INDIAN PHYSICIANS.

To Dr. R. Greene belongs the honor of systemizing the "Indian practice" and giving it a potency surpassing the expectations of the "Fathers in Medicine."

The unbooked Indian may have outstripped his palefaced brother in his acquaintance with Nature's herbs for the sick and dying, yet he has failed in his compounding to reach the complication of diseases produced by the folly and indiscretions of the white man; but this difficulty has been met at the "Indian Medical Institute," where Science has joined hands with the Indian medicine man, and perfected a system that is doing more for suffering humanity than all other systems combined.

By this union of Nature and Science, with the aid of Dr. Greene's "Electro Medicated Bath," CANCERS, which have long been given up as incurable by every system of practice, are speedily removed, and health restored. SCROFULA, (that hydra-headed monster,) together with Consumption, Dyspepsia, Liver and Heart Complaints, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Female Complaints, and the "thousand ills which flesh is heir to," yeilds to the potency of the remedies, as time and space yield to the electric telegraph.

"Native Indians" may often be found, who with their simple roots and herbs do much for their suffering fellows; but with the aid of Science, as practiced at the "Indian Medical Institute," infinitely more is now accomplished than was ever expected by the "red man" himself.

It is only to be regretted that there have sprung up a host of spurious imitators, who have advertised themselves as "Indian Doctors," "Native Indians," etc., etc., against whose impositions we feel called upon to caution the public, and would assure the invalid that the only place within our knowledge, where they can hope for a successful application of Indian remedies is at the Institute, 36 Bromfield St., Boston.

The above rebuke to pretenders, we cut from the Boston Traveller, and also add, that some of these imposters have even pretended to be agents for our "Institution," and have been found travelling both city and country seeking out the sick and infirm, and urging upon them worthless trash, with an eagerness equalled only by the Vampires of Heathen Mythology.

To the more considerate portion of community such persons, though a great pest, are comparatively harmless, as their better judgments detect at once the imposition; and it might be supposed that good sense would teach all persons better than to risk their lives by taking medicine from any doctor who may be found travelling about the country; for all should know that persons who can truly relieve the sick, and cure diseases, will find ample employment at home, where their characters and practice can be known.

We have no practicing agents, either travelling or located, and are not responsible for the imposition of others.

PREFACE.

APOLOGIES! we have none; we have an object in sending out another edition of this little book, and that is sufficient, (we think) to warrant its publication. It may not possess any high mark of literary merit, as the articles composing the work have been gathered up in our office, while the rooms of the Institute were thronged with patients, from every part of our broad land.

Our object is to furnish those who are afflicted with CANCER, Cancerous and Scrofulous affections with such reliable information as will enable them to determine the true character of the disease, and the best means to be adopted for a cure. To aid the invalid in his search, our remarks shall not only be condensed, but (as far as possible) spoken in plain words, free from medical terms and technicalities that only serve to darken council.

We have no room for a lengthy record of the cases treated, and can only give a limited number (whose testimony has been a free offering to suffering humanity,) and who are the willing representatives of hundreds who have been cured by our own peculiar treatment.

With a brief sketch of the Life and Travels of DR. R. GREENE, the founder of the INSTITUTION, and the FATHER OF "INDIANOPOTHY," together with a history of the "Indian Medical Institute," we hope to pay the reader for his time and labor in giving these pages a careful perusal.

S K E T C H
OF THE
THE CELEBRATED INDIAN PHYSICIAN.

DR. REUBEN GREENE, the subject of this brief sketch, having received a good education in the schools of New England, manifested in early life a desire for medical science, and his proficiency was thorough and rapid, and he soon became a scientific and successful practitioner of medicine. He very soon, however, became dissatisfied with the usual routine practice of our physicians, and determined to investigate the natural system of medicine, as practiced by the Red Men of the forest.

Having this great object in view, he visited the pathless forests of the Great West, and there resided for several years, receiving instructions from the chiefs and medicine men of the various tribes of native Indians, whose homes were in the vicinity of the great lakes, and the sources of the mighty Mississippi.

Encouraged by his great desire for knowledge, he became acquainted with Indians who possessed information in all that relates to the natural use of medicines, and their adaptation to the wants of man. In this mighty laboratory of nature, with the Red Men for instructors, he became acquainted with medicines, the real merits of which, destroyed all faith in the delusive theory and practice of the old school. In this vast expanse of nature, with the bright stars above him by night, and the wide wilderness around him by day, his original habit of thought had a great field for exercise.

He investigated the habits and customs of the uncivilized men, and traced and studied the foundations of their belief in Nature's remedies for the cure of disease. In this land of romance, Dr. Greene was kindly treated by the many Indian tribes whom he visited. He always extended to them the right hand of fellowship, and by always acting up to the highest points of truth and honor, he at once gained, and ever after retained their fullest confidence.

And, we may add, that the great secret of his success is his religious enthusiasm, prominent alike in his noble spirit of adventure in the pursuit of his loved science, in his lofty fidelity to duty, and in his enthusiastic maintainance of the highest standards of honor and truth, in all his intercourse with men, either in the cold climate of New England, or among the less civilized men who lit their camp fires and built their cabins on the borders of the great inland seas of the mighty Northwest.

We could enlarge, did space permit, and dwell at length upon the incidents and adventures over flood, field and prairie, and illustrate by anecdote the life devoted to science in the Great West, but do not deem it necessary.

After having fully obtained and tested the virtues of these medicines, he returned to his own native New England, and established himself in West Acton, one of the beautiful and thriving villages of the old Bay State, where he at once commenced the practice of the Natural or Indian System of Medicine. His eminent social qualities and kind feelings, at once commended him to notice in his new residence. He took an active part in all the leading enterprises of the day, was appointed postmaster, and also Justice of the Peace; but the story of his residence in the Great West, among the Indians, and the many cures which he performed as a physician, practicing upon the Natural or Indian System, soon introduced him to the afflicted throughout the State and Nation, and thousands came to him from all parts of the country for advice and cure.

So rapidly did his fame increase, and so numerous were his patients, that the enterprise demanded a more central location, and at the earnest solicitation of his numerous friends, he removed to the city of BOSTON, where he laid the foundation of the INDIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where disease of all kinds has been, from that time, successfully treated upon the Indian system, and where patients from every part of the country, who have suffered from Cancer, Scrofula, and other Chronic diseases, have found a happy cure. Proper assistants have been employed, and several boarding-houses obtained for the accommodation of patients from abroad. With this arrangement he is usually enabled to attend to all who come for medical advice or treatment.

Dr. Greene gives particular attention to the comfort and care of his patients, and from his genial manner and accommodating spirit does much to alleviate the sufferings of those whom disease brings to his presence.

THE INDIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

Was organized with the design of protecting Dr. Greene in the successful pursuit of the "Indian practice of medicine," from the countless imitators that have sprung up in various parts of the Country.

CANCERS.

This fearful and often fatal disease, is known by a number of terms, or names, which cannot be enumerated here. The whole family of CANCER, is usually divided into three classes; Encephaloid, Scirrhus and Colloid. Of these there are several varieties peculiar to each.

The Encephaloid, is composed of a soft substance, very much resembling the brain. The Scirrhus, is composed of a hard and unyielding substance, and has sometimes been termed the Stone Cancer. The Colloid is a soft glutinous substance, and has been sometimes known as Gum Cancer.

But passing these distinctions, we shall speak of Cancers in the more common form, which usually commence with a hardening or enlargement of a gland, or a swelling in some part of the system; sometimes they are painful from the commencement, and at other times they increase in size and hardness to a considerable extent, without causing any pain; but in process of time, when they begin to affect the sensitive nerves, they are attended with acute lancinating pains at irregular intervals—the frequency and violence of which depends upon the extent to which the nerves are involved. As they progress, they become more knotty, hard and irregular to the touch, the edges being more or less studded with small protuberant inequalities, showing that the disease is taking root in the system. They sometimes remain in this indolent or Scirrhus state for a considerable length of time, while in other instances they proceed on to suppuration with great rapidity, forming in a few months open ulcers, with rough and ragged edges. The disease now penetrates deeper towards the central parts, while at the circumference the edges appear hard and elevated. After a time the surrounding skin puts on a livid aspect, and from the surface of the ulcers there is usually a considerable discharge of an irritating and acrid nature.

Sometimes Cancers commence with a dark scale or scab, which comes off and reappears again, covering the diseased parts as they spread. The progress of this form of Cancer is so slow, that several years elapse before they excite much alarm. In other cases, they commence with a small bunch or central point, having numerous legs or roots, running off in different directions. This form has by some been termed the Spider Cancer. In some instances, Cancers show their malignant character by commencing to eat and devour their victims, from the first appearance of the disease, and from this devouring quality, have been termed the Wolf Cancer.

There are other forms of this distressing and fatal disease, each manifesting some symptom peculiar to its kind. But it is not necessary to enter into a minute description of the different forms which Cancers sometimes assume. The disease in itself is very nearly the same in all; the different forms and symptoms manifested in the progress of each, depending principally upon the different temperaments and constitutions of the persons affected, and the particular parts of the system upon which they locate.

ARE CANCERS CURABLE?

To that portion of the human family afflicted with this terrible disease, this question is fraught with serious import. Medical writers speak of the Cancer as an incurable disease, except by the use of the knife; and even then, the experience of the medical profession is, that nine cases out of every ten, where cancer has been cut out, it returns again in a very short time. The cause of this is obvious, as Cancer is a tumor that sends out its fangs in every direction, and although the bulk of the disease may be cut away, some of its roots remain in the flesh, to sprout out again with renewed violence.

The possibility of curing this disease is still protested against, by many who are called physicians, who are loud in denouncing as quacks and impostors, all who have the courage to dispute the infallibility of the "old school," or claim to cure any disease which they have been unable to relieve. To guard their claim to superior knowledge, and to cover up their ignorance from common observation, some of the "wise ones" have defined Cancer, to be "a disease that returns," if it does not return, it was not Cancer. We have several times had this logic applied to cases which we had cured, after a course of treatment and several operations for "Cancer" by our most "celebrated" physicians. They have in this manner impeached their own judgment rather than authenticate another's skill. Disbelieved their own eyes and swallowed their own words, rather than believe that "Cancers can be cured."

The reader will see that there is no getting round such logic, for it is reasoning in a circle; yet, by such shallow sophisms, men continue to shut out from their own minds, every possibility of improvement, and continue to repeat, parrot-like, after one of their most distinguished authorities, who said to his class, "Gentlemen, I never cured a Cancer, and I do not believe that any other man ever did!" This may do well for the routinist, who is contented to follow the erroneous teachings of his masters, having "finished his education," and being too lazy to think or act for himself, except by the rules of the book. But this practice will not do for the men who are up with the times, and who feel keenly for the suffering of their fellow-man. We have ever believed that God has provided in nature a remedy for every disease, and we have spent much time and travel, and deep research into the nature of disease and the cure of the various ills, to which the human family are subject, and we trust our labors have not been in vain.

Many scientific men are aware of the fact, the Cancer has a cell or animalculæ peculiar to itself, which with our knowledge of the disease with the aids of science and the glass, we are enabled to distinguish from other diseases. And by the use of remedies designed by nature for this purpose, we eradicate this disease from the system, as well as to remove the local manifestation.

Our method of treating Cancer, is essentially different, and as we hope to show by its results, abundantly successful. We set up no claim which we are not able to sustain, nor do we claim to be able to cure the disease in every form and stage in which it is met. We know, however, that by our method of treating Cancers, more than four-fifths of the cases coming under our care are cured. It must be remembered too, that many of those who apply to us, do so after having exhausted every other means, and have been pronounced incurable; though the result of our practice has shown that a large majority even of such cases have been cured.

By administering our remedies for purifying the blood and cleansing the system of all impure matter, we are prepared to remove the diseased part, which is usually accomplished without much inconvenience to the patient—after which the sore presents a clean and healthy appearance, healing kindly, but not too rapidly, in order to give the opening an opportunity to discharge as it closes up.

Patients are often advised to "let the disease alone"—"do not disturb it, or you will only make it worse." This may be very good advice, if those giving it do not know how to cure the disease, but with a remedy at hand, it is not wise to let a disease alone, which under all circumstances will sink deeper and spread wider, the longer it is left to take its course. It is important in all cases to give the earliest attention to the first indications of the disease: if the blood is then cleansed, and the diseased part removed when small, a cure is much sooner and more easily accomplished.

One other point we wish to notice. Unfortunately there is a disposition among many females, to conceal as far as possible from their friends the fact of their being the subjects of Cancer. An impression seems to exist with many females, and the other sex are not free from it — that Cancer is in some way a reproach to those afflicted with it, or that it is a kind of “death warrant.” This is all wrong. Those who are scrupulously clean and careful in all their habits, wonder “why they should be attacked by such a disease.” Many appear to think this disease is generally confined to a certain class who are not as careful in their habits, nor as temperate in their mode of living as they should be; but no class is exempt from attack. Cleanliness and temperate living must not be undervalued, but they do not afford an exemption from Cancer.

This disposition to conceal the first indications of the disease, often leads to very unhappy results. Cases, which if attended to in their earlier stages would have yielded very easily, afterwards become, by neglect, very difficult of cure. Delays can never prove otherwise than injurious, while proper treatment in the early stage of the disease will always render a cure certain.

Much has been said in regard to the removal of Cancer with the knife. We do not wish to wage war against the practice of Surgery, for we know that surgical operations are often necessary to save life, and the knife in the hand of a skilful surgeon often accomplishes that which no other means would accomplish. But we do protest against the indiscriminate use of the knife in Cancers and Tumors, and a reliance upon it, for a cure. But if the Cancer is large, or very hard, there can be no serious objection to the bulk of the disease being removed with the knife, provided plasters are immediately applied to the parts, and the roots drawn out, and the wound left open and properly treated with plasters till it becomes healthy and entirely free from the disease. This may be accomplished without pain, while the patient is under the influence of ether, and attains the same object as if the whole had been removed with plasters.

Our chief reliance, however, must depend upon constitutional treatment. The predisposition to Cancers must be removed from the blood, before an effectual cure can be obtained by any process. The first thing is to cleanse the blood, and this should never be delayed, and the Cancer allowed to progress; as every day's delay renders the disease more difficult to control. It is easy to see the necessity of removing this morbid disease from the blood, in order to stop the progress of the Cancer. To treat them as a matter entirely local will not answer, since they have their origin in a deranged state of the life of the system.

It is true that the bulk of the disease can often be removed by an operation in various ways, such as burning, cutting, &c., but the cause still remains, and the disease is not cured. The virus which induced the cancer at first, still remains in the blood, and upon the next favorable opportunity there is afforded, the disease will seek another discharge in the same, or another part of the system.

This feature of the disease, which enables it to return again after an operation, has ever been noticed by physicians, and has led to the supposition that they were incurable. But the introduction of the Indian system of practice upon scientific principles, "has," as expressed by the Boston Daily Journal, "brought about a new era in the practice of medicine, and banished forever the idea that certain diseases are incurable." As the fruits of this practice, we can refer to hundreds and thousands of men and women, now rejoicing in health who were supposed to be beyond the reach of medical aid, from any of the other systems of medicine known to man.

That Cancers in their worst forms are now completely cured by this system of practice, is a fact too well established to be questioned. If any are in doubt upon this point they can easily be satisfied, as several hundred cases from different parts of the country are continually under treatment, who may be seen at any time by those affected with the disease, or those wishing to investigate this important discovery.

The process by which these important results are accomplished is simple and accords perfectly with the nature of the disease. The virus upon which the disease depends is first eradicated from the system. This cuts off all supplies of the Cancer from the blood, which at once prevents the possibility of any further progress of the disease. Plasters are then applied to the Cancers, which draw them, with their roots, out from the system. These plasters are continued and the sores keep discharging till the fibres are all out, and the parts become healthy, when they heal up and the cures become perfect and lasting. We have no room to pursue these remarks further at this time, but may resume the subject again in a future edition. On another page may be found a report of several cases of this disease which are now under treatment, and also of persons previously cured, who we presume will be willing at any time to answer enquiries of those who are seeking relief from this terrible disease.

CANCER OF THE BREAST. Carcinomatous affections of the female mammæ are perhaps more common than any other portion of the system. The first appearance of genuine Scirrhus of the breast is usually a small tumor, which at first appears to be loose under the skin, or more deeply embedded in the tissue. These tumors at times remain nearly stationary for years, while at other times their growth is rapid, and they often acquire a very considerable bulk in a very short period. It is a great mistake to suppose there is no danger of cancer from a small lump or tumor in the breast, because it is not painful. There may be, and often is an entire freedom from pain or discoloration, for a long time, when the disease will suddenly change and break out into rapid ulceration, when it becomes more or less painful and as it progresses the pains become lancinating and after a time extend to the glands under the arm, upon the neck, and not unfrequently, through the chest. In some cases the patient sinks from the Cancer affecting vital organs, particularly the lungs, even before it becomes an open ulcer. Persons will sometimes bear up under the effects of the open Cancer, for a considerable time, going about with their "incurable sores," and often seem afraid to make any application, lest it only hasten their death.

But the painful nature of this disease, and the difficulty attending a cure after it has been neglected for years, and allowed to spread over the system, should admonish every one to give it the earliest proper attention. Sufficient reference will be found in another part of the work to satisfy any one of its curability by our treatment.

CANCER OF THE LIP. This disease often appears of so trifling a character as to pass almost unnoticed for weeks, and even months. Its first appearance is often in the form of a small scale, which occasionally falls off, and again reappears, and continues growing until a hard crust or scale is formed. This condition is followed after a time by ulcerations, after which a fungus growth frequently rolls out upon the lip, which often bleeds upon the slightest irritation. Cancer of the lip often commences with a small hard tumor which gradually increases in size. But in all these forms the disease if not arrested, will extend to other parts of the face, throat and neck, which, in their turn, become swollen and painful, as the disease proceeds on to its fatal termination. While the disease is confined to the lip, face or chin, we have seldom found a difficulty to perform a perfect cure. But as the glands of the throat become affected, the case becomes more complicated, and a return to health less certain.

CANCER OF THE NOSE AND FACE. The face is frequently attacked with small Cancer spots, scabs or cutaneous cancer. These spots are at first quite small, and usually dry and will often bleed if disturbed or scratched. In other cases Scirrhus Tumors form on the cheek, or other parts of the face, and generally run their course till ulceration takes place, when they commence eating. The nose is often attacked with Cancer in the form of a scab, fungus, bleeding or eating Cancer, all of which should receive their appropriate treatment.

CANCER OF THE MOUTH AND TONGUE, is of frequent occurrence, and admits of considerable variability in its appearance. Sometimes it forms in a tumor on the edges, or upper surface of the tongue. Sometimes it appears in the form of a discolored pimple in the mouth, or upon the tongue, and is often disposed to bleed from the slightest cause. These formations, after a time, spread until the whole tongue and portions of the mouth are involved. Cancer of the Mouth and Tongue is of the most difficult character to cure, owing to the peculiar structure of the parts, and the difficulty of properly applying the remedy. They should therefore be checked, before they have obtained the ascendancy.

CANCER OF THE EYE, usually attacks the angle of the eyelids but is not confined to these parts. It sometimes commences by enlarging the eyeball itself, causing severe pain, and after a time bursting the membrane, from which springs a fungus growth which often protrudes to a considerable extent. In such cases, unless checked by proper remedies, the disease proceeds rapidly toward a fatal termination.

CANCER OF THE STOMACH, is often known by the refusal of the stomach to digest food, by the acid eructations, by the frequent vomiting and the peculiar kind of substance ejected, and by the cadaverous look of the person.

CANCER OF THE BOWELS, may be known by most of the symptoms peculiar to Cancer of the stomach; in each case the most thorough constitutional treatment is necessary, as well as proper local remedies.

CANCER OF THE WOMB is much more common than is generally supposed. It may be known by the peculiar pains which it often produces, and the nature of the discharges after it has produced ulceration.

Our treatment has proved so generally successful, that we regard Cancer of the Womb, as a curable disease in almost every case, except in its last stages, when the whole system sinks under its influence.

It should be remembered that our remedies are perfectly harmless — that even the Cancer plaster may be reduced to liquid form and administered internally with the same happy effect as externally.

FALLING OF THE WOMB, and other female weaknesses are often caused, and almost always aggravated by a Cancerous, or Scrofulous humor, seating upon those organs which can easily be cured, by cleansing the blood, and applying the proper local remedies.

CANCER of a malignant character is often found on the hands, arms, or lower limbs. Indeed there is no portion of the body, which has not been found subject to it, though we have mentioned the more permanent and general parts subject to its attack.

The real nature of Cancers has been but little understood by physicians.

Writers have been divided in their opinions as to the cause or origin. A great variety of theories have been advanced by different authors, the chief merit of which has been their novelty.

The disease is often imputed to blows, severe pressure, or other accidental injury, but there are always other circumstances prevailing which have more influence than the accidental injury; as we have before remarked, the mere local symptoms are always preceded by a predisposition to such disease in the constitution. A blow or other injury may develop, but does not produce or originate the disease. It may lie dormant for years, and only be developed by some accidental injury.

For reference to cases cured, see page 49.

OUR REMEDIES FOR CANCER.

These remedies have been tested for seventeen years, in thousands of cases, and excel all others in the following particulars:

1. The treatment given eradicates the disease from the blood, restores the general health of the patient, and renders the removal of the cancer comparatively easy.

2. The slight pain, which the plaster produces, affecting the system but little, while it is extracting the Cancer.

3. The rapidity of its operation, often taking the Cancer out in a few minutes, sometimes before the patient is scarcely aware of its action. If the Cancers are very large, and the patients extremely sensitive, they are then, if they request it, put under the influence of Ether, while the whole is being accomplished, and then awake, as from a dream, to find the Cancers removed.

4. The Modifications which this Plaster is capable of receiving, in its preparation, so as to suit the constitution and strength of the patient, as well as the different kinds of Cancers. By this Modification, it is successfully applied, in liquid form, to Cancers in the Mouth and Stomach, also the Bowels or Womb, and in this manner cases are reached, which are considered hopeless by any other treatment.

5. The amount of discharge produced. This commences in a few days after the removal, and by the applications used continues abundant until the Cancerous affection is wholly removed.

6. The time occupied in healing. This varies from two or three weeks to as many months, according to the size of the Cancer, and the health and the vitality of the patient.

7. The advantages afforded by our Electro Medicated Baths, for cleansing the system of all disease in the quickest possible manner,

SCROFULA AND ITS RESULTS.

We have not room in so small a book to enter into the various causes that develop this disease, or to trace all the sad results coupled with Scrofula. In our own familiar way, we will explain a little as to its nature, and the mode to be adopted for its cure.

Scrofula, in the general sense of the term, consists of a morbid deposit of diseased matter in some part of the body, which depends chiefly upon some peculiar predisposition in the system.

It is a disease which has, for the last few years, developed itself with a rapidity unparalleled in the annals of diseases; and in the present generation appears to be so mixed up with the very elements of existence, as to aggravate and render more complicated and incurable, the greater part of the diseases to which the human body is liable.

No age confers complete immunity from Scrofula, but different periods of life render some organs more liable to be affected than others. The parts of the body in which the vital functions are most dormant, are more particularly subject to the influence of Scrofula.

Bronchitis and other diseases of the Throat, are often to be traced to a Scrofulous condition of the system, producing an irritation of the mucus membrane of the Bronchial tubes, and the reason why it is so unsuccessfully treated by local application, is because it is dependent upon an impure state of the blood, and frequently aggravated by a Scrofulous condition of the glands around the parts most affected, calling loudly for means to stay its progress. But so many have been the lurking places, and so little understood has been this Scrofulous foe and the want of proper cleansing remedies for the blood, it has stealthily advanced step by step, until by a rapid march, has entered the "Citadel of Life," and laid its victims among the "dusty dead."

The Lungs are particularly liable to become affected with this disease. Every observing mind must have noticed that consumption is much more common than formerly, and the great increase of mortality from this disease is owing chiefly to the effect of humors seating upon the Lungs, causing irritation and inflammation, and finally breaking down the texture of this vital, yet extremely delicate organ.

In other cases, the morbid deposit appears in small tumors or knots, called tubercles, which, after remaining in a latent state for a longer or shorter period, gradually increase in size, then soften, and finally cause incurable consumption.

In other cases, the disease seems to centre principally upon the glands of the neck, or other parts of the system, producing enlargements which, after a time, not unfrequently degenerate into foul ulcers, extending even to the bones, and which, unless the blood is cleansed, often discharge for several years, when the vitality of the system becomes exhausted, and the person falls a victim to Scrofula.

In this form of the disease, as well as in all ulcerations and swellings, the condition of the system is often changed by the administration of mercury. This change, although perhaps not for the better, is worthy of a passing notice, as the mercury often combines with the scrofula, rendering the disease more rapid in its operations, and much more fatal in its effects, inasmuch as both, combined together, have a greater power over the system, and a much stronger tendency to affect the bones, hence the frequent appearance of what is termed "fever sores," in persons of scrofulous constitution, who have, during a fit of sickness, been drugged with mercury.

In persons of a different temperament and constitution, this same scrofulous taint fastens upon the periosteum or membrane covering the bones, affecting principally the spine or joints in various parts of the system, and producing what is termed "SCROFULOUS ENLARGEMENT OF THE JOINTS," which often renders its victim nearly helpless. In the incipient stage of this form of Scrofula its symptoms are so nearly similar to those produced by Rheumatism, that it is often mistaken for it by many physicians. This, however, will not appear so strange when we consider that the two diseases not unfrequently combine together. In this state of combination all efforts to remove the rheumatic affection are unavailing unless combined with the proper remedies which may cleanse the blood, and remove the Scrofula also.

Most of the complaints peculiar to females which have been so unsuccessfully treated by physicians generally, are dependent upon the irritating and corroding effects of Scrofulous humors, and are perfectly and permanently cured by cleansing the blood and restoring proper tone and action to the system. Neuralgia is also dependent upon the same cause, and the severe pain is only an irritation upon the sensitive nerves.

ERYSIPELAS, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, pimples and all eruptions of the skin, are dependent upon some form of this peculiar Scrofulous Diathesis of the system. Dyspepsia, disease of the Liver, Kidneys, and even of the Heart, whatever may have been the first cause, afterwards combine with the Scrofula, and become a chronic disease so interwoven with this peculiar state of the system as to baffle the skill of the physician, who wonders that his remedies are inadequate to restore his patient to health.

Scrofula not unfrequently hides itself from common observation, by affecting principally the secretions of the stomach and bowels, thereby clogging up the avenues of life, depriving the blood of its nutriment and vitality, and the muscles of their strength and power. The stomach and bowels having lost their tonicity, the power to properly assimilate food into nutriment has become so weakened, that the body languishes, the muscles become weak and relaxed, while the blood, and consequently the whole system, is wasting and slowly starving to death; and yet the person is perhaps all the while eating hearty food, and in some cases with a tolerable good relish. But the veins soon begin to have a peculiar blue appearance, forming a delicate yet fearful contrast with the whiteness of the skin and the bloodless appearance of the surrounding tissue. During all this time the voice is clear, the mind active, the eye quick and penetrating. This peculiar state of the system is called Consumption of the blood.

Although diseases of the blood have been so unsuccessfully treated by physicians generally, we can assure the afflicted that nature has provided a remedy, and that the medical knowledge of the different tribes of Indians has been reduced to a system by a scientific Physician, and that this obstinate disease is made to yield to the potency of nature and science, and hope grows bright in bosoms where hope was dead before, as the warm pure blood, enlivening, vivifying and refreshing, pours in rich streams of health throughout the system, exciting the activity of the body, stimulating the brain, and filling the heart with boundless thankfulness, that wisdom has been giving to man, and means within his power to conquer that fell scourge, and desolator of the fireside—

BRONCHITIS.

This disease is often brought on by colds, catarrh, inflammation, &c., but more commonly by a scrofulous condition of the blood. When the blood is pure, the disease is easily removed, but when the blood is filled with scrofulous humors, concentrating upon the throat and bronchial tubes, the disease becomes chronic. The disease is characterized by turns of coughing, wheezing, short breath, with a constant tickling or irritation in the throat and lungs.

If the disease is occasioned by cold, &c., it will soon yield to the action of the Wash for Throat and Cough Balsam. If it is dependent upon impurities of the blood, the Inidan Panacea should be taken in connection with the above, with such other remedies as the case may indicate.

ASTHMA.

This very troublesome, and often oppressive disease, is usually traceable to a Scrofulous condition of the Lungs, hence those spasmodic turns, or shortness of breath — a choking sensation — becoming so oppressive, the sufferer flies to anything for help, and thus the old practitioner has frequently administered opiates — stimulants, cathartics, blisters &c. &c., sometimes affording temporary relief, but only serving to inflame the blood, increase the humors, and hasten the poor sufferer to his long home. For a cure, cleanse the blood. For present relief, take the Asthma Pills and the Cough Balsam. If you have taken cold, drink freely of herb teas, &c., and take a Sweat. If the stomach is foul, take an Emetic, which, with the above remedies, will afford relief immediately.

CONSUMPTION.

Consumption of the Lungs has its origin frequently in an insidious humor, of scrofulous nature, that pervades the blood as its first work, and then fastens upon the lungs. And from this position, how plainly may be seen the fatality of treating the disease by expectorants and those appliances, whether external or internal, which tend to centralize the blood upon, and increase the action of, the lungs. The humor thus has increased means of finishing its work and laying another victim in the grave.

Rightly understood and treated, it is easily controllable. Draw away the humor from the lungs, by cleansing the blood with our Indian remedies at an early stage of the disease, and there is no more need of fear. For this purpose, the Indian Panacea should be taken till the blood is thoroughly cleansed. When the cough is troublesome, the Cough Balsam should be taken; if the throat is sore, the Wash for Sore Throat should be applied several times a day; to impart strength and give tone to the Lungs, the Indian Specific is an excellent remedy. If there is pain or soreness in the chest or sides, the Magnetic Ointment should be applied every night, followed by wet cloths, &c., &c. If there is bleeding from the Lungs, a little salt and water may be taken. The stomach and bowels should be kept clear by an occasional Emetic or Physic, if necessary.

WHITE SWELLING.

This is a very painful and protracted disease. The knee, ankle, wrist and elbow are the principal parts subject to the disease.

The diseased joint becomes enlarged and swollen to a considerable extent. This swelling, however, is usually preceded by severe pains. There is no discoloration of the skin, and the only peculiarity exhibited, in addition to the swelling, is a shining smoothness of the skin, with some distention of the veins.

The disease may remain in this condition for years without any great change, but will sometimes change its character in a few months, break and form abscess. In a majority of cases the health is seriously impaired, and the patient much reduced by the continued drain upon the system.

The only reliable course of treatment is that which will cleanse the blood and restore healthy action to the system. For this purpose, the ELECTRO MEDICATED BATH should be taken two or three times a week, in connection with the Indian Panacea and such other remedies as may be needed, with the external use of the Scrofulous Ointment to the parts affected. This treatment rarely fails to afford immediate relief.

U L C E R S .

Ulcers are generally induced by a disorganization of some part of the system either internal or external. If internal, it is usually termed an abscess. Ulcers are often the result of inflammation arising from some irritant or poison in the system. They form a very extensive and important class of diseases. Those of a malignant character resembling very much cancerous ulcers, often extending even to the bones, and which, unless the blood is cleansed, often discharge for several years, when the vitality of the system becomes exhausted, and the person falls a victim to this form of Scrofula.

The ulcers should be washed clean every day with soap water, and kept covered as far as the soreness extends, with a poultice prepared with our Poultice Powder, till the soreness and inflammation has abated, and then apply the healing salve, and unless a fungus growth appear, the sores will soon heal. The patient should at the same time take the Indian Panacea, to cleanse the blood, and such other remedies as are needed to keep the secretions of the stomach and bowels clear.

T U M O R S .

Tumors make their appearance on nearly every part of the body, and are of several varieties.

Where there is a cyst or sack containing matter, they are termed encysted. The contents in many cases, being soft and pulpy, and in others a fluid. Wens resemble, in most respects, this latter class, being soft and yielding, and often growing to a large size.

Some species of tumors are composed of a soft, fleshy or fatty substance, but are not encysted — while others are quite hard and unyielding — in some instances we have found them nearly, if not quite, as hard as the bone. We remove tumors by our process with but little difficulty.

R H E U M A T I S M .

The acute, or inflammatory form of this distressing disease, usually commences with chill followed by thirst, loss of appetite, and general symptoms of fever. The symptoms are followed by pains and swelling in the joints, often extending over the whole system, rendering the patient entirely helpless; with extreme suffering from the slightest touch or motion.

The Chronic form of this disease is manifested by pain in the shoulder, back, hips or limbs, and is usually attended with pain and swelling, shifting often from one part of the system to another.

Every form of this disease may be cured by cleansing the stomach and bowels, and making a free use of the "INDIAN RHEUMATIC EXTERMINATOR," with the "Magnetic Ointment," applied to the parts most affected. When improperly treated, the joints often remain stiff for a long time.

GOUT is so nearly allied to Rheumatism, that it may be treated upon the same general principle, and with equal success.

D Y S P E P S I A .

Dyspepsia is a derangement of the digestive functions, the immediate cause of which appears to be a diminished quantity, or unhealthy quality of the gastric secretion of the stomach.

This disease was scarcely known to our forefathers, but, owing to our luxurious habits of living, and the evil tendency of the old school practice of physic, it has now become one of the most fashionable maladies of the day. It usually commences in a slow and gradual manner, giving the first warning of its approach by an uneasy sensation in the stomach, especially after eating, often accompanied with costiveness, thirst, and sometimes nausea and vomiting. These symptoms are succeeded by a long train of other symptoms, such as nervousness, flatulency, heartburn, tenderness in the region of the stomach, rising of wind, &c. Under the effects of this combination of diseases, the patient becomes restless, feeble and emaciated.

This diseased state of the system may be brought on by intemperance in eating and drinking, want of proper exercise, intense anxiety of mind, depressing passions, intense mental application immediately after eating, clogging of the secretion of the stomach and bowels, humors of the blood irritating the stomach, obstructions in the liver, &c. But the most common and fatal causes may be attributed to the drugging of the system with mineral poisons, and the indiscriminate use of the thousand and one Quack Medicines with which the land is flooded. The stomach was never designed for an apothecary shop, and those troubled with Dyspepsia should never swallow medicine prescribed by more than three doctors, and five old women at the same time, unless they have a constitution of more than ordinary power of endurance.

Dyspepsia may often be cured by close attention to diet, and proper exercise in the open air. No more food should be taken at a meal than can be well digested, no matter how small the quantity may be; if too much is taken it will excite unpleasant sensations, and protract the period of recovery. If the case prove an obstinate one, and does not yield to such regimen as the patient's judgment shall dictate, he should immediately obtain personally or by letter, the advice of some physician who understands the disease, and whose research and knowledge of Nature and her laws shall enable him to apply the proper remedies. These remedies should then be used with a suitable degree of perseverance, and health will be restored; after which proper care and attention to diet will prevent a recurrence of the disease.

We have seldom found difficulty in curing this disease, and if dyspeptics will follow the above suggestions, and take, before eating, the Imperial Drops, or Restorative Bitters, and after each meal a dose of the Anti-Dyspeptic powders or Pills, they will soon find themselves free from this disease. Dyspepsia oftentimes combines with disease of the Liver, when the Anti-Billious Mixture, Billious Physic, or Anti-Billious Pills should be taken occasionally in connection with the above remedies, till the Liver becomes healthy and active. If the disease is still more complicated, it should be met with appropriate remedies.

To that far greater worldly blessing—health?
What's house, or land, or dress, or wine, or meat,
If one can't rest for pain, nor sleep, nor eat,
Nor go about in comfort? Here's the question,
What's all the world without a good digestion?”

JAUNDICE AND LIVER COMPLAINTS.

Diseases of the Liver are characterized by weakness, languor, drowsiness, loss of appetite, faintness at stomach, pain in the side and shoulders, followed by a yellowish color of the skin and eyes. It often combines with Dyspepsia, followed by acidity of the stomach, costiveness, and many symptoms common to that disease.

We have not room to notice particularly the treatment of this disease. But any person wishing for advice or medicine for this, or any other disease, should address Dr. R. Greene, 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

C O S T I V E N E S S .

We have no room at this time to notice the various causes which conspire to produce a costive state of the bowels. Suffice it to say, it is a fruitful source of disease, and should never be neglected. Proper care and attention to diet, will do much towards correcting the habit. The Indian Restorative Bitters, or some laxative tonic, and stimulating injections, will soon remove the difficulty. The Indian Vegetable Pills, or some mild cathartic may be given for present relief, but they must not be depended upon for a cure.

DIARRHŒA AND DYSENTERY.

These diseases are known by an unnatural looseness of the bowels, attended with a sense of languor and griping pains, may easily be cured, by taking the Indian Cordial, till the disease is neutralized and passed off; and then giving astringent tonics to strengthen and give tone to the system. If the disease is bad, and attended with general fever and bloody discharges from the bowels, injections and other appropriate remedies should be given.

H E A R T C O M P L A I N T .

Diseases of the heart are of several forms, each producing symptoms peculiar to themselves, which we have not room to enumerate here.

Diseases of the heart are often aggravated by other diseases. In some cases palpitation, and other unpleasant affections; are occasioned entirely by the sympathetic action of the system from the effects of other diseases, such as Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, &c. Such a combination of diseases should be treated each with their appropriate remedies, in connection with the "Heart Corrector."

DROPSY.

Dropsy consists of an effusion of the serous fluid into the cellular tissues of the system. It is sometimes confined to parts of the body, while in other cases it extends to every part of the system. Unless progressed too far, it is easily cured by our treatment. See Page 67.

STRANGUARY AND GRAVEL.

These affections, and all diseases of the KIDNEYS, are too well understood to need a description from us. In all mild cases, they will readily yield to the effects of the Diuretic Syrup. If the case is obstinate, the Diurectic Drops should be given. This is a very powerful remedy, and rarely fails to afford immediate relief, unless complicated with other diseases.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.

There are many disorders incident to the female sex which require the greatest care and attention. The want of efficient remedies, together with carelessness, inattention, and mal-practice, have cut down thousands of young women in blooming youth, who otherwise might have remained the solace of their parents in their declining years.

It is not proper for us with our limited space to enter into the particulars respecting the various forms and symptoms of these diseases. Every observing mother and experienced nurse, knows their disastrous effect upon the constitution.

Dr. Greene has for many years, devoted much attention to this subject, in order to discover, if possible, the cause of so much suffering, and has become convinced that most of it proceeds from a diseased action of the blood, concentrating upon those organs peculiar to the female sex. Repeated examinations have resulted in finding the womb diseased with tumors, cancers, ulcerations, &c. Those who have suffered from these difficulties, if they will reflect on their own cases, will admit the propriety of the conclusion at which we have arrived.

It would be vain for us to attempt to expatiate upon the efficacy of the Indian Remedy for the removal of this complaint. THE FEMALE RESTORATIVE, is alone sufficient to affect a cure in most of the ordinary cases of Female weakness. But when the blood is filled with humors developing active disease in those organs, the course to be pursued is obvious to every reflective mind viz; to cleanse and purify the blood. To do this will require a persevering use of the Indian Panacea with such other remedies as each particular case may indicate. The Electro Medicated Baths are particularly adapted to these cases. See page 69. Every lady wishing for information upon this disease, should address Dr. Greene, 36 Bromfield St. Boston.

PARALYSIS,

And diseases of like nature, are caused by a lack of nutrition in the system, by obstructions in the circulation of the blood and nervous fluids, and various other causes the particulars of which we have not room to notice.

The treatment of these diseases should be of a general character, to regulate the secretions, and invigorate the circulation of the blood.

THE ELECTRO MEDICATED BATHS, are particularly for the removal of these forms of disease. The Imperial Drops may be taken to advantage, with the external application of the Magnetic Ointment, and such other treatment as the nature of the case may indicate.

NEURALGIA.

This disease is characterized by a most excruciating pain which often darts along the course of the nerves with the rapidity of lightning. It mostly affects the face, about the angle of the jaws; but it sometimes affects every other part of the system. It usually comes on in paroxysms, and sometimes returns periodically every day, like an intermittent. When it is very severe, or has continued for a length of time, swelling and tenderness arise in the parts affected.

This disease has not been properly understood, or properly treated, by physicians generally. It consists of an irritation of the nerves, caused by some acrid humor in the blood, and is easily cured by cleansing the system of the humors or exciting cause. For immediate relief, rub the parts affected with the Magnetic Ointment, and apply cloths wet with cold water.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Is known by an involuntary action of the muscles, generally affecting only one side, but occasionally the whole system. In some cases the spasmodic motions are so constant and perplexing, that the patient cannot feed himself or even walk. This disease is easily cured by cleansing the system and removing the exciting cause, and making free use of the nerve tonic to strengthen the nervous system.

HEART BURN, WATER BRASH,

And other slight derangements of the secretions of the stomach may be cured by the use of the Imperial Drops or Restorative Bitters before eating, and the Anti-Dyspeptic Powders after eating, with occasionally a dose of Bilious Physic or Pills if the Liver is torpid.

H E A D A C H E .

Bilious Derangement, and a foul stomach are the chief causes of headache. An emetic followed by the Bilious Physic taken occasionally will afford relief, and also by removing the cause, prevent its recurrence. If the stomach is clear and the headache caused by nervous excitability, the nervine should be taken. If it is caused by humors, acting upon the brain, the Indian Panacea should be taken to cleanse the blood.

WEAKNESS AND INFLAMMATION OF THE EYES

May be produced by various causes, but the most common cause is humors and impurities of the blood, seating upon those delicate organs. The treatment of the old doctors often aggravate the difficulty by increasing the irritation, and consequently drawing the humors more to these parts. To affect a cure, take the Indian Panacea, to cleanse the blood with such other remedies as the case requires. Apply nothing to the eyes except the eye-water, a decoction of Sumac Leaves, or something cleansing and soothing; and as the blood becomes pure the eyes will be well. By a neglect to follow these simple rules, many persons have lost their sight from what at first appeared a slight affection.

DEAFNESS.

The cause of Deafness is first to be ascertained before it can be determined whether a cure can be effected or not. A great majority of cases (except from old age) are caused by humors of some kind, seating upon the delicate organs of the ear. Partial deafness often follows Scarlet Fever or Measles, especially when the diseases are improperly treated. We may reasonably expect great improvement, if not a perfect cure from the use of the Indian Panacea, with the application of a few drops of the Oil Linament, or Humor Tincture.

SPINE COMPLAINT,

Should be treated upon the general principle of cleansing the blood, and restoring a healthy action to the system, and applying the Scrofulous Ointment to the parts affected.

INFLUENZA, COLDS,

And diseases of like nature should be treated by a free use of the Imperial Drops to warm and invigorate the blood and free the system from cold. If the person has a cough, or is stuffed up at the throat or lungs, the Cough Balsam should be given in addition to the Imperial Drops, which will soon break up the disease. If the stomach is foul, the Emetic or Bilious Physic may be given.

WHOOPIING COUGH.

It is very difficult to entirely stop the progress of this disease. It may however be modified, by keeping the stomach clear, with an emetic occasionally, and a free use of the Cough Balsam or the Croup Syrup, so that the children afflicted with it will continue their play, and mind but little about the disease.

C R O U P .

This is an affection of the wind-pipe and Bronchial tubes; it mostly attacks children, often commencing suddenly, with a spasmodic cough and great difficulty in breathing. Sometimes it comes on more gradually, and has premonitory symptoms, such as drowsiness, fretfulness, watery and heavy eyes, accompanied with a peculiar cough, denoting at once the nature of the disease, and the necessity of immediate attention to its removal. Our Indian Croup Syrup is the best remedy known for this disease, and should be kept ready for use in every family.

C A N K E R .

Canker in the mouth or other parts of the system may be easily cured by the use of our Canker Drops. Canker is often dependent upon constitutional humors, in which case to effect a lasting cure, the Indian Panacea should be taken.

W O R M S .

Worms in children are often very troublesome. The system may be easily rid of them by giving the Indian Vermifuge. If the child is troubled with Pin worms, they may be immediately relieved by injecting into the bowels a strong tea of Wormwood or Tansy.

P I L E S .

Piles consist of small tumors in the lower part of the rectum which are very often extremely painful and troublesome, particularly on going to stool. The most frequent cause may be traced to humors of the blood, drawn to the parts by the use of drastic physic, &c. To effect a cure, the blood must be cleansed, and proper local remedies used.

E R Y S I P E L E A S ,

Is a disease of the blood, usually commencing with inflammation and swelling in some part of the body, followed by small eruptions, ending in dry and husky scales. It sometimes attacks the face, spreading over the head, causing so much swelling as to produce blindness. Not unfrequently is it accompanied with high fever, stupor and delirium.

This disease in its chronic form is very troublesome to many persons, and is often termed "St. Anthony's Fire."

To cure this troublesome disease, it is necessary to cleanse the system. This may be done by adopting Nature's own remedies which may be found at the "Indian Medical Institute."

R I N G W O R M .

This disease consists of red circular patches on the skin, filled with little pustules, which turn to brownish scales in the centre, while new pustules continue to enlarge the circle, on the margin. It is attended with considerable itching and stinging. It is easily cured by applying the Humor Salve, and taking the Indian Panacea.

Is a disease of the blood, manifesting itself in a chronic inflammation of the scalp, often spreading over the whole head, and discharging an offensive matter, that mats the hair together, and forms into thick scales. It sometimes affects the lymphatic glands of the neck, and causes a discharge from the ear. To affect a cure, the blood should be cleansed, and the head should be washed with soap-suds till the scabs are off; then follow with a strong decoction of Sumac leaves, after which apply the Humor Salve, or Oil Linament.

And various other forms of eruptive diseases, all have their origin in a vitiated state of the blood. Their appearance is somewhat different, but they may all be cured by attending to the general principles of cleansing the system as we have directed under the head of the more dangerous forms of eruptive diseases. No person having any eruptive disease should neglect to bathe two or three times a week with soap and water.

LIST OF INDIAN REMEDIES, PREPARED BY
 AT THE
INDIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
 NO. 36 BROMFIELD STREET, BOSTON.

INDIAN PANACEA.

This is nature's remedy, and is warranted a perfect cure for all HUMORS and IMPURITIES of the BLOOD.

We do not mean to say that this is a certain cure for everything, because, if the system is obstructed with other diseases, in combination, with the humors, such other diseases must necessarily require their proper remedies. Therefore, persons afflicted with a combination of diseases should consult Dr. Greene by letter, and take such medicines as their case requires. The first bottle always does good, and a cure will follow a continuance as directed.

This medicine has never been extensively advertised, but has come into general use upon its own intrinsic merit, and has become the most popular HUMOR REMEDY in the world, and we take pleasure in assuring the public that out of 50,000 cases in New England, and 5,000 within Boston and immediate vicinity, only in one instance has it failed to perfect a cure, and in this case, through the ignorance of the parents, the Panacea was discontinued on account of itching of the humor as it was driven out from the system.

Each bottle is accompanied with a box of pills to keep the secretions clear, and a box of salve to cleanse and heal all unhealthy sores and remove pimples from the face. All for $1.00.

IMPERIAL DROPS.

This is an excellent preparation for removing from the system all pains, Obstruction, or Inflammation arising from Colds, Humors, and other causes. It will equalize the circulation, increase vital action, give health and strength to the vital and nervous system. It should be taken in all cases of nervous or general debility, faintness at the stomach, pain or dizziness in the head, cholic pain or nervous pains, fits or obstructions in any part of the system. Price 50 cents.

INDIAN RESTORATIVE BITTERS.

This medicine is of great value for the cure of Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Fullness and Faintness of the Stomach, Pain in the Side, Loss of Appetite, Costiveness, Headache, Drowsiness, Weakness of the Limbs, Lassitude, dizziness, General Debility, Acidity of the Stomach, and that peculiar state of the system which one feels in passing from the chills of winter to the heat of spring and summer. It acts as a stimulant to the digestive organs, giving increased activity to the circulation, strengthening and invigorating the powers of nature, and producing a healthy action through the whole system. If the Liver is very torpid, and the bowels very costive, it may be necessary to take occasionally a dose of the Anti-Bilious Mixture or Pills. Persons wishing for the genuine Indian Restorative should send to the office, as several worthless counterfeits have been sold about the country. Price 50 cents a bottle.

ANTI-BILIOUS MIXTURE.

For all Bilious Difficulties, this medicine stands unequalled. It should be taken in all cases when the Liver and bowels are inactive. Price, 50 cents.

INDIAN SPECIFIC.

This is a cleansing tonic, and should be taken in case of weakness of the Lungs, or Coughs, Cold, Bronchitis, Consumption, Spitting of Blood, and all diseases of the pulmonary organs. Each bottle is accompanied with a box of cough Pills to keep the cough loose. Price, 50 cents.

COUGH BALSAM.

This is an excellent remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Pain in the Side, &c., &c. If the Stomach is Bilious, or otherwise deranged, an Emetic or the Anti-Bilious Mixture, or some mild Cathartic should be taken. Price, 50 cents.

FEMALE RESTORATIVE.

This is an excellent preparation for General Debility, Loss of Appetite, Low Spirits, Irregular Menstruation, Leucorrhœa, and Fluor Albus. Price, 50 cents.

CANCER SYRUP.

This Syrup is designed to assist the Panacea in bad cases of Cancer in dissolving the minute roots, &c., in the blood upon which the Cancer depends for support. Price $3.00.

MOTHER'S CORDIAL.

The perfect ease with which the Indian women pass the parturition period has become a proverb; and in recommending this preparation to every prospective mother, we need only say that it is a scientific preparation from those very herbs used by the Indian women, and, that its use will, in every case, prevent three-fourths of the pain and suffering and danger incident to that important crisis. It has been extensively used throughout New England and the West, and will be sent to any part of the World, upon the reception of three dollars by mail or otherwise.

HEART CORRECTOR.

This should be taken in all cases of disease of the Heart. It rarely fails to effect immediate relief, except in a combination of diseases where other proper remedies should be taken in connection with it. Price, $1.

RHEUMATIC EXTERMINATOR.

An internal remedy peculiarly adapted to the extermination of that distressing disease, Rheumatism. It rarely fails to drive the disease from the system. If the disease is combined with other difficulties, other appropriate remedies should be given in connection. Price $3.00.

FEVER DROPS.

For all cases of Fever or local inflammation or irritation, one tea-spoonful of these Drops should be taken three or four times a day till the disease is removed. Price, 50 cents. Small bottles, 25 cents.

INDIAN VERMIFUGE.

This is the most valuable preparation ever discovered for the removal of Worms from the system. It is nature's remedy, both safe and effectual. Price, 50 cents. Small bottles, 25 cents.

CANKER DROPS.

These Drops should be used in case of Sore Mouth, or Canker in the Stomach or other parts of the system. Price, 25 cents.

CORDIAL FOR DYSENTERY.

A sovereign remedy for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera, and a weak and relaxed state of the bowels. It neutralizes the acrid matter, and expels it from the system, at the same time imparting strength and vigor, and effects a permanent cure. Price, 25 cents.

INDIAN CROUP SYRUP.

This is a safe, sure and efficient remedy for this distressing and often fatal disease, and should be kept in every family, to be used upon an attack of the disease. Price, 50 cents.

DIURETIC DROPS.

These Drops afford immediate relief in cases of Dropsy, Gravel, Stranguary, Inflammation of the Kidneys, and all urinary difficulties. Price, 50 cents.

DIURETIC SYRUP.

This is an excellent remedy for the cure of Dropsy, Gravel, Strangury, Inflammation of the Kidneys, and all other urinary difficulties. It is not so powerful as the Diuretic Drops, but is usually sufficient in all ordinary cases. Price, 50 cents.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC DROPS.

These drops are designed to give tone and action to the Stomach and Liver, and should be taken in all cases of Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Acidity of the Stomach, Distress from Food, or any morbid action which may produce Costiveness, Headache, Lassitude, &c., &c.

Dose. One teaspoonful one hour before or after eating. Price, 50 cents.

EMMENAGOGUE TINCTURE.

This is an excellent remedy for Amenorrhœa or obstructed menses, painful menstruation, &c., &c. Price, 50 cents.

NERVE TONIC.

In almost every case of chronic disease, the nerves become weak and should have something to soothe and strengthen them, and thus prevent the wasting of the nervous system. For this purpose, one teaspoonful should be taken three or four times a day, or only at night as the case may require. Price, 50 cents.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC POWDERS.

These powders afford almost immediate relief in cases of Dyspepsia, Acidity of the Stomach, belching of Wind, or any uneasiness arising from a Dyspeptic state of the stomach. Price, 25 cents.

PHYSIC POWDER.

This powder is a gentle cathartic, designed to arouse to action and cleanse the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. If it is not laxative enough to produce sufficient action, the Anti-Bilious Physic or Pills may be taken. Price, 25 cents.

BILIOUS PHYSIC.]

This is an excellent preparation to cleanse the Stomach and bowels, operating in a few hours, and producing no unpleasant effects. Price, 25 cents.

POULTICE POWDER.

This compound should be applied to all Cancerous or Scrofulous sores, or foul ulcers of any kind. It is also useful in Biles or any inflammatory swellings. Price, 50 cents, or $1,00 per pound.

EMETIC POWDER.

This is easy, safe, and effectual, and should be taken in all cases where emetics are required. Price, 25 cents.

EMETIC DROPS.

These Drops are prepared ready for use at any time. It is safe, easy and effective, and may be given to infants with perfect safety. Price, 25 cents.

INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS.

These are evidently the best Pills ever offered to the public, for throwing off the morbid matter from the system, without producing that weakness and debility consequent upon the operation of other cathartic medicines. Price, 25 cents.

ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

These Pills afford relief in Jaundice, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, and other derangements of the Liver and Bowels. Price, 25 cents.

INDIAN STOMACH PILLS.

These Pills are designed to cleanse the secretions, and to equalize the circulation. They afford relief in all cases of general and local inflammation, pressure to the head, fits, pain, and difficulty in breathing. Price, 25 cents.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS.

These Pills are designed to assist the stomach in the process of digestion, and to restore action and tonicity to the system. Price, 25 cts.

INDIAN COUGH PILLS.

These Pills are designed to keep the secretions clear, to dissolve the tough phlegm, and to detach the unhealthy mucus from the throat and lungs. They also support the organs of respiration and nutrition, by which the strength of the patient is supported. Price, 50 cents.

ASTHMA PILLS.

These Pills, taken according to directions, rarely fail to afford immediate relief. If the attack is attended with cold and cough, the Cough Balsam should be taken, and the Imperial Drops or warm teas to promote perspiration. If the stomach is foul, an emetic should be taken. Price, $1,00 per box. Small boxes, 50 cents.

MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

This ointment should be applied to all Hard Tumors or Swellings, Stiffness or Enlargements of the joints. It should also be applied over the parts affected with pain or internal soreness. Price, 50 cents.

SCROFULA OINTMENT.

This should be applied to all Scrofulous Swellings, till they are dissolved and carried away by the Indian Panacea, which should always be taken while using this ointment. Price, $2,00. Small boxes, $1.

CANCER OINTMENT.

This is used in all cancerous Tumors, and upon the hard edges of the open cancer, as far as the roots extend. Price, $4,00. Half box, $2.

CANCER WASH.

This is designed to dissolve the roots and fibres of the Cancer. Price, $3,00.

RHEUMATIC LINIMENT.

This is an excellent remedy for Rheumatic affections, and may be used for numbness, neuralgia, bruises, or other local difficulties. Price, 50 cents.

STIMULATING LINIMENT.

This is a valuable remedy for Sprains, Bruises, Pains, &c. Price, 25 cents.

OIL LINIMENT.

This preparation should be applied in cases of Scald Head, Scurvy, Humors, or Inflammation. Price, 50 cents.

MAGNETIC LINIMENT.

This should be used where the secretions of the skin have become closed, and the circulation of the blood interrupted. Price, 50 cents.

TAMARONA, OR INDIAN PAIN KILLER.

This medicine affords immediate relief in cases of Neuralgia, Colic, Cholera-Morbus, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera, Cramp, Sprains, Bruises, Toothache, &c., &c. Price, 25 cents.

WASH FOR SORE THROAT.

This should be applied to the Throat inside in all cases of Bronchitis, Hoarseness, swelled Tonsils or any irritation or soreness in the throat. Price, 50 cents.

INDIAN CANCER PLASTER.

These are the most wonderful plasters ever discovered. When applied they cause the cancers to shrink up and come out with all their roots. But as persons afflicted with cancer require Dr. Greene's personal attention, a further description of the virtues of these plasters or directions for their use, are here unnecessary.

HUMOR SALVE.

This salve is designed for Pimples upon the face, or any eruption of the skin. It may be applied two or three times a day. Price, 25 cents.

HEALING SALVE.

This is a valuable preparation, and may be applied to all sores, wounds, ulcers, &c., &c.

QUINCY SALVE.

A valuable preparation, to apply to Scirrhus or Cancerous affections, where hardness exists, and not organized disease, having a dissolving, cleansing and healing power. Price, 50 cents.

HUMOR TINCTURE.

This preparation may be applied to any humor or irritation of the skin. It is very cleansing and useful in Cancers or Scrofula, Ulcers, and all unhealthy sores, internal or external. It should be applied directly to the parts affected, once or twice a day, which will often bring them to a healthy state. Price, 50 cents. Small bottles, 25 cents.

INJECTION POWDER.

This should be taken in all cases of habitual costiveness to arouse the bowels to action. It should also be taken in all cases of pain or inflammation in the bowels, in Diarrhœa or Dysentery, to remove the obstruction, and free the bowels of disease. In cases where there is a lack of circulation in the limbs, it should be taken to excite action—to equalize the circulation, and to remove disease. Price, 25 cents.

INJECTION POWDERS. No. 2.

This preparation should be used in cases of Piles, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, or when the mucous membrane of the bowels is diseased; or, when the bowels are sore and irritable from inflammation or other causes. Price, 25 cents.

EYE WATER.

Price, 25 cents.

HAIR RESTORATIVE.

This preparation is superior to anything ever offered to the public, for Restoring, Cleansing and Beautifying the Hair. It removes Scurf and Dandruff, promotes the growth of the Hair, prevents it from falling off, and gives it a brilliancy unknown in the use of other preparations. Price, 25 and 50 cents.

GENERAL REMARKS TO PATIENTS.

Persons taking our remedies are requested to read carefully the following rules, and observe them, so far as they apply to their cases.

Begin with your medicine by taking small doses, not more than 1-4 of a full dose, and increase as you can bear it, to a full dose in a few days.

But never overload the stomach by taking more of anything than it can well receive and appropriate to its purpose. This rule will apply in all cases except when taking emetics, when enough should be taken to make the vomiting free and easy.

When there is a combination of diseases, as is often the case, several different compounds are necessary. In such a case, each of the medicines prescribed, should be taken every day as directed, and should more than one kind occur at the same hour, they may be mixed together, and taken as one dose. Each medicine is prescribed for a specific purpose, to act upon different parts of the system, or upon different complaints, and the use of each medicine should be continued so long as the complaints for which it is prescribed remains, and no longer. Sometimes patients are at a loss to know which medicine is to be taken first. We expect that you will take regularly every day as directed, each kind that your case seems to require, in such doses as your stomach will bear. Emetics or Cathartics should be taken only when good judgment, or the circumstances of the case shall dictate. It is often necessary to continue some of the medicines long after other kinds have been discontinued. The medicine may be taken in a little sweetened water, or any way you choose. The bowels should be kept free, and a full discharge had every day. For this purpose, the Anti-Bilious Mixture, Bilious Physic, or Vegetable Pills should be taken every day as directed, or occasionally, as the case may require.

In some cases of general debility, when the bowels are very torpid, and the circulation of the blood unequal, the injection should be taken as directed, which will warm, strengthen, and invigorate the system, and assist in removing the disease. By this means the costive habit will soon be overcome. In case of Piles the injection powder No. 2, is very important, and will soon Cure, while drastic purges only aggravate this difficulty.

In cases of continued Diarrhœa or Dysentery, the Indian Cordial should be freely taken, until the disease is removed. If the bowels are inflamed or painful, an injection would afford immediate relief. Keep the stomach clear and the bowels free; it is impossible to cleanse the blood, or remove disease, while the stomach is clogged with foul matter. Remember this and take an emetic if necessary.

You should bathe often; do not neglect it. The best time is in the morning. A sponge bath is better for invalids than getting into the water. Water that has stood in your room over night is the proper temperature, if you can bear it so cold and not be chilly. Rub smartly with a flesh brush, hair mitten, or crash towel, until the skin becomes warm and active. If you cannot produce this effect by bathing and rubbing, apply the Magnetic Liniment or Magnetic Ointment every day after bathing, until the skin does become warm and active. In all cases of humor or impurities of the skin, soap of the purest quality should be used occasionally. Let your diet be simple, but nourishing; do not eat many kinds at the same meal, and do not eat too much of anything. If any particular kinds of food do not agree with the stomach, leave them off, and eat those kinds that suit your stomach best.

In all diseases of the Throat, and Lungs, enough of the Cough Balsam or Cough Pills should be taken to keep the cough loose and the expectoration free, till the system is cleansed of the diseased matter. If the matter is tough and hard, an emetic will be of great service. If there is pain or soreness in the chest or throat, apply the Magnetic Ointment, followed by a wet cloth, and let it remain all night if necessary. If this does not afford relief apply the Magnetic Plaster.

Any person taking our medicines, is entitled to all advice and directions free of charge, either personally or by letter. Write often and note any important change in the disease, as we are always anxious to know how each case is progressing.

Cleanliness of person, and cheerfulness of mind, with plenty of pure fresh air, and proper exercise, are indispensably necessary to the sick. Above all preserve a clear conscience, thereby keeping the mind in harmony with itself, at peace with God and all mankind, and having adopted "Nature's Remedies" for the recovery of health, use them with a good degree of perseverance, and you may safely trust in Providence for the result.

FACTS FOR THE INVALID.

FROM THE

INDIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 36 BROMFIELD STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

THIS Institution was established for the successful treatment of CANCERS, SCROFULA, Humors of the blood and all Chronic Diseases. It has been in successful operation for several years, and the fruits of its practice are found in cases cured in almost every town and village in the N. E. States, and many cases from other parts of the country.

Such has been our success, that worthless imitators have gone out and are now itinerating the land and locating where they can find subjects upon whom they can practice. Therefore persons desirous of obtaining the genuine Indian practice, are cautioned against placing themselves under the treatment of any person not employed in this office, as we have no agents either located or travelling, and are not responsible for the misdoings of impostors in this vicinity, or any other part of the country.

We have for the last fifteen years had constantly under our treatment several hundred cases of cancers most of which had been aggravated and extended, either from being cut out, without cleansing the blood, or drawing out the roots, or by the application of caustics or other improper treatment, until the patients were nearly exhausted before they came to us for relief.

We have often been urged by the numerous patients who have thus been saved from premature death, to publish more extensively these wonderful cures, and also to warn people against trusting themselves in the hands of such pretenders as may be found in many places, who are willing, for a fee, to thus trifle with the lives of their patients.

We have cured hundreds of very aggravated cases of Cancers without causing one-fifth part of the pain and suffering which had been previously inflicted. Hundreds of such cases can be referred to, who now raise their voices against such imposition, and at whose especial request we have made these remarks.

Our treatment cleanses the blood and draws the cancer completely out from the system, without caustic or cutting, and although patients come with their cases so aggravated by wrong treatment, we do not lose more than two out of one hundred cases. It is true that in some cases when the cancers are large, and seated near some vital organ, the Doctor does often remove a portion with the knife, thereby getting the bulk of the disease out of the way, so that the remedy can be applied directly to the roots and extract them, without waiting for the action of the plaster to do the whole work. This is accomplished with but little pain, and attains the same object as if the whole had been removed with plasters.

We are often requested to treat bad cases of cancers at a distance without seeing the patient. To such we wish to say that cancers more than any other disease require the personal attention of the physician, and we do not like to take the responsibility of such cases unless we can see to them, and know how each case is progressing.

We have more patients come to the office and Boarding Houses than we can well attend to, and Dr. Greene cannot be spared to go out except on some extraordinary occasion. One of our associate Physicians frequently goes out to attend to cases that are unable to come to the city.

Most diseases, such as Scrofula, Humors of the Blood, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Heart Complaint, Female Complaints, and the great variety of forms in which the human body is afflicted, are successsfully treated with medicines which can be sent to any part of the world, as a very correct opinion of such cases can be formed upon remitting correct answers to the questions found below. Dr. Greene may be consulted at the office, free of charge, or, by letter, enclosing a postage stamp, addressed to 36 Bromfield Street, Boston.

A prompt answer will be returned. When a prescription is first given, one dollar will be charged for recording the case in addition to the price of medicines required.

The expense of medicine required for the treatment of chronic diseases will depend upon the complication of the disease, and will vary in different cases from $4 to $8 for the first month, for subsequent treatment from three to six dollars a month may be sufficient, and from two to four months usually effect a perfect cure.

Medicine sent to any part of the world.

Full directions accompany every package.

Cash to accompany the order.

Persons having Cancers should avail themselves of Dr. Greene's personal attention.

Any person wishing for advice or medicine will please answer the following as far as they may concern you, and add any further particulars which may be necessary to a full description of your case. It will be presumed that the questions which do not concern you will not trouble you.

Give your name, age, residence, occupation, married or single, strong or delicate, lean or fleshy, tall or short, straight or stooping, complexion, color of hair, to what complaints are your family most subject, have you scrofula, cancer, or any humor; if so, how does it affect you? any headache, cough, asthma, loss of voice, hoarseness, catarrh, expectorate much, raise blood, fever or night sweats, chills, confined to bed or house, &c. Palpitation of the heart, rheumatism, dropsy, fits, palsy, dyspepsia, sickness, sourness, or distress at stomach, bilious, bowels regular, costive, or diarrhœa, appetite good or bad, piles, fistula, gravel, urine scanty or sediment. Nervous, — if a lady—married, had any children? any female complaints, irregularity — weak back, pain anywhere, had any bad fits of sickness? &c.

RULES FOR PATIENTS AT THE OFFICE.

1. — Patients wishing to consult with Dr. Greene, will take their turn as numbered on the card presented them.
2. — Persons wishing only for Medicines, will please call for them at the counter.

- 3 — Persons taking Medicines are requested to pay for them at the desk.
4. — For the removal of CANCERS, payment will be expected in advance.
5. — No book account will be opened with any patient without their first making arrangements with the "BOARD OF MANAGERS."
6. — Consultation free, the charge being only the price of Medicines required, except with the first prescription, when one dollar will be charged for recording the case.

KNOW THYSELF, &C.,

Physiology, treats of the functions of the human system, or "The laws of life," it signifies a healthy performance of all the organs of the system. When any of those organs fail to perform their duty, a Pathological or diseased condition ensues.

EXISTENCE is the gift of God, a boon worthy of the giver, and we do well to watch this gift with care, to study well the "Laws of Life," lest by some jar, or trespass of nature's law, we fill the cup of life with "bitter waters," and thus limit our existence here, or bring upon ourselves a premature old age. There are to-day, thousands, toiling hard to over-run the goblet, ignorant of themselves, thoughtless of the conditions of life, and regardless of the laws of health.

It must be conceded by all, that the knowledge of preventing disease is among the most important parts of the science of medicine; as it is far easier to prevent disease than to cure it. For the old adage is not yet worn out, "that an ounce of preventive is worth more than a pound of cure."

It is very obvious that we cannot always have a physician at our side, to tell us in what condition of body we can safely expose ourselves to the inclemency of the weather, and how long it may be continued, or when the air we breathe is pure or deleterious, when we are in contact with poisonous substances, where the middle line of wisdom is ; where the indulgence of appetite and health, and all the pleasures of existence meet ; how we may understand the nature of diseases, and how to thwart them in their incipient stages.

The Pastor, Merchant, Mechanic, Farmer, nay, all men, may know these laws or should know and teach them to their children, and thus help on that happy period promised in the Bible, "When there shall be no more an infant of days, but the child shall die an hundred years old."

PRESERVATION of health is worthy of careful thought, for if we transgress the laws of Health, we shall sooner or later reap our reward in aches or pains. "We are fearfully and wonderfully made."

It is much easier to preserve health than to recover it when lost. How little soever we may think of medicine when we are well, in sickness we see in it our best friend. A drop of water often extinguishes a spark which might have become a raging conflagration ; so will a very little good medicine, in the commencement, often save a long sickness and perhaps the life of the patient. We should, however, as soon expect to put out a flame with alcohol, as to cure disease with such remedies as are generally found in the sick chamber. People have learned by bitter experience, that they have nothing to hope from the old school practice. They well understand, if a common physician is called, that in nine cases out of every ten, they will be much worse before they are any better.

It is not so with our remedies. They act in harmony with the system, and soon overcome the disease, while the spirits and general health of our patients improve from the commencement. They have now stood the test of a very extensive practice for seventeen years, and have triumphed over the flood of opposition from the old Profession. Patients from every part of our broad continent, cured of various diseases, unite in testifying to their remarkable curative powers. Trusted to their own merits to sustain themselves, they have gained the confidence of the public ; until we now feel that the battle is fairly won, and that victory has found a resting-place in the "TEMPLE OF NATURE."

That Vegetable medicines are the most natural is evident ; and as to their safety and efficacy there can be no doubt. These remedies are compounded upon principles, unknown to the Mineral Doctors, and are entirely different in their operations, acting in perfect harmony with the laws of life. A knowledge of these remedies, and their mode of preparation, was obtained of the "Medicine Men," by Dr. R. Greene, our superintending physician, who has travelled extensively among the Indians, and knows their true theory and practice. The remedies are adapted to all constitutions and diseases, and every day's practice adds new evidences of their virtues. Their destiny is a victorious one; possessing not only power over diseases, but principles which will eventually supersede the whole mineral practice of medicine.

Since these remedies were first introduced, hundreds of bogus or counterfeit medicines have come up under the Indian name, and sold for a day, and then have been forgotten. 'Tis not so with ours; protected as we are, by the "New England Indian Medical Society," (the only organization of the kind,) they have stood the severest tests of time, having fairly won the title of Indianopathy.

Had we space, we would enter more fully into an analysis of disease, and show its relations to the laws of Life and Health; enough however has been said, to show our theory, and we will close by saying, we are ready at all times to furnish families or travellers with medicines, with directions by which, with a little attention to the subject, they may become their own physicians in all ordinary cases.

CANCERS CAN BE CURED.

Medical men, in general, have denied the curability of Cancer. The fact, therefore, of their being cured is of the greatest importance to the medical world, as well as to persons affected with them. We do not now propose to discuss this subject, for we consider it a fact established beyond all question, that "Cancers can be cured."

"By their fruit ye shall know them," is a criterion as good in medicine as in morals. To this we appeal, and propose to notice some of the fruits of Dr. Greene's practice upon this disease, by referring to a number of cases cured, to which we invite the afflicted and the public to further investigate.

MARY HARWOOD, No. 6 Province Court, Boston, Mass., had a Cancer in each of her breasts for several years. They had grown to be quite large, and had become very troublesome, with severe pains extending through the chest and shoulders. The Cancers were both removed, and cured by Dr. Greene. Her case created much sympathy wherever she was known, and her friends think it a wonderful cure. It has now been more than two years since her recovery, and her health remains good.

DEXTER FAY, Esq., Southboro' store, corner of Broad and Pearl streets, Boston. Wife, aged 67, had a cancer in the breast, for five or six years, which had grown quite large. It had been unsuccessfully treated by other physicians. She came under Dr. Greene's treatment in July, 1854. Medicines were given to remove the disease from the blood. The cancer with its numerous roots was drawn out with plasters, and in a few months entirely cured. It is now more than three years since she was cured, and she is well, and capable of answering any inquiries that may be made by those who have doubts of the curability of Cancers.

DARIUS PINGREY, 8 Chickering Place, Boston, had a Cancer removed from his lip and cured by Dr. R. Greene, at the Indian Medical Institute.

MRS. TRYPHENA GRAFTON, aged 75 years, residing in South Boston, corner of E. and Bolton Streets, had a large Cancer in the breast. It was removed and cured by Dr. R. Greene, Sept. 28, 1857.

REV. LAWRENCE CARROLL, East Cambridge, Mass., had a Cancer upon his lip, affecting the glands of the neck. It was drawn out and cured two or three years ago, and stays cured.

EDWARD BEATTLES, Esq., of Old Cambridge, Mass., was cured two years ago of a Cancer upon his nose of several years standing.

MRS. LEVI GILMORE, Charlestown, Mass., was cured of a cancer on her side three years ago, and continues well.

MR. WILLIAM BRACKETT, Waltham, Mass, was cured of a cancer on the under lip, three or four years ago, after it had been aggravated by improper treatment.

MISS ELLEN E. MANN, of Pembroke, Mass., had a cancer in the breast for 8 years. It was 3 or 4 inches across and very painful. The other breast hardened and the throat considerably affected. She had consulted eminent physicians who recommended that it be cut out, but could give no encouragement of curing her. She placed herself under the care of Dr. Greene, at the Indian Medical Institute, in Oct. 1855, and was soon restored to health, and the cancer cured.

MR. S. P. H. DRAKE, of Newburyport, Mass., cured about three years ago, of a very aggravated cancer on his lip, of several years standing. His blood was so perfectly cleansed as to prevent the least appearance of a return of the disease.

MRS. DANIEL WESCOTT, aged 51, residing at No. 173 Eddy St. Providence, R. I., called on us July 1857, with a very painful cancer on the side of the forehead, having troubled her for five years, continuing to enlarge and spread over the side of the face, affecting both face and head.

Owing to other diseases, we found it a difficult case, submitting however to our treatment, her cancer was successfully removed — and her general health improved. In a recent letter, she says she is now cured of her CANCER, and that her health is better than it has been for years past.

MRS. HENRY AMES, of Fitchburg Mass., came to Dr. Greene, Dec. 13th, 1855, with cancer in the right breast — very hard and affecting the glands under the arm. She had consulted with several eminent physicians, who all pronounced it a Cancer, and recommended it should be removed, but furnished no reasonable hope of a cure. But after submitting to Dr. Greene's treatment for a few months, she returned to her home, relieved of her Cancer.

More than two years have now past, and this lady is in excellent health, without any signs whatever of the return of her cancer. She called upon us a few days since and requested our Editor to publish her case to the world, that others afflicted may know of "one place where they can hope for cure."

MRS. P. H. W. LOW, Leominster, Mass. Cancer in the right breast, 3 years. It was very hard and filled nearly the whole breast. She had a strong predisposition to this disease, her mother and other relatives having died of cancer. She came under Dr. Greene's treatment April 8th, 1856. The cancer was extracted, and on the 21st of May following, she returned home, with the cancer cured and her health restored.

MISS FRELOVE G. PAINE, Woonsocket, R. I., aged 48 years, of a delicate constitution. She inherited a cancerous humor, which developed itself into a cancer, involving the entire left breast. The disease extended so far around as to affect the arm very much; causing severe pain through the breast and down the arm. She had the cancer removed in Nov., 1855. It was soon perfectly healed, and she has since enjoyed her usual health.

JONATHAN TOWLE, Winchester, Mass., age 56 years. Had a cancer on his lip for two years. It was cut out by an eminent surgeon of Boston, but this operation only aggravated the disease, and it soon commenced spreading through the whole lip and chin.

He came to Dr. Greene about the first of July 1856. The cancer was drawn out with plasters, and soon healed. He has since enjoyed good health, with a sound lip.

MRS. MORRIS KIMBALL, Exeter, N. H., aged 45. Had a cancer in the left breast for several years. Her health was very poor, having had a cough for fifteen or twenty years, at times very bad, being caused by the cancerous humor seating upon the lungs. She was told by her physician that the roots of the cancer run into her lungs, and that it would kill her to have it drawn out, and advised her to do nothing for it. But believing in the efficacy of "Nature's Remedies," she determined to make a trial. About the middle of June, 1856, she placed herself under the treatment of Dr. R. Greene. The cancer was removed without any unpleasant symptoms. She soon recovered, and has since enjoyed tolerable good health, though perhaps not entirely free from the disease. This case affords a sad comment upon the opinions and practice of physicians who have never studied "Nature's" capacity for healing disease, but who rely upon the action of poisonous minerals to effect that, which the laws of God, and the experience of mankind prove they can never accomplish—cure disease.

ELISHA HAGAR, ESQ., Lincoln, Mass., aged 72, had been troubled with cancerous humor for many years, manifesting itself in various parts of the face, in hard scabby sores. A cancer had formed upon the temple, near the right eye, about an inch across, with some of the roots adhering firmly to the bone, and others running into the socket of the eye, making it a very difficult case to cure. Medicine was given him to cleanse the blood—plasters were applied to the cancer, which soon came out. After the roots were all drawn out, the bone assumed a healthy appearance and the wound soon healed. It has now been entirely well for more than two years, and his blood so perfectly cleansed that he remarked when in our office in haying time, "if he was more than three score and ten years of age, he was satisfied with any man's work who would keep up with him in the hay field.

MRS. WILLIAM LOCKE, Newton, Mass., had a large cancer of the breast for several years. It had been unsuccessfully treated by other physicians, but was drawn out and completely cured by Dr. Greene. It has now been several years since the cure, and her health remains good.

HARRIET H. DODGE, of Chelsea, was several years ago cured of a cancer in her left breast, and remains well.

MRS. RUTH RICHARDSON, Topsham, Vt., aged 62, had a cancer in her breast for 15 years. It had grown very large, and affected the use of the arm. It had been an open cancer for two years. The cancer had at times bled profusely. It affected the whole system, producing a severe cough, &c., &c. The cancer was removed by Dr. R. Greene, Sept. 29, 1857, and her blood so well cleansed that the cancer has entirely healed, and she was at our last accounts enjoying tolerable good health.

MRS. H. W. RICHARDSON, of Cheshire, Mass., had a cancer weighing 4 to 5 pounds, removed from her breast, and under the arm, by Dr. Greene, and we believe it is entirely cured. Removed Oct. 29, 1857.

MRS. CALVIN HALLOWELL, Lunenburg, Mass., aged 56. Slender Constitution, (Sister died of a cancer.) Cancer of the breast for several years. It had been an open cancer for three months, and extended to the other breast, and adhered firmly to the breast bone. Her blood was cleansed, and the cancer removed in June, 1857, and she soon recovered, with her health improved, and appears free from the disease.

HORATIO LYON, ESQ., Monson, Mass. Son, aged 15, had a cancerous humor from birth. It manifested itself in the formation of a cancer upon the face, when but three years of age. A few years after another cancer made its appearance near the first. Four years ago they were removed with the knife, but soon returned, and also another upon one of his limbs. He came under Dr. Greene's treatment about the first of May, 1856. The cancers were soon drawn out with plasters and cured. His blood was also cleansed, and he is now, to all appearances, growing up to be a healthy man.

MRS. PORTER READ, Littleton, Mass., aged 50, had a cancer in breast for 19 years. The last two years it had grown fast. It had extended under the arm, and had become quite large and troublesome. It was successfully removed by Dr. Greene, and she has entirely recovered.

MR. ANTHONY K. LANE, Chichester, N. H., had a cancer upon his under lip and chin for 12 years. It had been cut out and otherwise treated by various doctors, but continued to grow worse, extending to the glands of the throat. He came under Dr. Greene's treatment in October, 1856, and the cancer was soon removed by his plaster. In a few weeks it healed up, and we think has never troubled him since.

MRS. SAMUEL GROW, of Corinth, Vt. Mrs. Grow is 54 years of age. She had a cancer commence some twelve years ago, in her left breast. It progressed slowly at first, and lately with great rapidity, discharging bloody matter. It was a rose cancer, the flower of which was the size of a common tea saucer. It was very hard and the swelling extended under the arm, causing great pain. She had employed several eminent physicians, among whom were the Professors of the Medical School at Hanover, N. H. who after examining the cancer, pronounced it so far advanced that it was incurable, and left the patient without doing anything for her relief. From this time the cancer progressed towards a fatal termination very fast. About the first of December, 1855, Mrs. Grow heard of the success of Dr. Greene and determined to make a trial of his skill. He gave her medicine to cleanse the blood; he then removed the cancer, together with its roots, some of which were four or five inches long. She had a severe attack of Erysipelas, but it was soon subdued, and the sore, which was very large commenced healing and soon got entirely well. It is now more than two years since her recovery, and although she may not be entirely free from disease, yet her health has since been tolerable good, and we believe no appearance of cancer.

SARAH BENT, Fitzwilliam, N. H., had cancer in both breasts for about 10 years. They had recently increased very rapidly, filling the whole breasts, and extending under the arms. She had been treated by other Doctors without much hope of success. She came under treatment at the Indian Medical Institute, Nov. 12, 1856. Medicine was given to eradicate the disease from the blood, after which the cancers were removed without difficulty, and she soon recovered. She called at our office a few months since, and appeared in good health, with no appearance of cancer, and believes herself free from the disease.

MRS. JOHN HUNT, Norton, Mass., aged 62, had Cancerous Humor producing ill health for many years. The humors affected the head, causing deafness, and also Neuralgia very bad. Two years ago it formed into a cancer and progressed quite fast. She came to the "Institute" and took 2 or 3 Electro Medicated Baths to clean the system, after which Dr. Greene applied his cancer plaster which removed the cancer, and she soon recovered.

MRS. B. F. ALDRICH, Upton, Mass., Cancer on the left side of face, just below the temple, about the size of a walnut, with twinging and darting pains extending over the whole side of the head. It was removed in a few minutes with the plaster, and by cleansing her blood, she soon improved, and her health remains tolerable good.

MR. CHARLES P. FAY, of Munson, Mass., cured of a cancer on the side of his face. Mr. Fay is about 60 years of age. He had always been troubled with a cancerous humor, which caused poor health. The cancer had been broken out for some years, and was about two inches in diameter, had been five or six years growing, and its effects had extended to different parts of the face. The cancer was extracted with a plaster, after which it soon healed up. His health somewhat improved by cleansing his blood, and we have reason to hope the disease may never trouble him again.

MRS. JOHN B. SARGENT, Woburn, Mass., had cancer of the breast. Her physicians had tried to scatter it away, which caused it to extend more into the system, causing severe pain in the shoulder and chest with a dry hacking cough. The cancer was removed without difficulty, and her health restored.

MRS. ELIZABETH NASH, Weymouth, Mass., aged 75. Cancer in the right breast, from 2 to 3 years, occupying the whole breast, and extending under the arm with an open ulcer two inches across. Our best surgeons advised her to let it alone, as she was aged and the cancer spreading. She came under Dr. Greene's treatment, Sept. 24th, 1857. The cancer was successfully removed, and she soon recovered, and bids fair to live her appointed time.

MRS. JOHN HEWETT, of Warrensville, Ohio, aged 53, came to us in February 1857, with a very large Cancer in the right breast, about the size of a peck measure, and rapidly increasing, with an open sore on the lower part, the size of a saucer; discharging very offensive matter continually, and often bleeding profusely. She had sought for help from almost every source without avail; submitting to Dr. Greene's treatment, she was relieved of her cancer, weighing 18 pounds, and was soon CURED! living to tell her own story — saying to us in a letter not long since, that she was busily engaged in making butter and cheese in her own happy family in Ohio.

MISS ALICE COUGHLIN, of St. John's, Newfoundland, came to us the 28th of May, 1857, on the left side of her face was a very unpleasant form of cancer, which yielded to the potency of the "Indian Cancer Plaster;" and she has gone to her home in the East rejoicing.

In a letter from her a few days since, she says, "there is no hardness, or sore whatever; my health is better now than it has been for a long time."

MISS LETITIA FISHER, aged 23, of Belchertown, Mass., brought with her a cancer in the right breast of 10 years growth, accompanied with sharp, shooting pains through the breast and chest. She came to Dr. Greene, July 27, 1857, and in a few weeks returned to her home with gladness, taking with her the cancer, safely deposited in a glass jar, as a trophy of human skill.

MRS. NEWELL DE MERRITT, aged 34, of Neenah Wisconsin, with cancer on the forehead, of 4 years standing. It was removed by Dr. Greene in a few minutes, without much pain or inconvenience.

MR. W. MOFFATT, of Sidney, (Cape Breton,) aged 51, with cancer on the hip, for 4 years. It was removed Sept. 7th, and he went on his way rejoicing.

MRS. P. ESTY, aged 67, called on us with her son, Rev. Wm. Esty, of Andover Mass., in October 1857, with cancer of the breast of two years growth, filling the whole breast, extending under the arm, accompanied with open sores, painful and offensive. The cancer was successfully removed, and although the patient is feeble from age and other infirmities, yet may live for many years.

MRS. LOEL SWEETSER, South Reading, Mass., had an aggravated cancer in the breast for 7 years. It had extended under the arm, had been an open cancer for about two years. She came to our "Institute" Nov. 18th, 1856. The cancer was removed, and she soon got well.

REV. BRYON MORSE, aged 76, of Groveland, Mass., called on us with troublesome cancer on the nose — had annoyed him much for 10 years; but after an application of the "Cancer Plaster" it yielded to its power in a few minutes, and when last heard from, he was in as good health as could be expected in one who had labored so hard and long in the ministry.

Aug. 31st, 1855, MR. SOLOMON LAWTON, of Exeter, R. I., aged 62, came to the Institute with Cancer on the lip of 2 1-2 years standing, extending nearly to the chin. Pronounced by physicians to be a cancer, but they furnished no help. With Dr. Greene he found the cancer successfully removed and went on his way rejoicing.

MRS. JAMES BULLOCK, Slatersville, R. I., of feeble and delicate constitution, came to our office in April, 1857, with cancer in the left breast, with a growth of 18 months — open in several places — extending under the arm. Had called upon other physicians but without help. After a short preparatory course, Dr. Greene removed the CANCER, to the great joy of herself and friends.

MR. JOHN MAXIM, of South Carver, was happily relieved of a cancer on the side of his nose in a very few minutes with the plaster, bringing with it numerous roots attached. Dec. 19th, 1857.

MRS. PHILLIPS, of Weymouth, Mass., aged 43, afflicted with a very large CANCER in the right breast — some 8 inches across, which would have proved fatal in a short time. But under the treatment of Dr. Greene, she has parted company with her old enemy, and celebrated last Christmas as the day of her deliverance.

SAMUEL MESERVE, Esq., keeper of the Lowell Jail, called on Dr. Greene, with a cancer which was speedily removed from his lip, leaving no traces behind. He is anxious that all men should know the fact, "That Cancers can be cured."

HANNAH STONE, Rochester, Vt., aged 63, had been troubled with cancer for several years, which was removed and cured by Dr. R. Greene of Boston.

ELIJAH EATON, of Medford, Cornwallis Nova Scotia, had a cancer upon his left side for several years. It had been cut out by a celebrated physician, but soon returned again. He came under Dr. Greene's treatment, Sept. 11th, 1855, and in a few months was entirely cured; the cancer drawn out with plasters, and his blood cleansed by taking the Indian Panacea.

WM. CLARK, of Veasie, near Bangor, Me., cured of a very bad cancer on the breast. This cancer had been of long standing, and the bone had become very much affected, which rendered it a very difficult case to cure.

We might fill volumes with these references, but want of space forbids.

But it may be asked, what guarantee has the public that these cures will be permanent. We answer, by adding a few letters and certificates from persons cured years ago, who are now living and can tell their own story.

SHAKER VILLAGE, SOUTH GROTON,
Mass., Sept., 15, 1853.

THIS CERTIFIES, that I had a cancer on my lip, which defied the skill of some of our most celebrated physicians and was supposed to be incurable by my friends. At this time I was shown one of Dr. Greene's circulars giving reference to some bad cases of cancers which he had cured. I went to see the persons, to ascertain if things were so. I found them to be in good health, having been cured of cancers apparently worse than my own. I immediately applied to Dr. Greene, and by following his directions, in three months, to my surprise, and the surprise of my friends, I found myself perfectly cured. My lip is as smooth as it ever was, and the dyspepsia and numbness which had troubled me for several years, entirely gone. Many who saw me while under Dr. Greene's care, and considered my case as hopeless, now view me with astonishment and surprise. I can, therefore, with the utmost confidence, recommend Dr. Greene to be a man who perfectly understands the art of curing cancers, humors, or any chronic disease as well as a good physician and surgeon in acute diseases.

THOMAS A. MANN.

Thomas Adams Mann, applied, as is stated above, to Dr. Greene in the summer of 1853, with a cancer on his lip. Dr. Greene applied his usual remedies with the most triumphant success, and the cancer was soon cured. Previous to applying to Dr. Greene, he had been treated for cancer by one of the old school physicians, who removed the cancer, but it soon returned, and the fact of its being cancer was never denied by Dr. Greene's greatest opponents; neither did any one deny but that it healed up perfectly after being drawn out by Dr. Greene, but the old doctors said it would return in less than one year.

It has now been more than five years since, and his lip remains perfectly sound. There is no symptom of the disease, nor indeed of other difficulties which he assured us were very severe if not dangerous before taking Dr. Greene's Indian Remedies.

Capt. Samuel Whitcomb, of Littleton Mass., is a case of longer standing, and the result the same, a perfect and permanent cure. Many other cures both in the "United society," and out of it, have come within my personal knowledge. As witness my hand this ninth day of January eighteen hundred and fifty-eight. LORENZO D. GROSVENOR.

Shaker Village, So. Groton, Mass.

Mr. Grosvenor is one of the Elders of the Harvard society of Shakers, and is well known in this part of the country. His Post Office address is South Groton, (Groton Junction,) Mass.

BOLTON, MASS., April 3, 1850.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN;— This may certify that I had a cancer on my under lip and chin, which troubled me very much for many years, and continued to grow worse under the treatment of the most celebrated physicians in this vicinity, who tried in vain for several years to arrest its progress. I at last called upon Dr. Greene, and to my surprise, I found that by taking the Indian Panacea, and other medicines prescribed by him, that a change was going on in my blood, and that the plaster that he applied was not only destroying the cancer, but actually drawing out the roots; and by persevering in his treatment, in four months I became healthy and the cancer entirely cured. And what seemed to me the most incredible is the fact, that the sore, after the roots were out, healed very quick, with the same plaster which dissolved the cancer, and drew out the roots. It is now more than two years since I was cured, and my health is good, and there is not the slightest appearance of the disease.

WILLIAM BALL.

It will be seen by the date of the above letter, that it is now about ten years since the cancer was cured, and Mr. Ball, though quite an old man, is still in the enjoyment of good health. Mrs. Baker, whose letter follows these remarks, was cured about the same time of a cancer of a very aggravated character. She is still enjoying good health, and has never had the slightest appearance of cancer since it was cured.

These, with many other cases, cured years ago, had been treated for cancers by eminent physicians, both in the city and country, and given up, the cancers returning in an aggravated form after each operation.

The question we wish now to ask is this! If they were cancers when unsuccessfully treated by physicians of the old school, were they not cancers when subsequently cured by Dr. Greene, so as to "stay cured;" and if so, are not "Cancers curable?" Answer ye wise ones!

I feel it my duty to make the following statement of facts, for the benefit of the community, and especially those who are afflicted with Cancer and Scrofula. Twenty years ago, I had a cancer commence upon the side of my nose. It progressed with considerable rapidity for a number of years, in spite of the effort of the attending physician. In this condition I remained until my health and strength were nearly gone, and the cancer had eaten off nearly all the ridge of my nose, making a large hole in my head. In this condition, I called upon Dr. Greene, and by following his prescriptions, my health began to improve, and the cancer, instead of continuing to eat, began to heal, and in little more than a year my health became good and the cancer healed. It has now been about a year since it was healed, and the ridge of my nose has grown out nearly perfect, with no appearance of Cancer, and I feel assured that I am now free from the disease.

BETSEY BAKER.

BOLTON, MASS., April 3, 1850.

I hereby affirm that the above statement of my wife is true, and what is remarkable in the cure is, that the cancer healed up with the same plaster that drew out the roots, proving conclusively that the plaster is free from poisonous or corrosive properties.

LEVI BAKER.

CANAAN, N. H., December 21, 1854.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:—I commenced taking your Indian Remedy

dies about the first of September, for cancer in my lip which had then eaten away the whole of my under lip and chin, and extended to the size of a silver dollar beyond the edges of my mouth on each side, and the swelling extended over my whole face and neck, and my strength was so far gone that I could scarcely walk across my room.

By taking your medicines, I commenced gaining in health, and in three weeks was able to visit you at your office in Boston. You then applied your INDIAN CANCER PLASTER, which drew out the roots; the ragged edges disappeared, and the cancer began to heal. After remaining under your care in Boston three weeks, I returned home; and by following your directions I have completely recovered my health. The cancer healed, and my lip has grown up nearly perfect, with only a few scars to disfigure my face.

Previous to taking your medicine I had been treated by several physicians, who injured my health and actually made the cancer worse.

Yours respectfully,

JOSHUA S. LATHROP.

To DR. R. GREENE, 36 Bromfield St., Boston.

MILFORD, MASS. Feb. 4, 1854.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:— Although my case was considered as nearly hopeless when I commenced using your medicines, yet I am now happy to inform you that soon after I returned home, the cancer healed up smoothly, with the Cancer Plaster upon it, and has never troubled me since. It has now been about two years and my health remains tolerable good.

ASIA MADDEN.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:— I am cured, and wish to say to those afflicted with cancer, do not despair. Three months ago I had a cancer on my face, the size of a turkey's egg, which my physician said was incurable. I then sent for Dr. R. Greene of Boston, and am happy to say that his Indian Cancer Plaster has drawn out the cancer with all its roots, and healed it up smoothly, and my health is otherwise very much improved.

JANE BACON.

SUDBURY, MASS. June, 29, 1854.

This certifies that Mrs. Bacon is a member of our family, and at the time we sent for Dr. Greene, our family physician who had been attending her, said that the cancer had become so putrid, that she could not live three weeks, and if Dr. Greene cured her it would be a miracle. She is over 80 years of age, and the cancer is perfectly cured.

S. W. WILEY.

ELIZABETH WILEY.

Mrs. Bacon was so infirm from disease and age, that she had been for a considerable time unable to walk or get from the bed to her chair without assistance. After the cancer was cured, and her blood was cleansed, she could walk with ease. It has now been about 4 years since she was cured, and she still remains in tolerable good health. She is now about 90 years old.

WORCESTER, MASS., Feb. 21, 1852.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—This may certify that I had a cancer upon the side of my face for seven years; that I had consulted a number of physicians, some advising me to do nothing for it, while others recommended the use of the knife. I applied to Dr. R. Greene on the 18th of July, 1850, and in ten weeks the cancer was well, and my health otherwise improved. It has now been about one and a half years since it was cured, and there is no appearance of the disease.

ABRAHAM CUTTING.

LITTLETON, MASS., Jan. 27, 1852.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—This may certify that I had a cancer upon the side of my face the size of a half dollar, which was considered incurable by my physician and friends. I applied to Dr. R. Greene, and the cancer was entirely cured in less than four months, and has never troubled me since, and my health has been very much improved, and remains unusually good for a man of my age, being 75 years old.

SAMUEL WHITCOMB.

Capt. Whitcomb has been cured about six years. He is now more than 80 years old. His blood was so well cleansed with our Indian Remedies, that he seemed to renew his age, and he still remains as he expresses it, "a younger man than he was ten years ago," and a living witness of the curability of cancer, even on persons far advanced in life.

WESTFORD, MASS., Jan. 1, 1855.

THIS CERTIFIES that I had a cancer upon my breast, for twenty-five or thirty years, which had grown to the size of the palm of my hand. I placed myself under the care of Dr. Greene, in May 1854, and in four months the cancer was entirely cured, and my health otherwise improved, and remains unusually good.

SALLY ADAMS.

No. 60 Milk street, Boston, Feb. 9, 1855.

I take pleasure in certifying that the above named Sally Adams is my mother, and that her statement is correct in every particular.

B. B. ADAMS.

WINCHESTER, MASS., Jan. 11, 1856.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:—For the benefit of the afflicted, and as evidence of the complete success of your system, I take pleasure in stating that your treatment was completely successful in curing a cancer on my nose. The cancer was of three year's standing, and was drawn out with its roots by the application of your plaster, in Dec., 1854. It healed up, leaving but a little scar, and has never shown any signs of returning. My health is better than before. Previous to consulting you, I had been attended by five physicians without benefit.

Your's truly,

STEPHEN NICHOLS.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Nov. 8, 1855.

DR. R. GREENE. Dear Sir:—I presume that you have not entirely forgotten that about one year ago you cured a cancer upon my temple, near the eye. The cancer was about two inches across, and had been of five or six years' standing. It had often been pronounced incurable by several of our best physicians, and its cure was considered a great wonder. Many of our citizens predicted that it would soon return again, but my health remains good, the scab, and cancerous affections, which had spread over a considerable portion of my face, have disappeared, and we all are now satisfied that the cure is perfect and permanent. You may therefore refer to my case, in proof of the fact that your Indian remedies do effect perfect cures, after the skill of our most scientific physicians had been tried in vain.

Yours, for the benefit of truth and the afflicted.

LEWIS L. WILLARD.

WEST MEDWAY, MASS., Dec. 23, 1854.

THIS CERTIFIES that I had a cancer on the side of my face for more than twenty years, which was perfectly cured by Dr. R. Greene, in two months, and my health is now better than usual.

OLIVER MESSENGER.

WAYLAND, MASS. January 23, 1855.

To those afflicted with cancer, scrofula, or other humors of the blood, permit me to say that I was cured more than two years ago by Dr. R. Greene, Indian Physician, of a cancer upon my lip and chin, after it had defied the skill of several eminent physicians. The cancer with all its roots, was drawn out by his Indian Cancer plaster, and my blood was so perfectly cleansed with his Indian Panacea, that my health has been good ever since, and there is no appearance of a return of the disease.

WILLIAM BOWERS, JR.

ROYALSTON, MASS., Oct. 25th, 1853.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:—It is now about eighteen months since by your medicine and advice, I was cured of a Cancer which was considered incurable by my former physicians and friends; and instead of troubling me since, as some predicted it would, I can inform you that the scar is scarcely to be seen, my health remaining good, and my blood apparently cleansed of disease.

BENJAMIN FRY.

It will be seen by all the above letters, that the cures were performed from 3 to 10 years ago, and they all stay cured. Mr. Fry is a prominent man, has been for several years a member of the Legislature, and is well known in this community.

DR. GREENE. Sir:—I promised that you should hear from me occasionally. I am well, or at least call myself so. I never felt better in my life than I do now. My old Cancer sore seems well. We have just commenced keeping house, and I get along nicely. I feel as though we had just began to live. When I look back upon the past, and think that only a few short months ago I had no hope of ever being as well as I am now, I feel truly that I have much to be thankful for. Those dark clouds have disappeared, and all is light again.

I am very gratefully and respectfully Yours,

Mrs. HENRY E. AMES.

FITCHBURG, MASS., April 23, 1856.

Mrs. Ames called on us a few weeks since, in excellent health, and solicited the privilege of making known to the world, the triumphs of nature's remedies in her case, we therefore publish these facts at her own request.

EDITOR OF "INDIAN ARCANA."

The following letter from Mrs. Westcott, was sent to a gentleman of this city, who, anxious to know for himself and for an afflicted friend, of Dr. Greene's success in treating Cancer, wrote her, making enquiries of her case. Being so fully persuaded of the good accomplished by Dr. Greene, he felt it his duty to present it to us for publication.

SIR:— In answer to your letter of enquiry, I would say I was afflicted with "CANCER" on my forehead, and went to Dr. Greene in July, and was cured of it in a few weeks. The treatment you will best understand if your friend consults Dr. Greene. I was troubled with the Erysipelis very much, making my case much worse to treat, and the treatment perhaps was different on that account. I have the greatest confidence in Dr. Greene, and would gladly recommend him to any one of my friends that were sick with any sickness, particularly Cancers. I am well, and have enjoyed better health since his treatment, than I did for years before. I shall be happy to learn that your friend seeks his aid.

Yours Respectfully,

S. A. WESTCOTT.

173 EDDY St. PROVIDENCE, R. I. Jan. 15. 1858.

LEOMINSTER, Nov, 17, 1857.

DR. R. GREENE. Dear Sir:— I am happy to inform you my health is very good. I do my housework, and that my old Cancer troubles me no more. My arm feels pretty well, but is rather weak as yet, but the stinging pain that was once so very severe in my breast, and between my shoulders does not trouble me now.

Yours truly,

Mrs. H. RICE.

Mrs. Rice is 65 years of age. Her cancer was of 2 years standing, and had been partially removed with caustic, by a pretender, (of whom there are not a few,) who only aggravated the disease by this strange process.

We have more than five hundred Testimonials like the above, from persons whom Dr. Greene has cured of Cancer; many of them after they had been considered beyond the reach of medical aid. We have numerous testimonials of cures in all forms of disease, but we have selected the above certificates from persons cured of Cancer, — not because the Dr. has not been equally successful in treating other diseases, — but because Cancer has generally been considered an incurable disease. — But, from the success which has attended the practice of Dr. Greene, we have no hesitation in saying that nature has provided a remedy for all diseases, and that a return from the old system of medicine to the principles of nature, and nature's remedies, is the only hope of the sick. Dr. Greene's system of medicine is founded upon these principles, and the results of his practice are before the world, and the positive cures which he is daily performing, prove that his practice is not a system of blind experiments, but governed by fixed principles of science, capable of being applied with a good degree of certainty in the cure of disease. The discovery of a plaster that will draw out Cancers with all their roots, without injury to the surrounding parts, and a remedy like the Indian Panacea, which will cleanse the blood of all humors, are triumphs in medical science never before achieved. His remedies for all other diseases are equally efficacious, but we have not room to mention their virtues. The afflicted are respectfully invited to investigate this system, and avail themselves of the benefit of his treatment.

SCROFULA.

Of all the diseases with which humanity is afflicted, there is none so common as Scrofula — none which plays such a conspicuous part in the diseases of mankind. No disease causes so much suffering, or so many fatal results as scrofula, and yet no disease is so little understood by our physicians. It descends from parents to their children, and is the origin of many symptoms of diseases which, if not eradicated from the system, destroy the health and lead to premature death.

We have not space, neither is it necessary to refer to a large number of cases. Dr. Greene has a great number of patients under his care, and those in doubt, by calling at the office of the Indian Medical Institute, No. 36 Bromfield Street, can see facts enough to convince the most sceptical, that scrofula or any humors of the blood can be cured by the scientific application of the Indian System of medicine.

MISS HAWKES, daughter of Mr. Ezra Hawkes, Jr., No. 52 School street, Boston, was cured by Dr. Greene, in the autumn of 1854. Miss Hawkes, when she applied to Dr. Greene had been afflicted for several years with a scrofulous ulcer on her ankle, which at times was so bad, that she could not walk. She had also scrofulous swellings of the glands of the neck and enlargement of the tonsils of the throat. The scrofula had contaminated her whole system. She had been unsuccessfully treated by several physicians, but was soon restored to health by Nature's remedies.

MRS. HIRAM HALL, of Roxbury, was troubled with scrofula for a number of years. She had bunches in her breast which affected her lungs, causing cough, and shortness of breath, and the derangement of the whole system. Mrs. Hall's blood was cleansed, the scrofulous bunches disappeared, and her general good health established by the use of Dr. Greene's medicines.

MR. L. CUMMINGS, Newton, Lower Falls, aged about 50, cured of a scrofulous sore upon his leg of several years standing.

MRS. THOMAS RAY, of Bolton, Mass., had scrofula enlargement of the joints, which had drawn them out of shape, and rendered her helpless for several years. Mrs. Ray was restored to health and usefulness, by the treatment of Dr. Greene, and the use of his medicine in the autumn of 1849, and still remains free from the disease.

MRS. JOHN EDGARTON, of Harvard, Mass., was entirely cured of scrofula in the stomach, by his remedies, after her physicians said she was beyond the reach of medical aid.

NOBLE H. HILL, Esq., Cambridge, store 66 Milk Street, Boston. Son, 5 years old, had scrofulous humor on the face for more than a year; at times so affecting the eyes as to render it necessary to have him kept in a darkened room for several weeks at a time. He had been treated by some of the most noted physicians among the old school, without any apparent benefit. A trial was finally made of Dr. Greene's skill, and the patient was restored to perfect health in a few weeks. It has now been more than a year since this cure was effected, and he remains healthy, and without the slightest appearance of a return of the disease.

CHARLES R. MARSH, Black River Falls, Wis. Cured of Scrofulous Ulcers upon the neck and swelling of the glands, of nine year's standing.

F. K. READ, Weston, Mass. Cured of a most aggravated case of Scrofula, after he had given up all hope of recovery.

SAMUEL D. FREEMAN, Wellfleet, Mass. Cured of Scrofula, after it had nearly destroyed the sight of his eyes.

MRS. SILAS MAY, of Leominster, Mass., had Scrofulous Sores upon her body and limbs, which at times rendered her almost helpless. After exhausting the skill of all the doctors for twelve years, she was completely cured by taking Dr. Greene's Indian Remedies. It has now been eight years since she was cured, and the disease has never returned.

A child of LEONARD LITCHFIELD, Leominster, Mass., was cured of Scrofula Humors which had disfigured her face and neck and entirely destroyed one of her eyes. The other eye was saved, and the child restored to health by the skill of Dr. R. Greene.

MRS. STEVENS HAYWARD, of Boxboro' Mass., cured of a Scrofulous Ulcer on the breast, three inches in diameter.

EBER HOWE, Marlboro', Mass., cured of a large Scrofulous Ulcer upon the neck.

WESTON, MASS., March 18, 1856.

DR. GREENE. Sir: — It is with a thankful heart that I am able to inform you that your treatment has proved completely successful. My case was considered by our physicians to be one of the worst and most aggravated cases of Scrofula, and I had given up the hope of ever being relieved, the disease having degenerated into deep seated ulcers, on my hips and limbs, for more than two years, which had almost entirely unfitted me for any kind of labor. But through the superior efficacy of your Indian Remedy, and the blessing of God, I am restored to health; you may therefore refer to my case, in proof that Scrofula in its worst forms can be cured.

Yours respectfully,

F. K. READ.

LYNN, MASS., March 22, 1856.

TO EDITORS INDIAN ARCANA,

DEAR SIRS: — I received from a friend in your city, the March number of your paper, and in looking over its columns I noticed a number of testimonials from persons who had been cured of Cancers by Dr. Greene, of Boston. Having been cured myself by Dr. Greene of a very bad Scrofulous affection I feel it a duty to give the facts to the people.

About nine years ago, Scrofula began to show itself in swelling of the glands of the neck and enlargement of the joints in various parts of the system. About four years ago the swelling on my neck became large, and my physicians lanced it, when it discharged nearly a pint of matter. In three months it was again nearly as large as it was before, and in the last four years I have had it opened seven times, and still it grew worse, until I was obliged to leave my work. Until then I had some faint hope that under the treatment that I was receiving, I should find relief, but hope died within me, and I gave up in despair. While in this dejected state of mind, a friend referred me to Dr. Greene, and I concluded to try once more. The next day I called at his office. After examining my case, he said he thought he could cure me. I was under his treatment three months, and at the end of that period I found myself a well man. And now I wish to say to those afflicted with this terrible disease, go at once to Dr. Greene, 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, and be cured, for he is certain to do it.

Yours, for the benefit of the afflicted,

C. H. MARSH.

422 Turnpike Street, Lynn, Mass.

WELLFLEET, MASS., Nov. 5. 1855.

DR. GREENE. Dear Sir:— You will probably recollect, I was at your office and took medicine of you on the 26th of Sept. I had always been troubled with a scrofula humor, and for the last year it had settled in my head and eyes, producing so great an inflammation as to cause a film to grow over my right eye, so as nearly to obstruct the sight, besides I had severe pain across my back and in my limbs. I have now taken your medicines 5 weeks, and they have had the desired effect. I am now entirely free from pain, and the film is so far removed from the eye that I can see nearly as well as ever. Please send me another package of medicine like what you gave me, which I think will complete the cure.

Yours respectfully,

SAMUEL D. FREEMAN.

Had we room we might publish letters and refer to thousands of cases cured of Scrofula, Scrofulous Ulcers, and tumors in various parts of the system. Salt Rheum, Erysipelas or St. Anthony's Fire, all diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Lungs and Liver; Nervousness, Female Complaints, Lassitude and General Debility, and almost an endless variety of aches and pains, caused by the humors obstructing the circulation, irritating the nerves and deranging the whole system.

DROPSY.

We select the following cases from the records of the Indian Medical Institute, to show that their practice is perfectly successful in restoring health and preventing a recurrence of diseases in cases where the old practice affords not even the slightest hope.

MRS. ROBERT W. MATTHEWS, of Charlestown, aged 40, had been affected with Dropsy for three or four years. She came under Dr. Greene's treatment about the middle of July. The whole system had then become affected by the disease. Her bowels were bloated to the utmost extent, causing shortness of breath, and all the symptoms attending the last stages of this distressing disease. The disease was too far advanced to expect relief from medicine alone. She was accordingly tapped, and 27 lbs. of water taken from the abdomen. After this operation the disease soon yielded to the action of Nature's remedies. The secretions were cleared — the blood soon cleansed, and her health restored. It has now been about two years — her health remains good, and there is not the slightest appearance of a return of the disease.

MISS SARAH B. SMITH, of West Medford, Mass., was cured of Dropsy in the bowels, that had been of 8 years standing; 23 1-2 lbs. of water were taken from her at once, and by the efficacy of the Indian remedies the recurrence of the disease was entirely prevented. Since which time she has gained strength, and overcome the emaciated, weak condition that she was in, and is now enabled to attend to the ordinary duties of life.

We might refer to numerous cases where the result has been the most satisfactory, and where cures have been performed without the process of tapping, by the efficacy of these Indian remedies.

CONSUMPTION.

There is, perhaps, no disease which carries more terror in its path than consumption; and yet in its insipient stage, more than three-fourths of the cases might be cured, by cleansing and purifying the blood. To illustrate, we will copy a case from the Boston Herald of Oct. 27, 1855.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE. We met a friend yesterday, with a glow of health upon her cheek, where a few months ago we had seen the hectic flush which told that the various Balsams, Cod Liver Oil, Inhalation, &c., had been tried in vain. We inquired the cause of such unexpected recovery, and was told that she had been under the treatment of Dr. R. Greene, the Scientific Indian Physician, of this city, whose remedies had cleansed her blood of all acrid humors, and health immediately began to return. We took courage and felt that "Nature's Remedies" in skilful hands, might stay the ravages of this fatal disease, and we hope that persons, troubled with diseases of the throat and lungs, will avail themselves of Dr. Greene's skill. His office is 36 Bromfield Street.

CONSUMPTION, which has proved the scourge of this climate, is cured by Dr. Greene, the Scientific Indian Physician. His treatment cleanses the blood from all acrid humors, and health is soon restored. His office is 36 Bromfield Street Boston.—Boston Transcript, Oct. 30, 1855.

We have not room to insert certificates, but for reference, we will briefly notice a few cases.

THOMAS S. BARBOUR, in a letter to Dr. Greene, dated Deer Isle, Me. March 2nd, 1855, says, "I have now taken your Indian Remedies two months, and I am cured of a Scrofulous Humor on my lungs, which had caused a severe cough, and spitting of blood for more than two years.

MRS. LEWIS H. PRIEST, of Lancaster, Mass., was cured of Consumption, caused by Scrofula seated upon her lungs, by taking these Indian Remedies, after she had been considered incurable.

We have not room to insert letters or certificates from persons cured of the various diseases, but we can assure those afflicted that nature has provided a remedy for all diseases and from the success which has attended the practice of Dr. R. Greene, in every variety and form of disease, we have no hesitation in saying, that nearly every case of disease, of whatever name or nature, (except in the last stages,) may be cured by a judicious application of Nature's Remedies.

ELECTRO-MEDICAL SCIENCE.

We have often been requested to explain more fully the superiority of Dr. Greene's Electro-Medicated Baths over the Electro-Chemical Bath, as discovered by Prof. Vergnes. In the Chemical Bath, the acids are added to dissolve and attract the minerals that they may be hid in the system. This it will undoubtedly accomplish, when properly managed. But we believe that the indiscriminate use of these Baths for all complaints, and by persons unacquainted with disease or the power of electricity, are often productive of much injury, as they not only extract the mercury and lead, but also the iron, which is an important ingredient of the blood, and its loss is productive of weakness and debility.

We mention this fact to apprise the people of what they ought to know — that the Electro-Chemical Bath is a powerful agent for extracting minerals from the system but not adapted to the removal of disease. The principle upon which Dr. Greene applies his Baths, is undoubtedly correct, and there can be no doubt of the utility of medicating each Bath to suit each particular form of disease. We can, perhaps, give no better explanation of the virtue of these Baths, than to quote some of the opinions of the press.

From the Boston Transcript.

An important discovery in Medical Electricity, has recently been made by Dr. R. Greene of this city. By this new process, Dr. Greene obtains the solvent properties of certain plants, which he adds to each bath to suit the constitution and disease of the patient, forming what he terms the Electro-Medicated Bath.

This Bath, together with the Electricity, diffuses itself through the system, neutralizes the disease, and removes it, as if by magic.

This is a very important discovery, and offers new encouragement to all those afflicted with disease, and especially to those cases that refuse to yield to medicine alone.

Dr. Greene still uses the Electro-Chemical Baths as discovered by Prof. Vergnes, for extracting poisonous minerals from the system, but for all other diseased conditions of the body, the Electro-Medicated Baths are far preferable, being more pleasant to the patient and much more effectual in removing disease. Dr. Greene's knowledge and experience in the treatment of disease, is unsurpassed; and with this discovery, his practice affords facilities for relief to the afflicted never before offered.

His office is 36 Bromfield Street, Boston.

From the Boston Daily Journal.

It is now well known among our community that Professor Vergnes some time since discovered the means of extricating Calomel and other poisons from the human system. This great discovery has led to another yet more important one by Dr. Greene of 36 Bromfield Street, by means of which these Baths are medicated to suit each different constitution and disease, and when thus prepared, they act upon each separate complaint in the same direct and efficient manner that the Electro-Chemical baths act upon mineral poisons; and thus they neutralize the disease and remove it from the system.

From the Boston Daily Herald.

The Electro-Medicated Baths, now in operation at The Indian Medical Institute, in Bromfield Street, demonstrate daily to those afflicted with disease, the utility of uniting medicine with the powers of Electricity. It is astonishing to witness the effects of this peculiar method of removing disease. It seems to neutralize the cause and expel it from the system much more directly and speedily than any other means now known.

ELECTRO-MEDICAL SCIENCE.—Much has been said upon the utility of the electro-Chemical baths. But the improvement upon these baths by Dr. Greene, are worthy the attention of invalids. His plan is, to so medicate each bath as to neutralize and remove any combination of diseases which may come under his treatment.

As proof is better than theory, we will illustrate the operation by referring to the case of Capt. Asa Curtis, of Scituate, a few miles from this city.

Capt. CURTIS is 68 years old. He had taken calomel many years ago, which had so combined with the humor of the blood and the peculiar state of his system, as to produce lameness, attended with pain, for more than twenty years, at times so severe as to cause him to roll upon the floor in perfect agony. This combination of diseases which had resisted every other means of relief, was perfectly cured by taking two of Dr. Greene's Compound Electro-Medicated Baths, with a little medicine to cleanse the secretions and give tone to the system. These Baths are given only at the Indian Medical Institute, 36 Broomfield Street Boston, under the charge of Dr. Greene, where may be seen the most startling evidence of his skill and success. Circulars, with reference to cases cured, sent free when requested. Address as above.— Boston Papers.

The following editorial remarks with the letter from Dr. Willard, is from the Boston Journal, Nov. 20, 1855.

CANCERS CURABLE.—We cheerfully publish the following letter, illustrating a fact which we have several times before noticed. It is pretty generally known that Dr. R. GREENE, the scientific Indian physician, and principal of the Indian Medical Institute, has been perfectly successful in treating cancers and scrofulous humors. The introduction of these Indian remedies upon scientific principles, has already brought about a new era in the science of medicine, and has banished forever the idea that certain diseases are incurable. People come from all parts of the country to avail themselves of Dr. Greene's peculiar skill, and we are glad to know that he is reaping that reward which his talent and learning deserve.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Nov, 8, 1855.

DR. R. GREENE. Dear Sir:—I presume you have not entirely forgotten that about one year ago, you cured a cancer upon my temple, near the eye. The cancer was about two inches across, and had been of five or six years' standing. It had often been pronounced incurable by several of our best physicians, and its cure was considered a great wonder. Many of our citizens predicted that it would soon return again, but my health remains good, the scabs and cancerous affections, which had spread over a considerable portion of my face, have disappeared, and we are now all satisfied that the cure is perfect and permanent. You may therefore refer to my case, in proof of the fact that your Indian remedies do effect perfect cures, after the skill of our most scientific physicians had been tried in vain.

Yours, for the benefit of truth and the afflicted,

LEWIS L. WILLARD.

From the Boston Daily Herald.

Every age has been noted for its great men, and every trade and profession for its champions, but nothing in the present age has caused so much joy where grief only was seen, as the genuine Indian system of medicine introduced and practiced by Dr. R. Greene of this city. We called at his office yesterday, and we were astonished at the extent of his business, and the certainty of his remedies. We saw him apply his Indian plaster to several cancers, which came out in about twenty minutes after the plaster was applied, with roots attached to them 2 or 3 inches in length. These cancers were about the size of a hen's egg. Dr. Greene informed us that the plasters acted with equal certainty upon large cancers, only requiring a longer time to take them out. He has several hundred cases now under treatment. All appear to be getting well. Any person can witness these operations almost any day, by calling at the Dr.'s office, 36 Bromfield Street.

From the Boston Daily Times.

The Indian System of Medicine is becoming very popular in this city, in the practice of Dr. Greene, of 36 Bromfield Street. Dr. Greene is the only scientific physician who has ever practiced upon this system, and is undoubtedly effecting more cures than any other doctor in this country. He has four assistants, and his rooms are continually crowded with patients. Dr. Greene is deeply skilled in the use of Nature's Remedies, having received a knowledge of this system directly from the "medicine men" of the various tribes of Indians which he visited. He has reduced this system to a scientific practice, and has for many years astonished the people in this vicinity by his wonderful success in curing diseases.—His fame has extended not only throughout this country, but the Canadas. Any person calling at his office, and conversing with his patients, cannot but be convinced of the superiority of his mode of treatment.

From the Lowell Courier and Journal.

Our readers will unite with us in congratulating our old friend Mr. Meserve, (Keeper of the County Jail in this city,) in his happy escape from the dangerous disease.

LOWELL, Dec. 30, 1857.

DEAR SIR:—I called on Dr. Greene of the "Indian Medical Institute," 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, a few weeks since, with a cancer on my lip, which was speedily removed with his Cancer Plaster, leaving no traces behind. In three weeks time the whole surface was healed. I now feel it a duty I owe to all afflicted with this terrible disease, to advise them to lose no time in availing themselves of his peculiar treatment, having full faith that it will effect a cure.

This testimony is given unsolicited.

Yours, &c.,

SAMUEL MESERVE.

The following friendly notice is from the "Olive Branch."

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD. The numerous and formidable character of diseases of the blood, has long attracted the attention of the people, as defying the skill of our best physicians. Some of these diseases, especially those termed Scrofula and Cancer have been supposed incurable. Happily this can no longer be said. Nature has supplied the remedy, and Dr. R. Greene aided in his travels and researches by the Indians of our country, has brought their remedies before the people, and their superiority has been proved by actually curing those very cases which other physicians had failed to benefit. Dr. Greene is, probably, the only scientific physician who has ever investigated the natural system of medicine by actual experience with the Indians themselves. His success is truly wonderful.

The editor of the Boston Daily Herald of March 11, after speaking of our success in all chronic diseases says:—"We have seen four or five cases of Cancers which he has completely cured, after they were supposed by their physicians and friends to be beyond the reach of medical aid."

From the International Journal, April 8, 1854. — "Dr. Greene's Indian Remedies are doing wonders in curing the diseases which have hitherto been considered incurable, and are what we have long needed for those cases where the other system failed to afford relief."

From the Boston Daily Bee, of April 12, 1854:—"The practice of Dr. Greene of 36 Bromfield Street, is crowned with that success which might be expected from uniting scientific attainments with the natural mode of curing diseases as practiced by the aborigines of this country."

The following Editorial remarks are from the N. H. Patriot, and Gazette of Concord, N. H., Jan. 23, 1856.

The success of Dr. R. Greene, the scientific Indian physician of Boston, cannot be mistaken in regard to the cure of Cancers and Scrofulous humors. He has under treatment now about five hundred cases of cancers from different parts of the country; all appear to be gaining and confident of recovery. We called at his rooms and boarding house, and beheld startling proofs of his skill. We had ourselves been prejudiced against the truth or realities of his great success, but when the evidence was submitted to our own senses, we could no longer doubt the Dr.'s ability to perform the wonderful cures we had heard attributed to him. Dr. Greene is an honest open-hearted man, and those who are interested can at any time have the privilege of visiting his patients and witnessing the certainty of his cures. They will then be convinced as we have been of the truth of his great success. We are glad for suffering humanity, that we have a physician among us who is able to cure the hitherto considered incurable diseases.

From the Yankee Blade.

We have recently conversed with several persons who have been cured of cancers by Dr. R. Greene of this city, after they were supposed to have been incurable. Dr. Greene's treatment cleanses the blood, and draws the cancers completely out from the system, without caustic or cutting; and although patients come to him with their cases thus aggravated by wrong treatment, it is acknowledged that he does not lose more than two of every one hundred cases.

The astonishing success attending seventeen years of extensive practice upon this system, have proved these statements true, and the present good health of thousands, cured years ago, is sufficient evidence that the cures are permanent.

"By their fruits ye shall know them," is a criterion which ought to be as good in medicine as in morals. Let this rule then be applied to physicians, and quackery would soon disappear, and a rational system of medicine take its place.

Boston Herald, Jan. 12, 1856.

We have often referred to the remarkable success of Dr. R. Greene, the scientific Indian physician of this city. His peculiar and successful method of removing cancers and scrofulous tumors without the aid of the knife, enables him to perform perfect cures in cases hitherto considered beyond the reach of medical aid. His medicine seems to eradicate the disease entirely from the system.

From the Boston Daily Traveller of June 2, 1857.

IMPORTANT MEDICAL RESULTS. Some of the most important as well as remarkable results have transpired from the treatment of disease upon the Indian system as applied in a scientific manner, by Dr. Greene and his associates at the Indian Medical Institute 36 Bromfield street.

Not only are the common forms of illness like Consumption, Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, General Debility and Chronic Disease in all its phases, treated with a remarkable success, which has of itself given a wide reputation to Dr. Greene and the Institute in his charge, but that most terrible of all human affliction — Cancer, is cured by this treatment, with a readiness and certainty which draws the afflicted from all parts of the country, to be cured at this Institution, which is no small honor to the city of Boston, — being the only place in the country, we believe, where cancers can be cured.

Our readers will remember a case which we mentioned some weeks since, of a lady from Ohio, who had a Cancer weighing nearly 18 pounds taken from her breast and side by Dr. Greene, after having been pronounced incurable by the most eminent physicians, whom she had previously consulted. We are glad to say that she has entirely recovered.

Such results draw the attention of the whole country, and justly too. Hundreds of other cases cured might be named, and the evidence may be seen at the office in the form of all sizes of Cancers which have been removed.

The above notice was copied into the "Plain Dealer" published at Cleaveland, Ohio, with the following editorial remarks.

We cut the above article from one of our exchanges, the "Boston Traveller," as an item of interest; the Ohio lady mentioned, being none other than the wife of a comparative neighbor, Mr. John Hewitt, of Warrensville in this state. An escape like hers from an agonizing death, forcibly brings to mind the value of human skill in adopting nature's means of cure to the right end. The establishment referred to has a wide reputation for performing the most difficult operations known to the healing art, especially in cases of CANCER. We understand that Adaline Russell, of the Shaker community, North Union, has also been cured in a similar manner by Dr. Greene, of Boston, Mass.

CANCERS CURED. Dr. Greene, of "Indian Medical Institute," applied his Indian Cancer Plaster yesterday to a cancer of ten year's standing, upon the nose and face of Mr. John Maxim, of South Carver, Mass. The Cancer came out in a few minutes, with numerous roots attached. Another upon the lip of Thomas Briggs, Esq., of Pembroke, soon yielded to the potency of this remarkable remedy. More than two hundred cancers, weighing from one ounce to eighteen pounds, which Dr. Greene has removed, may be seen at the office. The opposition of the old Doctors to this institution has caused an investigation into its real merits, and persons afflicted with cancer, scrofula and various chronic diseases, now come from all parts of the country to receive the benefit of Dr. Greene's peculiar skill. The office of the Institution is at 36 Bromfield street, Boston. — Journal.

The above was copied into the Bee of Dec. 21, 1857, with the following Editorial remarks.

We would add that Dr. Greene has exhibited wonderful skill in many other cases than those above detailed, as will be evident to all who call at the Institute. No physician who has ever occupied this field of practice in our city, or in New England, has equalled him. The Electro baths administered at this institution are also wonderfully affective. The sick should not fail to make a visit to this Institute.

From the Boston Transcript.

Few of our readers are aware of the amount of business done at the "Indian Medical Institute," 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass. During the past week, cancers have been successfully removed, by Dr. Greene, from the following persons: — Mrs. Adams, of Newton, Mass.; Mrs. Dodge, of Lancaster, Mass.; Miss Fisher, of Belchertown, Mass.; Mrs. DeMerritt, of Neenah, Wis.; Mrs. Miller, of Nova Scotia; Mrs. Poole, of Chilmark, Mass.; Mrs. Thomas, of Lewiston Falls, Me.; Mrs. Nash, of Weymouth, Mass.; with many other cases which had been unsuccessfully treated by our friends of the old school. Every disease is there successfully treated. The afflicted are advised to avail themselves of Dr. Greene's peculiar and successful treatment.

A Cancer weighing between two and three pounds was removed from the breast of Mrs. Burt, of South Reading, yesterday, by Dr. R. Greene, at the "Indian Medical Institute." The success of Dr. Greene has established beyond all question the curability of the terrible disease.

Herald, Sept. 10, 1857.

QUICK WORK. Mrs. Poole, of Chilmark, with a cancer upon her face of ten years standing, arrived in this city yesterday, and called at the Indian Medical Institute, 36 Bromfield street, when Dr. Greene applied his "Indian Cancer Plaster," and in less than ten minutes the Cancer came out, causing but very little pain or suffering. Mrs. Poole is 63 years of age, is stopping at one of the boarding houses connected with this Institution, and may be conversed with by any person wishing it.

Traveller, Sept. 19, 1857.

A large cancer was removed yesterday from the breast of Mrs. Grafton of South Boston, and one from Mrs. Porter Read of Littleton, Mass., and another from the lip of Mr. Jos. M. Norton, of Norridge-wock, Me., by Dr. Greene, at the Indian Medical Institute, in this city. — Ledger.

THE TRIUMPHS of Dr. R. Greene of the "Indian Medical Institute" continue. He yesterday removed a large CANCER from Miss Sarah Warren, of Boston; and one also from Alonzo M. Barrows, of Worcester, Mass., whose cancer was of 15 years growth, yielding to the power of the "Indian Cancer Plaster" in a few minutes, with many others for whom we have no room. His success is truly marvellous. May he long live for the good of suffering humanity. — Traveller.

A large Rose Cancer was yesterday successfully removed from the breast of Mrs. P. Estey, of Andover, Mass., by Dr. R. Greene, of Boston. — Essex Banner, Haverhill.

Another triumph in the removal of a very large cancer from the breast of Mrs. H. W. Richardson, of Cheshire, Mass. Other physicians had declined, but in Dr. Greene, of the Indian Medical Institute, she found a friend indeed. — Traveller.

FACTS FOR THE INVALID.

Much has been said within the last few years upon the subject of cancers, and the possibility of effecting a cure in such cases, which for many years have been counted by thousands as incurable. The opinions of medical men against its curability, had only served to throw suspicion upon any person pretending to cure this disease. The old system of medicine having failed to meet the wants of those perishing with this foul complaint, were not content with throwing obloquy upon those who professed the power of healing in these forsaken cases, but assailed the public press for daring to publish the facts, and would even invoke the iron hand of the law in this 19th century, against both press and physician, when they dared to say to the afflicted ones, "cancer can be cured."

This opposition, coming from such sources, has only served to bring out facts — facts too that show most conclusively that cancer can be cured. It will be remembered that Dr. R. Greene, the founder and superintending physician of the Indian Medical Institute, at 36 Bromfield street, Boston, Mass., after proving to his own satisfaction the inefficiency of the old school of medicine, retired with disgust from the practice, disheartened and disappointed with the labor and means expended in making himself its master. His attention being called to the Indian method of treating disease, he resolved to test its merits, and after living among, and travelling extensively with them, discovered, to his great joy, a system known to these children of Nature, acting directly upon disease, and producing results far in advance of all his former teachings.

On his return, he announced his discoveries to the public by curing many who had been given up as hopeless, and soon his office was crowded with patients from all parts of the land — the very cases which the old doctors had declared past all cure, found in Dr. G. a friend indeed.

In cases of Cancer he has had more success than any living man known to us; his fame is world-wide, and his success known to thousands, for the story of his cures soon spread through all the community.

We have seen with our own eyes and heard with our own ears what is truly astonishing. Facts are too numerous to admit a doubt of his mastery over this disease. We called at his office, and on entering another room, stood before a perfect museum of specimens of cancer of every size and form, weighing from an ounce to eighteen pounds, and these are open to the inspection of the public every day. We found the boarding-houses attached, full, and others pressing in, each anxious for their turn.

After a careful examination of everything pertaining to the system of medicine, as taught and practiced at the "Indian Medical Institute," we are forced to this conclusion. It is not a mere theory, but a theory tested and found equal to every expectation in every instance. Its appropriate sweep of action is almost limitless. Cases where the constitution seems utterly broken and prostrate, the result of this treatment has been striking and remarkable, but more plainly and effective in its work among those whom the most skilful physicians pronounced beyond the reach of treatment. It was to us a painful reflection, as we stood before that great gathering of cancer specimens, that woman was the more frequent victim, and in our hearts we rejoiced that we have in Boston one place where the poor patient may hope for health even when given up by the Old School Physicians.

The foregoing article we have copied from the "Sunday News;" and thank the noble-hearted Editor for the courtesey; we could not have given a truer statement of things, if we had written it ourselves.—EDITOR of "ARCANA."

INDIANOPATHY.

INDIANOPATHY.—It is to this science of medicine as brought forward into successful practical use by Dr. Greene of the Indian Medical Institute, at 36 Bromfield street, that we find attributed many of the most remarkable cures ever performed upon cancerous and humoral conditions of the system.—Journal.

INDIANOPATHY.—The prominence gained by the Indian system of cure, place this "Pathy" a full length before all the others. The Indian Medical Institute, 36 Bromfield street, is the place to obtain the means of cure.—Bee.

DECISIVE CURES.—Some of the most decisive cures known in medical annals have been effected by the mode of treatment to which the name of "Indianopathy" has recently been given, from the peculiar administration of Indian remedies upon scientific principles, arranged and perfected by Dr. Greene, of the Indian Medical Institute, 36 Bromfield street, Boston, Mass.—Halifax Sun—Halifax, N. S.

INDIANOPATHY.—We notice by the Traveller, that a new "Pathy" has been installed, termed "Indianopathy" from the Indian mode of medical treatment, and the many cures effected by this method at the Medical Institute after the patients were given up by all other physicians, are the best evidence of its value and worth.—Herald.

IMPORTANT CURES.—So many important cures have been effected by the "Indian System" of Medical treatment, as practiced by Dr. Greene at the "Indian Medical Institute, 36 Bromfield Street, that the mode of cure has fairly earned the name bestowed upon it of Indianopathy."

Indianopathy. The Science of Indian Medical Treatment deserves, most decidedly we think a high rank among the "Pathies." The rapidly increasing importance of this method of medical cure, as now practiced by Dr. Greene and his associates at the "Indian Medical Institute," 36 Bromfield street, has proved its firm basis in the laws of Nature and Science.

What more can be said? unless, indeed, we go on to speak of the many cures performed, which are practical illustrations of noble and valuable truths. Many of these cures are named at some length in the "Indian Arcana," a neat newspaper, edited by the Rev. Geo. C. Bancroft, and published at 36 Bromfield street. Sample numbers may be had free by calling at the office, or sending per mail. — Traveller.

INDIAN MEDICAL TREATMENT.

There is every reason why the people should fully understand the merits of this treatment. There are those who profess to practice it, without any true knowledge of the art of curing, and who thus do damage to the reputation of the system, because their pretended Indian method is not effectual, and thus people may be led to think there is but little merit in it. But if they try the real Indian treatment afforded by the "Indian Medical Institute," at 36 Bromfield street, under charge of Dr. R. Greene, they will find a different result. This is the only establishment approved by the N. E. Medical Society. — Traveller.

THE INDIAN MEDICAL INSTITUTE, at 36 Bromfield street Boston, is the only establishment sanctioned by the N. E. Indian Medical society as practicing the true Indian method, and having the real INDIAN REMEDIES. — Transcript.

The following is from the Boston Daily Bee, of Jan. 28, 1858.

A SUCCESSFUL ENTERPRISE. Some years ago, DR. R. GREENE (who had travelled extensively in the West among the Indian Tribes, in search of Nature's Remedies) quietly and alone opened an office in our city for the cure of Cancer, Scrofula, with all chronic and acute forms of disease, upon the "Indian Mode."

Very soon his remarkable cures were passed around from mouth to mouth, while the daily papers took occasional note of his success, and the business so increased it became a necessity to organize a distinct School of Medicine. And Dr. Greene became the founder of what is now so widely known as the "Indian Medical Institute," at 36 Bromfield street, Boston. His success and cures have laid a foundation to this Institution that has made it one of the great points of attraction in New England.

The importance of this method of practice is found in the fact that the cures are permanent, showing conclusively that it is not a mere theory, but a principle, a fixed fact, giving health to the invalid and confidence to the public; thus giving to the enterprise a permanency and character never before realized by any other Medical Institution. Capt. Samuel Whitcomb, of Littleton, Mass., who is now more than 80 years of age, and still rejoicing in health, was cured of a Cancer by Dr. Greene, 6 or 7 years ago, after he had been given up as incurable by his physicians. Also, Eliza Wythe, of Shaker Village, South Groton, Mass., was cured by Dr. Greene, of Cancer, twelve years ago, and stays cured up to this day — of whom, and many other cases cured, further particulars may be obtained from our friend,

I. HUTCHINS, M. D.,Associate

The following Resolutions, among others, were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That in sustaining this association for extending and perpetuating the Indian System of medicine upon scientific principles, we are conferring a favor upon the afflicted, and advancing the cause of true medical science.

Resolved, That we have had ocular demonstration that Dr. Greene's treatment has cured hundreds of cases of Cancers after they were acknowledged incurable by other physicians, and that the fruits of his practice for the last ten years conclusively prove that Cancers, Scrofula, Humors of the blood, and various other diseases which have found no remedy in the labyrinths of the old systems of medicine, are permanently cured by a judicious use of "Nature's Remedies," in scientific and skilful hands.

Resolved, That we will not countenance ignorant pretenders, or quackery in any form, or receive as physicians into this Society any persons who have not received a medical education.

Resolved, That we appreciate the Doctor's new discovery of

ELECTRO-MEDICATED BATHS,

By which he can, with the solvent properties of certain plants, MEDICATE each bath to suit the constitution and disease of any patient, and remove the various kinds of diseases upon the same principle which the Electro-Chemical Bath removes mercury or other minerals.

Resolved, That we recommend the continued publication of the newspaper entitled "Indian Arcana," and that an extra copy containing reference to cases cured in different parts of the country, be furnished gratuitously to any person calling at the office, or ordering the same by mail, enclosing a postage stamp, addressing the Editor, 36 Bromfield St., Boston.

PROSPECTUS

INDIAN ARCANNA.

ON entering upon our duties as responsible editor of this journal, we desire at once to lay before its readers our objects and intentions. Our columns shall be devoted to general news; to the just claims and rights of the Indians, and their relations to the United States and the civilized world. Many events have transpired in the history of this country tending to prejudice the people against these hardy sons of the forest; but the evil effects of these events are passing away, and as they recede, the noble deeds and characteristic manliness of the Indian are attracting more attention, and their profound knowledge of nature and her laws are becoming more appreciated.

The many follies and abuses of civilized society, aided by the laws of hereditary descent, have multiplied diseases and filled the world with invalids. For this deplorable condition, the old system of medicine offers no relief. We hope to be able in the numbers of this journal to point out a course by which the invalid may be restored to health, and many of the evils and abuses of society corrected.

We shall advocate a scientific medical practice upon the true Indian System, and show from time to time, its importance to true Medical Science.

Our object, then, may be summed up in two points:—

First, to present the public with a view of the general characteristics of the Indians, their politics, religion, and medical attainments.

Second, to deduce from their history such important information as shall be of use to the present generation.
