SIXTH ANNUAL

PROSPECTUS and ANNOUNCEMENT.

It is with no ordinary gratification that the Council and Faculty of the New York Homeopathic Medical College issue this, their Sixth Annual Announcement.

The Faculty, actuated by no mercenary or selfish motives, have entered upon this good work with an earnest and hopeful zeal to place this Institution upon the broad and elevated platform of an enlightened and progressive medical science, in the hope that it shall be unsurpassed by any Medical Institution in the country, in the completeness of its curriculum of instruction, and for its practical advantages for acquiring a thorough and accomplished education.

While the distinctive teaching of this Institution has for its fundamental basis the law, "Similia similibus curantur," the student, nevertheless, will be familiarized with the philosophy of the entire history of medical science, with all its teachings and practical lessons as promulgated in our best standard works; thus, the student secures not only the same advantages afforded in any other Medical College, but the additional one of a careful and thorough instruction in the great principles of that advanced philosophy, which has, within the past few years, so rapidly changed and elevated the character of the medical profession. This Institution occupies, under the laws of the State, a position equal to that of any other Medical Institution; and, by a special Act of the Legislature, has secured the right to its students, in common with students of other medical schools, to walk the wards of Bellevue Hospital, and all the great public charities on Blackwell's and Randall's Islands, thronged as they are with hundreds of diseased and suffering poor, and where almost every disease with which the human system is afflicted, may be seen and studied in its varied stages.

There are also several Homeopathic Dispensaries in the city, to which thousands apply during the year for medical aid, and to which all medical students who resort to this city for instruction, are allowed gratuitous admittance.

Surgical, Medical, and Obstetrical clinics connected with the College Dispensary, are held on Wednesday and Saturday of each week during the session. They afford to the student admirable opportunities to familiarize himself with the practical principles taught by the respective chairs; and from the multitude of poor who apply for aid to these several charities, cases of Obstetrics are procured for the members of the Graduating Class.

The dissecting room of the College will be opened at the commencement of the lectures, and material for dissection will be furnished gratuitously, subject to the supervision of the Demonstrator of Anatomy.

REGULATIONS OF THE COLLEGE.

The regular course of lectures will commence on second Tuesday in October, and end on the first of March ensuing.

Each candidate for graduation must be of good moral character, attained the age of twenty-one years, and have applied himself to the study of medicine for three years. He must have attended two courses of medical lectures, and have been, during that time, the private pupil of a respectable practitioner of medicine.

Students, who shall have attended one or more courses of lectures in other accredited Medical Colleges, may become candidates for graduation by an attendance upon one full course in this Institution.

Each candidate, upon making application, must exhibit his tickets to the Dean, or give other satisfactory evidence to the Faculty, that the above regulations have been complied with. Special examinations in particular cases may be had by consent of the Faculty.

The candidate, on or before the first of February, must deliver to the Dean of the Faculty a thesis composed by himself, and in his own hand-writing, on some medical subject, which shall be referred to the Faculty for examination.

By permission of the Faculty, a thesis may be published by the candidate.

The candidate shall pay the fee for graduation at the time of presenting his thesis, and in the event of his rejection, the money shall be returned to him.

If, in the opinion of the Faculty, a candidate would be benefitted by another course of lectures, he may withdraw his thesis without being considered rejected.

In unsatisfactory cases, a candidate may avail himself of a second examination before the whole Faculty, with their consent.

Form notice of each satisfactory examination shall be given by the Dean to the successful candidate, and he shall record his name and address upon the register of graduates, with the title of his thesis.

The names of the successful candidates are to be reported by the Dean to the Council, in order, if approved by them, their mandamus may be issued for conferring the degree.

No candidate shall absent himself from the commencement, except by permission of the Faculty, or in case of unavoidable absence.

Amount of fees for a full course of lectures, (invariably cash), . . . . .	$100 00
Matriculation fee. . . . .	5 00
Practical Anatomy, (material fee,). . . . .	5 00
Graduation fee . . . . .	30 00
Fee for students who have attended two full courses in in other accredited medical colleges. . . . .	50 00

Students, who have attended two full courses in this college, or one full course in this college, and one in some other accredited school, will be required to matriculate only.

The matriculation ticket must first be obtained of the Dean, before the purchase of any other ticket.

The tickets must be taken by the first Monday in November, to constitute a full course.

J. BEAKLEY, M. D

Dean of the Faculty,

Gramercy Park House, New York.
