A DIRECTORY

FACILITIES FOR THE HARD OF HEARING AND THE DEAF IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK

The Temporary State Commission to Study Facilities for Hard of Hearing and Deaf Persons was created by Chapter 1000 of the Laws of 1961. Its purpose is to study the existing facilities for the hard of hearing and the deaf in the State of New York and to make recommendations for their improvement. The Commission has decided to publish a directory of information concerning educational, medical, vocational, recreational and other special services for the acoustically handicapped individual within the State of New York.

In the preparation of this Directory an earnest effort has been made to list all organizations and institutions in the State which are concerned in one way or another with the welfare of the hard of hearing and the deaf. If there have been any omissions, they are wholly unintentional and attributable to circumstances beyond the control of the Commission. With respect to the correctness of such information or data which has been supplied by organizations and institutions themselves, the Commission, of course, assumes no responsibility. The Commission wishes particularly to emphasize that neither the inclusion nor the omission of any name carries with it any implication of approval or disapproval.

Thanks are herewith extended to all those, too numerous to mention, who have cooperated in this endeavor.

PREFACE

The Temporary State Commission to Study Facilities for Hard of Hearing and Deaf Persons was created by an act of the Legislature of 1937. In the following year the life of the Commission was extended and the scope of its investigation broadened to include the study and improvement of facilities for deaf and hard of hearing adults. In 1939 the Commission was authorized to continue for still another year.

Having found that there is generally inadequate knowledge on the part of the public concerning existing facilities for deaf and hard of hearing persons, the members of the Commission have decided to publish a compilation of information concerning educational, medical, vocational, religious and other social services for the acoustically handicapped individual within the State of New York.

In the preparation of this Directory an earnest effort has been made to list all organizations and institutions in the State which are concerned in one way or another with the welfare of the hard of hearing and the deaf. If there have been any omissions, they are wholly unintentional and attributable to circumstances beyond the control of the Commission. With respect to the correctness of such information or data which has been supplied by organizations and institutions themselves, the Commission, of course, assumes no responsibility. The Commission wishes particularly to emphasize that neither the inclusion nor the omission of any name carries with it any implication of approval or disapproval.

Thanks are herewith extended to all those, too numerous to mention, who have co-operated in this endeavor.

RESUME OF STATUTORY PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE EDUCATION, MEDICAL CARE, VOCATIONAL TRAINING, REHABILITATION, CIVIL SERVICE STATUS AND GEN- ERAL WELFARE OF DEAF AND HARD OF HEARING PERSONS WITHIN THE STATE OF NEW YORK

In regard to the handicap which deafness imposes on many individuals, the State of New York endeavors through special laws for their education, medical care and training, to prepare such individuals to live useful and happy lives as members of the community to which they may belong. This interest in their welfare has, from time to time, found expression in various statutes and in the State Constitution which, while it forbids pledging the credit or money of the State to any association, corporation or private undertaking, nevertheless makes a specific exception insofar as the deaf are concerned. As a result large numbers of deaf children for a century or more have been educated in institutions chartered by the Legislature and subject to visitation by the State Commissioner of Education and the State Department of Social Welfare.

The principle underlying laws and legislation for the acoustically handicapped individuals is the antithesis of the ancient belief that they could not be educated. The annual appropriations for their education and training, and the passage of new laws to improve the conditions of their existence, testify not only to a sense of social responsibility for their welfare but establish that they can be prepared to play their part as useful citizens along with normal-hearing individuals. Deaf persons suffer from no disabilities under our laws except those imposed by nature.

The handicap of deafness may begin with birth and may manifest itself in a partial or almost complete loss of usable hearing; or, it may follow in the wake of a serious childhood illness. The time when the hearing difficulty arises, the degree of hearing impairment, whether the ability to speak, which depends upon hearing and imitating the sound of spoken words, has already been acquired, —all these are highly important factors from the standpoint of the special type of education required for an acoustically handicapped child. Detection of hearing defects and their correct diagnosis at the earliest possible moment thus become subjects of paramount importance not only for the education but the future welfare of the individuals affected. Such early discovery is important for timely medical treatment. It may determine whether a child should be sent to a school for the deaf, the regular public schools, or one of the special classes for acoustically handicapped children. It is for these reasons that two laws for the education of the acoustically handicapped, passed in recent years, the "Reporting" and "Audiometer" Acts, are especially significant.

The Reporting Act

This law requires physicians, nurses, parents and guardians having children below six years of age under their care to report to the State Commissioner of Health deafness or hearing impairments in such children. Its purpose is the early discovery of hearing difficulties in pre-school children in order that appropriate recommendations may be made for proper medical aid and education for those children who are found to be acoustically handicapped.

The Audiometer Act

This law requires medical inspectors, or principals and teachers in charge of schools in the State, to make hearing tests at least once each year of all children under their jurisdiction. Such tests must be made with audiometers or other scientific devices meeting the approval of the State Commissioner of Education, who is required to prescribe rules for making the tests and to furnish the school authorities with test cards, blanks, useful appliances, and any other suitable apparatus when necessary. The purpose of the law is to discover deafness or defects in hearing in children already in attendance at school.

Education of the Deaf

Schools for the Deaf

The State Education Law makes all institutions and schools for the instruction of the deaf, incorporated under the laws of New York State, subject to visitation by the State Commissioner of Education, whose duty it is to prescribe courses of study and methods of instruction; make appointments to the various schools for the deaf; transfer pupils from one school to another as circumstances require; suggest improvements in instruction and discipline; in connection with the latter, to appoint suitable persons to visit such schools, and to propose to directors of such schools and to the Legislature any improvements he deems expedient. The law further provides that the Commissioner of Education shall make an annual report to the Legislature on all of the above matters, and, particularly as to the condition of the schools, the improvement of the pupils, and their treatment in respect to board and lodging.

All deaf children, anywhere in the State, three years of age and over, are eligible for appointment to one of the schools for the deaf, provided they are of suitable capacity and have resided in the State for at least one year before making application. In the case of an orphan the application may be made by his nearest friend who has been a resident for one year. The requirement as to length of residence may be waived in the discretion of the Commissioner of Education. All such children, provided they meet the necessary requirements, are entitled to education at State expense.

Institutions called residential schools, seven in number, are authorized by law to receive deaf pupils, who are appointed or placed after application. Destitute children placed in residential schools are called county pupils. The State pays for the board, lodging and tuition of these pupils. The residential schools also accept private pupils, the cost of whose education is borne by parents or guardians. A deaf pupil may live "in" at one of the residential schools; or he may attend as a day pupil. Quarterly payments are made by the State to these institutions upon presentation of bills showing the actual time and the number of pupils in attendance. The Commissioner of Education may, in his discretion, extend the term of instruction of such pupils.

It is the duty of the officer or board in any county responsible for the welfare of destitute children, upon the application of the nearest friend, guardian or parent of a destitute deaf child, to place such child in one of the residential schools authorized to receive such pupils. Those schools recognized by law to receive such pupils are listed in this Directory.

The officer or board responsible for the care of destitute children in any county from which State pupils may be appointed to any institution for the instruction of the deaf, if the parents or guardians of such a child are unable to furnish him with suitable clothing, must also provide funds for such clothing.

Children who are both blind and deaf, dually handicapped, must be admitted as State pupils into a residential school, equipped to receive them, under the same conditions of eligibility as are provided for the admission of deaf State pupils. The rate per capita allowed for such blind and deaf State pupils is fixed by law at not less than double the annual rate per capita allowed for State pupils who are deaf, and is to be paid for in the same manner as prescribed for deaf State pupils.

Aid for Deaf Pupils in Attendance at a College, University, Technical or Professional School

A deaf person, who is a citizen of New York State, and a pupil in actual attendance at an approved college, university, technical or professional school, located in this or any other state, and authorized by law to grant degrees, other than an institution established for the regular instruction of the blind or deaf, may, if designated by the trustees as a fit person, receive aid to the extent of three hundred dollars to assist him in receiving instruction in such studies. The moneys so paid are to the institution where such student is matriculated and is disbursed for such purposes by and under the direction of its board of trustees.

For information as to the administration of these laws, see infra: Bureau of Physically Handicapped Children, State Education Department; also Residential Schools.

Home Teaching and Special Classes

In addition to the education furnished at residential schools at State expense, the Education Law provides for education through home teaching and by means of special classes for children who are physically handicapped. The law defines a physically handicapped child as a person under twenty-one years of age who by reason of a physical defect or infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury or disease, is or may be expected to be totally or partially incapacitated for education or for remunerative occupation. Such child may require special transportation to school, or his condition may be such that he cannot attend school, or his handicap may necessitate education in a special class together with other handicapped children. Deaf and hard of hearing children are physically handicapped children and are therefore entitled to all the benefits of the law for the physically handicapped child. That law provides that, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Education and approved by the regents of the University of the State of New York, the board of education or trustees of each school district in the State shall ascertain the number of physically handicapped children in such district under the age of eighteen years. They shall likewise have the power to furnish suitable educational facilities for physically handicapped children by means of home teaching, transportation to school or by special classes. In every case the need of the individual child is to determine which of such services shall be rendered. Where there are ten or more physically handicapped children the board may establish such special classes as may be necessary to provide instruction adapted to the mental attainments and physical conditions of such children, with the understanding, however, that in each city or union free school district in which schools for physically handicapped children already exist or may hereafter be established, which are incorporated under the laws of the State and are found by the board of education to be adequate to provide instruction adapted to the mental attainments and physical conditions of children, the board of education is not required to supply additional special classes. Boards of education of such cities or school districts are, however, empowered to contract with such schools for the education of children in special classes therein. Boards of education or trustees of school districts, where there are less than ten physically handicapped children, are also empowered to furnish suitable education facilities for such children in the manner hereinabove set forth, and they are authorized and empowered to contract with the board of education of another school district for the education of such children in special classes organized in the schools of such district with which the contract is made.

Pursuant to the provisions of this law a number of special classes for hearing-impaired children, as indicated infra, have been established and State aid for the payment of the salary of each specially qualified teacher of such special classes is apportioned in accordance with the provisions of section 491, subdivision 2 of the State Education Law.

Children's Court Act—Provisions for Physically Handicapped Children

The Children's Court of each county or city of the State, unless otherwise provided, has exclusive jurisdiction within such county or city of all cases or proceedings involving those who are physically handicapped and under twenty-one years of age for the purpose of administering relative to their education, physical care and treatment, pursuant to section 24 of the Children's Court Act.

Accordingly, the parent or custodian of any child, an authorized agency, or any interested person having knowledge or information that such a child is within the jurisdiction of the Children's Court, may file a petition stating such facts as bring the child within the jurisdiction of the court, and asking the court for action in conformity with the provisions of the Children's Court Act.

The court may then, in its discretion, either before or after a hearing, cause such a child within its jurisdiction to be examined by a physician, psychiatrist or psychologist appointed or designated for the purpose by the court. In the case of a physically handicapped child the court may accept the certificate of the State Department of Health as to the need for surgical, medical or therapeutic treatment, hospital care or necessary appliances and devices, and may accept the certificate of the State Department of Education as to his educational needs, including home teaching, transportation, scholarships, tuition or maintenance. Whenever it appears to the court that such a child is in need of any of the above services, it may make a suitable order for the treatment or education or both of such child in its home, a hospital or other suitable institution, and the expenses thereof, when approved by the court and duly audited, shall be a charge upon the county or the proper subdivision thereof; but the court may adjudge that the person or persons charged with the liability under the laws to support such a child shall pay a part or all of such expenses as provided in section 40 of the Children's Court Act.

In a letter to the State Department of Health the Attorney-General of the State of New York has expressed his legal opinion that a partially deaf child is a physically handicapped child within the meaning of this act and is therefore entitled to all its benefits.

Vocational Rehabilitation of Deaf and Hard of Hearing Adults

Article 47 of the State Education Law, known as "The Physically Handicapped Law," is designed to aid all persons over fourteen who, by reason of a physical defect or infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury or disease, are or may be expected to be totally or partially incapacitated for education or for remunerative occupation. Rehabilitation is the process, under this law, whereby a physically handicapped person is made fit to engage in a remunerative occupation, and any citizen of the United States or any person who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen domiciled in the State of New York for one year or more, is entitled to the benefits of this act. Deaf and hard of hearing individuals over fourteen come within the definition of "physically handicapped persons," but persons to whom this law does not apply are aged and helpless individuals requiring custodial care; blind persons under the care of the State Commission for the Blind; persons in any State institution or confined in any correctional or penal institution; epileptic or feeble-minded persons or any person who in the judgment of the Commissioner of Education, may not be susceptible of rehabilitation; also persons of the age of fourteen years and under.

Under this law an advisory commission is created for the purpose of rehabilitating persons who are in need of and are susceptible of vocational rehabilitation. The State Commissioner of Education, the State Commissioner of Health, the State Industrial Commissioner and the President of the State Board of Charities (Department of Public Welfare) constitute the Advisory Commission for Physically Handicapped Persons. Its purpose is declared to be, in addition to rehabilitation, the stimulation of all private and public efforts designed to relieve, care for, cure or educate physically handicapped children, and to co-ordinate such efforts with the work and functions of governmental agencies.

It is the duty of the Advisory Commission to prepare a plan of co-operation between the State Industrial Commission and the Department of Education; to arrange for such therapeutic treatment as may be necessary for the rehabilitation of any physically handicapped persons who have registered with the Department of Education, except persons who are entitled to such treatment under the Workmen's Compensation Law; to provide maintenance cost, during actual training, for physically handicapped persons registered for rehabilitation, except persons entitled to maintenance under the Workmen's Compensation Law. When the payment of maintenance costs is authorized by the commission, it shall not exceed ten dollars per week and the period during which it is paid shall not exceed twenty weeks, unless an extension of time is granted by unanimous vote of the commission. To avoid duplication the Advisory Commission arranges for co-operation between the Bureau of Employment of the Department of Labor and the Department of Education in securing employment for handicapped persons.

The duty of the State Industrial Commission under this law is to send to the State Department of Education all reports made to it of cases of injuries received by employees which may result in rendering the person, in the judgment of the Industrial Commissioner, in need of rehabilitation.

The duty of the State Department of Health under this law is to arrange with all public and private hospitals, clinics and dispensaries and with practicing physicians, to send to the Department of Education prompt and complete reports of any persons under treatment in such hospitals, clinics, or dispensaries, or by such physicians, for any injury or disease that may render them physically handicapped; arrange with health officers to send to the Department of Education prompt and complete reports of any persons whom in the course of their official duties they find to be suffering from any injury or disease that may render them physically handicapped; make physical examinations of any persons applying for or reported as needing rehabilitation, except persons reported by the Industrial Commission; make physical examinations of physically handicapped children who are prospectively or actually incapacitated for the normal pursuit of an education, and make recommendations for treatment; provide such surgical, medical or therapeutic treatment or hospital care and necessary appliances and devices for physically handicapped children as in its judgment are needed.

The duty of the State Department of Education under this law is to determine by personal visits whether persons reported to it are in need of and susceptible of rehabilitation; acquaint such persons with rehabilitation facilities offered by the State and the benefits of entering upon remunerative work at an early date; register and keep a record of such persons; give them counsel as to suitable vocations and proffer an appropriate course of training; arrange for special courses in the public schools in the State in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons; arrange with any private or commercial education institution for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons; arrange with any public or private establishment or any employer for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons; arrange for social service for visiting of such physically handicapped persons and their families; to aid physically handicapped persons in securing employment that will facilitate their training or be suitable to their condition; procure and furnish at cost to physically handicapped persons artificial limbs and other orthopedic and prosthetic appliances, to be paid for in instalments when such appliances cannot otherwise be provided; make surveys in co-operation with the Industrial Commission and the Department of Health to ascertain the number and conditions of physically handicapped persons within the State; co-operate with other State departments, county and municipal authorities or with any private agency in the operation of the act.

Whenever expenditures for education, medical care, appliances, transportation, etc. are provided under this act, such expenditures can be made only within the limits of the appropriations made for such purpose.

Any physically handicapped person residing within the State may apply to the Department of Education for advice and assistance regarding his rehabilitation.

Additional Duties of the Advisory Commission

State Civil Service

It is the duty of the Advisory Commission for Physically Handicapped Persons to co-operate with the State Civil Service Commission and each of the municipal civil service commissions in the State in order that there shall be no discrimination against physically handicapped persons desiring to enter the Civil Service of the State or a municipality, unless the physical disability be of such a nature as to actually prevent the applicant from satisfactorily performing the duties of the position to which he seeks appointment.

It is the duty of the Education Department, upon the request of an applicant for a Civil Service position, who has been found to be physically handicapped, to obtain from such State or municipal service commission a detailed description of all duties entailed by such position and to investigate the extent of the alleged disability by examination of the applicant or otherwise; the commission shall determine and report its findings to such State or municipal service commission as to the physical ability to perform the duties of such position. Such findings shall be conclusive as to the physical qualifications of any applicant so examined.

It is furthermore the duty of the Education Department, where the applicant for a Civil Service position is not so physically disabled as to prevent him from satisfactorily performing the duties of the position for which he is applying, to insure competitive equality between physically handicapped persons and persons not handicapped in connection with the taking of Civil Service examinations. The Education Department may request the furnishing an amanuensis for the physically handicapped person when necessary and additional time for such examination or such other similar prerequisites to insure equality in such examinations.

Workmen's Compensation

Compensation for Loss of Hearing

Under the Workmen's Compensation Law of the State of New York any individual entitled to the benefits of its provisions may receive an award for the complete or partial loss of hearing in one or both ears.

STATE DEPARTMENT SERVICES

State Education Department

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION DIVISION

Director, Dr. Hiram A. Jones

State Education Building, Albany, N. Y.

Among other duties concerning the health and physical education of school children, this division of the State Education Department, through its Bureau of Health Service, serves in a supervisory and advisory capacity in the conservation of hearing program. Activities covered include audiometer testing and approved medical and educational follow-up of children who have a hearing loss. All children with a hearing loss of 20 decibels or more in either one or both ears should be reported to this division on specially prepared blanks

VOCATIONAL AND EXTENSION DIVISION

Associate Commissioner and Acting Assistant Commissioner, Lewis A. Wilson

PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED CHILDREN'S BUREAU

Chief, Joseph J. Endres

The Physically Handicapped Children's Bureau located in the Division of Vocational and Extension Education functions as follows: Supervising and directing educational activities available through the physically handicapped children's laws; establishing special classes, home and bedside teaching, arranging transportation, tuition or maintenance for physically handicapped children; development of training courses for teachers of physically handicapped children in co-operation with the Teacher Education Division; recording and approving of educational orders and auditing all State aid accounts; reporting children over 16 years of age to the Rehabilitation Bureau; the administration and supervision of all educational activities for the deaf and blind

REHABILITATION DIVISION

Director, Lewis A. Wilson, Associate Commissioner of Education
State Education Building, Albany, N. Y.

The Rehabilitation Division was established in 1921 for the service of disabled persons who find their handicap an obstacle in earning a living. Such disability may be the result of accident, injury, disease or defect from birth. The service rendered is free of charge. The division not only retrains those with previous work experience but it also trains young persons who have received no vocational training and who have never worked. The division also makes job adjustments for those who are not susceptible of training

All physically handicapped persons residing in the State of New York who are citizens of the United States or who have declared their intention of becoming citizens and who have been domiciled within the State for one year or more, are entitled to the services of the division, except the following: Aged or specially helpless persons, blind persons under the care of the State Commission for the Blind, persons in State institutions or confined in correctional or penal institutions, epileptic or feeble-minded persons, children under 14 years of age or any persons considered by the Division not to be susceptible of rehabilitation

Physically handicapped should apply to the nearest office of the division.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Ear, Nose and Throat Clinics

Clinics on this list are licensed by the State Board of Social Welfare. Admission rules are made by each clinic, subject to approval of the State Board of Social Welfare. All patients must apply to the clinic which has the right to determine whether or not the patient can be admitted for advice or treatment.

Many hospitals in the State, in addition to those listed as having ear, nose and throat clinics, provide medical and surgical service for ear, nose and throat disorders, but are not listed here because they do not provide the service at regular, stated times.

The data on New York City clinics is reprinted from Directory of Social Agencies, New York 1940, by permission of Columbia University Press.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

AUDIOMETER: A device for measuring hearing power or acuity. There are two kinds of audiometers. One type, the group audiometer, tests one or many persons at a time to determine whether there is any loss of hearing for speech tones. The other, the pitch-range audiometer, helps to determine the location of the hearing impairment and measures hearing power over a wide range of tones or pitches.

DEAF: A person who possesses no usable hearing.

DECIBEL: The unit for measuring intensity of sound.

HARD OF HEARING: A person who has difficulty in hearing in varying degrees.

HEARING AID: A device used by a hard of hearing person to aid hearing.

LIP READING: A means of understanding spoken language by watching the movements of a speaker's mouth. A hard of hearing or deaf person may be taught Lip Reading by teachers specially trained to teach the subject.

MANUAL ALPHABET: A means of communication used chiefly by deaf persons in which the letters of the alphabet are spelled out by the fingers and hands often imitating the shape of the letters.

ORAL METHOD: A method by which a deaf person is taught to speak and to lip read by specially trained teachers as a means of communicating with others.

ORTHOPEDIC APPLIANCE: An artificial or mechanical device which aims to prevent or correct a deformity of the body.

OTOLOGIST: A physician who specializes in the treatment of diseases of the ear. An otologist is sometimes called an aurist, or ear specialist.

PROSTHETIC APPLIANCE: An artificial or mechanical device designed to help a physically handicapped person to use or replace a part of his body which has been disabled or destroyed.

SIGN LANGUAGE: A means of communication consisting of signs and gestures.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE OR COUNSELLING: A service which aims to help in the selection of an occupation.

WIRED CHURCHES AND THEATRES: Churches and theatres in which some seats are equipped with special hearing aids or sound amplifying devices for hard of hearing persons.

WORKSHOP: An establishment where a handicapped person may receive training for employment consistent with his physical disability. In some workshops a handicapped person may learn new skills in preparation for gainful occupation in private industry.
