruction to military merit, in the hands of weak and envious commandants, they are hereby prohibited, unless directed by the President of the United States, or demanded by the accused.

Art. 93. The judge advocate, or recorder, shall administer to the members the following oath:

“ You shall well and truly examine and inquire according to your evidence, into the matter now before you, without partiality, favor, affection, prejudice, or hope of reward. So help you God.”

Oath of members of court of inquiry.

After which the president shall administer to the judge advocate, or recorder, the following oath:

“ You, A B, do swear, that you will, according to your best abilities, accurately and impartially record the proceedings of the court, and the evidence to be given in the case in hearing. So help you God.”

Oath of the recorder.

The witnesses shall take the same oath as witnesses sworn before a court martial.

Oath of witness.

Art. 94. When any commissioned officer shall die or be killed in the service of the United States, the major of the regiment, or the officer doing the major's duty in his absence, or in any post or garrison, the second officer in command, or the assistant military agent, shall immediately secure all his effects or equipage, then in camp or quarters, and shall make an inventory thereof, and forthwith transmit the same to the office of the Department of War, to the end, that his executors or administrators may receive the same.

Art. 95. When any non-commissioned officer or soldier shall die or be killed in the service of the United States, the then commanding officer of the troop or company, shall, in the presence of two other commissioned officers, take an account of what effects he died possessed of, above his arms and accoutrements, and transmit the same to the office of the Department of War; which said effects are to be accounted for, and paid to the representatives of such deceased non-commissioned officer or soldier. And in case any of the officers, so authorized to take care of the effects of deceased officers and soldiers, should, before they have accounted to their representatives for the same, have occasion to leave the regiment or post, by preferment, or otherwise, they shall, before they be permitted to quit the same, deposite in the hands of the commanding officer, or of the assistant military agent, all the effects of such deceased non-commissioned officers and soldiers, in order that the same may be secured for, and paid to, their respective representatives.

Art. 96. All officers, conductors, gunners, matrosses, drivers, or other persons whatsoever, receiving pay or hire, in the service of the artillery or corps of engineers of the United States, shall be governed by the aforesaid rules and articles, and shall be subject to be tried by courts martial, in like manner with the officers and soldiers of the other troops in the service of the United States.

All persons whatever in the artillery or engineers, subject to these rules and articles.

Art. 97. The officers and soldiers of any troops, whether militia or others, being mustered and in pay of the United States, shall, at all times, and in all places, when joined, or acting in conjunction, with the regular forces of the United States, be governed by these rules and articles of war, and shall be subject to be tried by courts martial, in like manner with the officers and soldiers in the regular forces; save, only, that such courts martial shall be composed entirely of militia officers.

Militia, and others, in pay of the United States, subject to these rules and articles—but to be tried by militia officers.

Art. 98. All officers, serving by commission from the authority of any particular state, shall, on all detachments, courts martial, or other duty, wherein they may be employed in conjunction with the regular forces of the United States, take rank, next after all officers of the like grade in said regular forces, notwithstanding the commissions of such militia or state officers may be elder than the commissions of the officers of the regular forces of the United States.

Militia officers to take rank next after all officers of the same grade in the army.

Art. 99. All crimes, not capital, and all disorders and neglects which officers and soldiers may be guilty of, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, though not mentioned in the President to prescribe the uniform.

Art. 100. The President of the United States shall have power to prescribe the uniform of the army.

These articles to be read every six months.

Art. 101. The foregoing articles are to be read and published once in every six months, to every garrison, regiment, troop, or company, mustered or to be mustered in the service of the United States, and are to be duly observed and obeyed, by all officers and soldiers who are, or shall be, in said service.

Persons, not citizens, lurking as spies.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That in time of war, all persons not citizens of, or owing allegiance to, the United States of America, who shall be found lurking as spies, in or about the fortifications or encampments of the armies of the United States, or any of them, shall suffer death, according to the law and usage of nations, by sentence of a general court martial.

Repealing clause.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the rules and regulations, by which the armies of the United States have heretofore been governed, and the resolves of congress thereunto annexed, and respecting the same, shall henceforth be void and of no effect, except so far as may relate to any transactions under them, prior to the promulgation of this act, at the several posts and garrisons respectively, occupied by any part of the army of the United States. [Approved, April 10, 1806.]

ARMY REGULATIONS,

Revised, conformably to the act of 24th April, 1816.

WAR OFFICE, SEPTEMBER, 1816.

RANK OF REGIMENTS.

1st. The light artillery.

2d. The light dragoons.

3d. The foot artillery.

4th. The infantry.

5th. The riflemen.

} According to the numbers of the regiments respectively.

6th. The volunteers in the service of the United States; and

7th. The militia drafts.

} According to the numbers given to them respectively by the general commanding.

This regulation is confined to parades. On all other occasions, regiments will be drawn up in the way which shall be directed by the general, or other commanding officer.

RANK OF OFFICERS.

In all cases in which command shall not have been specially given, the eldest officer, whether of artillery, infantry, or riflemen, will command.

Where a controversy concerning rank shall arise, from the sameness of date in commissions, it shall be determined by reference to former commissions in the regular service.

Brevet rank gives no command, except on detachments; nor will persons having such rank only, be included in the roster of officers for any duty, other than that performed by detachments, and to which they shall be specially assigned.

Where officers of different regiments of infantry, or other corps, meet as members of the same court martial, brevet rank will be exercised; and the same rule will apply to officers on detachment (conformably to the 61st article of the rules and articles of war) which extends to temporary service only, and not to the regular command of departments, permanent posts, and garrisons; but brevet command may be exercised therein by the assignment of the commanding general, upon special and temporary occasions.

In all cases where officers are retained in service, with lower commissions in the line, than those holden during the late war, former commissions can only be exercised under the foregoing regulation. Commissions in the general staff confer no rank to officers of the line, when they cease to exercise staff duties, by virtue of such commissions.

There is no precedence between staff departments. The officers assigned to these, will take rank from the brevets they hold.

Officers of the regular army, of the same grade with those of the volunteers and militia, have precedence of these, whatever may be the dates of their respective commissions.

Principles governing the decision of rank.

1st. Rank in actual service, when appointed.

2d. Former rank and service in the army, or marine corps, of the United States.

3d. Lottery—among such as have not before been in the military service of the United States.

When controversies arise, on the interpretation and application of the rules and regulations for the government of the army, in relation to rank, the commanding officer of the division or department where such controversy may occur, is authorized and directed to institute a court of inquiry, or board of officers, whose duty it shall be to examine and report opinions on the cases respectively coming before them; which opinions will be transmitted to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, for the approval of the War Department.

RULES WITH REGARD TO PROMOTION AND TRANSFER.

1. Original vacancies will be supplied by selection; accidental vacancies by seniority, excepting in extraordinary cases.

2. Promotions to the rank of captain, will be made regimentally; to that of field appointments, by line; the light artillery, artillery, infantry, and riflemen, being kept always distinct.

3. No officer will be entitled to the pay, rations, or emoluments annexed to any office, until he shall have notice of his appointment thereto from the War Department; or from a general officer, with respect to appointments in the gift of generals.

When an officer is officially advised of promotion, he may receive the difference of pay and emoluments from the date of his promotion.

The transfer of officers will only be made by the War Department, in general orders, on the mutual application of officers, and in no case will an officer of any regiment or corps be put into another, where the transfer would prejudice the rank of any officer in such regiment or corps.

RANK BETWEEN ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS.

Commodores of squadrons, being captains,	Brigadier generals.
Captains,	Colonels.
Masters commandants,	Majors.
Lieutenants,	Captains.

The rank and precedence of sea officers, as above stated, will take place according to the seniority of their respective commissions. Captains, not having an actual command as commodores, will rank only as colonels; and if commanding a vessel of inferior class than that to which they are by law entitled, will rank only as majors, unless the combined force, under the command of any such captain, shall equal that to which a captain in the navy is entitled, in which case he shall rank as a colonel.

This arrangement is not to give any pretence to land officers to command any part of the naval force of the United States, nor to sea officers to command any part of the army of the United States; nor shall either have a right to demand the compliments due to their respective rank. Commodores of the flotilla service will have the rank of colonels only.

COMPLIMENTS TO BE PAID BY THE TROOPS.

The highest military honors are payable to the President and Vice President of the United States, whether in uniform or not.

To the Secretary of War, to major generals commanding districts, or corps of the army, and to governors of states, when in uniform, the same honors will be paid, with this exception, that to them the standards of the cavalry will not be dropped in saluting.

All other major generals are entitled to three ruffles of the drum, with presented arms, and to the dropping of all colors other than the standards.

Brigadier generals commanding districts, or corps of the army, are entitled to the honors payable to major generals not commanding in chief.

All other brigadiers are entitled to two ruffles of the drum and presented arms.

To colonels, the guards of their own regiments turn out and present their arms, once a day; after which, they only turn out with ordered arms.

To lieutenant colonels and majors, their own guards turn out with ordered arms, once a day.

When a lieutenant colonel or major shall command a regiment, their own quarter guards pay them the compliments due to a colonel.

When a general, or other officer, entitled to a salute, shall pass in the rear of a guard, it will not face about, but stand with shouldered arms.

When a general, or other officer, entitled to a salute, shall pass guards while in the act of relieving, both guards will salute, taking the word of command from the senior officer of the two.

Military compliments are to be paid to officers of the navy, when in uniform, agreeably to their relative rank.

All guards are to be under arms when an armed party approaches their posts, and to parties commanded by a commissioned officer, they will present arms and beat a march, and the officers will salute.

The colors of a regiment, passing any guard, will be saluted, the drums of the regiment saluting in turn.

When two regiments meet on a march, the regiment of inferior rank will halt, form, and salute the other, which proceeds on its march, with swords drawn, bayonets fixed, trumpets sounding, drums beating, and colors flying, until it shall have cleared the front of the latter regiment.

All regiments, marching with standards or colors, have claim to the compliments of any regiment they may meet on their march, not having standards or colors, without regard to the rank of the particular corps.

SALUTES.

The national salute shall be conformable to the number of states composing the Union.

A national salute shall be fired on a visit to the post from the President of the United States.

Fifteen guns shall be fired on a visit from the Vice President, the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Navy, a major general of the army; and thirteen guns on that of a brigadier general, when commanding a district. No other persons shall be entitled to salutes, and no salutes will be fired to any person, but on his arrival.

No salutes shall be fired to foreign ships or vessels of war, but in return, and in every case their salute shall be returned gun for gun, notice being given.

No salutes shall be fired to public armed vessels of the United States, under the rate of a frigate, and to these only in return, gun for gun, notice being given.

At one o'clock, on the fourth day of July, of each year, a national salute will be fired from all the military posts and forts in the United States. Salutes shall not be fired from guns of higher caliber than twelve pounders.

STAFF OF THE ARMY.

The general orders of the Executive, and the military correspondence of the War Department, relative to details of service, will be through the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office; and all communications connected with army detail, the recruiting service, reports, returns, courts martial, rank of officers, furloughs, discharges, and the redress of grievances, will be made to the Department in the same way.

DUTIES OF ADJUTANTS GENERAL.

These will be divided under the following heads, viz:

Distribution of orders:

Details of service:

Instruction of the troops in the manual exercise, and the evolutions and arrangement of them when brought into action; and

Direction of the military correspondence.

1. Distribution of orders.

The general orders of the day, having been received from the commanding general, the adjutant general, or his assistant, will carry them to the office of distribution, where they will be recorded, in a book kept for that purpose, whence, at an hour which shall have been previously assigned, they will be transcribed by the aids-de-camp of general officers, by the adjutants of all separate corps, by a deputy or assistant deputy quartermaster general, by a surgeon's mate, detailed for that duty by the senior surgeon, and some commissioned officer from each corps of engineers; and when so transcribed, they will be carried, without delay, to the corps to which these officers respectively belong, and be there promulgated, under the orders of the officers commanding the corps, and become to them a rule of conduct.

2. Details of service.

These shall be made agreeably to prescribed rules and the usage of war.

All corps will furnish, according to their strength.....the longest off duty, the first on duty. When it may be found practicable, the troops are to act by companies, battalions, or regiments.

Return detachments will not be excused from duty more than two days.

Seniority of corps, with respect to troops, and priority of rank, with respect to officers, will entitle to precedence for command; subject to deviations under the orders of the commanding general.

In details the following gradations will govern:

1. Reconnoitring parties, and corps of observation.
2. Foraging before the enemy.
3. Detachments and outposts.
4. Guards of trenches.
5. Van guards in approaching an enemy.
6. Rear guards in retiring from an enemy.
7. General courts martial.
8. Guard of the general commanding in chief.
9. Camp or garrison guards
10. Other guards mounted from the grand parade.
11. Guards of general officers and the staff, according to rank.
12. Pickets.
13. General fatigues.
14. Police.

In the routine of duty, the law of detail will always give it to the officer longest off duty, and when two have been credited with the same grade of service, on the same day, reference to the former tour on the roster, will determine the detail.

Should a tour of service of higher grade occur to an officer, while on any subordinate duty, he shall be relieved, and the tour on which he is, be passed to his credit.

If an officer's tour for general court martial, picket, or fatigue occur, while he is on any other duty from the grand parade, he shall not be relieved, but stand for the next tour.

3. Instruction of the troops.

This shall be governed by circumstances, as to time, place, and frequency; of which the commanding general will judge. The mode of infantry discipline, adopted by regulation of the War Department will be observed.

4. Military Correspondence.

Reports of services performed, and demands for courts of inquiry, or courts martial, will be made through the adjutant general of division or department. All returns, intended to exhibit the strength of corps, made agreeably to the 19th article of war, and accounting for the absent non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates; reports of the hospital and of the quartermaster's departments; and of ordnance and of ordnance stores, attached to the army, will also be addressed to the adjutant general of division, of which he will make out a general return, agreeably to the forms prescribed, to be transmitted monthly to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, for the information of the War Department. These returns will exhibit regiments and detachments of regiments and corps, separately; by number, if regiments, and by name, if corps, and also the strength of each post and garrison within the division.

Returns of ordnance and ordnance stores, will be made agreeably to forms furnished by the colonel of ordnance.

Departures from forms, and inattention to regulations, will be regarded and punished as acts of positive disobedience.

The original proceedings of all general courts martial, ordered by the War Department, will be transmitted to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, by the judge advocate of the court. Whenever a court martial is appointed by a general or other officer commanding an army or district, the judge advocate will lay before the officer ordering the same, the whole proceedings of the court; and it is made the duty of the adjutant general, or officer doing that duty, to transmit all such original proceedings to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, as soon as practicable, with a copy of the order of confirmation or disapproval. On application (for that purpose,) a suitable non-commissioned officer or private will be detailed as a clerk to the judge advocate of any general court martial.

DUTIES OF INSPECTORS GENERAL,

These will be divided under the following heads, viz:

Mustering and inspecting troops of the line, and militia detachments serving with them.

Selecting places of encampment, and posting guards.

Superintending the police of the camp, and of the march.

Inspecting parades; and Making half-yearly confidential reports to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, for the information of the War Department, of the state of the army, division, or detachment, to which they belong.

1. Mustering and inspecting the troops of the line, and militia detachments.

Troops of all descriptions shall be mustered once in two months, for payment, nor shall any payment be made but upon muster-rolls, signed by an inspector general, or his assistant, or in the absence of these, by some officer of the army of the United States, especially assigned to this duty by the general or other officer, commanding the department in which the said troops, so mustered, shall be.

Two muster rolls of each company, or detachment of a company, are to be furnished to the paymaster; and none except the semi-annual muster rolls, to be made on the 30th of June, and 31st of December, in each year, showing all casualties which have occurred within the time for which the muster is made, will be forwarded to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office.

An officer of each regiment, station, garrison, or post, will be designated in department orders, to muster the men, and sign the rolls at the regular periods, when no inspector is present for that purpose. A copy of the order, designating the time for such musters, will be furnished to the regimental and battalion paymasters, assigned to pay the troops.

Whenever a muster shall be made of any company, or detachment of a company, of the regular army, for the purpose of pay (which musters are directed to take place every two months, and which shall show the place and date of muster) an inspection will at the same time be made of such company or detachment, and a return, agreeably to the form prescribed, will be transmitted, to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office.

Inspections of the troops are of two kinds—stated and occasional. The former shall take place monthly, and (when practicable) on the last day of each month; the latter as often as the general, or other officer, commanding the department may think proper. The general object of both, shall be, to ascertain the exact state of the arms, equipments, and clothing, and of every other circumstance tending to show the actual condition of the troops so inspected.

All horses belonging to the public, will also be subjects of inspection; those unfit for service, will be branded in the presence of the inspecting officer, with the letter C, and immediately transferred to the quartermaster general's department, for public sale; nor shall any horse, so branded, be thereafter accepted by any inspecting officer. Returns of cast horses will be made quarterly.

2. Superintending the police of the camp and of the march.

It will be the duty of this department, to designate all guards for the security and good order of the camp; to take charge of all prisoners made by these, or otherwise; to examine and report the several cases to the commanding general; and to take his orders in relation to their future disposal; to inspect the state of tents, barracks, and hospitals; to punish any want of care or cleanliness therein; to regulate all sutlers and markets, within any camp, cantonment, or garrison; and to inspect and enforce the order of march, and to punish all infractions of it.

3. Inspecting parades.

The troops detailed from each regiment, for the service of the day, will be brought to the parade ground of the brigade, under the command of the senior officer present, and on duty; these detachments will there be embodied and marched to the ground of division parade, accompanied by the adjutant of the day, under command of the senior officer; the whole will then be marched as aforesaid, to the ground of general parade, where they will be received by an inspector, or assistant inspector general, reviewed and detached for the service of the day.

4. Selecting places for encampment, and posting guards.

This duty shall be performed under the directions of the commanding general; and the inspector, in performing it, shall call to his aid an officer from each corps of engineers.

5. Making half-yearly confidential reports for the War Department.

These reports will relate to the conduct of corps, and to that of individuals composing them. They shall be submitted to the general of division, and shall receive from him his remarks, in writing, before they are transmitted to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office. They shall specify—

- 1st. The progress made by each corps or regiment in military discipline, in general, and particularly, in a knowledge of the evolutions prescribed for the practice of the troops; in habits of obedience, and of attention to personal appearance, adhering to the prescribed uniform, and to the rules of interior economy.
- 2d. Whether the field and company officers respectively know their duty, and are able and willing to perform it? whether the subalterns are severally sober, active, and industrious, careful to acquire knowledge, and to communicate it to the non-commissioned officers and privates? whether the adjutant, quartermaster, and paymaster, are competent to the duties assigned to them? whether the regimental books are kept with accuracy and regularity? and whether the non-commissioned officers perform their duty with promptitude and effect?

3d. Whether the meat and bread furnished by contract, are of good quality? and whether these and other articles, composing the ration, are regularly issued?

4th. Whether the forage be good, and of sufficient quantity?

5th. Whether the hospital supplies and regulations be sufficient, and regularly dispensed, in the one case, and observed in the other?

6th. Whether there has been any irregularity in the proceedings of courts martial, or in the execution of sentences pronounced by them? and

7th. The state of the ordnance and ordnance stores generally; whether the quantity of ammunition in store is sufficient, and well secured, and whether the ordnance department, the arms and equipments are in proper order?

On each of these heads there will be a special report, and in what may be said on the second, all possible frankness is expected. One motive the more to this, will be found in the solemn declaration of the government; that, while it shall be its invariable practice to distinguish and to reward merit, of every description, and in every grade, all pretensions, not having that foundation, however propped and patronised by names, will be utterly disregarded.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS.

The functions of the engineers being generally confined to the most elevated branch of military science, they are not to assume, nor are they subject to be ordered on any duty beyond the line of their immediate profession, except by special authority through the War Department; and when so arranged, to other duties, either on detachment or otherwise, they will have precedence according to their commissions; which, at all times, entitle them to every mark of military respect.

Whenever an officer of engineers is sent to any military department, fortress, garrison, or post, a duplicate of his orders will be sent to the commanding officer, by the Adjutant and Inspector General, when the order is given by the War Department, and by the chief of engineers when the order is given by, or through him. On his arrival, the engineer shall communicate his orders, and will receive the necessary facilities for the accomplishment of the same, from the commanding officer. While so on duty, without being specially put under the direction of the commanding officer, the senior engineer present will be furnished with copies of all orders and regulations of the command, relative to etiquette and police, and will be regularly served with the countersign of the post, or garrison, when quartered within the chain of sentinels. When leaving the limits of the department, or command, under orders, the engineer will report the same to the commandant.

DUTIES OF TOPOGRAPHICAL ENGINEERS.

To make such surveys, and exhibit such delineation of these, as the commanding general shall direct; to make plans of all military positions, (which the army may occupy,) and of their respective vicinities, indicating the various roads, rivers, creeks, ravines, hills, woods, and villages, to be found therein; to accompany all reconnoitring parties, sent out to obtain intelligence of the movements of the enemy, or of his positions, &c. to make sketches of their route, accompanied by written notices of every thing worthy of observation thereon; to keep a journal of every day's movement, when the army is in march, noticing the varieties of ground, of buildings, of culture, and the distances and state of the roads, between given points, throughout the march of the day; and, lastly, to exhibit the relative positions of the contending armies, on fields of battle, and the dispositions made, whether for attack or defence.

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

It shall be the duty of this department to provide—

1. For the quartering and transporting of troops.
2. For transporting all military stores, camp equipage, and artillery.
3. For opening and repairing roads, and constructing and repairing bridges, which may be necessary to the movement of the army, or of any detachment thereof.

4. It shall be the further duty of this department to receive from the departments of purchase and of ordnance, all clothing, camp equipage, arms, ammunition, and ordnance; to transport the same to the place of destination, and there to make distribution thereof, agreeably to the direction given to the articles by the commissary general of purchases, and to the orders of the general commanding the district to which they are destined.

Quartermasters, in the intermediate districts, between the places of receipt and delivery, will be held responsible for the safe and prompt transportation of all articles through their respective districts.

Articles for conveyance by this department, shall be transported in bulk, as much as possible, and with each quantity of stores conveyed, the quartermaster at the post from which it is sent shall furnish a conductor, who shall have charge of it, and for whose conduct, in the safe keeping and delivery thereof, the quartermaster shall be responsible.

5. It shall be the duty of the department to provide all forage and fuel for the use of the troops, and have the same transported and issued agreeably to regulations

6. To provide good and sufficient storehouses, for provisions deposited under contract, between individuals and the government, and to appoint storekeepers (for the custody of the said provisions, or other articles, the property of the public, which may be placed there) who shall give security for their safe keeping and delivery, under the orders of the commanding general of the district, or of the quartermaster general; and to find means of transporting the same, when so required by the engagements of the government.

7. To make returns, half-yearly, to the Secretary of War, of all horses and draft oxen, or horses and oxen on hire, in public service, showing their number, employment, and condition; and a similar return of all other articles, the property of the public, of which the department may be possessed.

8. To make and transmit to the Secretary of War, monthly summary statements of the accounts of the department, and quarterly accounts thereof, agreeably to the forms which shall be prescribed, to the accountant of the War Department, and the superintendent of military supplies.

9. All moneys drawn for the use of the department, within any military district; shall be drawn and accounted for by the senior officer of the department within such district.

No purchases, on public account, will be made by the quartermaster's department, but of the following articles:

1st. Of forage.

2d. Of fuel.

3d. Straw for soldiers' bedding.

4th. Articles of stationery.

5th. Dragoon and artillery horses; and horses, oxen, wagons, and carts, for the transportation of baggage; boats for the same; and

6th. Boards, planks, nails, and other materials, for constructing and repairing barracks, hospitals, and bridges.

In all cases in which gun carriages and artillery wagons may want repair, in the field, the senior officer of artillery is to see the necessary repairs done, and for the expense of these, will make his draft on the quartermaster general's department.

When any building, occupied by troops as a barrack, shall have been left by them in a filthy state, or shall have suffered injury by them, the quartermaster of the post or of the party succeeding to them, shall, in the one case, have the quarters cleansed, and in the other, repaired; and the expense of so doing, shall be deducted from the pay of the officers commanding the party which immediately preceded in the occupation of the buildings so cleansed and repaired; where this shall not have been done, the last occupier shall be considered responsible. Where private lands and buildings are occupied by the troops of the United States, a reasonable compensation shall be made to the proprietor by the quartermaster of the district or post: and when the rate of compensation cannot be satisfactorily agreed on, discreet and disinterested persons shall be appointed, by the quartermaster and proprietor, to appraise the rent, which will be settled by the quartermaster, and the damage repaired, as before provided.

“ Every officer of the army, whose duty requires him to be on horseback, in time of action, and whose horse shall be killed in battle, shall be allowed a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, on making satisfactory proof of the loss and value of the horse so killed; the proof required shall be by affidavit of the quartermaster of the corps to which the owner may belong, or of two other credible witnesses.”

The quartermaster's department will adjust and settle all claims conformably to the above provisions.

Annual estimates.

It shall be the duty of this department, to make out and transmit to the War Department, on or before the first day of November, in each year, annual estimates of the forage, fuel, straw for bedding, articles of stationery, dragoon and artillery horses, oxen, wagons, and carts, for transportation of baggage, &c. and of all other articles, the furnishing of which appertains to the said department.

Regulations which will govern in the allowance of quarters, fuel, forage, servants, stationery, and the transportation of baggage to officers, and fuel and bedding to troops.

1. Of quarters and fuel.

Quarters.	Monthly allowance of wood to officers.
	From May 1, to Oct. 31	From Nov 1 to April 30.
	Cords.	Cords.
To a major general, three rooms and a kitchen - - - - -	1	6
To a brigadier general, two rooms and a kitchen - - - - -	1	4½
To a colonel and every other officer, having the rank of field officer, one room and a kitchen - - -	1	3
To each captain, judge advocate, chaplain, hospital surgeon, regimental surgeon, post surgeon, regimental and battalion paymaster, and to two hospital surgeons' mates, or two regimental surgeons' mates, one room - - - - -	½	1½
To the commanding officer of a department or separate post, and to the principal officer of each branch of the division staff, one room as an office - - - - -		2
For all other commissioned officers, one room to every two officers - -	½	1½
To each mess of six or more officers, one room as a kitchen - - - -	½	1
At posts where there are less than six officers, fuel for a kitchen shall be allowed.

The senior officer shall, in every instance, have the choice of quarters.

At all posts, garrisons, or cantonments, north of the 40th degree of latitude, the allowance of fuel may be increased one-fourth, during the months of December, January, and February.

No compensation in money to be made for allowances of fuel or of quarters; and no fuel to be drawn but within the month for which it is due.

No fuel furnished for the use of a garrison, post, camp, or cantonment, shall be removed therefrom, but by the quartermaster attached thereto; and any overplus of fuel beyond what has been used, or may be necessary for use, at such post, shall revert to the United States.

Coal may be issued, in proportion to the cost of wood, in lieu thereof.

In requisitions for fuel, officers will state that they are on duty for the time, and at the place, where the fuel is required.

No quarters or fuel will be allowed officers whilst on furlough.

2. Of forage.

To all horses in actual service, there shall be allowed fourteen pounds of hay, and twelve quarts of oats, or in lieu of oats, eight quarts of corn, per diem.

Officers will be allowed to draw forage in kind, when on actual service, in the field, where their duties require them to be mounted, for the number of horses they actually keep in service, not exceeding the following rates:

Major generals, seven.

Brigadier generals, five.

Colonels, four.

Lieutenant colonels and majors, three.

All other officers, entitled by law to receive money in lieu of forage, when the same shall be drawn in kind, two each; but forage will not be drawn in kind by officers stationed at any permanent garrison or fort.

3. Of servants.

Officers will be entitled to private waiters, as follows, viz:

Major generals, four.

Brigadier generals, three.

Colonels, lieutenants colonels, majors, and hospital surgeons, two.

All other commissioned officers, one each, except company officers, while serving with their company, when they will be allowed only a soldier of the line, each, as a waiter.

The pay account of the officer, must set forth the name and description of each private servant charged, on which the officer will certify that he was actually kept and employed in service accordingly.

4. Of stationery.

To a major general, or other officer, commanding a division or department, so much stationery as may be necessary for the discharge of his public duties.

To every other general officer, or officer commanding brigade, twenty four quires of paper per annum.

To a colonel, or other officer, commanding a regiment, or battalion for the use of the regiment or battalion, eighteen quires per annum, and a blank book of three quires.

For the use of every company, whether in garrison or otherwise, twelve quires per annum, and a blank book of three quires.

For the use of every permanent hospital, twelve quires per annum, and a blank book of three quires.

For the use of every other commissioned officer in the army of the United States, three quires per annum.

A proportion of other stationery, at the rate of 25 quills, as many wafers, and a paper of ink powder, to each six quires.

5. Of transportation.

When officers are ordered to distant commands, the following rates are to govern, in the allowance made to them for the transportation of their baggage, at two dollars per hundred pounds per hundred miles.

To a Major general, - - - -	1,250 lbs.
Brigadier general, - - - -	1,000 ditto.
Colonel, - - - -	750 ditto.
Lieutenant colonel, - - - -	600 ditto.
Major, - - - -	500 ditto.
Hospital surgeon, - - - -	750 ditto.
Captain, - - - -	400 ditto.
Surgeon, - - - -	400 ditto.
Subaltern, - - - -	300 ditto.
Surgeon's mate, - - - -	300 ditto.
Cadet, - - - -	200 ditto.

The most direct post route will determine the distance, for the amount of transportation, whether performed by land or water.

To every officer, ordered on general courts martial, temporary commands, or on other duties, where there is a direct stage route, there will be allowed, if he so elect, in lieu of the transportation of his baggage, his stage hire: no delay being admitted on the road. Receipts from the stage offices, or certificates, on honor, of the performance of the duty, will be required.

No allowance for transportation of baggage, to officers fulfilling the first order after appointment.

Officers, prisoners of war, are allowed for transportation of baggage, from the places where they are paroled, to their respective homes, unless transportation is provided by the enemy, or the government.

A two horse wagon shall be allowed to each regimental hospital, in which shall be conveyed a medicine chest of 200 or 300 weight, and three other chests, under lock and key, for blankets and bed sacks, cooking utensils, and hospital stores.

Each company or a detachment of seventy-eight men, shall be allowed one four horse wagon and team, or two, two horse wagons and teams, for the conveyance of baggage and camp equipage, consisting of one common tent, one iron kettle, and two tin pans, for every six men, to include the baggage of company officers when marching with their company.

6. Of fuel and straw for non-commissioned officers and privates.

Every six non-commissioned officers and privates will be allowed a half cord of wood per month, from the 1st of May to the 31st of October, and one cord per month, from 1st November to 30th April, of each year. This allowance to be increased in the same proportion, and under the same restrictions, as that of commissioned officers.

The allowance of wood for the quarters of the sick, will be regulated by the commanding officer and surgeon.

One truss of straw weighing thirty-six pounds, is allowed for every two men.

At the expiration of sixteen days, each truss is to be refreshed with eight pounds. At the expiration of thirty-two days, the whole straw is to be removed, and a fresh bedding of one truss to be furnished; and so on every succeeding period of sixteen and thirty-two days.

The same quantity of straw is allowed for servants, or batmen, not soldiers, or for washerwomen, in the proportion of one woman to every seventeen men.

The straw is to be changed for the sick in hospital as often as may be deemed necessary by the senior surgeon.

Requisitions for fuel or straw, must state the number of non-commissioned officers, privates, servants, batmen, and washerwomen, for whom it may be demanded, and certified by the commandant of the regiment, garrison, or recruiting rendezvous.

PURCHASING DEPARTMENT.

The commissary general of this department, and his deputies, will purchase, upon the orders and estimates of the War Department, all clothing, dragoon saddles and bridles, tents, tent poles, camp kettles, mess pans, bed sacks, medicines, surgical instruments, hospital stores, and all other articles required for the public service of the army of the United States; excepting, only, such as are directed to be purchased by the ordnance and quartermaster general's departments.

The articles so purchased as aforesaid, shall (such as may require it) be carefully packed, and all be delivered over by the commissary general, or by his deputies, to an officer of the quartermaster general's department, for transportation to the places of their destination and use; and all parcels, so packed, shall be legibly marked with the name of the place or places whither they are to be sent, and that of the detachment or corps for which they are intended, accompanied by an invoice of the articles contained in the said parcels.

The commissary general of purchases, and his deputies, shall severally make and transmit summary statements, to the Secretary of War, and quarterly accounts of the purchases and deliveries, made by them, respectively, to the accountant of the War Department, and the superintendent general of military supplies, with the necessary vouchers, and agreeably to the forms which shall be prescribed.

Deputy purchasing commissaries shall not, unless specially ordered by the commissary general, or by the War Department, make any issues of clothing to regiments or parts of regiments.

The clothing department is subject only to the orders of the War Department, and the commissary general of purchases. Requisitions of paymasters not being considered in the nature of orders, are not affected by these regulations.

To enable the War Department to furnish the orders and estimates, as provided by the foregoing regulation, the commanding officer of each regiment or battalion shall make and transmit, on or before the 1st day of November, in each year, to the commissary general of purchases, an estimate of all such clothing, and camp epuipage, as may be necessary for the supply of the regiment or corps for the ensuing year; with a return of the articles on hand, and a report of the condition in which they are.

On these the commissary general will make out his annual estimates for the War Department.

PAY AND CLOTHING OF THE TROOPS.

The value of the annually estimated quantity of clothing, conformably to the act of April 24, 1816, which will be published to the army at the beginning of every year, in general orders, will be added to the soldier's pay, from which his clothing will be deducted at the cost of each article.

At each muster and inspection for payment, which shall be regularly every two months, it shall be the duty of the inspector to ascertain and report, on the roll of each company or detachment, for the guide of the paymaster, what clothing is required for each man.

The articles of clothing shall be distinctly stated on the muster roll, opposite to the name of each man, in the hand writing, and signed by the inspector.

If the paymaster is not present at each regular muster and inspection, to pay the men, the muster roll will be left with the commanding officer of the company, or detachment of a company, who will have charge of the clothing on hand, for which he will be accountable to the paymaster, and will issue the articles required for each, by the inspector, taking the receipt of the soldiers, and the paymaster shall deduct the amount from the pay.

Regimental and battalion paymasters shall alone have authority to make requisitions for clothing.

In each department there shall be a depot of clothing in charge of an issuing commissary, or storekeeper appointed by the commissary general, from whom clothing shall be drawn by requisitions of the several paymasters, in favor of the commanding officers of companies, who are responsible to the paymasters for the same; and the clothing shall be charged to the paymaster, supported by his orders, and the receipts of the commanding officers of companies.

The account of clothing, kept by the issuing commissary or storekeeper, shall specify the cost of the same, according to the annually estimated value, and shall be immediately sent, with the vouchers, to the superintendent general of military supplies, and a copy of the account, unaccompanied by the requisition and receipt, shall, at the same time, be sent to the accountant of the War Department, through the paymaster general, to correct the estimates.

The regimental and battalion paymasters will be charged with the amount of clothing, so drawn, in the books of the accountant's office, and on the official report of the superintendent general of military supplies. The sale of the clothing to the soldiers, and the articles on hand, will always balance these accounts against the paymasters.

Regimental and battalion paymasters, in addition to the regular and punctual payment of regiments and corps, are to be considered distinct paymasters, and make individual, and such other payments as may be regularly required of them within their departments.

To ensure punctuality and responsibility, correct reports shall be made to the paymaster general, once in two months, showing the disposition of the funds previously transmitted, with accurate estimates, for the next payment of such regiment, garrison, or department, as may have been assigned to each; and shall, at the same time, render his accounts and vouchers of the last payment to the accountant of the War Department, through the paymaster general.

If the statements of expenditures, thus made, are found correct, and the estimates are approved and signed by the paymaster general, funds will be transmitted for the next payment.

Whenever paymasters shall fail to transmit estimates, and render their vouchers to the accountant through the paymaster general, for settlement, the provisions of the law will be enforced, and the army relieved from such embarrassment.

Generals commanding divisions, officers commanding military departments, and all officers while in the actual command of permanent posts and garrisons, separate from the stations of commandants of departments, which subject them to the additional expense of independent commands, are allowed double rations.

The pay account in which such charge is made, must be supported by the officer's certificate, stating the post or garrison, and that he was actually commanding during the time charged.

No regimental or battalion paymaster will make payment of any supposed arrears of pay, or bounty, to soldiers discharged by the civil authority.

The times for regular musters and inspections of troops at the several posts, and hospitals and infirmaries, will be communicated to the paymasters assigned to pay the same, by the commandants of departments; when this is distinctly known, there can be no excuse for neglect in the paymasters; and all deficiencies will be promptly reported to the Office of the Adjutant and Inspector General.

No paymaster will issue due bills for the pay of the troops, nor take receipts where payment has not actually been made; and if any paymaster or other officer shall, either directly or indirectly, be accessory to the purchase of any non-commissioned officer's musician's, or private's certificate, or evidence of pay due, such certificate, receipt, or evidence of pay, will not be received as a voucher in settling pay accounts at the accountant's office; and on proof of the fact, such officer shall be dismissed the service.

Regimental and battalion paymasters will regularly pay all stewards, wardmasters, nurses, attendants, and patients, on the proper musters and inspections for that purpose, at the established hospitals and infirmaries within the districts or departments assigned them.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT.

The duties of the officers of the ordnance department will consist in providing, distributing, and preserving, the various articles coming under the denomination of ordnance and ordnance stores, and in supplying the troops, posts, and garrisons, conformably to the regulations, and according to the exigencies, of the service.

Under the general denomination of ordnance and ordnance stores, will be comprehended:—

1. Cannon, howitzers, and mortars, for the land service, gun carriages, and their equipments, caissons, travelling forges, pontoons, and their carriages, and all machines and apparatus, destined to the service and manœuvres of artillery in garrison and in the field, together with the materials for their construction and repairs.
2. Small arms and accoutrements for the artillery, cavalry, infantry, and riflemen.
3. Ammunition for cannon and small arms, and all stores of expenditure, for the service of the artillery.
4. Materials, utensils, and stores, for the laboratories
5. Intrenching and miner's tools, armorers' tools, and artificers' tools, of every description, required for the use of the army.

Ordnance stores may be provided by purchase, fabrication, or contract, as may be judged most advantageous to the public service; but no contracts can be considered valid, except such as shall be made by the chief of the ordnance department, under the direction of the Secretary of War.

The artillery for field service will be distributed into divisions and subdivisions.

Each company of the corps of artillery, serving in the field, having attached to it six pieces of ordnance, and the proper allotment of stores, will constitute a division of artillery.

The six pieces of ordnance allotted to a division, shall consist either of four pieces of cannon of the same caliber, and two howitzers, or of six pieces of cannon, all of the same caliber.

A subdivision of artillery will consist either of two pieces of cannon of the same caliber, or two howitzers.

To ensure greater simplicity and uniformity, in future, in the calibers, and patterns of cannon, &c. the cannon, howitzers, and mortars, to be provided hereafter for the land service, will be as follows:

For the field—

Cannon	{	Light 6 pounders,
		Ditto 12 ditto
		Medium 18 ditto
Howitzers	{	24 pounders,
		8 inch.

For sieges (including, also, field pieces of the foregoing descriptions:)

Cannon	heavy 24 pounders,
Mortars	{
	8 inch,
	10 do
	13 do

For the fixed batteries on the seaboard and forts in the interior, (including also field pieces of the foregoing descriptions.)

Cannon	heavy 24 pounders,
Mortars	{
	10 inch,
	13 inch.

All ordnance to be provided hereafter of any of the natures and calibers above expressed, are to be invariably of the same pattern; and it will be the duty of the ordnance department to adopt proper measures for ensuring uniformity in the ordnance hereafter, by gradually abolishing and replacing the guns of other calibers than the foregoing, which have been introduced into the service, as well as guns of patterns different from those which have, or may be established, so as eventually to bring all the guns of any one caliber to a uniform pattern.

Whenever guns of a larger caliber than 24 pounders shall be demanded for the fixed batteries on the seaboard, or the forts in the interior, it shall be the duty of the ordnance department to provide cannon of such calibers and patterns as may be eventually established for the naval service.

To guard against the embezzlement of ordnance stores, the articles shall, as far as practicable, be distinctly and permanently marked, previously to their being sent from the arsenals, so as to identify them, as being the public property of the United States.

Whenever any person, in the military service of the United States shall fraudulently sell, or otherwise dispose of any arms, ammunition, or other ordnance stores, or convert the same to his own use, or deface their marks, for the purpose of concealing them, or wilfully waste and destroy them unnecessarily, it shall be the duty of any military officer, to whom the facts shall be known, or credibly reported, to communicate the circumstances to the ordnance office, at the seat of government.

Whenever a commissioned officer shall receive from any arsenal or depot, or otherwise obtain, or be possessed of, any swords, pistols, rifles, or other small arms or accoutrements, the property of the United States, for his personal use and service, it shall be the duty of the ordnance department (credible evidence thereof appearing) to charge against such officer the value of such arms, at the contract, or other just price of the same, and shall transmit to the office of the paymaster general a copy of such charge, to the intent the amount may be stopped from the pay of such officer.

When it shall become necessary, or expedient, to sell any arms, timber, gunpowder, or other ordnance stores, whether on account of their being damaged or the inconvenience of their removal, or from any other valid reason, it shall be the duty of the officer in command, or having charge of the same, to cause a survey to be taken by two or more commissioned officers, one of whom to be of the ordnance department, if convenient, or by two or more respectable inhabitants, in the absence of officers, who shall make an accurate account and schedule of the articles proposed to be sold, and report their state and condition, together with their own opinion of the expediency of their being sold, with their reasons therefor, pro or con, which survey and opinion shall be transmitted to the ordnance office, at the seat of government, whereupon an order may be sent to dispose of such stores, it being understood that the sales in such cases shall be made at public vendue, with suitable previous notice, unless otherwise expressly directed. The marks in such cases must be cancelled or obliterated, previously to the sale.

In time of peace no ordnance or ordnance stores, in the charge or custody of an officer, storekeeper, clerk, or agent, of the ordnance department, shall be delivered from an arsenal or depot, except by virtue of a direct authority from the ordnance office, at the seat of government—cases of extreme danger or necessity being alone excepted.

Any general officer who may require authority in time of peace to call, at his discretion, for arms, artillery, ammunition, and other ordnance stores, from the arsenals and depots within the extent of his command, will make application for that purpose to the Secretary of War, who will, if it be judged expedient, direct the ordnance office to give to such general officer an unlimited control over the arms, artillery, ammunition, and other ordnance stores, at the several arsenals and depots within the extent of his command.

All requisitions for artillery, ammunition, and other ordnance stores, for the use of any post, garrison, or corps, of troops in time of peace, shall be regularly transmitted to the general officer within whose immediate command such post, garrison, or corps may be situated, who will sanction, countermand, or modify such requisition, at his discretion, and after due examination, will transmit the same to the ordnance office, at the seat of government, from whence the necessary order will be sent for the supply of the articles embraced by such requisition: However, in case there may be danger of great loss of time, or other manifest inconvenience in transmitting the requisitions through the general officer immediately in command, it will be permitted to send the requisitions directly to the ordnance office, duplicates thereof being, at the same time, forwarded to the general, for his examination and sanction.

Any general officer may change the route or destination of any ordnance or ordnance stores, issued on his own requisition, or on that of any officer under his command; in other cases, no general or other officer will be permitted to vary the route, or divert the whole or any part of a convoy of ordnance stores from the destination given to it by the ordnance department,—cases of extreme danger and necessity being alone excepted.

Requisitions for arms and accoutrements for recruits, must be made by the officer superintending the recruiting service, and will distinctly express the regiment, or the particular battalion of the corps of artillery to which the recruits belong. The officer requiring the arms and accoutrements will give a receipt on the delivery; and such arms and accoutrements will be charged, on the books of the ordnance office, to the proper regiment or battalion, to the end that distinct and separate accounts may be kept with the several regiments and battalions.

When several companies of artillery shall be assembled permanently in garrison, the officer highest in rank among the conductors of artillery, shall have the special charge and custody of the ordnance and ordnance stores, and shall keep the accounts of their expenditure. He will be aided in that duty by the other conductors of artillery. The quarterly returns of ordnance and ordnance stores, for the garrison, will be prepared under his direction, and be signed and transmitted by him.

It is to be understood, the charge and custody of all ordnance and ordnance stores, (except small arms and accoutrements,) and the task of preserving and accounting for the same while in actual use and service belongs to the officers of artillery, and the conductors of artillery; and such charge and accountability will not cease, until such ordnance and ordnance stores shall have been regularly returned to the arsenals or depots, or shall have been regularly delivered over to an ordnance officer, acting with an army in the field, and stationed in charge of the main depot of the artillery of reserve belonging to such army.

At posts and garrisons where no regular conductor of artillery shall be serving, nor can be obtained without great loss of time, or manifest inconvenience, the commanding officer, if he shall judge it to be necessary, for the good of the service, may select and recommend a suitable person, not belonging to the army, to serve as an ordnance storekeeper, whose duties shall be similar to those of a conductor of artillery in garrison. To ensure dispatch and regularity, the recommendations may be transmitted, in the first instance, to the ordnance office, at the seat of government. Should such recommendation and selection meet the approbation of the Secretary of War, and the person so recommended be appointed as a storekeeper, he will be considered entitled to the pay and emoluments of a conductor of artillery, from the period he may have entered upon the duties. Storekeepers, so appointed, will be always considered subordinate to the regular conductors of artillery, and not subject to be removed from the station to which they may have been assigned.

An officer of the ordnance department who may be attached to an army in the field, shall be stationed at, and have the principal charge and direction of, the main depot of ordnance and ordnance stores, for the supply of such army. Orders and requisitions for ordnance and ordnance stores, shall regularly be transmitted to him, through the commanding general, or the senior officer of artillery, acting with such army: with the latter, the officer of the ordnance department, having charge of the depot, will constantly correspond, so as to ascertain the actual and probable wants of the army, relative to his department, and be prepared to furnish all supplies at the shortest notice. He will also correspond with the ordnance officer, and with the officers of that department, at the nearest arsenals and laboratories, so as to anticipate, if possible, and provide for all the wants of the army in his department. He will, at the depot, cause the gun carriages to be put in order and repaired, the cannon to be remounted, the ammunition to be provided and prepared, the ammunition wagons to be replenished, the damaged arms and accoutrements to be taken care of, and undergo the necessary repairs. For these purposes, he is not only to be furnished with all proper aid by the commanding general, but is to employ any extra aid of artificers, armorers, and laborers, which the service may require.

The general commanding will, from time to time, communicate to him such instructions and information as may be deemed proper, and will indicate the locations and transfers of the depots, which are, on no account, to be changed, except by his orders, or from absolute necessity.

Duties of the Conductors of Artillery.

The conductors of stores attached to the divisions or companies of artillery, aided, when necessary, by a trusty non-commissioned officer of each division, will have charge of, and be accountable for, the ordnance and ordnance stores attached to their respective divisions, in camps, on marches, and in detached posts. The drivers, harness, and horses, of the artillery, will also be under their particular charge.

Besides the ordnance, ammunition, and stores, appropriated to each division of artillery, the senior officer of that corps, in command, with the army, will apportion to the respective divisions, according to his judgment, the spare arms, ammunition, &c. destined for the infantry; also the artificers', intrenching, and miners' tools, the laboratory stores and utensils; the spare gun carriages, equipments, &c. At the periods of such distributions, inventories ought to be taken by the conductors of stores, of every thing attached to their respective divisions.—

Suitable books are to be furnished by the ordnance department to the conductors of stores, to enable them to keep their accounts.

The conductors of stores will issue ammunition and stores of expenditure for their respective divisions, on the orders, written or verbal, of the commanding officers of the respective divisions, or on their own responsibility. No receipts shall be exacted on such issues, but the quantities and kinds of articles delivered, shall be entered in the books of accounts of the conductors of stores, together with the name of the officer ordering the same. Ammunition and stores are not to be delivered by the conductor of one division for the use of another, except by the order of a general officer, or of a field officer of artillery, or the commanding officer of the post. In such cases, besides the proper entries in the books, receipts for the articles shall be passed.

The conductors of stores will receipt to the officers of the ordnance department for all ordnance, ordnance stores, arms, accoutrements, ammunition, &c. received from the arsenals and depots, and keep correct accounts of their expenditure. Quarterly abstracts of these accounts are to be transmitted to the ordnance office, exhibiting the species of articles received, those remaining on hand, and those expended or delivered over.

The conductors of stores will, from time to time, as opportunities may offer, and under the direction of the senior officer of artillery in command, disencumber the divisions of the empty ammunition wagons, carriages needing repairs, damaged arms, &c. and, in general, of all ordnance and ordnance stores which may be deemed unserviceable or superfluous; which are to be sent either to the depot, or an adjacent arsenal, and delivered to an officer of the ordnance department, who will receipt for the same.

The conductors of stores will keep the senior officer of the corps of artillery in command, acquainted with the state of the ordnance and stores of their respective divisions, in order that prompt measures may be taken to obtain from the depot or neighboring arsenals, the requisite supplies.

Musket cartridges and flints, shall be issued by the conductors of stores, on the orders of the commanding officer, or of any general officer; if to regiments, by the requisitions of the colonels or other field officers commanding them; if to detachments, by the requisitions of their commanding officers; if to posts or garrisons, by the requisitions of such persons as may be designated by the orders.

Trenching and artificers' tools, &c. shall be issued by the requisitions of the officers respectively commanding the working parties, to whom tickets shall be furnished, containing lists of the tools delivered; the same tickets to be handed to the relieving officers, and finally, to be returned with the tools on the discharge of the working parties; in case of loss or damage, beyond ordinary wear and tear, it shall be the duty of the conductors of stores to report to the commanding officer, in order that the loss or damage may be made good.

Regulations relative to the distribution of small arms and accoutrements, and the mode in which they are to be accounted for.

Small arms and accoutrements shall, in time of peace, be issued from the arsenals and depots only on the requisitions of the colonels, or other field officers actually commanding the regiments, and the officer superintending the recruiting service, for each regiment, battalion, and corps; which requisitions shall not exceed the effective strength of the regiments respectively, and of the recruits to be raised. The receipts of the colonels, &c. shall be given for the arms, &c. when delivered to an officer of the regiment appointed by him to receive them; which receipts shall be transmitted to the ordnance office, where an account shall be opened with each regiment, for arms, &c. and the commanding officer of the regiment shall be held strictly accountable, during his command, for the arms, &c. charged to the regiment: and shall transmit quarterly returns to the ordnance office, by which he shall strictly account for the arms delivered to the regiment; failing whereof, his name shall be reported to the superintendent general of military supplies for further enquiry. Duplicates of such quarterly returns shall regularly be entered in the regimental book, and a particular inspection and examination be made, in the event of a change of command.

The colonels shall distribute to the captains or subalterns commanding the companies, the arms, &c. received for the use of the regiment, taking their receipts for the same; and shall particularly see that the arms, &c. of each company be strictly accounted for afterwards in the inspection returns.

The captain or subaltern, commanding a company, shall distribute to the non-commissioned officers and privates the arms received for the company, the distribution must be witnessed by a non-commissioned officer of the company, and be recorded in the company book, as conclusive evidence to hold the soldiers accountable for the arms, &c. so distributed.

Surplus arms may be returned, if in good order, to the conductors of stores, who shall grant receipts to the colonels for the same: which receipts, being transmitted to the ordnance office, by the colonels, the regiments shall respectively have credit for the arms so returned.

In case of arms, &c. being lost or damaged by unavoidable accidents, a certificate, on honor, under the hand of a commissioned officer, shall be furnished to the conductor of stores, distinguishing those totally lost, from such as may be merely damaged; the latter being delivered up to the conductor of stores, who, besides transmitting such certificate to the ordnance office, shall be bound to make further inquiry, and report the circumstances, if he have reason to distrust the accuracy of the certificate. The regiments shall respectively have credit on the books of the ordnance office, for all arms, &c. lost or damaged by unavoidable accidents.

Arms damaged or lost, by negligence or misconduct, shall have their value exacted from the delinquent; for which the colonel or field officer commanding the regiment shall be responsible.

He shall require the captain or subaltern commanding a company, to charge in the company book, to the soldiers in fault, the amount of all arms, &c. so lost or damaged, noting the same amount on the pay rolls, to be deducted from their pay. The damaged arms to be returned to the conductors of stores, with minutes of the amount charged for the same, specifying the name of the individual to whom charged, together with that of the company and regiment; and the conductors of stores shall transmit quarterly abstracts of such charges to the ordnance office

For arms, &c. thus accounted for, as charged to individuals, the conductors of stores shall grant receipts to the colonels of the regiments, distinguishing arms totally lost, from such as may be merely damaged; which receipts being transmitted to the ordnance office, the regiment shall have credit for such arms.

Small arms and accoutrements, for the use of the corps of artillery, shall be issued to the field officers of that corps commanding battalions, in the same mode, and subject to the same regulations, for the respective battalions, as are provided above for the regiments of infantry.

The component parts of the musket and accoutrements, are valued as follows, viz:

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Hospital Surgeons and Mates.

The senior hospital surgeon shall be, ex officio, director of the medical staff, in the army or department to which he may be attached. It shall be his duty to examine, and (if he approves) countersign, all requisitions, for hospital stores, medicines, and surgical instruments, of the surgeons or mates in his department; to inspect the hospitals or infirmaries, under his direction, as often as he may deem it necessary, and as often as he shall be required by the commanding general; to correct all abuses, and to prescribe and enforce such regulations and rules for the government of the attending surgeons and mates, as may be considered most conducive to the comfort of the sick, and the interest of the service, with the approbation of the general commanding the army or department.

It shall be his duty to consolidate the reports of the surgeons and mates in his department, and to transmit a copy thereof, quarterly, to the commanding officer of the department; to keep a book, in which shall be registered all the reports transmitted to him; and to make, from time to time, such remarks on meteorological phenomena, and the appearance of epidemics, as may be deemed useful in promoting medical science.

It shall be the duty of the hospital mates to observe the directions of the medical director; to have the police rules of the hospital or infirmary, written in a legible hand, and hung up in some conspicuous part thereof, for the information and government of the patients; to assign to each patient an appropriate ward; to keep a register of all patients admitted, and a diary, in which shall be recorded the history of every important or interesting case of disease.

It shall be the duty of the senior attending surgeon, at every hospital, infirmary, or post, to make requisitions for such medicines, hospital stores, &c. as may be considered necessary for the comfort of the sick; and to submit the same to the director, for his approbation.

They shall make Monthly and Quarterly reports to the director, agreeably to the forms prescribed.

It shall also be their duty to communicate freely and frequently with the director, and to consult him in all cases, wherein his advice may be deemed necessary.

There shall be kept at every hospital and infirmary, under the direction and supervision of the senior surgeon, a book, in which shall be entered the name and description of every patient, to be taken from his descriptive list, when admitted, and his disease. To which will be added, the date of his discharge from the hospital, and the disposition made of him. When a soldier is returned to his corps, furloughed, or furnished with a certificate to obtain a discharge for inability, his descriptive list shall be returned with him, having been carefully kept in the hospital for that purpose, noting on the same, the payments which have been made at the hospital.

Under the direction of the commanding officer of the army or department, the senior attending surgeon shall make out regular muster rolls of the stewards, wardmasters, nurses, attendants, and patients attached to his hospital or infirmary, and deliver them to the inspector who shall correct and sign the same for the guide of the paymaster, as in all other cases of musters and inspections for payment.

Hospital Stewards and Wardmasters.

It shall be the duty of the steward, under the direction of the surgeon, to provide for the hospital, to receive and take charge of all hospital stores, furniture, utensils, &c. to keep an accurate account of all issues, and specify not only for whom, but by whom, ordered. The surgeon's certificate shall be his voucher.

The stewards are authorized to draw from contractors any of the component parts of the ration which may be necessary to the supply of hospitals, and which the said contractors are obliged to furnish. The component parts of the ration not actually employed as food in the hospital, may be sold, and the avails applied to the purchase of vegetables, &c. &c. as directed by the superintending surgeon.

The wardmaster shall be under the direction of the steward. He shall receive the arms, accoutrements, and clothing, of every patient admitted into the hospital. He shall see that the cloths are immediately washed, numbered, and labelled, with the name, regiment, and company, of the patient, and put away in a place provided for that purpose. If the arms and accoutrements are not brought with the patient, the wardmaster shall so report. He shall be responsible for the cleanliness of the patients and the wards; shall call the roll every morning and evening, and report all absentees. He shall be particularly careful in the proper construction of the close stools, and see that they have always a proper quantity of water or charcoal in them, and that they are cleansed at least three times a day. He shall see that the beds and bed cloths are properly aired and exposed every fair day to the sun, that the straw in each bed sack is changed at least once in every month, and that each patient is washed and his hair combed every morning. When a patient has died, or been discharged, he shall see that the bed and bed cloths are properly cleaned, and the straw burned, and that the nurses and attendants are kind and attentive to the sick and wounded. All the attendants shall be considered as under his immediate direction, and he shall be responsible for the faithful performance of the duties assigned them.

No non-commissioned officer or private shall be removed from the situation of nurse or attendant without the consent of the senior attending surgeon.

Regimental Surgeons and Mates.

The surgeon shall be responsible for the order, regularity, and cleanliness, of the regimental hospital, or infirmary, as well as for the comfort and convenience of all other sick men confided to his care.

He shall send as few patients as possible to the general hospital, and these shall be confined to the wounded, and chronic cases; excepting when the sick are ordered to be left behind on a march. In that event, all cases may be sent to the general hospital, unless otherwise provided for by the director. When a patient is to be sent to the general hospital, the surgeon shall send with him a descriptive list, together with a certificate containing the name, regiment, and company of the patient; the symptoms and duration of his disease, with some general remarks on the mode of treatment pursued. He shall, likewise, send with him his clothes, arms, and accoutrements. He shall keep a strict record of all cases sent to the general hospital.

When the troops are in permanent encampments or cantonments, he shall provide some suitable place for the reception of the sick. In this regimental infirmary, the common camp diseases, such as inflammatory and typhus fevers, diarrhœas, and dysenteries, shall be attended. He shall be careful to have the infirmary well ventilated, and shall not crowd his patients.

He shall use every precaution to prevent the origin of contagion, and should it appear, he shall immediately report it to the commanding officer, and make every exertion to counteract it, by paying a strict attention to the personal cleanliness and frequent changes of the linen and bedding of the sick, &c. &c.

The surgeon shall, with the consent of the commanding officer of the regiment or corps, select a capable and careful non-commissioned officer, who shall act as steward and wardmaster; and such number of men as may be necessary to attend upon the sick, who are to be considered as attached to the medical staff, and not to be removed but by the consent of the surgeon.

The surgeon shall frequently inspect the provisions furnished to the troops, and report the same, when unsound, to the commanding officer, as well as every thing in diet, dress, or situation, which can affect the health of the troops.

He shall require of the orderly sergeant of each company, a written and daily report of the sick, and shall report all cases of feigned sickness to the commanding officer of the companies to which they belong.

He shall examine each case reported, at least once a day, and all dangerous cases more frequently.

He shall attend at the commencement of a march, and designate such men as should be permitted to ride, or have their knapsacks transported in the wagons.

He shall attend all musters and inspections and report such men as are unfit for service, assigning the cause of their inability.

He shall have on hand a sufficient supply of medicines, instruments, dressings, and hospital stores, and be always ready to render services in case of an engagement.

He shall see that the mates are attentive to their duties, and endeavor to afford them every opportunity of improvement.

He shall keep a daily journal and prescription book, wherein shall be recorded an account of all cases of sickness, the nature of the complaints, and the means used to effect a cure, together with the result.

He shall make out a morning report of the sick and convalescent, and deliver it to the commandant of the regiment or corps. He shall make out monthly and quarterly reports, agreeably to the forms prescribed, which he shall forward to the medical director of the department.

In the absence of the surgeon, the mate oldest in commission shall act as surgeon. When the surgeon is present, it shall be the duty of the mate or mates to prepare his prescriptions, see that they are regularly taken, and to attend to the directions of the surgeons in all cases. They shall have charge of all medicines and instruments, and be held responsible to the surgeon for their good condition. They shall be attentive to the order and cleanliness of the regimental infirmary, and see that the patients are kept clean in their persons, linen, and bedding.

Post Surgeons.

The duties of these officers are the same as those prescribed for the hospital and regimental surgeons and mates, and have their rank with the mates when serving together.

Apothecary General, and his Assistants.

The apothecary general, and his assistants, will receive and take charge of all hospital stores, medicines, surgical instruments, and dressings, bought by the commissary general of purchases, or by his deputies, or by any other person under the direction of the said commissary or deputies, and shall account to the superintendent general of military supplies for all expenditures of the same.

The apothecary general, and his assistants, will compound and prepare all officinals, and put up and issue medicines, &c. in chests, or otherwise, conformably to requisitions signed by the director, or senior surgeon of a department.

Returns are to be made to the apothecary general, quarterly, by the assistant apothecaries, surgeons, and mates, or any one having charge of instruments, medicines, hospital stores, or hospital equipments of any description.

The forms of these returns will be regulated by the apothecary general, under the direction of the superintendent general of military supplies, to whom one copy of the returns will be sent.

RECRUITING REGULATIONS.

Recruiting districts will be assigned for regiments and corps, conformably to arrangements of the War Department.

The colonel or commanding officer of each regiment and corps, will, when required, select from his regiment or corps, a field officer, or captain, to superintend the recruiting thereof, and a competent number of platoon officers, non-commissioned officers, and musicians, will be placed under his command for this service. A surgeon's mate will also be detailed with such party, subject to the orders of the superintending officer.

The officer charged with the superintendence of the recruiting service, will distribute the parties within the district assigned for the recruiting of his regiment or corps, as he shall find most advantageous for this service. He will often visit the different parties, supply the officers with funds, and see that they attend to the duties assigned them; and whenever recruits are not obtained, from any cause, other than the fault of the officer, the station will be changed; but if it appear to arise from the fault of the officer, he will be reported to the commanding officer of the regiment, and recalled.

So soon as the recruiting station of a regiment or corps is fixed, the superintending officer will make his authorized requisitions, for clothing and camp equipage, to the commissary general of purchases, at Philadelphia, and his requisitions for arms and equipments to the ordnance department, Washington City; and at the same time will give notice to the contractor to supply rations. He will also transmit copies of those estimates and requisitions, with an estimate for recruiting funds, direct to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office.

In making enlistments, officers will be particularly careful to adhere strictly to the prescribed forms. They will see that the recruit has a perfect understanding of the period of time for which he engages to serve, and that such period of time be written at large in his enlistment.

All enlistments must be accompanied by the certificate of the examining surgeon, and the receipt of the recruit for the bounty he has received.

Enlistments will, in all cases, be taken in duplicate; one will be kept by the recruiting officer, as a voucher in the settlement of his accounts; the other he will forward to the officer superintending; who will, at the end of every month, forward direct to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, such duplicate enlistments, accompanied with a roll containing the names of all recruits enlisted within the month, and by whom they were enlisted; also a return, in the prescribed form, of all recruiting parties under his superintendence, with the names, times, and places, of all desertions and deaths, within the month, and he will, at the same time, forward to the commanding officer of the regiment a duplicate of such return. And whenever recruits shall be enlisted at the station of any regiment, corps, company, or detachment, the commanding officer of the regiment or battalion, as superintendent, will require of the enlisting officer the like duplicate enlistments, and will himself forward direct to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, such duplicate enlistments, roll of recruits, returns, &c. as are above required of the superintendent.

Superintendents of the recruiting service will transmit monthly accounts and vouchers for bounties and premiums and monthly accounts and vouchers for contingencies, to the accountant of the War Department; and quarterly accounts and vouchers for clothing, arms, accoutrements, and camp equipage, to the superintendent general of military supplies, at the City of Washington.

As soon as practicable, every recruit will take and subscribe the necessary oath, agreeably to the tenth article of "the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States."

If any recruit, after having received the bounty, or part thereof, shall abscond, he is to be pursued and punished as a deserter.

Every officer superintending the recruiting service, where there shall be no quartermaster, will procure the necessary transportation, forage, fuel, straw, and stationery, taking the requisite vouchers.

No party shall be detailed on the recruiting service, unaccompanied by a commissioned officer, unless by special permission of the superintending officer.

All recruiting officers are expressly forbidden to enlist any man having ulcerated legs, scalded head, rupture, or scurvey, or an habitual drunkard, or one known to have epileptic fits, or other infirmity, which unfits him for the active duties of the field; and any officer who shall enlist such man, and any surgeon or surgeon's mate who shall certify his fitness for service, shall, on proof thereof, be dismissed the service.

Surgeons are to be particularly attentive to the examination of recruits, and shall not suffer any man to pass who has not, at his examination, been stripped of his clothes, to the end that it be ascertained, as far as possible, that he is fit for active service in the field.

All free male persons, above eighteen and under thirty-five years, who are able bodied, active, and free from disease, may be enlisted; and whenever a recruit, who is under age, shall have a parent, guardian, or master, his consent shall be obtained, in writing, and accompany the enlistment, which is sent to the Adjutant and Inspector General. Any loss accruing from a non observance of this rule, will be borne by the recruiting officer.

The limitation of age does not apply to soldiers who may reenlist.

Recruits shall not be mustered, for payment, until they join their regiments or corps.

The premium of two dollars to the recruiting officers is to be paid after the recruit has been mustered, and is in compensation for extra expense.

The bounty of twelve dollars to the recruit will be paid, the one-half when he shall have signed his enlistment, the other half when he shall have been mustered and joined his regiment or corps.

Officers superintending the recruiting service, may, whenever they think the good of the service will be promoted thereby, direct the recruits, or any part of them, to be sent to the principal rendezvous: and whenever a party of recruits shall be so sent, they will be accompanied by a perfect descriptive list and account of bounty, clothing, &c agreeably to the prescribed form: and whenever the numbers at any principal rendezvous shall authorize the measure, a company shall be organized from the same, the proper descriptive roll and accounts be made out, and the company be put in march, with a competent number of officers, for the head quarters of the regiment or corps.

Every superintending officer of recruiting service will be held strictly responsible for the order, discipline, and good conduct of the parties under his command. No recruiting officer shall be liable to orders, for other duties, until he shall be regularly relieved from the recruiting service.

Soldiers enlisted by the officers of any particular regiment, shall be given over to that regiment, and no transfer of soldiers, from one corps to another, will be made, without the assent of the officers commanding both corps, or by the orders of the War Department. And whenever any transfer of soldiers shall be made, the commanding officer of the company or detachment to which they belong, shall furnish a complete descriptive list, and account of pay, bounty, clothing, &c. of every soldier, so transferred.

Every departure from these rules, and every neglect in making the prescribed returns, will be considered a positive disobedience of orders, and punished accordingly.

All communications for the War Department, relating to the recruiting service, will be addressed to the Adjutant and Inspector General.

THE UNIFORM OF THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The coat of the infantry and artillery shall be uniformly blue, no red collars or cuffs: and no lace shall be worn by any grade, excepting in epaulets and sword knots.

All officers will wear coats of the length of those worn by field officers. The rank and file will wear coatees. The button holes of these will be trimmed with tape on the collar only. Leather caps will be substituted for felt, and worsted or cotton pompons for feathers.

General officers, and all others of the general staff, not otherwise directed, shall wear cocked hats without feathers, yellow gilt bullet buttons, and button holes in the bering bone form.

The epaulets of major generals will have on the gold ground of each strap, two silvered stars.

The epaulets of brigadiers will have on each strap one star.

Common round hat.

Cockade, black silk, with yellow eagle, to be worn at all times.

Sword, cut and thrust, yellow mounted, with a black gripe, in a frog belt of black morocco, and worn over the coat.

No dress resembling the military, without conforming to the regulation, will be worn on any occasion, excepting that, when attached to corps, cadets will wear the uniform of the company officers, without epaulets.

NOTE. Qualifications necessary for admission to the Military Academy.—Each cadet, previous to his being admitted a member of the military academy, must be fourteen years of age, be able to read distinctly, and pronounce correctly; to write a fair legible hand, and to perform with facility and accuracy the various operations of the ground rules of arithmetic, both simple and compound; of the rules of reduction; of single and compound proportion; and also of vulgar and decimal fractions.

MISCELLANEOUS RULES.

Generals will appoint their own aids-de-camp, who must, in all cases, be taken from the subalterns of the line. Major generals are allowed two aids-de-camp, and brigadier generals one aid-de-camp, each. No more than three aids-de-camp will be taken from the corps of artillery stationed in either division, and not more than one aid-de-camp from a regiment.

No officer shall be permitted to hold two staff appointments at the same time.

The appointment of all aids-de-camp, and adjutants and quartermasters of regiments and battalions, will be forthwith reported to the Adjutant and Inspector General.

Whenever a storekeeper is required by the commissary general of purchases, or the ordnance department, the circumstances rendering such appointment necessary, will be reported to the War Department, by whom the appointment will be made, if deemed necessary.

All officers, whatever may be their rank, passing through a garrison town, or established military post, shall report their arrival at such town or post, to the commanding officer, by written notice, if the officer arriving be elder in rank, and personally if he be younger in rank than the officer commanding.

All officers arriving at the seat of government will, in like manner, report to the Adjutant and Inspector General.

No furlough shall be given during a campaign, but by the general commanding the district or army, and for the cause of disability, which disability shall be certified by a regimental or hospital surgeon.

Furloughs shall, beside expressing the term of time granted to absentees, express also an order to join the regiment, post, or garrison, to which they may belong.

No order shall be given to officers seeking a furlough for their own convenience, which shall have the effect of entitling them to an allowance for transportation of baggage.

Any commissioned officer of the army of the United States, who shall send or accept a challenge to fight a duel, or who, knowing that any other officer has sent or accepted, or is about to send or accept a challenge to fight a duel, and who does not immediately arrest and bring to trial the offenders in this case, shall be dismissed the service of the United States

No claims for extra services will be allowed on account of attendance on courts martial, whether as members or as witnesses, if performed by officers on furlough, or on duty, at the post or place where such court is held.

Citizens who attend courts martial as witnesses, will be allowed all necessary expenses on the road, and two dollars and fifty cents per day, for the time necessarily taken up in going to, at, and returning from, the court.

All claims of allowance for extra services, and contingent accounts requiring the special sanction of the Secretary of War to the accounting officers, must be rendered within six months after the services, or expenditures, where it may have been within the power of the officer to comply with the regulation.

No surgeon of the army shall be engaged in private practice.

When medical or surgical aid is required, if no surgeon or mate of the army be at or near the post or place, the senior officer shall have authority to obtain such by special agreement in writing, under the following rules, viz:

Where the number of sick does not exceed twenty, the compensation shall not exceed two hundred dollars per annum; for more than twenty, and less than thirty, three hundred dollars; for any number of sick, more than thirty, the rate of compensation shall not exceed the pay and emoluments of a surgeon's mate of the army

Whenever it becomes necessary to employ a citizen surgeon, the circumstances of the case will be immediately reported to the commanding officer of the department, and to the Adjutant and Inspector General

No candidate will hereafter be appointed in the medical department of the army who shall not have received a diploma from some respectable medical school or college, without first passing the examination of an army medical board.

Whenever a body of troops shall arrive at any military station, accommodations for the sick will be first provided, and subsequently those for officers and privates who are well, and to accomplish this, all artificers and mechanics shall be instantaneously put in requisition.

Every hospital and infirmary, shall be supplied with one or more female attendants, at the discretion of the senior surgeon. It shall be the business of these to scour and cleanse the bunks and floors, to wash the blankets, bed sacks, and clothes of the patients, to cook the victuals of the sick, and to keep clean and in good order the cooking utensils.

The pay of nurses shall not exceed six dollars per month, and one ration per day, to be established by the senior attending surgeon, and made up and certified by him in the hospital muster rolls.

Women infected by the venereal disease shall, in no case, nor on any pretence, be allowed to remain with the army, nor to draw rations.

More than four women shall not be allowed to a company when organized and completed agreeably to the establishment. Nor shall any be allowed to accompany recruiting parties which shall be fewer than seventeen men, nor shall more than one accompany parties of that number.

No contractor or commissary shall be justified in issuing rations to women, who are followers of the army, beyond the number allowed.

Quartermasters of regiments, or of corps, will cause the company provision returns to be consolidated and carried to the commanding officers of regiments and of detachments or brigades, for their signatures. Abstracts of these, furnished and presented by the contractors, will be signed by officers commanding brigades, (or separate posts,) and will thus become vouchers for the contractors.

No officer, commissioned or non-commissioned, shall be the agent of a contractor.

Whenever a requisition is made at any cantonment, garrison, or post, for rations to troops on a march, or other than the regular command of the officer who signs the abstracts, the original general requisition shall be annexed to the abstract, and make part of the voucher in the settlement of the contractor's account.

No charge for extra issues of whiskey will be allowed to contractors or commissaries, unless made upon the written order of the commanding officer of the post or detachment, specifying the cause and daily amount of such issues, and the time that they shall be continued. A copy of such order will be transmitted without delay to the accountant of the War Department, by the contractor or commissary; in default of which, the charge will be disallowed. No order issued subsequent to the expenditure will be received as a voucher.

When it becomes necessary to purchase provisions, in consequence of the failure of contractors to supply, according to contract, the officer executing this duty shall immediately transmit, to the accountant of the War Department, a duplicate copy of the bills of purchase, accompanied with his deposition, that the articles have been procured at the lowest price that the state of the market would permit; and no bill of exchange, or draft upon the War Department, on account of such purchase, will be accepted, until this regulation is complied with.

It is made the duty of the superintendent general of military supplies, to keep accounts of all supplies, of every description, purchased or distributed for the use of the army, and of the volunteers and militia in the service of the United States, to prescribe the forms of all returns and accounts of such stores and supplies purchased, on hand, distributed, used, or sold, by officers, agents, or persons who shall have received, distributed, or been entrusted with the same; and it is further made the duty of all officers, agents, or persons who shall have received, or may be entrusted with supplies of any description whatever, for the use of the military service, to render quarterly accounts of the disposition and state of all such stores and supplies to the superintendent aforesaid.

Whenever a commanding or other officer, charged with the safe keeping of public property, is removed from a garrison, post, or army, he shall deliver over to the officer who succeeds him in the duties of his department, all such public property as may be in his possession or custody, and take duplicate receipts for the same, one of which he shall forthwith transmit to the superintendent general of military supplies, and one of all ordnance, ordnance stores, arms and equipments, to the ordnance office, Washington City.

Whenever public property is delivered over to any officer or agent, duplicate receipts will be taken for the same, one of which will be transmitted to the office of the superintendent general of military supplies.

Non-commissioned officers and privates employed at work, on fortifications, in surveys, in cutting roads, and other constant labor, will be allowed fifteen cents and an extra gill of whiskey, per day, while so employed, which will be paid by the officer, or agent disbursing the contingent expenses of the work or expedition.

Whenever soldiers are transferred from one corps to another, (which can only be done by the consent of commanding officers, or by the War Department,) or ordered on distant command, or furloughed, or sent to the general hospital, or left sick, distant from the regiment or detachment, the officer commanding the company or detachment to which such men belong, will furnish a complete descriptive list and account of bounty, pay, &c. agreeably to the prescribed forms.

Whenever a soldier sick in hospital, or absent from his company from any other cause, shall die, the senior surgeon of such hospital, or the officer under whose immediate charge or command he may then be, shall immediately report the fact in writing to the commanding officer of his company, stating the time, place, and cause of his death; to what time he was last paid, and the money or other effects in his possession at the time of his decease; and such report will be noted on the next inspection return of the company.

Whenever a soldier is rendered incapable of performing military duty, by reason of wounds or injuries received in the service, while in the line of his duty, his commanding officer shall certify the time and manner of receiving such wound or disability; and the senior surgeon of the hospital, regiment, or corps, shall furnish such disabled soldier with a certificate, on which the proper discharge shall be made by the inspector general, officer doing that duty, or commanding officer of the post.

All discharges which shall be given to non-commissioned officers, musicians, or privates, shall specify the date and term of enlistment, and the cause of discharge; the personal description, place of birth, trade or occupation, and place of discharge.

Whenever the proper authority shall direct that any non-commissioned officer, musician, or private, shall be discharged, on account of the expiration of enlistment, surgeon's certificate of wounds or disability, or other cause, the commanding officer of the company to which he belongs, shall make and furnish him with duplicate certificates, setting forth the date and term of his enlistment, where and by whom enlisted; his personal description, occupation, and place of birth; the bounty paid, and the bounty which is due him; to what time, and by whom he was last paid; and, also, whether he has, or has not, drawn the pay and subsistence allowed him to the place of his enlistment. These certificates will be given to the paymaster who shall settle with him, as vouchers; but no paymaster will take from the soldier his original discharge.

To prevent embarrassment and delay, in settling the clothing accounts of paymasters, the commanding officer of every company will be constantly in possession of a company receipt book, in which shall be entered all requisitions of paymasters for clothing, and a copy of all receipts given to commissaries and storekeepers, in consequence thereof, in which shall also be taken the individual receipts of the men for articles delivered. When a captain leaves the company, this book will of course come to the custody of the officer succeeding him in the command, who will give a receipt for all articles on hand, to be entered in like manner in the company book, and duplicates delivered to the officer from whom the book and clothing is received; one of which shall forthwith be transmitted to the regimenal or battalion paymaster. The company receipt book shall always be open to the examination of paymasters and inspectors, as well as the commanding officers of regiments, corps, and battalions, whose duty it is at all times to report any deficiency in the clothing and the disposition of the same.

All military communications intended for the War Department, and not of a confidential nature, except from commanding generals, and where the delay would defeat the object, will be made through the office of the adjutant general of division, or the commanding officer of the department, and transmitted to the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, except in cases where a different mode is pointed out by regulation or special instructions.

Articles of clothing allowed to each non-commissioned officer, musician, and private soldier, for and during the periods stated, viz:

One leather cap, with plate	}	To last 2 years and a half, or 2, during the period of enlistment.
Two great coats, and three blankets		}
